THE APOLLO BOYS' CHOIR will be presented in the auditorium tonight in the third and final concert of the season by the Statesboro Community Concert Association. The program, which begins at 8:15, includes a wide variety of sacred and secular numbers, ranging in period and temperment from early classical to modern.

Radio Transmitter Is Near Operation Date

The Science Club is nearing the completion of a carrier radio current transmitter, which will operate solely on the GTC campus.

Beginning of the project began roughly two months ago and is expected to be finished in the early part of May.

The carrier radio current transmitter will send signals through the power lines only on the GTC campus. There will be no radio waves sent out.

A schedule for two hours operation in the afternoon with varied programs is planned.

The transmitter, which will operate on the power of 690 kilocycles, has been constructed primarily by Morris Davis, Tifton; Larry Cook, Newington; Glenn Thomas, Jesup; and Bobbie Gene Kingery, Pulaski.

H. J. McCormick Speaks Monday To Science Club

Henry J. McCormick, manager of the Bulloch County Hospital, and formerly on the science staff as a biology professor at GTC, is to be the principle speaker at the Science Club meeting Monday night, April 26, at 7 p. m.

Mr. McCormick was with the FBI for four years in the chemistry laboratory. He is going to speak on "Science and Crime Detection."

Anyone interested is invited to attend this meeting.

Mary Alice Jones Presents Recital Thursday Night

Miss Mary Alice Jones will be presented in a junior voice recital on Thursday, April 29, at 8:15 p. m. in Concert Hall of the music building at Georgia Teachers College. There will be no admission charge.

Mary Alice will sing selections from Mozart, Schuman, Schubert, Lizst, and will conclude with "Voices of Spring," by Strauss.

Dr. Ronald J. Neil, head of the division of music at GTC will be the accompanist.

Mary Alice takes an active part in all music activities. She is a member of En Melodie, Music Education Club, has been soloist for the Philharmonic Choir for two years, she is a member of the band, and has studied both piano and organ.

The public is cordially invited to attend this recital.

MARY ALICE JONES

Hart Conducts History Class

Jim Hart, English and history teacher on the Laboratory High School faculty, will conduct the Saturday Western Civilization class this Saturday in the absence of Dr. George A. Rogers.

Mr. Hart, an exchange teacher from England, will present the English point of view on the causes of World War I and the role of the nations in the conflicts which arose before the war.

HOME EC. GROUP PLANS TYBEE TRIP

Home Ec Club members will "Ho Bo" to finance a retreat to Tybee the weekend of May 14-16.

Committees have been appointed for recreation, lodging, food, and transportation.

Mary Flanders, Rockledge, president, says all members will be hired out to the teachers and people up town for various jobs to finance the retreat.

Annual Honors Day Program Is Set For May 10 Assembly

The annual Honors Day program for this year will be held at the regular assembly period on May 10. At this time 28 seniors will be recognized for their superior achievements.

Eleven will be honored for "Constructive Leadership and Unselfish Service" and 19 more for "Excellent Scholarship." A grade point ratio of at least five over the past five quarters is the specification for "Excellent Scholarship." The Leadership and Service group is chosen by the vote of the entire faculty, unlike the Who's Who group in which the students have a voice.

GTC Honors Parents With 'Parent's Day'

Parents responded to the "Parent's Day" program in number this week announced President Zach S. Henderson. Over 80 families have sent in cards stating that they will be present at the activities held in their honor.

The day's schedule calls for the parents to arrive at 10:30 a. m. For the next 45 minutes an informal social hour will be held in the dormitories, giving the guests a chance to become acquainted. At 11:45 a. m. a special Sunday service will be held in the college auditorium. The sermon will be delivered by Tom Cottingham Jr.

Mr. Cottingham is International Harvester dealer in Douglas and is a very active layman in the Methodist Church, holds the position of Associate District Lay Leader of the Waycross District. He is also active in youth activities and has been speaker at a number of Methodist Youth Assemblies.

Mr. Cottingham is also interested in family living. He has attended in several National Home Life Conferences.

