Barter Theatre Presents Play At T.C. March 11

"Two Gentlemen of Verona," one of William Shakespeare's earlier plays will be presented on the Georgia Teachers College stage Thursday, March 11, at 8 p. m., by the Barter Theatre of Abingdon, Va.

"The Masquers," G.T.C. dramatics club, brings the traveling theatre group to Statesboro for staging of the sparkling romantic comedy.

The presentation by the Barter group this year is the first professional production of the play in this country in the last fifty years. Robert Porterfield is the producer.

Included in the cast are Jerry Oddo as Proteus, Kay Kendall as Julia, Owen Phillips as Panthino, Nancy Green as Lucetta, and Lauren Farr as Valentine.

Cathy Holt will direct the floor show which will feature songs and dances (Can Can) reminiscent of Paris. Anne Culbreth, class president,

Masquers Present 3 One Act Preformances

If rehearsals are any indication of a performance students of T.C. and the people up town are really in for a treat when Masquer's presents two comedies and a drama here, February 26 at 8:15.

First on the program will be the comedy, "Overtones." When it was given decently at the Faculty Dames dinner someone commented that, "the playwright must have had a keen insight of woman's nature." Sylvia Griner slays Harriett, the sophisticated, brittle, out-of-control, and the turbulent, emotional person that is her real self is played by Betty Jo Brown. Betty Jo just recently replaced Rose Mary Ammons in this role and is doing very well in rehearsals.

The second treat, "Mind Set," promises riotous laughter. The scene of this one takes place in the mind of proud Augusta as she struggles to decide between Joe McCarthy, a photographer, played by Carl Tyson, and wealthy Printice J. Prescott III, played by Jim Glasgow, as her mate. Nan Waters, the assistant stage manager, has been a great help to both the director and the cast. Mildred Bentley, as Great Aunt Rella, help her make the final decision. The character contrast of Joe and Prentice should provide a night of laughter.

"Hello Out There," a serious is over-all chairman of the dance.

Since this night of fantasy will cost money all juniors are invited to pay their class dues to Jean Cannon, treasurer.

drama, is entirely different from the other two plays. This poignant and tragic love story will be enacted with the beautiful melody, "You'll Never Walk Alone" as background music. The play begins with the Young Man, played by Phil Norton, in a small town jail accused of rape. Throughout the play he calls out "Hello Out There" signifying all those things he

Homecoming Weekend Is a Success

T.C. conquered the busy Homecoming weekend with flying colors—no fatalities, and only minor coughs but major sniffles. The entire event was a complete success.

Approximately 350 alumni were on hand to enjoy the program and displays which were furnished through the cooperation of students and faculty. Nothing but praise can be said of the parade and its preparations, the beauty review, the dormitory displays and all the other events that took place. Each was a credit to our college and we watched with pride as the visitors enjoyed our handiwork.

In the float parade and dormitory decorations, all were thrilling and told beautifully the story of Georgia's precious heritages. West Hall was judged the first place winner in dormitory displays and achieved $15. in prize money, with East Hall's cotton patch in second place, receiving $7.50. Cone Hall, with its portrayal of a Georgia

Shirley Hanson Named "Miss T.C. For 1954" In Eight Beauty Revue

Miss Shirley Hanson, junior of Avondale Estates, was crowned "Miss T.C. of 1954" and queen of the second annual Homecoming festivities before a house of over 800 people, probably the largest audience in T.C.'s history.

Shirley, eighth in a long line of T.C. queens is the first to be selected while residing in Lewis Hall; the 6 previous reigning beauties, Miss Yvonne Jones, Mrs. Betty Hendrix Fabris, Miss Jo Starr, Mrs. Lonadine Morgan Webb, Miss Betty Fuller, and Miss Jean Hodges became Miss T.C. while they were living in East Hall.

Mrs. Dean Howard Robinson, the first Miss T.C., was crowned while in West Hall, but Mrs. J. B. Johnson was house mother of all seven of the former T.C. queens.

