THE BIG PARADE through the business section of Statesboro as the Freshmen observed annual Rat Day.

REV. SHANNON HOLLOWAY—
Religious Emphasis Week speaker.

Religious Week Begins Monday

T.C. students will march through next week singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." The song will resound throughout the campus as students celebrate the annual Religious Emphasis Week, sponsored by the S.C.A.

The week will officially begin Sunday night, when the dormitories will hold all night prayer services. Reverend Shannon Holloway will be the main speaker for the week.

Morning Watch will be observed every morning at 6:30. The schedule for these programs, in which all the students will meet together, is: Monday, Dan Biggers leading a faggot service to be held at the lake; Tuesday, Ann Trice in Lewis Hall; Wednesday, Barbara Fossett in West Hall; Thursday, Anne Higginbotham in East Hall; and Friday, Clarence Taylor in Sanford Hall.

There will be a special service in the auditorium every evening at 6:30. Leading these will be Reverend Holloway, Dr. Russell and members of the S.C.A. council.

Evening watch will be conducted at its usual time, separately in each dormitory, Monday through Thursday nights. On Friday night a singspiration and social for the entire student body will be held in Sanford Hall lounge at 10 o'clock.

Student From Nazareth, Israel To Enroll At T.C.

Louis T. Zeitoun, from the city of Nazareth, Israel, will arrive next week to enroll in G.T.C. as an exchange student, sponsored by the Atlanta Rotary Educational Foundation. His ship from Israel, the S.S. La Guardia, docked in New York on the ninth.

Chosen on the basis of high scholarship, outstanding personality, and seriousness of purpose, Zeitoun is the fifth student to come from Israel to Georgia.

Zeitoun has received extensive training in his home country. His field of study is social science. He graduated from Terra Sancta College, Jerusalem, and Rashidiya College, Jerusalem (Old City), Jordan.

Zeitoun taught English and history at the Franciscan Secondary Girls School, Nazareth. He has studied and worked with law offices of Jerusalem. A Christian Arab and 23 years of age, he will study here at T.C. for the remainder of this school year, after which he will return to Israel.

Organ Guild Holds Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Organ Guild was held in the audio-visual room with refreshments served in the parlor of East on November 8. Organists from Statesboro were guests.

Mr. David H. Woodal, Atlanta, southeastern representative of the Moller Pipe Organ Co., Hagerstown, Md., gave an illustrated lecture with colored slides on the building of Moller organs.

After the program there was a question and answer forum.

GEORGIA (Sun. & Mon.)—"THE STRIP."

M-G-M presents an exciting tour behind the scenes of the world's most glamorous avenue of nightclubs—"The Strip" of Hollywood's Sunset Boulevard. This movie was actually filmed in the famous night spots—Ciro's, The Mocambo, etc.

The story is a tragic one, a drama of a drummer boy, played by Mickey Rooney, who falls in love with a cigarette girl-dancer, Sally Forrest, who has ruthless ambition of becoming a movie star. But the drummer has double-crossed a dangerous racketeer, James Craig—and thereby hangs a tale of suspense.

The torchy romance is played out against a throbbing background of Dixieland Blues. Playing their real-life roles in "The Strip" are Vic Damone, Monica Lewis, Louis Armstrong, Jack Teagarden, Kay Brown and Earl "Fatha" Hines, who bring you 18 numbers, including four hot-drum solos by Rooney. This is one of those all-round entertainment pictures that any fan of drama or Dixieland will get a charge from.

"LORNA DOONE (Tues. & Wed.)

The immortal classic by Richard D. Blackmore comes to the screen in a blaze of Technicolor and the clashing of swords. As anyone who has read it in high-school English knows, "Lorna Doone" is a story of a feud. The Exmoor Country of 17th Century England was ruled and terrorized by the Doone clan from their mountain fortress—until a handsome young peasant named John Ridd met Lorna Doone, adopted ward of the outlaw family. John Ridd grew up and went to the wars, and when he returned he rallied farmers in guerrilla action, determined to rid the country of the Doone scourge, and marry Lorna.

