Baptist Journey To Milledgeville For Convention

The First Baptist Church of Milledgeville is the scene of the 1953 Baptist Student Union convention. Members of the Teachers College B.S.U. are attending the annual convention attended by Baptists students from all colleges and universities of Georgia.

Featured speakers at the convention are Dr. Claude Brooch, pastor of St. Johns Baptist Church, Charlotte, North Carolina; Mr. Robert S. Denny, associate secretary, department of student work, Baptist Sunday School Board; Dr. J. Winston Pearce, pastor, First Baptist Church, Durham, North Carolina.

In addition to outstanding speakers, talent from all over the state will be present in the sixty voice Baptist Student Choir. Five students from Georgia Teachers College—Peggy Saturday, Kirbylene Stephens, Georgia Harper, Ann-gene Culbreth and Van Murray will represent T. C. in this choir. On Saturday morning, one hour and a half will be given to interesting and informative discussion groups.

A chuckwagon supper will be served on Saturday afternoon. At this time special music and entertainment will be featured.

Approximately 35 Baptist students from T. C. are attending this convention.

Gym. Ruling.

Coach J. E. Searce, head of the division of health and physical education has requested that decorations for dances and other functions in the gym be limited to the very simplest sort. The rules in the "T" Book are to be followed explicitly except in the case of the major affairs, including formal and so forth.

The fact that there is no janitor in the gym at the present time accounts for the enforcing of these rules.

"Library"

Library Provides Many Facilities

Masquers Plan Publicity Drive

The art and speech departments at T. C. are combining their efforts and talents in an attempt to really make Masquer's "Ladies of the Jury" an outstanding contribution to drama here.

Miss Freida Gernant, art instructor, will design the sets and scenery to be used in the production which will be given in the Bulloch county court house. Art students have joined Masquers to plot the publicity campaign for the production. Marilu Mills and Robert Hurst have been assigned to uptown advertising. The complete list of others on the publicity committee was unavailable and will be given later.

The library is the most outstanding intellectual center on campus. It provides for research, for daily newspapers, for film strips and for movies.

In 1927 the library consisted of what is now the business office. Later it was changed to rooms #32-33. The teachers offices joining those rooms was also included in the library at that time. Next addition was an enlargement extending the library into rooms 30-31.

The present library was built in 1939 and has been increasing in facilities steadily since. Today T. C. students have access to 47,000 different volumes of books, five daily newspapers, several county weekly newspapers, 500 film strips, glass slides, radios and movies in the audio-visual room. The periodical room provides for the use of over 250 periodicals.

In the T.C. library there is also a Regional State Film Library containing 4,000 prints for the use of both students and faculty alike.

Hart Highlights I. R. C. Meeting

James Hart, the exchange teacher from England, was guest speaker at the International Relations Club meeting Tuesday night. Mr. Hart spoke on the differences and similarities of British and American societies, especially playing up the humorous ideas that the Americans and the British have of each other. Many points on foreign policy were brought out in the questions which the members asked at the end.

The business meeting, which involved dates of the Regional I.R.C. conference and the meeting of committees for its preparation was held at the beginning to give Mr. Hart more time.

George-Anne Requests Approval Of Cave Club

The George-Anne will apply to the proper administrative authorities next week for official sanction of the organization of a new campus club.

Corbett Elected Head of English Club This Year

Tommie Jean Corbett has been chosen to lead the English Club as president this year. The club met Thursday, October 15 to elect officers. Others serving with Tommie Jean are: vice-president, Phyllis McLendon; secretary, Jane Seabolt; treasurer, Kirbylene Stephens; and reporter, Ann-gene Culbreth.

The English Club was organized several years ago at T. C. by Mrs. Marjorie Guardia, the purpose behind the organization of such a club was to provide some way to spread an interest in English as applied to everyday life.

Dr. F. D. Russell is also sponsor of the club.

The new group—membership of which would be restricted to those students working on the George-Anne will seek approval as The Cave Club.

Primary aims of the organization will be the promotion of journalistic interests on the campus, particularly the student newspaper.

The idea was presented by George-Anne editor Remer Tyson at a newspaper staff meeting Monday night and was enthusiastically endorsed by the group.

"We feel that such an organization will bring the staff members and reporters closer together and will in turn result in an improved student newspaper," said Tyson.

He said the club would sponsor not only journalistic projects, but campus wide activities as well.

Student Art Show Held At Lab High

The second annual Statesboro region Georgia Student Art Show will be held in the laboratory school at Georgia Teachers College February 19-26.

Initial plans for the yearly student art show have been made by Eugene Weldon, of the University of Georgia, the state co-ordinator for the program.

Last year the exhibit here contained over 500 pieces of art from elementary and secondary school pupils and attracted over 2,000 visitors.

Mrs. Doris Thomas, Savannah is the general chairman. Miss Roxie Remley, assistant professor of fine arts at GTC, is the co-ordinator for the regional exhibit; and Miss Freida Gernant, associate professor of fine arts, is the display chairman. Chairman of publicity is Mrs. Catherine Kirkland, Statesboro.

Work from students in all grades, first through 12, is to be included. Any medium, such as painting, drawing, ceramics, and crafts, is eligible for display.

T Club Rules

High school letters may not be worn after "Rat" day. This ruling is included in the constitution of the Georgia Teachers College "T" Club, and will be enforced.

High school letter sweaters may be worn only if the letters are removed; however it is permissible to wear letters and jackets from other senior and junior colleges.

Nominations Are Scheduled Mon.

The Freshman class will meet next Tuesday morning to nominate class officers. The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the Lab. School auditorium.

The same rules will be followed for these nominations as were used in the upper class nominations.

The election is to be held November 3.

'Round About T. C.

"Father was a Fullback," a recent film starring Fred McMurray, will be shown Saturday night in the Lab School auditorium.

The only other movie to be screened this quarter will be Mr. 880, starring Edmond Gwenn. This showing will be November 14 in the Lab School auditorium.

W.R.A. Meets

A meeting of the W.R.A. was held Thursday, October 15 in the gymnasium. Folk games were played and a business meeting was held afterwards to discuss the plans and appoint the various committees for the W.R.A.'s Hallowe'en square Dance which is to be Saturday night, October 31st in the college gymnasium.

The slate of officers was completed and are as follows:

Chairman, Carolyn Tally; vice-president, Sara Fletcher; secretary, Beverly O'Connor; treasurer, Weita Wall; publicity chairman, Sara Fletcher; publicity co-chairmen, Beverly O'Connor, Margene Jenkins.

The Statesboro Quarterback Club will sponsor a football game between Georgia Military College of Milledgeville, Georgia, and Florida State University "B" team of Tallahassee, Florida.

