This Saturday night will be the time for cupids, hearts and bows and arrows when the sophomore class sponsors the Valentine dance. It is being held a week early because Homecoming is the next weekend. Dance time is 8 p. m. to 11:15 p. m. Dress will be informal, and music will be supplied by the "Combo." For those who get hungry and thirsty, there will be refreshments.

Fayrene Sturgis is in charge of decorations, with Marie Thomas, Betty Barnard, Nancy McIntosh, Carol Thomas, Cathy Holt, Heyward Gann, and Gwenn Lanier serving on the committee. Etta Ann Akins is in charge of refreshments and Hilda Grogan, Jewel Hart, Mary Louise Rimes, Betty Jo Woodward, and June Kennedy are serving on the committee.

The Florida Southern Choir will be guests of the sophomore class at the dance after the choir finishes their concert.

Get your favorite Valentine and let's dance this Saturday night!

Homecoming Guests Must Be Registered

Any student who wants to have overnight guests on campus February 13 and 14 should register the number of expected guests with their house director. If possible this information should be turned in the

Child Development Is Taught In Nursery

Child development class is underway again this quarter, in the recently built nursery. This specific class is one of the new classes that was offered at the beginning of the winter quarter.

Float Themes Are Announced

The themes of the 14 competing floats in the Homecoming parade and the order of their appearance have been officially determined.

The clubs, their float themes (not titles), and order of appearance are as follows: 1. Masquers, "Scenic South (Okefenokee); 2. T. Club, "Georgia Athletes;" 3. Industrial Arts, "Old Slave Market;" 4. B.S.U., "Christian Index;" 5. F.T.A., "Georgia Port Dock Scene;" 6. Vet's Club, "Moina Michael and her Poppy;" 7. I.R.C., "Tobacco Road;" 8. Home Ec., "White Columns;" 9. English Club, "Uncle Remus;" 10. Science Club, "Herty Pine, etc;" 11. Wesley Foundation, "John Wesley (Wesley Oak); 12. W. R. A., "Georgia Peach;" 13. F.B.L.A., "On Cotton;" and 14. Elementary Education, "Old woman and the Shoe (Georgia's heritage in her youth)."

early part of the week. If your guests are going to be here for the barbecue tell your house director by Monday noon.

Formerly a student majoring in home economics had to attend another institution to acquire this course, as it is a required course under the University of Georgia plan. However the course is open not only to home economics majors, but may be used as an elective in many other fields of study. Miss Betsy Meadows conducts the classes.

At the present time only ten children are enrolled at the nursery. It's total capacity is 12.

Children are admitted from the age of two and one-half to five and one-half years. The selection of attendance will be based on the length of time applications have been filed, and a variation in sex and age is a necessity.

The objective of the nursery toward the children is to help them develop a better all round personality, in order that they may better adjust themselves to society in the future. This pattern consists of developing the child emotionally, physically, and spiritually. They are taught to obey commands given by persons other than their parents, appreciation of books, playing with other children and motor coordination.

Ten girls are taking the child development course this quarter.

Statesboro Salutes T.C. With Enormous Show Featuring Fireworks

Saturday night Statesboro will salute G. T. C. with a magnificent display of fireworks. The program will be sponsored by three civic clubs of Statesboro: The Lions Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and The American Legion.

Harmon Caldwell Will Speak At Cone Dedication

Dr. Harmon Caldwell, chancellor of the University System, and former president of the University of Georgia will make the dedicatory address when Cone Hall is officially dedicated on Homecoming Day.

Judge J. L. Renfro, Statesboro, will tell of the contributions made by the late Howell Cone toward the changing of T.C. from a normal school to its present status as a teachers college. Mr. Cone, a Bulloch county native was a member of the committee of the State Legislature which brought about this change.

The ceremonies will begin at 4:00 p. m. on the front steps of the new $4,000,000 residence hall for men. Members of the Cone family will be present along with other dignitaries.