Special music for the service will be presented by the Philharmonic choir. At 12:30 p. m. a picnic lunch for parents, faculty members and students will be served down by the lake, giving parents and faculty a chance to become acquainted. If weather conditions prove unfavorable, the lunch will be served in the gym. From 1:30 until 2:30 open house will be observed in the dormitories after which the guests will be taken on a tour of the campus. The college band, under the direction of Dana M. King, assistant professor of music, will present its 4th annual presentation concert at 2:30. At the intermission, "Miss TC of 54,"

Shirley Hanson, Avondale Estates, and her court will be presented to the audience.

At 3:45 p. m. members of Dramatic Club will present Alice Gurtenberg's one act play, "Overtones," which will be supervised by Miss Dorothy Few, speech director and sponsor of Masquers.

The "Parent's Day" activities were planned and sponsored by the inter-dormitory council with Miss Ida Long Rogers, dean of men, as advisor.

'Sadie Hawkins' Dance Sponsored By Sanford Hall

"Sadie Hawkins" will be the theme for the informal dance Saturday, April 24, at 8 p. m. in the gym sponsored by Sanford Hall.

Music for the dance, to which the girls will invite the boys, will be furnished by the combo. A floor show will be given at 10:00.

Chairman of the committees for the occasion are Thomas Mock, Sylvania, decorations; Jimmy Becton, Pooler, refreshments; and Gene Meadows, Register, floor show.

McDOUGALD'S GOODIES KEEP EMPLOYEES HAPPY

Don McDougald, comptroller, has a very effective way of keeping his office force happy. He makes cakes and brownies and brings a share to the office. Misses Mary Jane Moore and Betty Sue Roundtree declare that Mr. McDougald turns out a very good product.

Tommie Jean Corbett, Vidalia and Mrs. Marilu H. Mills, Avondale Estates will appear in both groups being honored.

The others recognized for "Constructive Leadership and Unselfish Service" are Rose Mary Ammons, Brunswick; Janice Chastain, Albany; Morris Davis, Tifton; Mary Flanders, Rockledge; Mike Genevrino, Newark, New Jersey; Yvonne Jones, Jessup; Fred Pierce, Savannah; Gene Roberts, Wadley; and Christy Trowell, Oliver.

Others being honored for scholastic achievement include Mary Helen Altman, Waycross; Mrs. Betty Clary, Savannah;

Vivien Cowart, Savannah; Al Crumpler, Hagin; Bobby Gene Kingery, Pulaski; Mrs. Ruth Knowlton, Statesboro; Marie McKendree, St. Simons Island; Pat Meeks, Nichols; Barry Owens, Brunswick.

Melvin Peacock, Savannah; Mary Lula Peagler, Homerville; Frances Rackley, Statesboro; William Albert Rogers, Claxton; Mary Salter, Frank Saunders, Rocky Ford; Laurien Seannor, Fitzgerald; Fayrene Sturgis, Statesboro.

Dr. William L. Pressley, president of Westminster School in Atlanta, will be the speaker for this occasion.

Tyson's Type

Do any of you need help with your spring cleaning? That is, help at a very reasonable cost—$.50 an hour, with a minimum employment of two hours. The girls from the college Home Economics Club are anxious to lend a helping hand in the afternoons and on the weekends. If your house needs brightening, your laundry needs to be washed, your windows need to be cleaned, your flowers need the weeds pulled so they can grow, then call 641-R and make arrangements for one, two or even maybe three girls to come help you."

This is a small script I received this week from the Home Economics Club. So if you have Spring Fever and just feel lazy, the best and quickest way you can get that spring house work done is to call on these girls.

The Home Economics Club should be commended. Not merely because they are helping people clean houses, but because they are trying to contribute something worth while through their organization, rather than having it as a figurehead with a name.

There are too many clubs on TC's campus that are figureheads and never accomplish anything. It was once said "if at first you do not succeed, try, and try again." The creator of this saying is unknown to me but I think if applied more by clubs on campus our school spirit would be boosted to a great extent. The only bulwark in this policy is that numerous organizations never try the first time. Maybe a better statement could be created. To me it should sound like this, "do something or call it quits."

'All the World's a Stage'

"All the world's a stage"—just look around you and you'll find that it's true. After all the stage is taken from life itself.

If you'll look around you on the campus you'll find comedy, tragedy, musicals, and anything you would like to see. You'll find scandal and holiness, you'll find love and hate, devotion and irresponsibility, sports and academic application, and among all these things you'll find beauty and ugliness.