This game will be November 14 at 8:30 on the Statesboro High School field. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

The Georgia Teachers College band will give a half-time performance.

The First Time I Saw My Tower

By TOMMIE JEAN CORBETT

There it was... It was a beautiful autumn afternoon and I was gazing amazedly at My Tower... I must have stood there for hours...

Only twelve years ago I started the construction of My Tower; preliminary planning began long before that time...

A peculiar thing about My Tower... With all this planning, dreaming, imagining, and everything... I had never really seen it.

It all began when Mother and Daddy said that I could begin to think about what I wanted in My Tower. At first I couldn't decide. All kinds of arrangements were possible and as time went by I would change my mind; I must have changed my mind a million times. You won't believe it but I planned it all by myself except for a little professional advice now and then. I sometimes wonder even yet if I put enough windows in it.

Usually one thinks of a tower as a building that is real high, but My Tower has a nice foundation floor also. I consulted some people who are really experts and they said to be sure to get a good foundation because that was very important if I wanted My Tower to stand firm for a long time.

... Anyway, there I was... Seeing my Tower for the first time during my life. When I was a little girl, I dreamed of just such a moment. As one might imagine, it took me quite some time to get up nerve enough to go inside but it was very nice.

I've been living in My Tower now for a month. Sometimes I just have to go back and visit my other home but I know I'll grow up so big that I can stay in My Tower all by myself. I have a four-year lease on this, My Tower, and I'm going to start right now trying to be a part of my community. I think I shall like it here. Everyone is friendly and helpful.

Your Morning Coffee

It's time for that quick dash to the Blue Tide for that between meal drink. You stagger down the steps from class, holding your eyes open and wondering how you're going to stay awake during the next class. Then you think, "This is bad now, but this winter when it's cold, what'll I do then?"

The solution is simple. Run over to the Blue Tide between classes for a cup of coffee. But coffee isn't served in the Blue Tide.

Well, let's all ask that coffee be served. It's not too much to ask and this is the way to do it. The Student Council is the organization to which suggestions should be made, so let's suggest.

Socks Seemed Success

How do you like the "Sock Hop?" Last week an editorial was published predicting that it would not be a success. The George-Anne thinks this prediction was wrong. As you say, it was a success, even though a great number of people went home over the weekend. The reason for its success was the PEOPLE who attended. You, the students, were the people.

If you had a good time, continue to support campus activities and make every weekend a fine time to live at T.C.

A Tragedy In One Act

SCENE 1: The College Grill.
TIME: 9:50.

ATMOSPHERE: Confusion.
JOE COLLEGE (Vondall Hall): "Hey, gang, dig that red cap with the blond curls!"

TYPICAL COED (Shirley Hanson): "She's the one who bought a lunch room chair from us."

SECOND COED (Tizzy): "Can it, crew. You forget the important thing. That low character got away again today."

JAE: "Yeah, and the chief gave me the low-down. He said that if Jerry's not there tomorrow, it's curtains. This time we got to make him go."

TYPICAL C.: "Aw, he's got all the angles figured. He always gets away with murder."

BE-BOP GID (Dan Hutchins): "Not anymore. I got the straight dope. He loused up that last job and he's going to face the music tomorrow. I saw those cool eyes of the chief when he told us to bring Jerry over for the 'treatment.'"

CORN PONE KID (Heyward Gmann): "And, you-all, remember we told the chief that we'd get that culprit over there for that lil' ol' treatment, one way or another."

JOE: "Yeah, and anyway, we had to face it."

TYPICAL C.: "Natch, some live and some conk out; but everybody has to face the chief when you're signed up for one of those designated, treatments."

BE-BOP: "Yeah, man, eight is the hour that the chief said and that cat will be there, if we don't have to rough 'em up. We got to do this even if he is our pal. If he gets away for three months, the chief'll send one of those little white slips through the mail and that will mean finis."

CORN PONE: "Well, I have done went and figured an angle so that we can track him down and get him tomorrow. It's a cinch that we have to get him there and not a minute after eight, either."

SCENE II: A hallway, Sanford.
TIME: Five minutes before 8.

ATMOSPHERE: Stillness, mystery, organized confusion. (Figures creep stealthily through the halls.)

JOE: "Are you sure he's in there?"

BE-BOP: "That cat is here. Let's move forward with the plan."

(A skeleton key turns in the lock. The sound of a muffled scream comes from the room. The figures move out, carrying a large bag, tied up.)

SCENE III: The liar of the chief, just outside.

ATMOSPHERE: Triumph.
TIME: 8 o'clock.

JOE: "Let 'im out."

JERRY: (climbing out of the sack, looking around dazedly): What's the big idea. Why are you all looking at me? No! NO! Not the chief! No! NO-O-O-O! (They ignored the desperate plea, opened the door and shoved him in. As they were closing the door, they heard the cool, clear voice of the chief, saying, "Close your books, class. Mr. Silverman is going to answer a few questions about H2 O.")

CURTAIN.

Cathy's Column

Hi There!

Happy birthday, Miss Rogers! Her birthday was last Tuesday. A conference was held in her office Wednesday morning. This was an unusual conference however—consisting of birthday cake—and a gift.

I have just gotten an ultimatum from Mr. J. M. Herringdine. He said he will quit if he doesn't get his name in the paper—so here it is, J. M. Herringdine!

We have a riddle for you to figure out compliments of A. Nonnie Moose. Janice C. found the following note on her dresser and would like to know what it means. "If you ain't! Don't! This ain't for that!" Those are the new pass words on campus.

Mike has an observation on the "Soc Hop" last Saturday night. He says that everyone there seemed to be trying to play "Toe-sizes." Yours truly also has some comments on the dance. It was just about the best dance ever on T. C. campus and a good time was truly had by all. Congratulations Sanford!

Please, somebody tell me why everybody in East Hall calls Hilda Grogan, "Miss Avon!"

Gwen Lanier surely did seem happy the past weekend. It could have been because Chester P. was here.

Did you notice several people wearing black last Monday? All those girls were in mourning for "Ace," Betty Roan's pet gold fish. The funeral service was presided over by Marie Thomas. We express our sympathy.

Congratulations Loretta! Have you seen he rring? It is beautiful!

It seems we have a Grand Ole Opera right here on campus. Where? Little Store. When? Every night 9:30 p. m. Who? Chester and "Peabody" are the stars!

Lewis Transfers Rave About T. C.

You'd be surprised at the number of transfer students who reside in the Lewis Hall junior-senior dormitory for women! Fourteen "transfers," in all, now live there. Coming from such scattered universities as Andrew, Young Harris, Saint Louis, West Georgia, and Bessit Tift, the girls say that they have definitely "taken" to Georgia Teachers.