Richard Greene is John Ridd, and beautiful Barbara Hale, who played Al Jolson's second wife, is

Freshmen Elect Class Officers

Cheerleaders Named for '51-'52

Ann Nevil, Betye Hendrix, Mynette May, Joan Bennett, Betty Ann Bedingfield, and Pat Wilson will comprise the GTC cheerleading team for the 1951-53 basketball season.

These six were elected in tryouts which were held last Wednesday night in the gym. Voting were members of the Blue Tide basketball team, T-Club, Student Council, and the Physical Education members.

Ann Nevil and Betye Hendrix will be co-captains due to the fact that they tied in receiving the highest number of votes.

Betty Ruth Folsom and Loretta Green will be alternates.

Betty Ann Bedingfield and Joan Bennett are beginning their fourth year on the team. Ann Nevil and Mynette May will be cheering for their third season. Betty Hendrix joined the lineup last year, and Pat Wilson is the newest addition to the team.

Phil Norton, of Griffin, Ga., was elected president of the TC Freshman class of 1951-52 in the primary held last Monday, November 5. Run-overs were necessary for the other offices, and the final election was held Wednesday.

Mary Jo Jackson, Attapulugus, is vice president of the class, winning the office over Ferrell Sparks, of Canton. Rose Mary Ammons, of Brunswick, won the office of secretary over Marzee Richards, of Augusta. The treasurer is Carl Tyson, from Lennox, who won over Betty Myers, of Dublin. Ann-gene Culbreth, of Edison, will serve as Student Council representative for the freshmen women. Christy Trowell, of Oliver, and Lester Davis, of Tifton, have tied for the office of men's Student Council representative. The run-over will be held later.

Rec. Hour Begin; From 6:15 to 7:00

The Student Council and W.A.A. together are sponsoring a recreation hour in the gym every evening from 6:15 til 7:00, Monday through Friday.

This year they intend to offer many entertainment features rather than only dancing and table tennis, as in the past. A suggestion box will be available to all the students this week in order to determine exactly what type entertainment is desired by the student body.

The Student Council and W.A.A. are going all out to make the evening recreation hour an outstanding feature of G.T.C., and ask the attendance and support of everyone.

Musical Boners In Music Journal

Musical "boners" culled from student examination papers at Georgia Teachers College are the basis of an article by Dr. Ronald J. Neil, chairman of the Division of Music at the college. This article is entitled "Have You Heard These?" It appears in the November Issue of Music Journal.

The BIG Jump

By ROBERT HURST

WHEN ENTERING COLLEGE, a person makes a big jump; from a senior in high school to a freshman in college. The thoughts that enter the new student's mind are mixed emotions—fear, excitement, joy. He is like a hermit entering a small metropolis for the first time without knowledge of what is to come. Everything is completely different from the ordinary.

To the new student, college is an Utopian spot—where all is a lost language or situation as far as he is concerned. The new student is lost when he first enters college and probably longs most of all for old hometown faces and yet is eager to meet new ones, who later become, for the most part, lifetime friends.

The entering of college is the most, or one of the most, important things in a person's life. Not only does it teach a specific trade or profession, but it teaches a person self-reliance. People learn to live with each other and make the best of it. From college a person advances from the stage of dependence to the independent level of the profession he has chosen. In other words, while one is at college he matures from childhood to man, in most cases. Childish things are put away. When college days have ended, the old alumnus looks back and can see his gradual progress from his freshman year to his senior year; he actually sees himself grow up. Yes, college days are the best days of a person's life.

I'll Stick by Teachers College

By MARY HELEN AULTMAN

BECAUSE:

There are so many people here who work hard at the task of making us happy, like Mrs. Melton for instance. It's incredibly early when she arises every morning to begin working so that we can have the best meals possible.