Let's go through the day and see what we find going on around us.

It's 7:30 a. m. and let's look at the dining hall. You'll find love before it bursts into blossom, covered by the sleepy bodies and minds of numerous couples. You'll find gloom, a test at eight and there has been little preparation. Hate grumbles in the line as students move by the serving table. If you really look hard, you'll see someone looking into space, searching for some unanswered mystery of the mind that came to them in a dream last night. All these things make up early morning GTC.

At 10:00 a. m. at the Blue Tide you'll see joy and anger. As the juke box sends for its fast music everyone tries to talk at once, then all of a sudden melancholy settled over the flock, someone has played a slow sentimental number. A girl walks out rapidly, mad as a hornet because her beau didn't show up. A boy is looking so down hearted—just got his draft notice.

Afternoon comes with a smile and sigh of relief as the last class bell rings and freedom is finally achieved. There's a dash to see who gets the first ride to town. Someone trots reluctantly down to the library.

The instructors rush to their cars, as happy as the students about the end of the class day.

Night comes to the campus and so does both fatigue and life. Couples leave hurriedly, looking for recreation and enjoyment. A girl stands sadly by the door, staring into the blackness, a boy enters and she gives him an indifferent look, and then going into a rage when only a moment ago she was hurt to the root of her pride and hoped with all her heart that he would come. Students pour over their studies, with their minds a million miles away, thinking what a fruitless task life really is.

All these things and many more make up the drama of everyday college life. Look around you—it's entertaining.

Backstage View Of Students Who Go Unaccredited

When the curtain rises for the Masquer's production of Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning," the audience will see an array of elaborate 15th century sets and costumes. Unseen by the audience will be the long hours of work put forth by the committees who helped make the production possible.

In these weeks before, the play, the bustling activity of the committees and their chairmen can be seen as hour after hour they work at their tasks. Almost any afternoon Jimmy Johnson can be found, cap perched on the back of his head, ten-penny nails protruding from his mouth like Mortimer Snerd's front teeth—hammering away on the sets.

Mary Lulu Peagler, chairman of the publicity committee, is seen hurrying to the art department to inquire about the posters being made by Miss Gernant's art class. On her way she passes Bo Ginn, waiting for the other members of his committee to go uptown to sell program ads, fervently practicing his sales talk to an unattractive azalea bush.

In the art department Mary Lulu finds Fey Carter, with all the air of professional dress designer, deftly sketching off the 15th century costumes which she will also make. Over in another corner of the art room is Ida Whittle, adorned with smock, barret, and paint brush busily designing the programs.

Cathy Holt, headed to play practice, sees a student who has not yet bought a ticket and with a gentle twist of the arm, convinces the student that he just absolutely must buy one. Cathy is passed by Emma Jean Brock on her way from Miss Few's office with a message to Christy Trowell who is madly flipping switches in the auditorium trying to get just the right mood for the different scenes.

Hour after hour these committees work until the director's cry "Curtain Going Up!" on the night of April 4 culminates their tasks.

LAB SCHOOL CAMP PLANS ANNOUNCED

The fifth annual Laboratory High School camp will be held at the Tattnell Methodist Camp Ground April 29-May 5, and will be attended by the students in the seventh and eighth grades.

J. P. Foldes, associate professor of education, the director of the camp, will be assisted by a group of 12 supervising teachers and practice teachers.

Julian A. Pafford, principal of the Laboratory School, states that this faculty-supervised school camp is an integral part of the total education program of the Laboratory High School.

TROWELL GIVES TALK

Christy Trowell, Oliver, gave a talk on The Genocide Treaty and National Defense to the Adam Brinson Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Twin City, Georgia this afternoon. In his address Christy stressed the role of the United States as a leader in all United Nations policy.

BREMSETH CHOSEN

Cameron Bremseth, head of the business division, has been named vice president of the First District GEA for the year 1954-55, reports W. P. Sprayberry, state GEA president.

Behind the Scenes

The students who are in the cast of the Masquer's production, "The Lady's Not for Burning," deserve much praise for their efforts to provide an evening's entertainment for the students. But praise will be bestowed upon them through publicity and curtain calls after the performance.