Questioned as to their reasons for transferring to T. C., the students offered answers as varied as their educational backgrounds. Replies ranged from the standard: "I like everything," to the more practical side of dormitory life: "There's a good supply of hot water when you want to bathe!"

There were some definite answers, however. Phyllis McLendon and Midge Bently found our campus to their liking, while Barbara Barineau and Nancy Armstrong agreed that the friendly attitude prevalent here was enticement enough for them. Mary Jac Ramsey mentioned the interest taken in the spiritual welfare of students by the various local churches and also admitted that she was highly pleased with her roommate, Phyllis McLendon, who formerly attended high school with her.

Ernestine Thompson, a transfary from Berry College, said she liked "everything" about the school. Carolyn Johnson and Sylvia Griner confessed more of the same, Sylvia saying: "I like so much about T. C. that I just can't pick out any one thing to mention. Rachel Powe, who transferred this year from Abraham Baldwin and is majoring in home economics, cited the prettiness of the campus and the sensible dormitory rules at Georgia Teachers.

Other students, now attending school here for the first time, and living at Lewis are: Betty Vardeman from Georgia Southwestern College; Eloise Wingate, and Joyce Ginn from Brewton Parker; Jane Edgy from Bessie Tift; and Rita Harper from St. Louis.

Some of the "transfers" could not be reached, but judging by the answers received from those who were, Georgia Teachers College is just the place to round out a full social and academic university career.

Holt Selected As Personality

This week we're proud to recognize one of T.C.'s outstanding personalities. Cathy Holt, sophomore, Albany, gives her contributions to many campus activities. Cathy, a music major, is active in religious, dramatic and many other organizations. Her column in this paper is fast becoming a favorite here at T.C. A friendlier more sincere person just hasn't yet evolved.

The George-Anne is proud to present Cathy as this week's personality. It's people with Cathy's calibre that keeps things worthwhile.

Vet's Corner

Dear Joe,

Last year I wrote about the boys on the base acting a little thoughtless and starting to shoot fire works in the barracks. Well it seems that the same thing is starting all over again, not only do they fail to use their heads to think of the danger, they are also inconsiderate of the many battle-ground worries, fellows that are trying to forget the horrible things that they have witnessed, during the last two wars.

It seems that this same group and others are using Coke bottles as bowling balls and the halls as the bowling allies. It has gotten so bad lately that the captain of the barracks had to have the Coke machine cut off and all Coke bottles removed from the rooms and halls. It seems to me we must have boys of draft age with grammar school minds. It is high time these fellows started using their heads for something instead of a place to grow hair.

Your brother,
JOHN.

Genevrios Post Win Lamb's Team Loser

Monday found Mike Genevrio and his team defeating Sam Lamb's team by the score of 16-12. It was a close contest up until the final whistle with both teams continuously threatening.

Tuesday was the most exciting afternoon to date. Allen was playing Lard's Field Hands, the score was 19-0 going into the last 3 1/2 minutes of play. Where most teams would have been beaten the Field Hands made one of the greatest comebacks these old eyes have seen. "Lover" Davis took a lateral on a long pass play and went to the 10 yard line on a beautiful play. On the next play Sullivan passed to Freeman for a score. The extra point was missed, score 13-6. The Field Hands kick off, there is 50 seconds till the end of the game. Allen passes, there is an interception by a Field Hand and they take over on their own 15 yard line. Sullivan throws another long pass, it is caught and lateraled again to "Lover" Davis who goes to the Allen 15 yard line. Here Sullivan passes to Davis for the score. Now that all important extra point. Sullivan passes to Freeman complete, the ball game is over, the score is tied 13-13 that last score came in the last 2 seconds of the game.

Wednesday afternoon saw one of the highest scoring days of the season. Lard's Field Hands were playing Sammie Lamb's team. Lamb had beaten Lard 8-6 earlier in the season. The field hands won Wednesday afternoon 42-7. The Lamb's scored their lone touchdown two minutes after the opening kick-off, from there on out it was the Field Hands all the way. "Lover" Davis set some sort of record this afternoon. There was no tabulation as to how many passes he caught, but it was plenty. Lard's team was heads-up all the way. Freeman, Davis, Herringdine, Sullivan, Spivey, Brannen and Clark all played outstanding games for Lard. Freeman scored twice, Herringdine scored twice, Sullivan scored twice, Davis scored twice and 3 extra points.

For Lamb's Big George McCloud was by far the outstanding player. He scored their only touchdown and extra point. Brewster also stood out for Lamb.

The author made a plea which was plainly ignored by the complete student body except for some 10 to 12 people who have been faithful all the way. I know some of the students have other activities to attend, but it's hard to believe out of a student body of some 560 students we can only get 10 or 12 people down to watch these games. I think it is a poor student body who won't support extra curricular activities. Even the big bad men of Sanford Hall are leary of supporting the program. Out of approximately 200 boys we have gotten 44 to participate in the intramural program. How about getting on the ball and backing some campus activity even if it's a bridge club.

Yellow Team Defeats Reds

The Red and Yellow volleyball teams met in combat Wednesday afternoon with the Yellow team coming out victorious over the Reds with a score of 78-14. The Yellow's took the lead at the beginning and held it throughout the entire game. The half-time score was Yellow 33, and Red 11.

Frosh Dominates 'B' Team Roster; First Game Dec. 1

Georgia Teachers "B" team opens its season with several new faces this year. Ten of these are freshmen who will be out to demonstrate to professor fans their basketball ability.

"Although green and inexperienced," coach J. I. Clements says, "we have a good shooting and hard working group."

These twelve boys on the "B" team are eligible at any time to play on the varsity. This gives each person an incentive to work because if he looks better than a varsity member he can be moved up.

Opening game will be with South Georgia College on December 1. This will be a preliminary game to the Varsity's Parris Island game. A twelve or thirteen game schedule will be made up with South Georgia, Brewton Parker, Jacksonville Junior College, Valdosta State, Georgia Southwestern, Armstrong and a tentative game with Young Harris College. Most of the schedule will be preliminary to varsity games except one or two.

The only change in line-up will be Charles Litvaney, alternating at forward and center.

The excellent serving ability of the members of the Yellow's team has continued to be a deciding factor in all the games. High scorers for the Yellow's were Beverly O'Connor 19, Ann DeLoach 15, Sara Fletcher and Shirley Wynn 14 each. High scorer for the Reds was Lucille Phillips with 8 points. Officials were Ruby Houston and June Miller.

The standings of the different teams are:

| Team   | Won | Lost |
|--------|-----|------|
| Red    | 0   | 3    |
| Yellow | 3   | 0    |
| Blue   | 1   | 1    |
| White  | 1   | 1    |
| Green  | 0   | 1    |

Scheduled to play Monday are: Yellow vs. White and Red vs. Green.

