New System of Advisors Set Up For Freshman Girls In '54

PHIL NORTON

Senior Banquet Planned June 5

The annual senior banquet and dance will take place Saturday, June 5, in the college dining hall and Cone Hall. It is to be a formal affair. Invited to the occasion are seniors, June graduates, faculty members and their families.

On the following day Dr. Fielding Russell head of the English department will honor the same group with an annual tea. The tea will be at 3:30 to 5 o'clock in Cone Hall, where Dr. Russell will be the speaker for the outing. The Rev. J. Frederick Wilson, pastor of the Statesboro Methodist Church will serve as toastmaster.

This annual tea, which is usually held in Dr. Russell's home, is to be in Cone Hall due to his family being away.

Beginning next fall quarter, a new system of advisers to freshman girls will be inaugurated in the freshman residence hall. This announcement was made earlier in the week by Miss Ida Long Rogers, dean of women.

The counselor project is designed to help the incoming girls adjust to the college situation, to advise them of ways to derive the most benefit from college life, to help them with their problems, and to acquaint the proper administrative authorities with these problems so that a satisfactory solution can be affected. Other duties of the counselors will be to help the incoming freshman girls understand the rules and regulations of the college, to acquaint the students with the campus and campus organizations, to advise the student how to budget time, and how to form good study habits. The freshman advisers will also be instrumental in helping the freshmen organize their own house council by acquainting them with the importance and function of the house council.

The freshman counselors will not be responsible for disciplinary action, and will in no way, be the policing force of the residence hall, Miss Rogers said. Their responsibilities are to know and help the girls, and to become acquainted with their problems.

"Freshman Week" will be observed as planned, and as an added service for the benefit of freshmen, the freshman counselor project will go into effect.

The method of choosing those to serve in the counselor capacity is a highly selective process, requiring recommendations from the house directors and various faculty members. Those selected must have the qualities and attributes which make for congenial living within the dormitories, and must evidence qualities of leadership which will command respect and co-operation from the freshman girls. The qualifications also specify a personal interest in other people and the willingness to help them, according to Miss Rogers.

The selection of the counselors will not rest solely on the basis of scholarship, but the ones appointed must be in good scholastic standing so that the time consuming project will not pose a problem of academic difficulty.

Those appointed will be registered in a seminar in guidance problems and will receive college credit for the course.

The counselor program is under the direction of the dean of women. Letters naming the new freshmen counselors will be sent out next week.

Coming Year's Officers Elected By Masquers

Masquers Club elected new officers for the coming year in regular meeting Monday night. Beginning next year, club officers for Masquers will serve for the entire year instead of one quarter, as they have in the past.

Graduation is June 7; 105 Receive Degrees

One hundred and five seniors will receive their bachelor of science degrees in education at the 26th annual June commencement exercises at Georgia Teachers College Monday, June 7.

Governor Herman Talmadge will be the graduation speaker at the program at 10:30 a. m. in the college auditorium.

On the previous day, Sunday, June 6, the Rev. James P. Carroll, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bamberg, S. C., will deliver the commencement sermon. The Sunday program begins at 11:30 a. m., also in the college auditorium.

Governor Talmadge made the commencement at GTC's summer graduation program in 1952 and at that time officiated at the ground-breaking exercises for Cone Hall, the college's newest men's dormitory, which has since been completed, dedicated and put into use.

The commencement sermon speaker is the brother of GTC's Dean Paul F. Carroll, and has been pastor at Bamberg for ten years. Previous to his assignment there, he was pastor of the Wellford, S. C. Baptist Church. The Rev. Mr. Carroll has served as trustee of Connie Maxwell children's home, the Baptist Courier, and the Baptist Hospital in South Carolina. He has been moderator of the Barnwell Baptist Association and is at present a member of the Baptist Social Service Commission and secretary-treasurer of the South Carolina Ministers' Conference.

The first degrees were granted here in June 1929 when Georgia Teachers College was known as Georgia Normal School. Four degrees were issued that year, all to women graduates. The same year the name of the school was changed to South Georgia Teachers College, and in 1939 the designation was changed to Georgia Teachers College.

Since 1929 a total of 2,294 degrees have been granted at GTC. Nine hundred and eighty of these went to men and 1,314 to women.

This year's graduating class of 105 is a decrease of 15 over last year's class.

Segregation has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States.

This decision came as quite a shock to the American people earlier this week. It was handed down unexpectedly and was greeted by many divergent opinions.

