Apollo Boys' Choir will Present Final Concert

The Apollo Boys' Choir will be presented in the Georgia Teachers College auditorium Friday night, April 23, in the third and final concert of the season by the Statesboro Community Concert Association.

The program chosen for this concert includes a wide variety of sacred and secular numbers, ranging in period and temperament from early classical to modern. Some of the works should be of special interest since they were composed especially for presentation by boys' choirs.

Jack Broucek, G.T.C. associate professor of music, and publicity chairman for the Concert Association, recommends the final concert program.

"This is the first appearance of the boys' choir on any concert series in Statesboro," he said, "and it promises to be a unique presentation."

In renditions by the Apollo Choir, he pointed out, it is not unusual for the first sopranos to soar to high "B" and the second altos to descend to low "F." The dynamics are often delicate, but always well-planned and executed. The tone quality is of excellent timbre, he declared.

Coleman Cooper is director of the choir which is composed of twenty-three boys between the ages of nine and thirteen. The choir members were chosen by competitive audition.

Caplenor Speaks At North Georgia Science Meeting

Donald C. Caplenor, associate professor of biology, will give a paper on "The Replacement of Chesnut in the Mixed Mesophytic Forest" at the thirty-first annual meeting of the Georgia Academy of Science at North Georgia College, Dahlonega, April 23.

A delegation composed of the members of the science department is planning to attend the meeting April 23-24, W. S. Haner, chairman of the division of exact sciences reported.

A musical floor show will be given at 9:00 o'clock by Joy Hatcher, Jesup and Ida Whittle of Statesboro. Background music for the floor show will be furnished by a group of West Hall girls. Phyllis Smith, St. Simons, will act as master of ceremonies.

Decorations for the occasion will consist of umbrellas, hats, and flowers. Mrs. Jackson, West Hall house mother, ask everyone who has a brightly colored umbrella that might be used in decoration to please notify her. All umbrellas used will be returned.

Five West Hall girls will greet people at the door. They are as follows: Beverly O'Connor, Lumpkin; Barbara Wilkins, St. Simons; and Lois Hammond, Augusta.

Faculty Hears G.E.A. Views On Questionnaire

Dr. George A. Rogers, professor of social science, and local G.E.A. president, reported Tuesday at the regular faculty meeting on his recent trip to Atlanta.

He attended a meeting of the G.E.A. committee to study the security questionnaire which was held in Atlanta on March 31. Local G.E.A. presidents were invited to attend the meeting and present the ideas and objections of the local units concerning the questionnaire.

Dr. Rogers reported that the items discussed at the committee meeting centered around those features of the security questionnaire which many faculty members in various units of the University System still consider objectional.

Home Mechanics Class Constructs House In House

A "house within a house" is the newest thing to be seen in the industrial arts department this quarter.

The home mechanics class has erected a model house in one corner of the show which will be used for experimentation on types of home building. Donald F. Hackett, chairman of the division of fine and practical arts, reported.

Dr. Hackett pointed out that students will observe and participate in using different types of siding and shingles on the outside of the house. The interior will be of plaster, wall-board, and celotex.

Seniors Invited For April Visits

April has been designated as high school month, reports Dr. Georgia Watson, director of guidance and counseling.

Any college student may invite for any weekend this month friends who are high school seniors. The invited guests must be registered with house directors at least three days in advance.

The visitors will be the guests of the college.

Miss Nancy Armstrong, Decatur, and Miss Betty Roan, Fitzgerald, have been selected as the junior attendants to the queen in a class meeting last week.

Marilu was elected to Who's Who, is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Psi Omega, and has served two years as art editor of the Reflector and the "T" Book. A three year student, Marilu has been entered in the annual beauty revue every year since her arrival and at present is student teaching at the Lab School in the social science field. Marilu is the wife of Rudy Mills, Macon, a senior music major at T. C.

Yvonne Jones, maid of honor, was also elected to Who's Who. She is a home economics major and an active member of the B.S.U., Student Council, and social committee.