Professors To Play In Gator Bowl Tilt

Georgia Teachers College, which were selected. Georgia, Georgia Tech and Florida, winner of last year's tournament, will provide the opposition.

The Professors will play three games; one with each of the other teams.

The number of reserve seats and prices will be announced by the athletic association at a later date.

Public Opinion Poll Question; What Do You Think of a Foreign Language Being Offered At T.C.?

Would you be interested in taking a foreign language if it were offered on T.C. campus, and which one?

This was the subject for a poll which was taken because of the interest in improving the standards of this school.

This poll is an indication of the students' feeling on the feeling on the subject.

Bobby Jean Kingery—I would like to take a foreign language, yes. But I am so far gone in my work it would throw me way off schedule. I would prefer French.

Rachel Powe—No, do not need it in what I'm studying.

Clyde Tanner—In my opinion a foreign language is practically a necessity if a person is going to assume the post of a teacher. I would take any language offered but I do prefer French.

Barbara Barineau—Yes, Italian.

Herbert Bacon—Well, I'm a pre-med major and a foreign language for that is absolutely necessary. If I don't, or won't be able to get it here, I'll simply have to transfer to some place where it is offered. I understand that German is the accepted language now for medicine.

Nancy McIntosh—No, I can't see where it would benefit me in my major.

John Harvey—No, as far as I'm concerned a language would do me no good professionally. I'm a business major and I just can't see how it would do me much good.

Carlton Humphrey—It's just nice for a person to know at least one other language. I prefer Spanish because I'm just interested in it.

Ina Jones—If I had extra time I might take the easiest one. I never thought about it.

Tommy Jean Corbett—Yes, definitely, French because I have a better background in French and I like it. If you are an English major you especially ought to have a language.

Mary Alice Jones—According to what it was. If it was something I could use in music, like Italian.

France Anthony—I sure would, cause I've had three semesters of French and I would like to take another quarter or two.

Christy Trowell—Of course I'd be interested if one were offered. A person ignorant of a foreign language will be badly handicapped in the teaching profession.

Phil Norton—I certainly would! It is ridiculous to even think of getting a college degree without studying some foreign language. I think the school should make one available to those of us who would like to have it.

Charles Grovenstein—I'm a physical education major, but even a person in my field can benefit from a foreign language. Not only as foreign languages but in understanding English.

First Issue Lab School Paper Out

"The Little George-Anne," student newspaper of the Laboratory School at Georgia Teachers College made its first appearance of the new school year last week.

The four-page printed newspaper is edited this year by Shirley Jenkins. The faculty sponsor is Miss Ruth Lee. The paper is to be issued about every six weeks during the year.

Other staff members are Betty Parker, assistant editor; Carlton Mosely, news editor; Sue Whaley, feature editor; Sherwood Boyd, sports editor;

Lehman Ward, business manager; and Betty McGalliard, circulation manager.

Serving as reporters are Ann Marie Collins, Carolyn Chester, Sue Deal, Mary Hendrix, Margaret Manes. Carol Jean Collins, Peggy Parker, Martha Clark, Marian Edwards, and Gladys Bowen.

John Turner is the staff photographer, and Betty Shuman is secretary for the group.

TC Enters Gator Bowl Queen Contest

Men Will Select Review Contestants

All nominations must be turned in at the public relations office in the ad. building by noon Wednesday. The nominees will be announced in next week's paper.

The Gator Bowl Association will provide hotel accommodations and meals for the G.T.C. queen and her escort in Jacksonville.

The final judging at the Gator Bowl will be done by the closed point system by interview, sports costume (which may include bathing suit), and evening gowns. The evening gowns are to be full-length and may be in any pastel shade. Any undergraduate girl at G.T.C. is eligible for nomination.

Besides the $1,000 diamond ring, other prizes include a $200 evening gown and a 21-inch television set. Many smaller prizes are also offered.

Although several students in the past have taken part in various other beauty contests, this is the first time in the history of the college that a girl goes into a contest in another state as official representative of G.T.C.

with the annual spring beauty review. Contestants will make at least two appearances on the stage—once in bathing suits and again in street or sports clothes. They will not appear here in evening gowns, an agreement reached by the Cave Club to make the local contest as inexpensive as possible to contestants. The college dance band will provide music for the program. Complete details will be announced in next week's George-Anne.

The men in each class are asked to make nominations of three girls and one alternate, thereby making a total of 12 girls in the contest. In case of duplicate nominations, Cave Club officers will pick alternates, by lot, to fill the quota of 12 girls.

Men students are required to assemble Monday in the Lab. School. The contest will then be explained in detail and plans made for the nominations.

Class nominations are not restricted to girls of that particular class, but may be made from the student body as a whole.

The men of G.T.C. will select a beauty to represent the college in the Gator Bowl queen contest New Year's Day in Jacksonville where she will compete with about a dozen other girls for the title and fabulous prizes including a $1,000 diamond ring.

Selection will be made here, under the sponsorship of the newly-organized Cave Club, at an elaborate program in the Lab School auditorium Friday night, November 13. The local queen will be selected by out-of-town judges from nominations made by men students.

The college was invited last week by Gator Bowl officials to send a representative to compete for the Gator Bowl Queen title and prizes with representatives from other colleges participating in the Gator Bowl sports activities that week. The G.T.C. "Professors" are to compete in the basketball tournament there.

Cave Club committees are busy this week making arrangements for the beauty contest, which is not to compete in any way

Lab School's Carnival

Ghosts and goblins will stalk tonight at the Laboratory School Halloween Carnival.

Admission will be 10 and 20 cents for this affair which begins at seven p. m. and ends at 10.

The program crowning the Halloween Court will begin at 7:14. The queen and princess, which are elected by votes at 1 cent each, will be entertained by musical numbers and a costume parade.

The other attractions will include cake walk, home made candy, hot dogs, Cokes, country store, barn dance, country club, fortune telling and 10 side shows.

Rat Day Set for Next Tuesday; All Frosh Due Rude Awakening

Musical Talent Be Presented In 'Rat' Review

Rudy Mills, president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, announced today that the annual Rat Review will be November 6, at 8:00 p. m. in the Lab High auditorium.

The program will consist of freshmen competing in three fields of music for applied music scholarships. There will be one scholarship awarded in each field.

Those participating are: vocal, Shirley Morgan, Joy Hatcher, Martha Lacey, Clark Maxwell, piano; Billie Kinchen, Junette Ellington, Sarah Frances Driggers, Sarah Cunnard, instrumental; Clark Maxwell, coronet; Bobby Pressley, baritone; and Martha Lacey, tenor sax.

The event is sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and door prizes will be given.