The average American, especially the Southerners, were aroused, but they did not know what to expect. Some were violently declaring that their children were not going to attend school with Niggers and such radical statements. Others just wondered what would be the outcome of the situation. Some were being optimistic about the whole affair. Politicians began immediately to try to take advantage of the issue in any possible way. The entire United States was stirred in one way or another.

The fact is apparent that segregation will be abolished. When and how is a grave question. The decision against segregation will be a blow to many institutions and organizations, and the best and most efficient way of solving the problem is through calmness, tolerance and understanding.

It should be a very interesting issue in the future.

Why Worry?

Why worry? A thousand and one things could be worse than the incidence you are worrying over. Tearing your hair, moaning, and a feeling of destitution is not a cure for a simple thing such as worrying. Sure, if you try this outlet long enough some of the trouble will wear off, but only because you come to look at the situation in a divergent manner.

Students are always available who have so much to do that they could scream, especially during the last weeks of a quarter. And what do they do about it? They worry. Instead of trying to find a way to overcome and conquer the problems, they worry. Throughout their state of depression, they do not accomplish anything.

In the place of worrying a person should analyze and comprehend the situation. After the basic elements causing the problem has been sought out, the rest of the process is usually simple. All that is needed is a method to overcome the problems. Sometimes this method is hard to find, but seek and ye shall find.

Only Look Up

There was once a donkey, a stupid, contented ass, who walked up and down a winding mountain past each day. He neither looked to the right or to the left, or even ahead, but looked straight down at the rocky earth which supported him.

One day the donkey raised his head and there before his eyes was his dream, his one and only dream, a carrot dangling from a string before his eyes. All his life he had dreamed of a carrot to eat as he made his way up and down the path, but blindly he has walked, not realizing it was there all the time.

If only we would look up and realize that our dreams are before us, life would be so much richer, for us, for all mankind around us. Our dreams lie in our reach, or more so they are dangling before us swinging toward us and not reaching us because we will not take the time to look up.

Grace Cooper has reported that Donald Whaley, Statesboro, is making 83 feet of shelving for the library. Miss Cooper stated that she hoped the shelves would be ready before the end of this quarter.

Miss Mary Janet, assistant librarian, spoke May 17 to the Society of Presbyterian Women on "My Experiences in the Kentucky Mountains."

Donald McDougald, comptroller, also was a speaker at this meet. He spoke on "The Presbyterian Radio Station in Atlanta."

The FBLA Club held a call meeting Wednesday to elect officers for the 1954-55 year.

Those elected were, President, Midge Bentley, Tallapoosa; vice president, Hilda Grogan; secretary, Myrna Robson, Townsend; treasurer, Joyce Mason; Smyrna; publicity chairman, Gwen Lanier, Metter; book exchange chairman, Wendell Bowen, Cairo.

Grace Cooper, serial librarian, has announced that the GTC Library has received 103 volumes by duplication from the Knoxville College Library.

Miss Cooper also stated that the library has just received 116 bound volumes from the bindery.

B. F. Taylor, superintendent of buildings and grounds, has been making an effort to beautify the campus by removing the tool shed that was located back of the Ad. Building.

Looking over this school year that is just coming to an end, it is easy to see several improvements that have been made. Some of the more important of these changes will not take effect until next year, such as the offering of general A.B. and B.S. degrees. Other measures taking effect next fall will be many changes in the curriculum, especially in the elementary education field, and the announcement that all graduates of standard junior colleges will be considered to have finished their general education program as it is offered here.

Some changes that have already been made noticeable are the building of the president's home, to be completed by July 1; the relocation and remodeling of the home management house, the starting of work in the new gym, the dedication of Cone Hall and the completion of the Nursery school and the installation of the courses connected with it.

A Challenge to Other Students

By CARLTON HUMPHRY

All the writing I've done for the George-Anne and many articles I've read in this paper have been of a critical nature.

I'd like to set a precedent—for myself at least—and this week praise some of the activities of GTC. I have one recent activity particularly in mind. This is the Music Education Club's performance of "Down in the Valley."

That this entertainment was appreciated by the audience is evident. After the performance the air was filled with renditions of the first few lines of "Down in the Valley." It seems that this song lingered for some time in their minds of every student present.

Of course there were no professional performances in this opera, but none were expected. But an above-the-average performance was expected, and I heard no student say that he was disappointed with the results. Instead, there have been many complimentary remarks made concerning the performance.

