CURIO Symposium Call For Submissions

The CLASS Office for Undergraduate Research & Intellectual Opportunities (or CURIO) will host an evening highlighting the best research and creative endeavors of the college's students at the CURIO Symposium on April 11, 2017. Submissions from currently enrolled undergraduate students from all major and minor areas of study in CLASS will be accepted. Projects completed during the Spring 2016, Summer 2016, Fall 2016, and Spring 2017 semesters are welcome. Interdisciplinary projects from those semesters may also be submitted.

Creative Internships with Georgia Southern Football

The Georgia Southern Football program is looking for student interns to be a part of its GATA Lifestyle social media accounts and recruitment materials.

This opportunity would be great for animators, photographers and designers interested in pursuing a field in fast-paced media and athletics. They are seeking individuals who want to push the envelope, work outside of the norm and develop the unexpected. The students would experience day-to-day operations and gain the understanding of timely graphics/posts and will be able to analyze their impact.

Platforms would utilize tablets, phones and computers and would transition from Adobe CC software to Adobe's relative apps for handheld devices.

Students would work with Georgia Southern sports information directors, the football coaching staff, as well as the players. Last year, the visual efforts created by the recruitment team were featured on respected marketing outlets within the industry (with all students involved receiving credit).

The need is this semester but may roll over into summer and fall.

Interested students should contact Athletic Foundation Director of Marketing & Communication Stephanie Neal. Portfolio of work will be required.
