How to Use Career Services

Throughout the month of August and Sept., the Housing department along with other organizations on campus such as the Student Government Association (SGA), Campus Union Board (CUB), and the Division of Student Affairs have been hosting events for Armstrong After Dark. Students first found out about the events at the hall meetings at the beginning of the semester.

Assistant housing director Katie Fester explained, “these events are meant to get students engaged with friends and to meet other students on community days and weekends and to participate in activities on campus. It’s geared towards the first-year students but all students are encouraged to get involved.” Fester added that she was glad to work with SGA and CUB on these events. “The RSA (Resident Student Association), SGA, and CUB have been really getting into these events. We all met at the beginning of the summer with the Division of Student Affairs to figure out what events we could host a Clothes Closet every Wednesday. “This is an opportunity for students to take clothes that they no longer use and give them away to other students in need. We have a wide variety of clothing, from business to casual, and we always have a lot of donations. It’s a great way to have fun and help others at the same time.”

Once you know what career fields you may be interested in, Career Services offers several resources to help students prepare for their futures by helping students with career planning, resume preparation, interviewing skills, job placement, and graduate school applications.

During the first two years of college, many students change their major at least once (or twice, or three times). Finding the right major can be extremely tough. Career Services offers several resources to help students prepare for their interests and careers. Students can make an appointment with a counselor to help plan their major and career, or explore their personality and interests to find a major that works for them. There are also several self-assessments such as the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator that students can take at Career Services to learn their personality type and general interests.

Once you know what career fields you may be interested in, Career Services gives students access to The Georgia Information System, which allows students to see statistics and facts on specific careers. Students can also use Graduation Surveys found on the Career Services page on Armstrong’s website to see what Armstrong students are up to after graduating. According to the Career Services page on Armstrong’s website, Graduation Surveys show “what graduate schools Armstrong students attend, as well as which employers have hired Armstrong students.” The Graduation Surveys are organized by major, so it’s easy to find which career field you are looking for. The Career Services webpage also has several tools students can use to write their resumes, including a resume writing guide and sample resumes for specific majors.

Students are invited to use these online tools to create their resume and then visit the Career Services office to have it reviewed and critiqued.

So, you’ve decided on a major and made a killer resume, now what? The next step is to visit the Career Services website and check out internship opportunities and job postings. Career Services posts “part-time, seasonal, co-op, internships, and post-graduate” job openings for employers using College Central Network. Students can look through hundreds of job opportunities, and create a custom job search agent so “they’ll be notified each time a new job that meets [their] interests is posted.” After finding a job and submitting a resume, come the interview process. Career Services offers several tips on how to prepare for an interview, such as what to do and don’t and sample questions. Students can also schedule a mock interview with Career Services to better prepare themselves for future interviews. To even further prepare students for interviews, Career Services hosts a Clothes Closet every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on campus.

Spring semester where students can pick out one interview appropriate outfit free of change. As you can see, Career Services has an abundance of resources that are beneficial for students to prepare for their futures. If you have any questions, feel free to stop by the Office of Career Services in Memorial College Center, Room 101, or call and make an appointment with a Career Advisor.

When asked about the inspiration for the song “Serious Nonsense”, Lucas says “as far as Serious Nonsense goes, Imani who I met in New Orleans, she was there about that kind of revolutionary things, and seeing all of its inadequacies. And that’s what we’re looking at right now is just a bunch of serious nonsense because it’s nonsense, but it has serious detrimental effects on our own lives, there are men that have to hold their sons without any arms and legs, dead from an explosion in Iraq, or the middle east, because of all of this bullshit and nonsense that’s around in right now. The shirts on our backs and the food that we eat, just like us, those things are cheap. And people get killed over the bullshit, you know, people get killed cause we want to get to work faster, people get killed over the fact that we want to buy a pair of shoes for twenty dollars, and that’s why this song is called Serious Nonsense.”

When asked if there’s anything they’d like to add, Messinger chimes in, “definitely, that mention we’re going to have things like moon bounce and dunk tanks at all of our upcoming releases. It’s gonna be a party.”

You can catch Perpetual Care at the Foundry Coffee in downtown Savannah on September 10 at the Suicide Prevention Day benefit.

Auburn overpowers Eagles in opener

September 7, 2017

The point of the option offense is for the quarterback to have just that — an option: to run or to pitch. For redshirt freshman starting quarterback Shai Werts, neither choice was appealing at Auburn on Saturday.

The Tigers’ front seven shut down the Eagles’ running game, blanketing running backs Wesley Fields and L.A. Ramsby, along with Werts, en route to a 41-7 victory at Jordan-Hare Stadium.

First half

The Georgia Southern offense could get almost nothing going in the first half, with 23 rushes for only 33 yards, including a 25-yard scamper by Werts that accounted for over two-thirds of the total GS first-half yardage.

“We’ve got to be able to do what we came out to do, which is run the ball,” head coach Tyson Summers said.

The Eagle defense stood its ground with the exception of a few long plays, even after their defensive leader, junior safety Josh Moon, left the game with an apparent ankle injury late in the first quarter.

“Our defense played well early,” Summers said. “I thought they kept us in the game.”

Second half

Without its top two running backs, Auburn’s offense didn’t miss a beat using its third-string back, Martin. An exhausted Georgia Southern defense was worn down by the tempo of Auburn head coach Gus Malzahn’s quick-hitting offense.

To open the third quarter, Martin led the attack down to the 19-yard line, where Stidham hit junior wideout Ryan Davis on a crossing pattern that he caught in stride, then cut across the field, feeding into the end zone through three Eagle defenders. With the score at 31-7, the rout was officially on.

On the Eagles’ second drive of the second half, Werts was tackled twice, losing massive yardage and asserting Auburn’s dominance with the pass rush. Auburn senior linebacker Tre Williams led the charge with two sacks and double-digit tackles.

The Eagles gradually began to pick up yardage in stead of losing it, with Werts and Ramsby each getting loose in the fourth quarter for big runs. However, it was too late for the Eagles to get back into the game.

GS safety Jay Bowdry led the defense with 12 tackles and an interception, coupled with strong efforts from DeLaRosa and Reese. Ramsby led the running backs with 11 carries for 33 yards.

Both teams pulled a significant amount of starters in the second portion of the fourth quarter.

Stay tuned for photos, quotes and updates on Josh Moon’s injury and the Eagles.
