Georgia Southern Office of Marketing and Communications seeks Graphic Design Intern

Georgia Southern University's Office of Marketing and Communications is seeking a graphic design intern for upcoming terms. The intern will assist the two current staff designers by creating original designs, formatting designs for multiple uses and researching design inspiration. Interns will have office space with the creative team in Anderson Hall off of Sweetheart Circle and access to a Mac and Adobe Creative Suite. Interns will gain experience in branding, file preparation and professional workplace problem-solving and have the opportunity to increase their portfolio of published work. Ideal candidates will already have strong competency in InDesign, Illustrator or Photoshop and be able to demonstrate a compatible design sensibility.

The Office of Marketing and Communications at Georgia Southern University produces materials to brand the university and market university offerings to various audiences, including prospective students, alumni and the local community. The office also assists campus units in promoting events, branding initiatives, creating publications and more. A small portfolio of design products can be viewed here: http://news.georgiasouthern.edu/marketing/advertising-portfolio/

The office has won multiple awards for its design work.

To apply, students must email the following to Megan Hopkins at mhopkins@georgiasouthern.edu:

- an introductory cover letter including information about relevant work experience
- at least five samples of design work showing their design sensibility
- a list of art and design classes that they have completed, including classes outside of Georgia Southern
- contact information for two personal references
CURIO Symposium Call For Submissions

The CLASS Office for Undergraduate Research & Intellectual Opportunities (or CURIO) will host an evening highlighting the best research and creative endeavors of the college's students at the CURIO Symposium on April 11, 2017. Submissions from currently enrolled undergraduate students from all major and minor areas of study in CLASS will be accepted. Projects completed during the Spring 2016, Summer 2016, Fall 2016, and Spring 2017 semesters are welcome. Interdisciplinary projects from those semesters may also be submitted.

How to apply for the Symposium

Call for submissions: Annual College Juried Exhibit

The Art Place and Mountain View Arts Alliance are seeking entries for the 25th Annual College Juried Exhibit for 2017. Students participating in this exhibit have a chance to win monetary awards of up to $400. Each year this exhibit increases in its broad diversity of art vision and talent throughout the state of Georgia. Please pass this information on to your students and place the poster in areas where they can observe the information. Acceptance and participation in the 2017 CJX show can be a valuable addition to a well-rounded education in the arts.

If you have questions about the exhibit or the application process contact, Marselle Miles at 770.509.2700. Additional applications can be downloaded from The Art Place website.

C&R Press Seeks Graphic Design Interns

C&R Press is currently in need of two superlative graphic design interns interested in book design and layout, and other forms of print design. Applicants should have a strong background in all aspects of visual communications. Internship positions are telecommuting positions.

C&R Press is a young, independent press based in North Carolina that publishes 16-20 books a year. We have been around for 8 years and have distribution through SPD in North America and globally through Macmillan. For more information, please call Liz Harms at 479-461-8366 or visit their Facebook page or website.
Call for Artists: The New South II

Deadline: February 26, 2017 at 11:59 p.m.

KAI LIN ART is hosting its Open Call for Artists in the Southeast and beyond to participate in its annual juried works on paper exhibition, THE NEW SOUTH II. The exhibition’s aim is to bring attention to the artistic dialogue currently happening in the Contemporary South and to celebrate the largely versatile and exciting medium of paper. This competition is open to both established and emerging artists who have lived or worked in the Southeast. Please submit your artwork and application form before February 26, 2017, for your work to be considered.