The dedication will be followed by a tea and open house. After the tea in Cone Hall the ground breaking ceremonies for the proposed new gymnasium will take place. Coach J. B. Searce of the physical education department has charge of the activity.

Construction Of Fire Escape Underway at East

East Hall is the scene of one of the latest construction improvements on the campus. Something new has been added. The second and third floors now have private exits, however, they are very private and exclusive as they can only be used in case of fire.

Don't you know that many workmen have been happily employed on their scaffolds outside the windows of East Hall. It must be an extremely fascinating occupation—welding the metal into stairs, that is, and watching the girls going in and out the door dodging the sparks from their equipment.

Fire escapes can be very useful objects at times. They provide excellent places for taking pictures, hiding things from your roommate, drying rugs, observation outposts, taking sun baths, sneaking in and out late at night, throwing roses to lovers, and committing suicide.

The fireworks which have been ordered from Danville, Ill., are made especially for display purposes. Each set of explosions will be accompanied by a blueprint, showing the make-up and function of every pattern of fireworks.

Dragons, the United States Flag, and a general assortment of figures in the air will be featured in the 30 minute program that is scheduled at 7:00 o'clock at the baseball field, just before the basketball game with North Georgia College.

Cast For Plays Are Selected

In place of the usual quarterly production of one three-act play, Masquers is presenting three one-act plays this quarter. Miss Dorothy Few is directing these plays. The casts are as follows:

"Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg. Assistant stage manager, Betty Lott; Hetty, Shirley; Rountree; Harriet, Sylvia Griner; Maggie, Jane Seabolt; Margaret, Betty Jo Brown.

"Mindset" by Merle Bouton Young. Assistant stage manager, Nan Waters; Augusta, Eulita Carter; Joe the photographer, Carl Tyson; Prentice J. Prescott, Carlton Humphreys; Great Aunt Rella, Mildred Bentley.

"Hello, Out There" by William Saroyan. Assistant stage manager, Cathy Holt; Young Man, Phil Norton; Girl, Sylvia Griner; The Man, Max Estes; The Woman, Eulita Carter.

These plays promise to give fine entertainment to those who attend the performance February 28, at 8:15 p. m. There will be free tickets available to all I.R.C. visitors.

Home Economics Day Held at T.C.

Next Thursday a Future Home Economics High School Day will be held at T. C. The conference will be an all day affair. High schools in the First Congressional District have been invited.

Registration will take place from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock. A skit on family life will be given from 10:30 to 12:00, followed by a picnic at the lake from 12:00 to 1:00 o'clock. After lunch a dress review will be given from 1:00 to 2:00.

Beware! Conflict Will Arise

Things are beginning to conflict between Sanford and Cone Hall. It may not be very obvious at the present but one small thing is slowly leading to another and as they do problems will arise between those two dormitories. With the men that now reside in the two halls the problems may remain minute, for the group has lived together under one roof for a period of time. During this time they have come to understand one another, but in years to come the freshmen will not have very much contact with the juniors and seniors. Therefore problems of misunderstanding will come into being. It will develop in personalized rivalry between the men of Cone and Sanford.

To prevent this misunderstanding an inter-dormitory council should be the answer. If the council could be started this year while the men are in agreement with each other and no major conflict has arisen, it seems to be a good time to start a Sanford-Cone council off on the right foot.

It should be a council represented equally from each dormitory, designed to deal with specific problems concerned with Sanford and Cone Halls only. It should be set up in a way where it will be effective and not just a figure-head as many organizations are on campus.

They Did...

We dreamed someone came in the dining hall on Sunday in a tee shirt and levis, they did. Only it wasn't a dream, they did.

It defeats us how some people think that they are such privileged characters that they can defy any laws of human dignity and not be called on the carpet for it. The very idea of any boy, in his right mind, appearing in the dining hall for Sunday dinner in dungarees and a tee shirt. It's treacherous!