It's a beautiful campus. Remember the times you've rode through the gates at night and looked down the straight pathway that leads you up to the columns of the ad building? How you looked up for the water tank, looming in the shadow? Then swept around the Sweetheart Drive, and gazed at one of the lamps casting cobwebs of light through the trees to a stone bench? The feeling you had when you rushed into your warm, well-lighted dormitory?

The students love the place so wholeheartedly. How about that clean-up day the junior class sponsored? How everyone pitched in to help clean up our home-away-from-home?

Faculty members care whether or not the students make the necessary accomplishments. There's Miss Stewart, for instance, who works and works at the overwhelming task of helping the entire student body to improve its speaking habits.

The clubs believe in the school. Have you seen the new Reflector sign which the Industrial Arts Club presented to the college and which they put up last Wednesday?

Many person are working to help us help ourselves to be better people. Have you ever noticed how Miss McElveen works to keep the library in such a way that it will be most useful and pleasing to you? What about the times you saw her working with the scrubbing outside the library, or dusting, or helping to wax the floor?

Someone is always working so that a variety of activities and opportunities for study will be open to students. Watch the way Mr. King works, with cheerfulness and faith, against difficulties of small numbers and lack of interest. Have you ever thought about his optimistic viewpoint and how it really does help the band?

The students here at TC cannot be beaten for friendliness. A gay smile and a happy "Hello" greets you at every turn.

I'll stick to TC because YOU have made it a wonderfully exciting place in which to study and live!

Heartbreak...

Do girls suffer more than men from broken engagements? How long does it take to recover from a broken engagement? Is there a painless way to end an engagement?

There is no painless way to end an engagement, but the majority of individuals recover in less than six months, Clifford R. Adams reports in the November Ladies Home Journal. The girl, more often than the man, he says, is too immature to accept the situation.

To help speed the recovery, Dr. Adams, a psychologist at Pennsylvania State College, gives seven suggestions offered by people who know best—those who have suffered from a broken engagement themselves:

1. Don't feel sorry for yourself. Statistics prove that you can love many people—and there is no one and only. Next time you may be able to choose more wisely.

2. Objectively renew the past courtship. When you analyze misunderstandings, disagreements and incompatible traits, you will realize that the present course of action is wisest.

3. Cut all ties with your ex-fiance or fiancee—return letters, gifts and pictures.

Consider similar experiences of friends, those now happily married or engrossed in a career. Your problem is not uncommon. A recent study of a thousand engagements shows that more than four in ten failed to result in marriage.

5. Resume former social activities. Accept invitations, look up old friends. Get some new clothes, put on a smile and start stepping out.

Don't be bitter about your broken engagement. Keep any explanations to your friends simple, dignified and fair.

7. Fill your days with constructive things to do. A job, volunteer social work, study or hobby will help give you a bright outlook.

And remember: a broken engagement is preferable to a broken marriage. Best of all, Dr. Adams says: "Out of your experience may emerge a deeper sympathy for others, a greater insight into yourself, a richer challenge in the months ahead."

TC Girls Attend Home Ec. Meeting

There will be five representatives from G.T.C. at the State Home Economics Workshop in Athens, Ga., on November 9-10. The delegates will be Ann Broome, junior, and Ann Eubank, sophomore, while Mildred Spiers, state president will be in charge of the meeting. Joanne Groover, who was recently elected second vice president of Province III, will give a report. Miss Margaret Strahman, state adviser, will accompany the girls.

There will be 17 clubs attending the meet. The theme will be "Better Living."

FTA Program

Thursday night, November 1, the Future Teachers of America chapter met. The program was given by the officers: Jimmy Oliver, Ann Trice, Carolyn Williams, and Jo Starr. The presented to the club the chapel program which is to be given in various neighboring schools.

Group No. 13 will present the same program on November 8 to the P.T.A. at Laboratory School.