During the confusion of congratulations and picture taking after the review was formally over, Don King, as president of the Art Club, presented Shirley with a medallion bracelet. One side of the disk is engraved with the words, "Miss T.C. of 1954." Don was also general chairman and was responsible to a large of the production committees degree for the success of the show.

feels and desires, yet cannot reach. The Young Girl, played by Sylvia Griner, is a plain but strangely beautiful cook in the jail who purity and innocence add a romantic atmosphere to the beautiful written drama. Mas Estes, as the husband of the accusing woman and Eulita Carter as the accuser, round out the cast. Written by William Saroyan, an outstanding playwright, this play tells a story that is well worth seeing.

DR. MARSHALL HAMILTON

Dr. Hamilton To Join T.C. Faculty As Co-ordinator

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Georgia Teachers College, announced today the appointment of Dr. Marshall Hamilton, of Crawfordville, Fla., to the G.T.C. faculty as co-ordinator of off-campus student teaching.

The new man, Dr. Henderson said, succeeds Dr. Henry L. Ashmore, who resigned recently to become dean of Pensacola Junior College, Pensacola, Fla.

Dr. Hamilton is a native of Covington, Ky., but he has been connected with Florida public schools since 1944. He received his bachelor's and Master's degrees at the University of Kentucky, and he earned his doctorate at Florida State University in August of last year. He has been principal of the Crawfordville, Fla., schools since 1951. During the summer of 1941 he was on the visiting faculty at Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, N. C., and while a student at Florida State was a graduate assistant in the school of education.

Dr. Hamilton joins the Georgia Teachers College faculty with the rank of associate professor of education. He will move to Collegeboro with his wife and three daughters to commence work March 1.

Dr. Henderson joined Dr. Thomas C. Little, chairman of the division of education in expressing pleasure in the appointment.

"We feel fortunate to secure such a well-qualified and well-recommended man to fill the vacancy on our faculty," Dr. Henderson said.

MRS. HARMON CALDWELL and Mrs. Zack S. Henderson joyfully consume a portion of the barbecue dinner give by Dr. Zack S. Henderson, president, last Saturday. The barbecue was one of the many elaborate activities of the second annual Homecoming.

Weekend Has Arrived and Passed

One of the liveliest weekends ever experienced in the history of this school has finally arrived and passed. The campus really buzzed last week with old alumni, visitors, and just people in general. A good time was had by all.

Friday started things off with a real bang! Classes being out at twelve o'clock helped matters considerably. With the night came the enchantment of the Beauty Revue in a setting of snow and ice, the "Winter Wonderland." The selection of the snow queen, Shirley Hanson, highlighted this occasion. After the revue, the night was still young, so the majority of students jumped into jeans and headed straight for the tobacco warehouse for the float-making party. This was a supreme moment for the girls who were allowed to stay out until the wee hour of one o'clock in the morning.

Saturday morning at eleven o'clock brought forth the parade with all the many original creations of T.C.'s clever student body. Winning first place was the Business Club float, featuring the Cotton Queen, and old-fashioned driver boat complete with all accessories including a paddle wheel. Second place went to the Masquers Club for their miniature Okeefeenokey Swamp.

A barbecue lunch given by the president went over in a big way, as you probably know if you had to stand in the line. But it was worth it because that barbecue sure was good.

Later in the afternoon the alumni attended various meetings. Then there was the Cone Hall dedication followed by a tea in the dormitory along with breaking the ground for the new gymnasium which marked the improvement stages that are taking place on this campus.

After dark, the fireworks at the baseball field provided a spectacular attraction. The display was presented by the various civic clubs of Statesboro.

To make things perfect, T.C.'s Professors won the game with North Georgia with a score of 78-53. This would be a mighty fine way to end everything right here but we haven't even taken into consideration the dance after the game sponsored by the senior class. It turned out to be a tremendous success.

The elaborate dormitory decorations were the products of good hard work by the occupants. The first prize went to West Hall for its "Gone With the Wind" display. Second prize went to East Hall for its "Cotton Patch." Cone Hall's "Noah's Ark" gave them honorable mention.