Rules For Observance Released; Kangaroo Court To Enforce Rules

64 Are Nominated In Frosh Election

Freshman nominations were held last Tuesday in the Lab. School. A total of 64 students were nominated.

Nominations for president: Sally Kingman, Kenneth Parker, Bobby Lasseter, Larry Evans, William Cannette, Roger Brown, Melvin Seidel, Robert Young, Billy Hobbs, Sonny Griffin, Mary Ann Camp, Beverly O'Conner, Don Averitte, James Prentice and Rodney Harville.

Vice-president nominees: Lila Ann Cannette, John Sorrell, Joan Coleman, Vondall Hall, Babs Wisenbaker, Kate Hodges, Donald Atkins, Gene Meadows, Marianne Bevin, Alice McCord, Sue Cowart and Louise Bird.

For secretary: Allie Jean Meadows, Shirley Morgan, Anne Davis, Ida Whittle, Lucile Phillips, Peggy McNair, Shirley Roundtree, Leila Smith, Lois Hammond, Sandra Glasgow, Annie Ruth Jones, Anne Colley, Ebie Lee Hendrix and June Edenfield.

Treasurer: Julia Pryorm, Marilyn Westbrook, Sara Ann Jordan, Libby Ann Martin, Mickey Addison, Rose Watkins, Betty Jean Beasley, Betty Lott, Artie Richards, Wendelle Marsh, Lorene Brown and Patsy Edenfield.

Next Tuesday morning, November 3, all "Rats" on campus will have a "rude" awakening by the sophomores. This look at the cold morning light will mark the beginning of "Rat" Day for 1953.

Most of the following rules are traditional and the rigid enforcement of them is also traditional.

GIRLS' RULES

1. Wear all outer clothing wrong side out. This includes P. E. Uniforms. Skirts must be upside down, one bedroom slipper and one tennis shoe, sock with slipper and hose with tennis shoe.

2. Sign must be worn around neck at all times using Rat as title; example: Rat Brown.

3. Part hair in center, braid left side into thirteen pigtails, tie a blue or white ribbon around one and grease right side thoroughly.

Paint each fingernail a different shade of polish. That means 10 shades of polish.

5. Apply make-up on left side of face heavily with none on right side.

6. Wear dangling earrings.

7. Wear onion around neck.

8. Wear Rat cap.

9. Greet classmates and upperclassmen with "good morning, Sir," (or mam). Curtsy when greeting students. Do not converse with rats or upper-

Cheerleader Poll Will Be Thursday

Tryouts for cheerleaders will be held next Thursday night at 6:15 in the gym. All girls desiring to be cheer leaders this year, must come down for tryouts.

Student Council and T Club members will select the cheerleaders by secret ballot.

George-Anne Congratulates

The George-Anne would like to congratulate a campus organization which has made remarkable achievements this year in the task which it set out to accomplish. Only by tireless effort on the part of its members who labored without praise was it able to give the students the many services which were necessary for a better life at T. C.

The staff would like to say thanks to the STUDENT COUNCIL for the many new services which it has so ably carried out. You have done great work this year and we hope it will continue.

Long Hours of Work

When Masquers present "Ladies of the Jury" on December 3-4, the common idea is that the long hours of work will have ended abruptly and achieved its purpose. This is not so, it is only a small part of the story.

The cast is made up of twenty-three students of which only seven have appeared in past productions. This allows the remaining sixteen newcomers to gain experience for the future.

The uniqueness of the setting is a story in itself, for it shows that originality is a vital part of dramatics and that the same search for originality should be followed in the future.

Future not only means the remainder of the student's college career, but more so the teaching career. Since this is a Teachers College, the experience gained by participation in college dramatics will make the future teachers more capable of producing and directing better high school productions.

This play is a good start towards these goals. The Masquers are commended

Application Is Best

"Why aren't there more social activities on campus?"

"Why can't we have dances during the week or on Friday night?"

The George-Anne can tell you why. Because student interest does not permit it. Something else always gets in the way, for example, a second rate movie or an afternoon nap.

To get something, you have to give something. This something is time. Think back over all the time you've spent talking about the lack of activities. You could have used that time supporting some activity. You would have enjoyed it much more, and T. C. would be able to have more, and better activities.

Next time, before you complain, think how much more useful that time can be, and apply that time. Thought is good, but application is better.

Student Council Proclaims

"RATS:" Student Council would like you to know the rules of "Rat Day" are expected to be followed. They are basically in the past and you are expected to follow them Tuesday.

None of the rules were set up for any individual person on campus and none of them are impossible.

Fred Pierce, president of Student Council, states, "the more cooperative you are on "Rat Day," the more pleasure for everyone."

Just Comments

Dear Students,

In the past this column has been called Vet's Corner but due to certain conditions it has become necessary for us to change it. The purpose of this column, as I see it, is: if any student has any comments that he or she wants printed that will improve the campus just let yours truly know and I will do my best to get it in. We want the complete student body to have a voice in this column. If this is OK let us know it makes us happy when you are happy, but remember I am just commenting.

It seems that some people are always griping about nothing to do. Well, it seems to me that if they would spend less time griping and more time looking for something to do they may find something. The Student Council is trying to get things on campus that will add to life at T. C., but they can't do it alone. How about you helping a little by participating in activities and suggesting some new things.

Did you know that there are some very cute girls on campus that would like to go to a movie or something with a boy once in a while but the boys won't ask them. Come, come fellows, let's hold up the standard of T.C. You know opportunity knocks but once.

Well, no news, no pen, out of ink, can't think, too dumb so I'll close.

Your chum,

CHARLIE GROVENSTEIN.

Cave Club Invite

The newly - organized Cave Club would like to extend an invitation of membership to all students on campus who are interested in journalism. Not only will the Cave Club advance journalism on the campus, but it will also sponsor various campus activities.

This is an excellent opportunity to learn more about journalism and the experience will prove invaluable.

'Round About T. C.

There will be a meeting of Kappa Delta Pi Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the parlor of East Hall. All members are asked to be present to discuss future membership.

The Vet's Club, in an effort to help the people that like that midnight snack, are now serving sandwiches in all dormitories at 10:30 nightly. If you like the idea and want this practice continued let the club know by you buying their sandwiches.

Masquers have begun col-

Frosh Political Campaign Begins Many Activities

The old school spirit is beginning to live again at T. C. with the freshman political campaign now under way.

"Frosh" are going about the election in great spirit, with posters on cars, doors, bulletin boards, in the chow hall, post office and even political announcements in the paper.

In the past a great deal of activity was produced by the Freshmen election, but this year the frosh seem to be making it look more exciting than ever.

Maybe this activity is due to the huge number of students nominated for the various class offices or we have an anxious group of freshmen who believe in going about things in a big way.