Passing the Book

Our apologies to that eager and lovelorn host who gathered in the audio-visual room last Tuesday evening seeking the answer as to how they might become either a dashing swain or an alluring siren, and found their dreams shattered.

To reiterate a rather tired statement, "Due to circumstances over which we have no control, we were forced to alter the program somewhat." However, we feel sure that all those who did come got their money's worth or, shall we say, their time's worth. Instead of merely two films concerning the opposite sex, they got all of "America the Beautiful," and that is a big handful in anybody's book.

Next week the program will be in a more serious, though, certainly not interesting, vein. In cooperation with Religious Emphasis Week, we are planning to show two very excellent religious films: "The Crusades" and "Driven Westward." The first concentrates on the organization of the Third Crusade and the Battle of Acre. It is a stirring, action-packed film that brings to reality the thrilling episodes of the Crusades. The second film might be called a pioneer tale, but it is more than that. It deals with a very interesting group of people, the Mormons, and follows them in their hazardous trek westward to avoid persecution, the founding of the settlement of Great Salt Lake under the leadership of Brigham Young, and the subsequent struggle for survival. "Driven Westward" is an inspiring and thrilling story.

We promise not to disappoint you again. Honest Injun! "The Crusades" and "Driven Westward" will definitely be shown, and we know you will enjoy them.

And now you shall be enlightened! Now those wrinkled brows and curious expressions shall be erased from your puzzled faces. At last comes the answer to that multitude of holes that have suddenly begun to appear in the neighborhood of the library! No, Bobby Richardson and Joe Sizemore are not trying to develop their muscles by wielding that shovel. It is all a part of a very nice plan. Miss McElveen has taken an interest in horticulture, and next spring when you see hordes of azaleas blossoming forth from those now gaping pits, you may thank her and the aching backs of Joe and Bobby. It really will be an improvement, though, and the flowers should make the library an even nicer place to come.

Incidentally, we might insert a word to all those enamoured couples who meet each night at the library for (?) study. Do not take the long way home around the library for awhile. You might sprain an ankle.

"SOUTHERN LAND"

(By Jim Hodges)

In the Summer, in the Autumn...
Be it Winter or Fair Spring...
Whether told in prose or poetry...
Of even if we sing... The story of this Southern land...
The secret it beholds... The story of its beauty...
In words cannot be told... The arrangement of its woodlands...
It's meadows bright and fair... Her heart was full of joy when...
Mother Nature put them there... And in this dear old Southern Land...
The sun will always shine... Her fields are white with cotton in...
The pleasant summertime... Her fields as broad as oceans and...
The meadows green and wide... The wheat fields in remembrance as...
The waving of the tide... For all who dearly love this land... With rivers bright as pearl... The future lies upon them in... Their little Southern World.

"MY PRAYER FOR YOU"

(By Jim Hodges)

When you get into bed each night...
And wander off to sleep... I bow my head to Him above...
And pray that He will keep... His faithful love and mighty hand...
Upon my darling there... And may her life be ever sweet...
Prolonged by Holy Care... And may her life be brightest when...
The rain elects to fall... And cheerfulness is ushered in...
To calm and quiet it all... And may she live to see her dreams...
Of happiness come true... And each desire and that she... May have will blossom through.

Here's The Latest...

By LIZ, FAYE, BETTY B.

Maybelle Lewis, Sadie Sikes, Carolyn Williams, and Mary Wilkins are true supporters of the Air Force. They really were sporting their beaux last week end.

Seems that Jimmy Oliver and Jerry Silverman have taken up residence at East Hall—at least the telephone company must think so.

Beverly Barger was among the few elites who attended Homecoming at the University of Georgia.

Latest Request: Sara Ann Denham wants a warning whistle two minutes before 10:30!

For information about Presbyterian College, please contact Jo Starr and Genie Owen.

Two weeks campus go to Jerry Burrows and Fred Pierce from East Hall Council. They took the trouble to sign out, but failed to sign in—so, who knows if you returned by 10:30!