So they just got up? So we don't expect them to dress up in a tie and suit, but there's a limit to how far you can go with the casual look. There is a great big jump between tee shirts and dungarees for school days and for Sundays. One might be serviceable, even OK, the other is ridiculous. A girl can't wear dungarees on the front campus any day. Girls aren't even allowed to wear a scarf on their hair in the dining hall and these P.C.'s come marching in right after church in the next best thing to their underwear. If a girl can dress up in hose and heels it couldn't hurt a boy to make a semblance of an attempt to look neat on Sunday.

Tarry Not Freshmen

We are beginnin to worry about the freshmen. They are missing so much. There is such a lot of talent in West Hall but not much showing. Lucky Masquers and Choir, they got some of the new-comers the first quarter but the rest of the clubs and especially the religious organizations are having real trouble enticing them into their fold. The freshmen claim it is studies but last year's freshman class had taken over by winter quarter. The campus is just here for the asking of this year's group. The freshmen and upperclassmen hardly even get together long enough for the culture of the school up to this year to pass to the new generation. Maybe it is being in a dormitory away from the upperclassmen, although it is also true of the freshmen boys, but it is really getting to be a problem. The B.S.U. and Wesley Foundation can only look forward to extinction unless the freshmen participate and do so in a hurry because there's not that much time left to find out what it's all about.

The only way that T.C. can be T.C. is if the traditions and customs which have governed her so far remain to govern her in the future. We certainly don't expect the freshmen to sit back and take everything that is handed to them as perfect, because the freshmen are the source of the growth of Teachers College, but they don't have to go whole hog on rebelling against tradition, the tradition of participation in campus life.

Something For The Records

A new phonographs record album issued by Capitol Records, Inc., provides modern parents and educators with a simple method of answering the childhood question: "Where did I come from?"

A 27-minute documentary record on an actual birth, produced by physicians in a Madison, Wis., hospital for radio broadcast, BIRTH OF A BABY also gives prospective parents a scientific preview of what to expect in the delivery room.

Believed to be the first such phonographs record ever made, BIRTH OF A BABY was recorded with the approval of the parents, who remain anonymous, and with a physician describing for his unseen listeners every step in the delivery as conducted by the obstetrician at his side.

Throughout, the voice of the obstetrician can be heard, giving advice, instruction and encouragement to the mother, whose breathing into the anesthetic mask becomes more audible as the moment of birth approaches.

Although produced for its educational value as a piece of medical literature, BIRTH OF A BABY achieves the drama that only nature can provide as the physician commentator announces:

"It's a boy!"

The star of the record makes his debut toward the end. The listener hears the sound of slapping, performed by the obstetrician in order to start the baby's breathing, and his first words to the new patient:

"Come on, young man—say hello!"

Then the baby himself makes his presence known in the world with a healthy cry and a graphic insight into the "mystery" of birth has been achieved by means of the family or classroom phonograph.

Just Commenting

Dear Students:

Many times I have heard students on campus complaining about nothing to do, but when asked to help with something like build a float, or help with the beauty review and different club activities they are always too busy to help. During next week, which could be called work week, all available hands are needed very badly in many different ways. So when asked to help with something don't give some flimsy excuse, just lend a hand and let's all turn to.

Homecoming is a very important time of the year and it will mean more to each of us to know that we had a part in making it a success.

While on the subject of Homecoming I would like to add that your presence is also needed during this weekend. So whatever your plans are for that weekend DON'T MISS HOMECOMING.

Well it seems that my space and my 2 cents worth ran out at the same time, so I will make like a stork and move the body on.

—Charlie Grovenstein.

Announcement

Classes will be discontinued at 12:00 o'clock noon Friday, February 13, due to work being done on the Homecoming events.

Of Tolerance

Did you manage to be tolerant of the person who came into conflict with you at some interval during the past weeks? Or did you become intolerable yourself when the conflict occurred.

Tolerance is an important factor in determining how we get along with others. Everyday we have to tolerate something that we dislike or disbelieve, but we have to think of the other person's feelings, beliefs and likes as well as our own.