Let's stop for a moment and consider the people who do behind-the-scenes work for this production. These people seldom receive recognition other than having their names on the program sheet. Yet they make a necessary contribution toward the success of the play. Every spare minute of their time is spent on the difficult tasks of building the sets, designing and preparing the costumes, creating lighting effects, and advertising the play.

These tasks often require more time and effort than the actual rehearsals. They are carried out under the handicaps of insufficient help and lack of money. Materials almost have to be begged, borrowed, or stolen. Yet this preliminary work has to be completed or there can be no performance.

We often forget the people behind the scenes and give the actors full credit for a successful performance. For the present production, at least, we say, "Hats Off!" to the behind-the-scenes workers who aren't around when the laurels are passed out.

Why Not Participate

The Inter-Class Softball League is now in full swing. Only there are a few minute problems that need to be solved.

One is more participation by the members of the various classes. A softball game cannot be played if there is not a sufficient number of players to fill the positions.

Another is the support and spirit of the entire student body. At the first few games there was a limited number of students who attended the contest, but now there is even less who care about tilts that are being played after chow.

Intramurals are for the students' entertainment and not for just a few who like to play the game. But at TC this seems to be inversely the situation.

Why don't your students who want to play go down to the softball diamond and try your hand at the games taking place there every available afternoon. And the rest of you go down and see a fine demonstration of play and sportsmanship.

Girls, Get you a Man

Now is the time for all good luck to come to the aid of the men! Sadie Hawkins Day is Saturday, April 24. The so-called repression of the women will be exposed and so will the men—to the mercy of all this backwash of subduedness over the past year.

Saturday night, Sanford Hall is sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Dance, maybe the men have fallen into the spirit. Anyway they are making themselves bait for the dance. Get out girls and get you a man—in the open—it's the chance of the year.

You Are An Important Tool

This Sunday you're only a tool. But you'll be an important tool to a mighty big machine if you act and speak in the correct fashion.

The big machine is enjoyment; the enjoyment of our families on "Parent's Day."

If the machinery of school spirit and courtesy is to run smoothly Sunday, it's up to every little part to run efficiently and correctly. If one fails to do his job, the whole machine gets out of whack.

It's up to us tools to do a good job. Let's grind out a welcome Sunday morning and keep grinding throughout the day.

What is Honors Day?

What is Honors Day?

Honors Day is not a date, it is not an event, it is a symbol. It stands as a symbol of those who have accomplished something in their college career and as a reward for those people contributions which in most cases come so hard, filled with routine, hard work, and application to the work that had to be done.

Honors Day also stands as a goal for future seniors to aim for and strive to attain.

Look at Honors Day through this light and it will shine with its intended radiance.

The importance of baseball as a major sport on the TC campus is shown by the fact that seven boys who are students last year or either this year are playing baseball in the professional ranks this season.

Two of the players are going to school this quarter. They are: sophomore Clyde Lane and junior Ronnie West. Clyde Lane is starting his second season with the local Statesboro Pilots in the Class D Georgia State League. He is expected to give the opposing batsmen plenty of trouble with his portside slants this season.

Ronnie West is starting his first year in pro ball with the Vidalia Indians, also in the Georgia State League. Ronnie was signed to play second base for the Indians.

Two of the boys left at the end of the winter quarter for spring training. They are junior, George McLeod and senior, Vaughn Dyer. George is beginning his second year of professional play with the Douglas Trojans in the Georgia State League. Last season George had a successful year with Bristol, Tennessee in the Kitty League and he is expected to be a mainstay on the Trojan pitching staff.

Vaughn Dyer made the jump from class D ball to class B this year as he moved to Lynchburg, Virginia in the Piedmont League. Vaughn led the hitting for the Statesboro Pilots last year with a .356 average. He plays the first base position.

Three boys who played for the TC squad last year are also playing pro baseball this summer. They are: Bobby Driggers, Hollis Powell and Johnny Mallard.

Hollis Powell, last season's leading batsman for the TC Professors, is also starting his second season in the pro ranks with the Jamestown team in New York. Hollis is a first baseman and he weilds a heavy stick at the plate.

Johnny Mallard has been signed as a second baseman for the Statesboro Pilots. Johnny played his first year of professional baseball last year with the Jesup Bees, also in the Georgia State League.