That ole "Navy Blue" seems to be calling George Clark once again—at his earliest convenience.

Spencer Overstreet and Walter "Mac" volunteered for patrol duty on second and third floor—when "Mrs. J" could not succeed in quieting down "her" girls.

"Pic" Whaley seems to have a drawing attraction at Lewis Hall.

Glenn Thomas was the envy of every boy at the dance Saturday night—with his Scotch plaid coat.

West Hall has been visited by almost everyone on campus this past week. The picture industry seems to be thriving there.

The artistic ability of the Freshmen nominees certainly had a chance to shine—and it did! They went weird on putting up posters on every possible space on bulletin boards, etc.

Billy Moore seems to be "distracting" Joan Griffin as they sing the solo parts in one of the Philharmonic songs.

Betty Ewing and "Bert" McLoon visited their former Alma Mater at Douglas last week end. However, they seemed proud to return "home" again Sunday night!

Virginia Leotis has been putting Betsy Tippins and Sara Dot Simpson to work on cleaning up her car. That extra shine must mean something special!

Martha Ann Todd and Fay Hodges were having to calm Jo Surrency down the other afternoon. Seems that Jo was upset about some kinda' notes—couldn't be phys. ed.!

Daddy of the TC Squad

By HARRY STRICKLAND

NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on this year's Georgia Teachers College basketball team.

Jim Duncan hails from Worley, Ky., and graduated from McCreary County High School in 1944. After high school, Jim served in the armed forces with the Army from 1945 to 1946. After his discharge he married and opened a grocery store in Stearns, Ky. At the insistence of his brother-in-law, Bucky Helton, he came to Statesboro in the summer of 1949 to play baseball.

When he failed to make the Ogeechee League baseball team he took a job with the league as an umpire. Since he was a veteran, he took advantage of the G.I. Bill and entered Georgia Teachers College, intending to spend one summer, and planned to transfer to a college in Kentucky and finish his work. His liking for the institution resulted in his remaining in school.

He went out for the basketball team in 1949 and was anything but impressive. He was spectacular in a strange sort of way, but produced unimpressive results. After playing a role as second and third string center for most of the season, he was given his first opportunity as a starter on February 11, 1950, as a result of the illness of the first string center, Bucky Helton. He proved the confidence of his coach by scoring 17 points against Green Cove Springs Naval Station. He was the starter in the next game played by the Teachers when the team journeyed to Clinton, S. C., to play Presbyterian College, February 14, where his 12 points and his spirited play was a big factor in the Teachers College play. His high score for the 1949-50 season was 20 points on nine field goals and two free throws against Presbyterian College played at Collegeboro.

During the 1950-51 season, Jim took up improving where he left off before and finished the season with a total of 428 points, second only to Scotty Perkins. Jim showed a lot of hustle during that year and when the team needed points Jim always faked in two.

Duncan is practice teaching at Statesboro High School this quarter and is doing a fine job. Incidentally, he is the father of a bouncing baby boy, Jim Russell Duncan Jr. Ask Jim about his pride and joy and he will tell you all the details with gleaming pride. Congratulations, Jim.

JIM DUNCAN

Some of the girls were talking about the couple soon to be married, and said she would be a perfect match for him. I don't know her, but match or no match, she can expect him to be "lit" quite often.

Lewis Is Leading Softball Play

Three out of six games of the inter-dormitory softball tournament have already been played. Lewis is leading with two wins to West's one. In the remaining games, Lewis is scheduled to play East, West-Lewis, and the final game being the playoff.

The loss of Martha Finley's services caused by injury in Saturday's game has greatly handicapped West Hall's team.

Much interest has been shown on the part of spectators. One unknown male supporter became so absorbed in the game (?) that he failed to notice a telephone pole in the path of his green Chevrolet.

The W.A.A. will cooperate with the Student Council this year in planning and conducting the just-before-study-hall Recreation Hour in the gym, which will get underway on Monday, November 12.