All good things must come to an end. Everybody worked hard to make Homecoming special and the results certainly merit a hearty pat on the back. Just goes to show what can be accomplished with good honest effort.

Music Festival Scheduled at T.C. Late Next Week

Over 3,000 Georgia high school students will be on the campus Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week for the annual Region Five Music Festival.

Prof. Jack Broucek, of the college music faculty, general festival chairman, said plans are being pushed now for an outstanding program in a variety of musical fields. He said also that pre-registration figures indicate a new attendance record will be set this year. Slightly over 3,000 students were here last year.

Sponsored by the Georgia Music Educators Association the three-day affair includes special events and competition in piano, vocal solos and ensembles, instrumental solos and ensembles, bands, and choruses, as well as elementary competition in chorus, piano, and folk-dancing.

Music events on the program have been scheduled during the three days in practically every building on the campus. Professor Broucek pointed out. He asked the cooperation of all college students in helping the high school visitors in finding their way around campus.

Last year the festival was held here on a district basis, with a state festival following. The state has now been divided into regions, however, and no state convention is to be held this year. Region five includes 40 counties in their corner of the state.

HENDERSON TAKES PART IN RELIGIOUS PROGRAM

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Teachers College, will participate in training programs at the First Methodist Church of Cordele and the Valdosta Methodist Church for the next two weeks.

Monday through Friday of next week he will be in Cordele, giving a two-hour study course in "Christian Stewardship" each night beginning at 7:30. The following week he teaches the same course in Valdosta training school.

Tyson's Type

Collegeboro can look back on Homecoming Day and say to itself without conceit, "well done."

It was a great success, accomplished only through the cooperation of everyone from the administration to the maids.

The work began long before Homecoming came into prominence. It took an extremely large amount of planning, laboring and worrying in order that the event could be successful. Most individuals fail to realize behind the scenes work. Those who had this responsibility placed on their shoulders are to be commended to the highest degree.

The Beauty Revue, carried out for the eighth time, was certainly a highlight of the weekend festivities. It was a polished affair, perfected through many long and strenuous hours of toil both mentally and physically. The scenery and management on the night of the event was excellent. For this the Art Club and department is congratulated. Getting down to personalized basis, Don King, president of the Art Club contributed much to the revue through his planning, management, work and patience. A pat on the back goes to Don as we say, "well done, you've got what it takes."

A very deserving word for the parade is "magnificent." Its originality displayed Georgia's Heritage to the fullest.

The constructors of the floats, that made up the parade, did an excellent job. The floats represented G.T.C. in a manner in which we can all be proud.

All this, along with the dormitory decorations, Dr. Henderson's barbecue, the enormous fireworks show, sponsored by the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Lions Club, and American Legion, and the senior dance, with music by the T.C. band, made the second annual event a complete success.

It was hard work, but doesn't the pleasure and satisfaction more than counter-balance.

Interesting Observation

Just to prove that everyone helped out at Homecoming, an observation was made of a group of the maids and cooks as they looked over the cotton patch in front of East Hall.

One of the group remarked through the burst of laughter, "All that is a missing is a jug of water."

Although it was not a supposed concern of the group, they placed a jug of water in the "patch."

We Are Proud of Him

Jim Harley has been inducted into the United States Army.

He has contributed much to T.C. through athletics, campus activities and social life.

A native Georgian six feet in height, Jim was one of the gang who represented T.C. on basketball courts for the past two seasons. He had undaunted drive plus the ever admired will to win.

We are proud to have the privilege to say he attended G.T.C.

Progress Never Ceases

Progress at Georgia Teachers College never ceases.

Last week the Board of Regents authorized both B.S. and A.B. degrees to be offered at this institution.

Some say the regents erred in this decision, but it will help the college grow larger and more progressive.

T.C. has functioned only toward teacher education and formerly offered only the B.S. degree in teacher education. Many students undoubtedly would have attended T.C. rather than an institution farther away if they could have obtained an A.B. degree, as it is possible to do so now. Some students attend T.C. for two years, transferring to another university or college to acquire the benefit of an A.B. degree. These students do not contribute as much as they would were they planning to become alumni of this college. If they had planned to attend T.C. for four years their interest in campus activities, specific departments and the spirit of the college would have been greater and more centered on Collegeboro.