Softball League Gets Underway; Frosh Unbeaten

The Inter-Class Softball League got off to a roaring start Wednesday as the freshmen edged the seniors 8-7. In other games, the juniors 11 and the sophomores 11. The freshmen picked up their second straight win as they pounded the juniors by a score of 17-6 and the seniors beat the sophomores 15-12.

The junior-sophomore game that ended in a tie will be played off at the end of the season.

At the end of the first week of play the freshman and the seniors are leading the lead with the juniors and sophomores bringing up the tail end.

Standings	Won	Lost	Pct.
Freshmen	2	0	1.000
Seniors	1	1	.500
Sophomores	0	1	.000
Juniors	0	1	.000

Presentation Concert Slated This Weekend

High school seniors from the central and southeastern parts of Georgia will be guests of the Georgia Teachers College Band Saturday and Sunday, April 24-25, for the annual presentation concert. It will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the GTC auditorium; there will be no admission charge.

The band will be under the direction of Dana M. King.

These seniors, over 20 in number, will rehearse with the GTC Band most of Saturday. There will be a dance Saturday night at 8:15 in the college gym, the dance band will play.

Some of the outstanding numbers on the program are as follows: "Water Music Suite" by Hanedl, "Andante Cantabile" by Tschalkowsky, "The Three Jacks" by Walters, featuring Mel Seidel, Frank Willis and Bob Preistly. For the final number, "Cambodian Suite," written by King of Cambodia, will be used.

"The whole idea of the concert," reports director King, "is to recognize the outstanding service that these seniors have given to their school and community."

Frosh Girls Asked to Perform May Pole Dance

Beginning this year, the freshmen girls will be asked to perform the May Pole dance, Student Council announced, after its meeting Wednesday afternoon, April 14.

Plans were also discussed for the formal dinner for the May Queen and her court to be held in the dining hall at 7 p. m. immediately after the festivities on Friday, May 7. Serving on the committees for the dinner are Mary Glanders, Rockledge, menus; Phil Norton, Griffin, and Yvonne Jones, Waycross, invitations; and Ann Coley, Blackshear, place cards.

Concluding the May Day activities will be a formal dance at 8:30 p. m. in the gym. On the committees for the dance are Fayrene Sturgis, Statesboro, Janice Chastain, Albany, and Ann Coley, decorations; Shirley Dykes, Savannah, and

Dr. Thomas B. Alexander, head of the social science division, and Dr. George A. Rogers, professor of social science, will attend a meeting of the South Carolina Historical Association in Spartanburg, on Saturday, April 24.

Dr. Alexander is a member of the association and is attending in that capacity. Dr. Rogers is attending the meeting as his guest.

Miss Bertha Freeman, associate professor in the education division is attending a meeting of the Association for Childhood Education which is in session in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Don C. Caplenor, associate professor of biology, has recently been elected to membership into Sigma Xi due to his outstanding achievement in the field of biology.

Sigma Xi is one of the greatest honors in the way of recognizing scientific achievement in the United States.

Yvonne Jones, refreshments; and Phil Norton, floor show.

'Round About T. C. —

Dr. Robert S. Lamebrt, associate professor of social science, left Wednesday for Madison, Wisconsin to attend the annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association.

The Mississippi Valley Historical Association is a national group of those interested in American history.

Don McDougald, comptroller, will attend the 26th annual meeting of the Southern Association of College and University Business Officers in Raleigh, North Carolina, next week.

Mr. McDougald is a member of the Service Records committee for the Association.

Baseball Team Beaten Twice

Georgia Teachers College baseball team dropped both games on its road trip, losing to Mercer Bears 7-5 at Macon on Wednesday, and to FSU 7-4 at Tallahassee Thursday.

Four runs on five walks did the trick for the Mercer Bears to help down the GTC nine 7-5.

Four big runs in the 2nd inning helped the FSU nine down GTC 7-4.

The GTC nine plays in South Carolina this week. They will play Newberry Thursday night and Erskine Friday and Saturday. They will play Paris Island Marines at Collegeboro April 30.

Headquarters for this meeting from April 28-May 1, is the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh; North Carolina State College is the host, in cooperation with Meredith College, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina.