Doris and Dorothy Ford, elementary education majors, are co-editors of the Reflector this year and members of Alpha Psi Omega.

Betty Fabris, an English major and speech minor, was cheerleader her first three years at T.C., is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, was Miss T. C. of 1952, and is married to Frank Fabris, a member of the Metter High School faculty.

Barbara Voight, an elementary education major is married to Johnny Voight of Savannah Beach. Nancy Armstrong, elementary education major, is first vice president of the state F.T.A. and has just been elected president of the local chapter. Betty Roan, elementary education major, was entered in the Beauty Revue last year.

An unusual number of students voted in the May queen election probably because of the location of the polls by the x-ray trailer.

SHIRLEY HANSON

Are You Taking Advantage?

Easter Sunday is only a week away. Most of the students will go home this weekend and enjoy this day with their families. It's a most appropriate time to do this but let us all keep in mind the importance of this memorial.

Christ gave us the opportunity of gaining Eternal Life. May we all remember it was not without pain and suffering. Let's all show our appreciation for his love by attending church Easter Sunday.

It's Termites

It's a bird, it's a plane, no it's termites!

Monday afternoon there was a shriek from a passing female, a gasp of amazement by a visiting salesman, and a look of disgust by a male student in the hall of the administration building as a swarm of termites evacuated their home in a supporting post.

The girl was terrified by the presence of so many little winged insects which were sailing toward her feet to try to find new and better food for their hungry appetites.

The salesman was amazed at the number of little creatures which covered a great portion of the hall and at the fact of their presence in the most important building of one of his customers. (The George-Anne hopes that he wasn't an insurance salesman.)

The boy was disgusted by the half-handled job that the termites did on the post by merely eating away half of it. A look of disappointment twisted his face over the fact that the bugs didn't eat up the whole building, thereby making a postponement of Tuesday's classes.

The George-Anne advocates a war on these benevolent little bugs. If we are to continue to "Work, Work, Work, Learn, Learn, Learn," we must control our classroom. Workers of the sprayers, arise!

Talent Show Lacks Talent

This weekend was the date set for the I.R.C. Talent Show, but the show does not go on. Why? Because no clubs were interested enough to arrange for some entry to represent them on the program. Because not one single organization was interested enough in campus activities to take a little time and effort to help make this annual event possible.

Is this an example of sincerity of the campus organizations in their striving to carry out the purposes for which they were established or it is not? Is everyone unaware of the fact that the year is not over?

In the constitutions of most of the organizations there is a phrase—to further campus activities wherever possible. If the clubs follow their constitutions this is a direct violation on their part. Let us think hereafter.

Something New On Campus

Look at it's shapely body and notice the way it floats around the campus, shaking as it goes but not caring in the least about a wolf-whistle. What force guides this lovely creature and why hasn't it gained more attention?

The guiding force is Mr. Moye and the reason it hasn't been more conspicuous is because he drives it into its parking space by the business building before most of the student body is fully awake. Mr. Moye has a new car—a pre-war model.
Civilization marches on.

Is Liquor A Problem?

IN LANSING, MICHIGAN, the state legislature has heard still another resolution designed to set up a study of the growing problem of alcoholism in Detroit. Rep. Edward Jeffries of Detroit, introduced the resolution asking for a separate study from a similar piece of work undertaken by the House Liquor Committee last fall. "As a starting point, we will want to know why city officials dropped their studies like a hot potato just at the time it seemed recommendations would be forthcoming," he said. Another basic objective of the study would be to try and find a way of cutting down the number of bars flourishing on the Skid Road area along Detroit's Michigan Avenue.

IN SACRAMENTO, CALIF., a state legislative committee turned up reports of what the governor called "pretty shocking" irregularities in the liquor control setup. The report revealed that enormous profits were being made in the transfer of liquor licenses, for one thing.

IN BROWNTON, MINNESOTA, school superintendent Louis F. Cass, who finally had more than he could take, led a drive to trim flagrant sales of beer to minors in the community. Confronted with definite evidence of sales, three tavern owners were fined $100 or 90 days for selling to minors. The case got statewide attention when Cass complained to Gov. Elmer Anderson about lax liquor and beer law enforcement in McLeod county.