Whatever be the reason for this highlighted election rats, you are certainly doing a good job.

lecting materials to make props for "Ladies of the Jury." Miss Freida Gernant is now working on a style for scene two.

A choral reading group, made up mostly of the oral reading class, has been originated at T. C.

This group meets each Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock. The program is a blend of many different voices.

Miss Dorothy Few, head of speech department states, "it is excellent training for speech and any anyone interested in choral readings are invited to attend."

"AUNT SOPHIE"

Aunt Sophie Remains Dean of Men, After 18 Years of Great Service

Miss Sophie Johnson, Dean of Men, better known as "Aunt Sophie," is one of our most outstanding faculty members.

Aunt Sophie has served as Dean of Men since 1935 and has given "Her Boys" invaluable advice and has started them on a way of life which is second to none.

After attending Mercer and the University of Georgia, Aunt Sophie taught for what she says was "quite a spell."

Aunt Sophie served as Dean of Women at Mercer during three summer schools.

Desiring a degree, Aunt Sophie came to TC as assistant to Dean Russell.

Upon receiving her degree in 1935, she was made Dean of Men and has served in that position since that time.

Since Aunt Sophie came to TC it has grown from two dormitories to six. The library was upstairs in the administration building, the little store was located in the dining hall, and the Lab School was the present music building. TC has really matured into an outstanding state institution since Aunt Sophie came.

Soon Aunt Sophie will change her residence to Cone Hall, which will house the Junior Senior men. Mrs. Lucien Franklin will serve as house director of Sanford Hall.

Aunt Sophie remains Dean of Men and says, "Although I am going to the junior and senior mens' dormitory, I shall not lose contact with the freshmen and sophomores."

Change of Season Wages 'Cold War' On T. C. Students

By RITA HARPER

Change of seasons means different things to different people. In winter, the birds migrate; coal and oil dealers make money; and people at T. C. catch colds.

Recently, particularly, many boys and girls at Teachers College have been observed in the stages of the common cold. These phases vary from the watery-eyed cold, to the sniffled-nosed cold, to the hard blowing cold, to the sore-muscle cold, to the almost-cured cold. No one has been able to say what caused the epidemic. The infection started in sneaky ways and crept into every classroom and dormitory on campus. Perfectly healthy students came to class one day smiling and happy and appeared, loaded with Kleenex and caught drops, the next day. Professors were in fine voice one morning and the following, were unable to address the class. Classrooms were silent and attentive one time and shattered with the honking and sneezing of colds the next.

For some reason, college students seem to be particularly open to the cold germ. Generally, they're an active and busy group, which means they don't have the time to take such precautions as getting plenty of rest, eating the proper foods, and wearing their rubbers in the rain. Even if they did, these precautions wouldn't necessarily guarantee immunity. So, the Cold War is on.

Still, for those who are fighting it out with the infection, the cold is no laughing matter. It is declared warfare. Studying, which always requires some effort, is almost impossible under the influence of a cold. It's almost impossible, too, to have any fun with a drippy nose and persistent cough for company. In other words, a student's life isn't worth too much when the cold has entered it.

Faced with the warring germ the infected student can either lie still until the worst is over; or, he can go to the Health Cottage and try to kill the cold with the weapons of bacteria warfare. Whatever he does, his cold will probably hang on and refuse to retreat.

For those students who are uninfected as yet, the cold-ridden members of the student body have this advice: "Be careful, friends, there's a Cold War going on!"

—Cathy's Column—

By CATHY HOLT

Hi there!

It seems to ours truly that things around this campus have really been fine lately. I know one person who was extremely happy this past weekend. That person was Daphne Watson. Could it have been because Johnny was here? Also, two more people in Lewis Hall were very glad to see Porky and Irby. How about it, Patsy and Jo Ann?

There were also some other Alumni on campus this past week: Roy Goolsby, Ed Mitchell, Joyce Tremon, and Johnny Mallard, to mention a few. It surely was good to see those old faces again.

Sunday night at supper Fayrene and Fal seemed to be having trouble holding on to their cups of tea. I don't know why, though! Also, you should have been at the grill Sunday night. Coach Searce really was having a time—riding a "scooter!" This "scooter" came from Mr. Powell, by way of "China."

By the way, have you heard the latest from "China" about the epitaph on the grave of a dead be-bopper? Well—here it is: "Don't dig me anymore, cats, I'm really gone now."

A note to the editor—Those boiled peanuts were really good!

Ruby Houston seemed to be having a very good time on the steps of East Hall Monday after supper!

Can anyone tell me why Ann-gene Culbreth was jealous when Van Murray walked Kirbylene Stephens back to the dormitory while they were at Milledgeville? And why did Kirby want to drive that bus anyway?

It seems that "twins" (Marcia and Barbara) got some birthday presents on Tuesday! The only trouble is, their birthday isn't until January!

Congratulations, West Hall! Your new carpet is beautiful! I say, Lila Ann Canuette, those overalls are kinda big, aren't they?

Some of the freshman girls seem to be getting ducktail haircuts. You'd better let that hair grow, "Rats." You'll have a hard time plaiting it in 13 pigtales."

Those rings are pretty, boys, but that banging surely does get on your nerves; especially when it's right outside your window.

Things were really buzzing (or hammering) around the ad building Tuesday night. The Industrial Arts Club was putting up the signs for each room. You were really having fun, boys, and we like the signs!

The girls in the home economics department seem to have gone back to their second childhood. They have been seen making doll clothes!—for the nursery school.

Did you have fun shooting those squirrels, G. W. Kemp and Charles Dill? And—have you noticed how romantic the campus looks at night with the lights shining through the fog and the music from the dance band practice, yet?

Yours truly has just been informed that Charles Stewart, former editor of the George-Anne and now in the U. S. Navy, will be married to Martha Hinely, former T. C. student, on November 28th. Martha was honored by a shower given in East Hall parlor, Wednesday afternoon.

About those signs, Mr. Powell's sign reads, "Pub. Relations." He says that he is thinking about cutting the "Relations" part off! Also, the sign of the social science office reads, "Soc. Science."

I have heard rumors that Jack Gay was seen on the fire escape of Sanford Hall in a little less than he usually wears! I have also heard that nature study trips are becoming quite interesting. Last week they walked around Sanford and Mr. Caplenor was disappointed that the class didn't get whistled at. You see, the class is composed of eleven girls and the teacher!

We hope Jane Seabolt's mother will be well enough for her to come back to school soon. Don't we, Jimmy?

This week our bouquet of roses goes to Fay Hodges. She is one redhead without a temper!

Jones Selected For Personality

Mary Alice is a blond hailing from Hazelhurst, Georgia. Her friendly ways, ravishing smile and ability to associate and get along with everyone at T. C. won her the personality for this week.

