The Betty Foy Sanders Department of Art presents

Claire Ashley: Night Vision

Claire Ashley’s work investigates inflatables as painting, sculpture, installation, and performance costume. Using the language of painterly abstraction, monumental sculpture, slapstick humor and pop art, Ashley transforms mundane materials into inflatable painted sculptures and performative props.

For this exhibition, Ashley looks to Grace Jones’ iconic 1981 album “Nightclubbing” as inspiration for the creation of an alternate future in this unprecedented brave new world.