ALSO IN DETROIT, Common Council members were forced to investigate policies used by police in raids on private homes, and solicitation by some policemen on "on-the-house" drinks at taverns when three homes were entered without warrants and officers, who admitted drinking at several bars before the raids, smashed doors and wrecked furniture. Tavern owners had complained about what they called the common practice of police to solicit free drinks.

OTHER NEWSPAPER HEADLINES SAID—Washington, D. C. Star, 2-27-54: "Teen-Age Boys Tell of Drinking Party in College Park Motel." A former movie usher was charged with contributing to the delinquency of five teenage boys after an all-night drinking party. Beer and whiskey were seized at the motel, and a 38-calibre pistol and a seven-inch knife were found in the car. Their supplies they admitted buying from various district stores and taverns.

Denver, Colo., Post, 2-18-54: "State Liquor Outlets Plentiful—and Handy." Colorado State Liquor department reports 3,857 outlets for 1953, or one for every 376 individuals in the state. In Denver, also, 877 licenses or one for every 473 persons was issued.

Washington, D. C. Times-Herald, 2-24-53: "Seize Drunks with Gun at Ike's Ranch." On their drive back from a hunting trip, two men, under the influence of liquor, decided to pay a call on President Eisenhower who was visiting a California friend.

St. Louis, Mo., Post Dispatch, 2-8-54: "Tavern License is Denied a friend of Kidnapper." Applicant associated with officer suspended under perjury charge.

Atlanta, Georgia, Journal, 2-8-54: "But Officer, I Wanta Go to Frisco." Driver drove down to the Southern Pacific right-of-way; car stalled. Police arrived two minutes ahead of a crack streamliner; moved car off the track. Driver was booked on drunk charge.

Denver, Colo., Post, 2-5-54: "Denverite 'Gets Book' for Attack on Wife." Judge ordered maximum jail sentence and fine for man accused of broken-bottle attack on his wife. Said the judge: "Drunkenness is no excuse in pleading before the court. If I could, I would send you to the penitentiary."

St. Louis, Mo., Post-Dispatch, 1-29-54: "Tavern Owner, Customer, Shoot Each Other in Dispute." Both suffered chest wounds. Ejected from the tavern, the customer returned and fired a 22-calibre rifle at the barkeeper who retaliated.

Detroit, Mich., Free Press, 2-6-54: "Bill Bars Dramatized Intoxicants." A Michigan bill would bar "unlimited advertising of liquors, beers and wines under conditions amounting to inducement of the use thereof," and the accustoming of youth to acceptance of intoxicants as a normal or desirable custom.

Louisville, Ky., Journal, 1-9-54: "Policeman Suspended Here After Drunk-Driving Arrest." An officer of four years' standing was caught after an 80-mile-an-hour chase including going through a 35-mile zone at high speed. Passenger in the car also charged with drunkenness.

REFLECTOR

All pages of the 1954 Reflector have been mailed to the engraver, with the single exception of the May Day page.

Most of the collecting for the advertisements has been done and the majority of clubs have paid for their pages, according to Doris and Dorothy Ford, editors.

"I was a Stranger," a new biography of William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, written by Harold C. Steete is on display at the library. The display, which shows some of the steps that go into writing and rewriting a book, includes pictures, original manuscripts and proofs. This book will be available at the Little Store in a few days.

Other interesting new books in the library include, "With Wings as Eagles," by Hellen Chappel White, wife of the president of Emory University. It is the story of her first son, a bomber navigator who was shot down over the Baltic Sea in 1944. The book's introduction is by Dr. Ralph W. Sockman.

"The Adventures of Augie March," a heroic comedy by Saul Bellow and a Book of the Month Club book is also prominently displayed.

Professors Take Fifth Win In Tenth Inning Contest

The Teachers College Professors won their fifth game of the season Tuesday afternoon at the expense of the Camp Gordon Ramblers. The Professors had to go an extra inning before taking the decision 10 to 9 in an elongated three hours and fifteen minutes game. Don Wallen, freshman from Wheelwright, Ky., drove in "Bo" Warren with the tie breaking run with a single.