Everyone has their particular outlook on each individual problem. Religion is one of the most conflicting problems today, but the numerous religions are accepted and tolerated in the United States, although some are looked down upon by other religions.

The more important phase of tolerance is to practice it during our everyday life. Each day we come into contact with things that are not done the way we are accustomed to doing them, and many of our beliefs may not parallel with other beliefs, but we must tolerate these ways and beliefs. We have to recognize them because our point of view may seem as much in fallacy to the opposing party as their's seem to us.

If you do not tolerate these differences you are certain to lose friends. You may put forth all your effort to convert the other party to your point of view, but despite your endless efforts a hope of conversion is in vain usually. Thus you must put up with his actions or opinions and still retain yours. You can still believe in your opinions but to remain a friend of the other individual you must respect his also.

T. C. has the reputation of being a very friendly campus. Let's make it even more stable through tolerance.

The Editor Speaks...

Time: 10:00 o'clock sharp. A whole raft of people comes marching in. After an enormous amount of confusion they are seated. A history book flies open and very concentrative study begins on a two hour lesson, which should have been done the night before while the college attendant was having a look see at a movie.

A George-Anne is unfolded by a reader who had neglected reading it for the past two days. The individuals seated on his right, on his left, and in back of him all try to read it at the same time, although they have all but memorized it word for word.

Then a student begins a frantic search through an eight inch note book for a speech preparation composed the night before. At first the noisy search is fruitless, but after digging through 769 sheets of paper he finds it. The noise that sounded like a miniature machine gun nest ceases, as the individual slumps back into his seat trying desperately to place the speech in his skull.

There are always the numerous ones who wish to catch up on forty winks. At least these are quiet.

This is a normal view in chapel. A larger portion of the students are constantly busy concentrating on activities other than those taking place in assembly.

Our assembly programs may not be rated as toast of all colleges but the administration digs up better than average programs. Sometimes they are not amusing at all and many times they are cut and dried, but the varied program is an essential part of our education here in a small college.

I feel the speaker's get as bored of us as an audience as we do of them as a speaker. So let's buckle up and be a wee bit more attentive in chapel from now on.

Requested of Seniors

By MIKE GENEVRINO

It is requested that all seniors register with the alumni between 9 and 10 a. m. in East Hall where name cards will be presented. You are all cordially invited to attend the alumni meeting at 2:00 p. m. in the college auditorium.

We, the seniors are serving as hosts for the dance and it is sincerely hoped that all will do their utmost in completing the festivities for the alumni by making the event a success. There are not too many specific duties and we would like to have the cooperation of every senior present. We will be a part of the alumni in the near future so let's treat them as we will like to be treated when we come back in the future.

David Harris Sparks Professors In Excited Overtime Cage Game

David Harris, forward and captain of the T. C. Professors saved the day for the T. C. squad as he swished the nets with a hook shot in the final 2 seconds of the game to tie the score at 86 to 86 in Saturday's game against the hustling and persistent team from Piedmont. Harris's hook shot at this crucial moment climaxed a game that was a thriller from start to finish with the T.C. cagers taking the victory 97 to 94 in a 5 minute overtime period.

The Piedmont team which had taken a 25 point licking earlier in the season at the hands of the Professors showed their improvement as they played a fast and furious game all the way, only to have the Professors tie the game and win in over time. This was the first overtime game ever played in the T.C. gym. Max Skinner, Piedmont forward, put on a great shooting exhibition as he hit the nets for a 43 point total and sparked the Piedmont offensive all the way. This was the highest individual point total made this season in the home gym. Bill McClure played a fine ball hawking game for the visitors and also contributed 22 points to the losing cause before fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

The scoring for the Professors was paced by Chester Webb and David Harris through-out the game, with Webb getting a total of 34 and Harris 22.

The Piedmont team showed that they had upset in mind at the beginning as they ran up a 26 to 19 first quarter lead with Skinner and McClure continually hitting the basket. However in the second quarter the Professors managed to climb a little with Webb and Harris scoring with regularity, and the teams left the floor at halftime with the Piedmont team holding a 52 to 46 advantage.