Besides having her every pleasing personality, Mary Alice is one of the leading soloist on campus. She is also a reporter on the George-Anne.

Her main interest at T. C. is music, in which she is majoring.

College Professor Prefects A Class

By CHRISTY TROWELL

"Oh, (censored), there goes the bell." This is the thought of the average college professor at eight o'clock.

The students can't imagine a professor thinking such a thing. The fact is that professors hate that class bell as much as students do.

Dr. M has to dash frantically up the stairs because he has been late for class for the past three mornings because the diapers had to be changed.

When Dr. M. walks into the classroom the rush is over, for the atmosphere changes into anything but a rush. He scans out over the class and starts to speak. The pounding of the pencils and the late student coming in the door would muffle anything he might say, so he waits until everyone is quiet, and more than likely asleep. After this very short pause, he starts on the lecture which required three hours to prepare. The lecture is a success for the first five minutes because three students can't sleep, but then they too doze off and he's left all alone.

When the bell rings everything comes to life, especially the professor, for everyone is awake to hear the class dismissed.

The professor's ignored, the student's bored, therefore the class is deplored.

Letter to Pinky

By "CHINA" ALTMAN

Dear Pinky,

Since you will be here in the ivy-covered T. C. halls of learning next year, I have a few pointers about college life to give you.

Every student begins the day in the same way here—by the process of getting out of bed or the "Terrible Moment."

The procedure of getting a daily time for the ordeal of separating one's self from one's bed is simple. One simply consults for five minutes before his first schedule and sets the alarm for five minutes before his first class. This, of course, excludes that ambitious percentage who go to breakfast.

The other group, or the "So the early bird gets the worm, who wants a worm already, yet" crowd follows the formerly discussed (or 5 'til) plan.

The men in Sanford are fortunate in that they have a built-in alarm system, which comes with the dormitory. It is called the Mose Bass or "Hey, baby, you alright, Time to get up, All right, Biby," ritual.

As for me, I have an alarm clock, named "Clang, Clang in A Minor," which is the world's most temperamental timepiece. It has developed its unusual personality through surviving four years of college.

It's real gone appearance is partly caused by an imposing array of battle scars, including a broken face and leg. It has a definitely dominant personality, since it's tick can be heard over a whole wing of the dormitory. Stubbornness also characterizes this old clock. We discovered that one time after Cherrell Williams threw it across the room at a passing mosquito. There was a terrible clatter, a crash, an awful silence. We looked at each other, horror-stricken. Then suddenly from across the room, came the loud, resonant tick-tick, tick-tick. Since then we have discovered its life philosophy or "I have just begun to tick."

Well, I must be rushing, now, Pinky. But though the ancestry of old Clang is definitely dime-store, I'd be glad to will it to you.

Witches Will Ride As 'Academy' Opens

Witches will fly and black cats will meow-w when the "Witches Riding Academy" opens this coming Saturday night. The doors will swing wide at 8:00 p. m. at this spooky affair, sponsored by the W.R.A.

This "barn dance" will feature square and round dancing to records. The braying voices of several callers will add to the festivities.

All students and faculty members are invited to come around, especially for the floor show which will feature local talent in a pantomime act.

Plans are for the "Academy" to stay in business until 11:30 o'clock; any later would be too near the witching hour of midnight.

Those responsible for the gay-la opening of the "academy" will be: Sarah Fletcher in charge of music with Cordelia Kidd and Ellen Blizzard. Jane Edge is the advertising head and Iphelia Fields, Rebecca Sheffield and Maralon Westbrook are helping her. Marie Thomas will be in charge of the floor show with Ellen Blizzard and Henrietta Jones helping.

Carol Thomas is in charge of decorations and the following goblins are assisting her: Beverly O'Conner, Sarah Cunnand, Lena Sue McNeal, Geraldine Phillips, Frances McGirt, Libby Ann Martin, and Henrietta Jones.

Brewing up the refreshments will be Shirley Williams, Betty Akins, Ann Davis, Ann Harrison, Margine Jenkins, and Lucile Phillips.

The clean-up crew will be composed of Mildred Brantley, Eleanor Curry, Shirley Wynn, and Pat Jones.

Titles of all offices in the administration, business, and music buildings were arranged above the office doors Tuesday night by members of the Industrial Arts Club. A total of 16 signs were arranged during a scheduled "work night."

The I. A. Club plans to sponsor a project making cypress knee lamps, with photographed scenes placed on lamp shades. This project will be held to build up the treasury of the club.

Next Tuesday night new members will be brought into the club. At this meeting plans will be made for a club party.

Public Opinion Poll Question; Do You Think Frosh Girls Should Have to Double-date on Campus?

With the advent of the office of the Dean of Women and many changes in dating rules for girls, one naturally thinks of the ultimate goal. The question which is the subject of the public opinion poll this week has been kicked around in many bull sessions and hen parties. This poll presents the opinions of a cross-cut of the campus population.

Carlton Humphrey: "What's the idea of double dating anyway? It seems that if a girl is mature enough to leave home for college, she's old enough to manage her own affairs."

Betty Geasley: "I don't think they should. Sometimes when they want to go out they can't find anyone they like to double-date with."

Etheline Williamson: "Heck no! Because it isn't always convenient and it cast a reflection on you."

Christine Shuman: "Yes, by all means. Girls are at the stage where they are now on campus and don't know their way around."

Ann Davis: "I do, because we are new here and you get acquainted with different people on the campus that way."

Bobby Warren: "No, I don't. Most of the girls when they reach college are allowed to single date at home and I don't see why they should not be allowed to here."

Yvonne Jones: "Sure, the more the merrier."

Peggy Jones: "Yes, because they don't know anybody and they get all the dates anyway."

Nan Parrish: "Yes, because they are in a new situation and most of the time dating entirely new people."

James Glasgow: "It seems to me that the administration should have enough confidence in the boys and girls to allow them a little more freedom in dating rules. Specially I might mention:

"(a) The freshmen girls have to double-date. If the freshman gal can't keep her date in line she ought not to go with him. If she doesn't want to keep him in line she ought to marry him."

"(b) One date during the week for freshman girls. If two dates a week were allowed it is no sign that the gals have to date two times a week. They have got to learn sometime to regulate themselves. They might as well start now."

"(c) Girls are not allowed to be seen with boys on campus after dark. What the Heck! It's one of the cheapest and most enjoyable forms of dating I know. If the administration wants to force all the courtin' to go on in the bushes they can. Me? I like it legal."

Fey Carter: "No. They are old enough when they get to college to know what they are doing. The year between a freshman and a sophomore doesn't make that much difference."

Betty Knight: "Yes, definitely, fall quarter—since most of them are away from home and on their own for the first time. They just don't know everybody until after one quarter at least."