It is hoped that a varied program of recreational activity will be offered in order to permit participation of all, rather than just a few. By way of making this possible, students are asked to drop their suggestions for the type activity desired in the Recreation Hour box located in the Administration Building.

Intramural Gets Off to Bad Start

By FRED PIERCE and GEORGE RAHN

So far this year, the intra-mural football hasn't been going over very well, due to bad weather and postponements. But the main reason is that the boys are not taking any interest in it. There is very seldom a full eight-man team on the field. The captains of the different teams urge all of the boys to go out and play when their team is supposed to play.

The Black team, led by Wright Wilkins, is at present leading the league, with four wins and one loss, but the Orange and Green teams are very close behind with three and one records. Then comes Yellow, Red, and White, in that order.

The Physical Education department sponsors this program every year so that boys who do not play a varsity sport may have fun and recreation. The games are played Monday through Thursday every afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Friday is left open to make up postponed games. All postponed games will be made up in the near future, so team captains will have to watch the bulletin board for the schedule.

Go out and support your team and have a good intra-mural program this year.

Volleyball Play Begins Monday

By JOAN BENNETT

On Monday, November 12, at 3:30, the women's volleyball tournament will begin. There will be two games a day, beginning Thursday—no Friday games—and so on. The schedule will be posted by noon Monday, so watch the bulletin board.

If a complete team is not on the playing field by 3:45, the game will be forfeited to the other team.

To you girls who have not practiced: Come on down and play anyway. It's lots of fun and plenty exciting.

The officials will be taken from members of the PEMM Club.

Everybody come on out and support your color—let's get a little team spirit going on campus.

Organ Installed In Anderson Hall

The Music Department has installed in Anderson Hall a Wurlitzer Model 31 church or home organ with 25-note pedal identical to hundreds in the state. It is a complete two-manual with 23 speaking stops, tilting-stop control, plus full swell and full organ stops.

The 32-note pedal Hammond organ, identical with the pipe organ, will provide us with two different makes and models and will acquaint organ students with any electronic organ in the state. Occasional trips to Savannah to play on pipe organs round out organ students' education.

The practice organ has been needed for several years. There have been many times lessons could not be taught or students could not practice due to other activities going on in the auditorium.

Lorna Doone. William Bishop is the villainous Carver Doone who leads the clan in tyranny and who wants Lorna for himself—even to the point of interrupting the wedding of John and Lorna with a rifle shot. Carl Benton Reid, veteran Broadway character actor who played "Maurrant" in the original 1928 cast of "Street Scene," is old Sir Ensor Doone, who cannot stop his son's bullying. Like all other movies filmed from the old classics, "The Three Musketeers," "Robin Hood," "Treasure Island" and "The Count of Monte Cristo," this is wonderfully entertaining.

"ON MOONLIGHT BAY" (Thurs. & Fri.)

Along comes a sparkling, nostalgic musical to balance the sensuous drama of "The Strip" and the romantic adventure of "Lorna Doone." Doris Day and Gordon MacRae, young America's favorite musical co-stars, bring you all the old favorites of the 1910s—"Moonlight Bay," "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "Smiles," "There's a Long Long Trail A-Winding," and nine others. Jack Smith, popular radio tenor, makes his movie debut in this, as a bespectacled jerk. The story is based on the famous "Penrod" series of young love in Indiana by Booth Tarkington. Doris Day is a tomboy who likes baseball and fishing—until intellectual young college man Gordon MacRae moves next door. She falls for him after he spansks her for breaking a window, and begins to acquire a little femininity when she learns that he considers baseball a triviality alongside the impending World War. But her banker father disapproves of MacRae after learning that he considers banks useless. Still, everything comes out all right in the end, and the end result is a thoroughly enjoyable and light hour or so of entertainment.

The following sign appears in a Pennsylvania cemetery: "Persons are prohibited from picking flowers from any but their own graves."
