ABOUT THE COLLECTION

Administrative History: Founded in 1977, The United States Society for Education Through the Arts (USSEA) is an affiliate of the International Society for Education Through Art (InSEA) and the National Art Education Association (NAEA). Consisting of a society of art educators, this national association represents persons working in curriculum development, teaching, and research related to art education and cultural knowledge. USSEA members collaborate with others nationally and internationally to promote research, art curricula, instruction, and practices that are inclusive and sensitive USSEA encourages information sharing and distribution by arranging meetings and sponsoring multicultural and cross-cultural programs at the annual NAEA conference, organizing symposia and conferences within the United States, and supporting projects, research, and publications that are in accordance with the mission of the society.

To access up-to date news and information about USSEA's initiatives, programs, and opportunities, visit the USSEA website.

Scope and Content: Spanning 1947-2005, this collection consists of organizational records for the United States Society for Education through the Arts, including conferences, newsletters, correspondence, expense reports, and periodicals.