James Padgett: "Heck no! Why should they?"

Mary Dilworth: "Yes. I think it is best because they are new and don't really know who they are dating."

Van Murray: "If the girls want to be by themselves they will!"

Bob Brewster: "No doll, it's much better when you can be alone with that fine head. I think they should be able to go alone. With just the boy of course."

Wanda Cousen: "I don't know. I guess it is best because we're new up here."

Ida Whittle: "Yes, I think so. Because it is more fun for a freshman girl since she is new here and everything. Seems like she'd have a better time."

Charles Dill: "No! Because if a girl's parents send her to school, surely she is able to decide the question of right and wrong. For a girl to have to double-date is saying, 'We do not trust you.'"

Bonnie Wren and Judy Allen: "No! Everybody has been single dating for several years and it seems rather pointless to start double-dating now. When your boyfriend from home comes to see you, you have a terrible time finding a double-date."

Louise Bird: "Yes, because it is nicer. You have more fun together when you are in a crowd."

Bill Thornton: "I really see no need for it. These girls are not required to double-date when they are home by their parents. I am certain that whatever reason they have for making this rule, that the students are going to break it at home if they are subject to doing such a thing. I definitely do not think they should be required to double-date."

Sampson Herndon: "I am really not sure. In a way I think they should for their own good. Girls are not going to act like they would at home when they are off from home. If the girls double-date they seem to enjoy the night out better."

Joyce Mitchell: "Yes! For a boy on campus they should, but not with boys from their home town. You get to know more people that way."

Lois Hammond: "Well, it is hard to say. I imagine so for some people to make all of them double-date."

George McCloud: "Heck No!"

Ronnie West: "No, I definitely think the girl should be allowed to decide."

Marie Thomas: "Yes, first quarter at least. That gives them time to get to know everybody."

Jimmy Snooks: "I do not see any objection to the rule requiring freshman girls to double-date when dating off campus."

Max Estes: "For the majority of the freshman girls I say that there would be no need for them to be required to double-date, but for some I think that the double-date policy is best. Since there is no way to separate the girls but by classes, I guess they will just have to wait another year. Possibly, their conduct is like cheese—it improves with age."

Julius Byers: "In dealing with the matter of double dating of freshman, which is a matter I have thought a great deal in the course of time I have been at this college, it is quite probable that the people who set up the rules of double dating meant good, but good is not good enough sometimes. It is obvious that the change of time must always change in the course of events. Certainly the people who set the rules were trying keys to check upon the morals of the young freshman. You can't do this by making rules—People have to be lifted up to high morals or goals in order that they may act according to society's morals order and make up. So, therefore, I firmly believe double dating is a great hindrance."

T. C. Plays Host To Cage Clinic

October 26 and 27 Georgia Teachers College played host to the first district basketball coaches.

Monday morning was filled by planning the basketball schedule for various schools. During the afternoon offensive fundamentals and drills were shown by the use of high school boys in actual play. Monday afternoon the building of team offense was shown using college players. During the second day basketball rules were discussed. After the lunch, defensive fundamentals, special play situations, team offense and defense was shown to the coaches.

T. C. coach, J. B. Searce Jr., stated, "this clinic was held to render assistance to the coaches of the first district."

Professors Will Play Pre-Season Exhibition Games With Gordon

The Georgia Teachers College basketball "Professors" have scheduled two pre-season exhibition games with Camp Gordon. The announcement was made by Coach J. B. Searce Jr.

Tourney Ends With Yellow's Taking 4 Wins

The volleyball tournament ended Wednesday afternoon, and the yellow team is the winner. The Yellow's remained undefeated throughout the tournament. Their record was four wins and no defeats. Members of the Yellow team, according to their total number of points during the tournament are: Beverly O'Conner, 21; Sara Fletcher, 20; Ann DeLoach 18; Shirley Wynn, 17; Jane Edgy, 13; Patsy Anderson, 12; Leila Smith, 4; Carolyn Tally, 3; Betty Harden, 2; and Pat Blake, 1. These totals are from the two official games only, not from the games played after a forfeit.

The Blue team placed second, the White third, the green placed fourth, and the Red was fifth. The high scorer for the entire tournament is Mary Frances Cox of the Blue Team, who has a total of 36 points.

High scorers for the other teams are, Red—Pat Jones, 11; White—Kate Hodges, 20; Blue—Mary Frances Cox, 36; Claudia DeLoach, 15.

The first game will be a Lion's Club benefit affair at the Wadley high school gymnasium Friday night, Nov. 20. The other game will be played at Camp Gordon in Augusta Tuesday, November 24.

Coach Searce, who has put his Professors through heavy training drills since the beginning of practice two weeks ago, says he expects these exhibition games to be good ones.

"I don't know anything about the Camp Gordon team this year, but they usually have some fine ball players, most of them former high school and college stars," he said.

Camp Gordon plays small college and other service teams on its regular schedule.

The G.T.C. Professors open their season December 1 with the Parris Island Marines.

Halloween Party

The Wesley Foundation and their guests will leave on "Ole Wesley," at 4:15, for a few hours of fun, fellowship and food! Good recreation and refreshments have been planned by a committee of members, centering around the Halloween theme. The group will be accompanied by Miss Ida Long Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormack. Why don't you put on your old blue jeans, some old shoes, grab your best friend, and meet Wesley as he comes chugging by your dormitory?

(MEMORIZE POEM)

"I am a lowly freshman
I have no poise nor grace.
I must respect the upperclassmen

To show I know my place.
My place is very low indeed,
I am an humble soul;
I crawl around like a centepede
When I should crawl in a hole.
I am a lowly freshman.
I have no sense of knowledge.
To learn respect and discipline
Is why I came to college."

Punishment for not learning poem or not obeying rules:

1. Bite Onion.
2. Clean rooms of upperclassmen.

Cave Club Meets; S. C. A. Meeting Sets Meet Time Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.

The Cave Club held its organizational meeting Tuesday night. The members drew up rules for the selection of officers, and set up the purpose of the club: "To promote interest in journalism, specifically, the George-Anne." The meetings are slated to be held every Tuesday night at 7:30 in the George-Anne Cave.

The club decided that the editorial staff of the paper should serve as officers of the club, therefore the officers are as follows: Remer Tyson, president; Christy Trowell, vice-president; Cathy Holt, secretary; and Charlie Grovenstein, treasurer.

Dr. Leland Wilson spoke to the S.C.A. last Wednesday night at Sanford Lounge. He presented some views on "Science and Religion." According to Dr. Wilson, "Science and religion must work together to serve us. Science alone can serve us, but it cannot save us."

After several courses, Jimmy Becton introduced the speaker.