The Professors came back strong in the third quarter as their offense hit for 24 points while they were holding the Piedmont squad to 16, gaining a 2 point third quarter lead over the visitors 71 to 69.

The last quarter was one of the most exciting one seen in many a day as the lead saw-sawed back and forth through-out the entire quarter. The Professors maintained the lead through about half of this quarter but then Skinner began his murderous barrage on the baskets, scoring 11 straight points for his team, and the Piedmont team again held the lead by a two point margin. Webb also hit for 11 points in this quarter. During the frenzied last minute of the game the lead changed hands twice with Piedmont leading 86 to 84 and with only 2 seconds left to play David Harris took a pass from Webb and sent the ball through the net tying the score an 86 all. He was literally mobbed by his team mates.

In the overtime period the Piedmont team drew first blood as Skinner hit a hook shot. Webb and Ward pushed T. C. ahead with a couple of baskets and when the five minutes were up the T.C. squad had a 97 to 94 victory.

Highlifers Defeat B-Pites 63-44

A sluggish first half, a fast last half. That was the ball-game played in Vidalia on Friday night, January 29. The T. C. Highlifers came out over the Brewton-Parker "B" team on the long end of a 63 to 44 score. The Highlifers never lost the lead, they were just slow getting started. The B-Pites were outplayed during at least four quarters of the game with George McLeod and Hollis Ray Powell taking complete charge of the backboards, and Ronnie West and Jimmy Fulford playing excellent ball from the floor. Even when the Barons had the ball they were worried, since Ace Little continually stole the ball. Also aiding in the downfall of the outclassed Baby Barons was the excellent passing and team play of Kelly Powell and Jimmy Ford, who repeatedly set up scoring plays for the Highlifers.

Outstanding for the men from Mt. Vernon were Drake and Fetterman, with Fetterman proving to be quite a back-board man until, in the closing minutes of the first half, he received a nasty gash over his left eye. Except for this unfortunate accident the margin of defeat might have been less evident from the opening whistle that the B-Pites were outclasses, and it was only a matter of time before the Highlifers took complete control of the game.

24 Half-time score: highlifers
Half-time score: Highlifers 24, B.P.I. "B" 21.

Bachelors are Defeated By Thornton's Cagers

Bill Thornton's team annexed an exciting 59 to 51 win over the Bachelors Thursday night. Thornton's team managed to run up a comfortable first quarter lead but the Bachelors came back strong in the second quarter with Thornton's team leading by a slim 29 to 26 half-time margin. Paul Carr led the scoring for the Thornton team with 16 markers followed by Remer Tyson who hit for 14. Kenneth Gale was the big gun for the Bachelors as he poured 21 through the hoop for the losing cause. Hugh Wells got 14 for the Bachelors.

Home Economics Group Meets

The Home Economic Club held its regular meeting Monday night in the lecture room in the home economics department. Sara Fletcher acted as president and called the meeting to order. Plans for the high school day, set for February 11 were discussed. The nominating committee gave a report on the nominations for state offices. They were: For president, Etta Ann Akins; vice president, Bertie Franklin; secretary, Sara Fletcher; and reporter, Ann Davis. After the business meeting the group was divided into groups to complete plans for the float.

After the meeting was adjourned, Miss Wingo entertained the club members and advisors at her home on Granada street.

Genevrino's Five Takes 59-56 Win

In one of the most exciting intramural games of the young season Mike Genevrino's team emerged a 59 to 56 victory over the team coached by Fred Pierce. The game started off with both teams matching basket for basket with the Bachelors leading 30 to 25 at half-time. However the Genevrino team, led by center, George McLeod, came back strong in the third quarter to take the lead away from the Bachelors and go on to win 59 to 56. McLeod wound up with a total of 32 for the night. Four of the Bachelors scored in the double-digit column with Kelly Powell leading with 19 markers.
