ENGLAND SAYS NO ALUM IN FOOD

In England and France the sale of alum Baking Powder is prohibited by law because of the injuries it inflicts. Apparently it is still used in the United States.

In the State of Washington it is possible to purchase alum with the label: "For Detergent and Cleaning." This label, which covers the package, indicates that the producer tells the consumer it is safe to use. However, recent tests have revealed that alum is harmful to the stomach and that its use as a medicinal agent is injurious.

HAVE YOU SEEN OLLIFF HIGHTS?

IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Do the people of Statesboro realize what is taking place at this time in the northern part of the City? The Deen Realty & Improvement Co., having secured the contract for developing the property that was bought from Mr. Olliff by Waycross investors, are at work in OLLIFF HIGHTS with an army of men, pushing work ahead, grading streets and sidewalks, clearing up and developing this tract of land; planting shade trees and doing other things too numerous to mention, which all go together to help make up one of the most beautiful subdivisions ever subdivided in the State of Georgia. All the lots are high and dry and beautiful. The streets are the prettiest and widest in the city, and when this company complete their contract, they can turn it back to the owners without fear of its ever being said that it is not the beauty seat of Statesboro. It is worth your time and trouble to walk or drive out to Olliff Hights and note the wonderful improvements which day by day transform this tract, once a cotton field, into a magic little city. It is not necessary for me to describe the location of this property, as you well know where it is located.

The feature of this property is that the deeds now being made provide that in coming generations no negro can ever own one of these lots; where a man can never build less than a $1,500 house, nor build nearer than 15 to the sidewalk line. This gives you protection and your neighbor protection that you have never had unless some other so-called real estate company has copied after this company, the originator of this restriction clause.

Watch the daily papers for announcements of different new ideas and new improvements that will take place week after week in Olliff Hights.

For further information in regard to Olliff Hights, write to

(1) The Florida legislature has passed a bill providing for the taxation of all lands within one mile of the water's edge, regardless of whether they are patented or not. The bill is now awaiting the governor's signature.

(2) In a recent decision, the Supreme Court of Georgia upheld the constitutionality of the state's prohibition law, ruling that it is a valid exercise of the police power. The court also rejected the argument that the law is an unconstitutional infringement on the right of property owners to use their land as they see fit.

(3) The Federal government has announced plans to expand the Panama Canal. The expansion would make the canal twice as wide and allow for the passage of larger ships.