The Professors led the Ramblers 9 to 5 going into the ninth inning, but Camp Gordon nine came back in the ninth to tie the score, only to have the Professors win by scoring in the tenth inning.

The game was a slugging match all the way with the Ramblers getting 15 hits off four T. C. hurlers. The Professors got a total of 14 bingles off the offering of the Rambler pitchers. Vondall Hall, who pitched only the last inning got credit for his 3rd game of the year against no losses.

Ferrell Sparks led the T. C. hitting with 3 for 5, Jimmy Ford got a triple in the first inning.

The Professors won their second game of the weekend last Saturday as they trimmed the Lions from Piedmont by a 2 to 1 score. The winning margin came as a result of a homer by Jimmy Ford, freshman from Augusta, in the 11th inning.

Joe Ed Green, making his first start of the season, pitched 3 hit ball for nine innings, until being taken out far a pinch hitter in the ninth. Ace Little came on to relieve Joe Ed and receive credit for the win.

Both teams played scoreless ball for seven innings but T. C. managed to push one over on a hit, walk, and an error, with Don Wallen scoring on the error.

The Piedmont team managed to tie up the game in the ninth when O'Rourke scored on a single by McGraw after he has been hit by a pitched ball and then stealing second.

Ford then broke up the game in the 11th with his booming homer over the left field fence. Ford also led the batting for the Professors with 2 for 5.

The Professors also won the first game of the two game series with Piedmont last Friday afternoon, taking a 5 to 2 victory over the Piedmont nine.

Vondall Hall pitched steady ball all the way, being in trouble only once when the Lions picked up two runs in the fifth inning.

The Professors drew first blood when they picked up a single run in the first inning. The Professors added 4 more in the third inning on a combination of 3 hits, 1 walk, a stolen base, and an error.

Leading the nine hit attack for T. C. was "Bo" Warren with 3 for 4 and Tom Perry, who started his first game at second, who got 2 for 4.

Dean of Women Compare Views On Counselling

Ida Long Rogers, dean of women, has returned from a trip to the National Association of Deans of Women held April 1-5 at the Statler Hotel in Washington.

Over 700 deans of women and counsellors of girls and others engaged in student personnel work heard Catherine E. McBride, president of Byrn Mawr College, Pennsylvania; Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of American Council on Education; and Samuel M. Brownell, U. S. Commissioner of Education, speak on the theme, "Some Measure of Professional Status."

The pamphlet outline of the 1954 annual meeting states that the association, organized in 1916, after a series of conferences which began in 1912, is a department of the National Education of the U. S. The organization seeks to increase the effectiveness of deans, counsellors, and other personnel workers, and their possibilities of service by strengthening their professional status by formulating standards for their professional training, by study-

Spring Pushes Campus Work

Spring is a very busy time for the maintenance department, according to B. E. Taylor, department head. At the present, Lewis Hall is being painted and grass and playground equipment are being put in at the Nursery School.

Program bells have just been installed in the music-business building and one of the first flood bathrooms in Lewis Hall has been re-plastered.

Projects for the future include resurfacing all campus roads, further beautifying of Alumni Park, which is directly across the highway from the main gate, and painting of West and East Halls during the summer.

Other current works are replacing a termite ridden post in the administration building lobby and finishing the fire escapes at East Hall. Final work on the fire escapes begins next week.

While this is going on outside, workmen will also be busy inside West Hall covering the steps with rubber tread.

The Georgia Problems class of 37 students took a field trip to Savannah Thursday to observe historical sites and modern industry in Georgia.

The students, directed by Dr. Robert S. Lambert, associate professor of social science, spent the morning at Union Bag and Paper Corporation observing the processing of paper. During the afternoon the class visited numerous historical sites throughout Savannah.

"The trip was planned so as to give a student a knowledge of modern and historical Georgia by personal observation," stated Dr. Lambert, "I only wish more territory could have been covered."