The progress of Collegeboro will be stepped up a notch higher as the newly authorized program comes into effect. More outstanding students will attend T.C.; students with an ambition to do things in a modern, progressive, and energetic fashion. They will furnish new ideas, plus a huge amount of rational thinking.

The basic group to really accomplish high ideals and put Georgia Teachers College on the map of the United States exists at the present time, but what is needed and most surely will be provided for under the new program is a few more of this kind full of ambition and the will to work.

Although the major function is still teacher education the addition of a new degree will play a major role in the progress of G.T.C.

Harley Inducted For Service Duty

Jim Harley, star forward and guard for the T.C. Professors, left for the United States Army Wednesday morning with only two games remaining on this season's schedule.

Harley was the second leading scorer on last year's squad and has an average of better than ten points per game this year. Last year Harley played only in the guard position but has played both forward and guard this year, doing an equally good job at either.

Harley has scored a total of 257 points in 25 games this year and also doing a good job on defense.

Harley did his high school playing at Warner-Robbins, Georgia, playing on the same team with ex-Kentucky All-American Bill Spivey. His first two years of college basketball were with the Brewton-Parker Jr. College team which won the state championship both years that he played.

Professors lose Heartbreaker To F.S.U. Seminoles

The Professor Cagers of Georgia Teachers College lost a heartbreaker to the Seminoles of Florida State University 85 to 89 Wednesday night in the home gym. The F.S.U. team gained an early lead and didn't relinquish it until the third quarter when the T.C. team began hitting from all angles and ran up a short-lived 1 point lead over the Seminoles only to have the visitors come back and regain the lead.

By the end of the first quarter the Florida team had taken a 21 to 14 lead over the Teachers and it looked as if the superior height of the Seminoles would prove the downfall of the T.C. hopes. The Teachers came back strong, however, in the second quarter, matching the opposition basket for basket. The teams left the floor at half-time with the Seminoles holding a 46 to 41 advantage.

The Professors really got hot in the third quarter with Chester Webb and Horace Belflower hitting the nets with regularity. This was Belflower's first game in over three weeks and he came through with a very fine performance, netting 12 points and also playing a good floor game. The Professors held a 69 to 68 lead at the end of the third quarter.

The F.S.U. team came back strong in the last quarter to regain a 7 point lead half-way in the quarter. The Teachers then began to climb and at one point were just 1 point behind the Seminoles but the Florida team managed to hold on and win 89 to 85.

Chester Webb led the scoring for the Teachers with a total of 31 points. David Harris also contributed 12 to the T. C. cause.

Three of the Seminoles hit for over 20 points each as Oler, Gordon, and Werneake had 23, 22 and 21 respectively. Oler also played a fine defensive game from his guard position.

Baseball Practice Gets Underway With Seven Returning Lettermen

The T.C. baseball team, coached by J. I. Clements Jr., began their initial work-outs this past Monday with 22 boys showing up for practice. Out of these there is a total of seven returning lettermen who will form the nucleus of the T.C. nine which will be out to better last year's record. These returning lettermen are David Harris, Kenneth Gale, Jo Ed Green, Clyde "Ace" Little, Ferrel Sparks, Kelly Powell and Buddy Ward.

Others going out for the team are Ed Dukes, Billy Hobbs, Bill Freeman, Bob Cardell, Herchel Evans, Jimmy Ford, Gay Cannuett, Eddie Potts, Tom Perry, Beeler Thompson, Billy Odum, J. M. Herringdine, Don Wallen, Bo Warren, and Kenneth Everett.

During the past week and for the next few days most of the baseball activity will be getting in shape, but the team will soon get down to business in making ready for the opening game against Davidson College on March 22 on the home field.

Managers are Larry Evans and Jimmy Prentice.

The remainder of the schedule follows:

March 22, Davidson, H; 26, Erskine, H; 27, Erskine, H.

April 2, Piedmont, H; 3, N. Georgia, H; 10, North Georgia, H; 14, Mercer, A; 15, F.S.U.,

Teachers Play Troy State Five To Close Season

The Georgia Teachers Professors will take on the strong Troy State quintet from Troy, Alabama in the last game of the season Saturday night in the gym. The T.C. team, which has had both its rough and bright spots during the season, will be facing a team which had defeated them 76 to 62 earlier in the month in the Alabama city.

In the first game with the Troy squad, the Teachers held the lead during the early part of the game, running up a 15 to 13 first quarter lead, only to have the Troy team come back to gain a 39 to 33 half-time lead and go on to win by a 76 to 62 margin.

Chester Webb led the scoring for T.C. with 16 points, followed by David Harris with 14 markers.

Bobby Ross led the Troy team with 13 points.

T.C. Eases Past N. Georgia 78-59

The Georgia Teachers cagers added a bright spot to the Homecoming weekend by running over the North Georgia Squad by a 78 to 59 score last Saturday night.

Coach J. B. Searce cleared the bench as every player except one got in the scoring column. David Harris, Chester Webb, Don Wallen, and Boney Phillips each had nine points for the winning cause. Warren Camp, gangling center for the North Georgia team, captured scoring honors for the night with a 20 point total.

11th Annual Georgia Art Exhibit Is Held In Lab High School Today

A special art education conference opens the 11th annual Georgia Student Art Exhibit at the Lab School at Georgia Teachers College Friday.

Art entries, in two and three dimensional form, from approximately 500 students in Georgia's first congressional district will go on display then and remain on show through Tuesday of the following week.

Ivan Thompson, head of the arts department of Florida State University and vice president of the National Art Education Association, will be the main speaker for the conference. The program, slated mainly for classroom teachers of the district interest in art education, features also small group discussions and demonstrations by some of the state's outstanding artists.

The student exhibits include work from students in the kindergarten through the 12th grade and must be all original with the student. Selections will be made from this exhibit for showing in the Georgia Student Art Exhibit at the University of Georgia in Athens April 23. Miss Emma Moore and Mrs. Doris Thomas, both of Savannah and co-chairman for the program, say that no emphasis is being placed on the first place winners and first prizes in this exhibit, but that the selections will be made on the basis of representative work of students of this area. These selections will be made and announced during the week following the show.

Approximately 200 teachers of the area are expected for the conference, according to Miss Roxie Remley, of the art faculty, who will preside Friday. The program opens with registration at 8:30 a. m. At 9:00 Dr. Zach S. Henderson will extend greetings from Georgia Teachers College and Prin. J. A. Pafford will welcome the group to the Lab School. From 9:30 to 11 the visitors may observe artactivity periods in the Lab School classes. Mr. Thompson speaks at 11.

Group discussions and demonstrations are slated from 1:30 to 3:30. Consultants for these sessions include Miss Olleen Williams, sculptress, of Georgia and New York, who will do demonstrations in wire sculpture; Mrs. Jean Reese, Savannah, clay modeling; Miss Nell Swint, Atlanta, visual aids; David Reese, Savannah, silk screen printing; and Capt E. F. Williams, Hunter Air Force Base, copper work.

The exhibits are open to the public and will be on display Friday, Saturday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., and Monday and Tuesday from 3:30 to 5 p. m.

TC Concert Band Plans 700-Mile School Tour

Under the direction of Dana M. King, the 36-piece aggregation will present concerts at Hazelhurst, Tifton, Richland, Dawson, Cairo, and Blackshear high schools from Tuesday through Friday.

Mr. King, assistant professor of music and director of bands for the college, says this the longest annual tour the band has ever taken.

The schedule is as follows: Hazelhurst, Tuesday night at 8; Tifton, Wednesday afternoon for a chapel concert; Richland, Wednesday night; Dawson, Thursday for chapel concert at 11 a. m.; Cairo, Thursday night; and Blackshear, Friday night.