The students taking part in this presentation have captured something that has been present at GTC all the time. By this I mean that there are activities here, and students do participate in them. When this participation comes, everyone is a little more appreciative of GTC and its extra-curricular achievements.

At times there does seem to be a great deal of school spirit and student interest lacking, but when students enter wholeheartedly into activities as the Music Education Club members must have done, there can be seen a living spirit that is GTC.

Too often when we observe GTC to discover a topic for the George-Anne, we strike upon noticeable shortcomings and criticize these occurrences.

Many times we are blinded by our critical natures, and thus are unable to see things that deserve much praise. This was not the case Monday, however, for "Down in the Valley" unclouded the most critical minds, and it became evident that there are activities of great worth taking place in our midst.

"Down in the Valley" presents a challenge to other student groups on campus to enter into more constructive activities. In this way critical themes will gradually disappear from the George-Anne and will be replaced by bestowals of praise as in the case with the Music Education Club and their presentation of "Down in the Valley." It was worthy achievement, both for the club members and for GTC.

'Round About T. C.

New beds and mattresses have been purchased for Sanford Halls and should be in by the opening of summer school.

The shower rooms will also be reworked, the walls finished with ceramic tile instead of the present cement.

The automatic washing machines in Cone Hall have been in operation about three weeks, under the supervision of Gene Barnes.

The Music Education Club presented the operetta, "Down in the Valley" at the Metter High School this morning, May 21.

The band, Science Club, and Phi Mu Alpha will be at Savannah Beach tomorrow, May 22, for their spring picnic.

Cathy Holt, sophomore, Albany; Betty Altman, sophomore, Waycross; and Cherrell Williams, junior, Perry, have been elected as delegates from the local Wesley Foundation to the Southeastern Regional student Leadership Training Conference. This conference will be held at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, June 8-15.

Jean Wall, junior, Atlanta, is an alternate delegate.

We have finally won the war against the termites. A new post has been erected and the finishing touches are being applied. Never let it be said that termites was the downfall of the Administration Building, although it did knock a column from under it.

May Day was certainly a fine day last Friday. It was a beautiful day for the affair and everything came off just right. The Lab School students gave us a very unusual, but entertaining program. Their dances along with the conclusion by the freshman girls and the crowning of the queen was as complete an afternoon as anyone could wish for. The climax to the day's affair, a formal dance by student council, seemed to have put the finishing touches to the entire day.

Although the weather does not appear as beach weather, the beach is being invaded already. The home economics group will be the first club to go down this weekend, but the Science Club and band are not far behind. Weather means little to college students anyway. They can always handle a situation whether it is ideal or not.

JOE ED GREENE

Joe Ed Greene Earns Fourth Baseball Letter

Joe Ed Green, Pulaski, became the second player ever to do earn four letters in one sport at GTC.

The only other player ever to do this was Sonny Clements. Others have earned four letters, but as managers or trainers.

While at GTC, Joe Ed has a 1-2 the first year and a 2-2 his sophomore year. His best year came in his junior year when he picked up at 7-1 to lead his team in the pitching department. This year has was off campus practice teaching and had to join the team late. He ended this season with a 3-2 record.

Joe Ed has beaten some outstanding teams while at GTC. He has picked up wins over such strong teams as Quantico and Parris Island Marines.

Joe Ed's best pitch is his curve ball and he is noted for his control. His earn run average is somewhere around two.

After school is out Joe is planning to play ball with one of the Detroit Tiger farm clubs. He signed with Detroit after GTC games were over.

Teachers Ends Season With 10 Wins 8 Losses

The GTC baseball nine wound up the current 1954 baseball season with a record of 10 wins and eight defeats.

The inability of the Professors to win games on the road kept their record from being much better. The team started off great, winning seven of their first eight games. The Professors then lost five straight games on the road.

There were several bright spots during the '54 campaign. The hitting of catcher Ferrell Sparks and first baseman Jimmy Ford, and the outstanding pitching of Vondall Hall. Sparks finished the season with a .338 batting average to lead the team in this department, while Ford, just a freshman, hit .315. Hall, also a freshman, led the pitching staff with a five won and two lost record. Hall features a good knuckleball and good control.

The season for '55 looks very promising as the professors lost only two men from graduation, Joe Ed Green and Kenneth Gale.

Freshmen Win Softball Pennant; Seniors Second

The freshmen won the Inter-Class Pennant Softball League by beating the seniors 7-2 in the final game of regular play.

The frosh finished two full games in front of the seniors with a seven won and two lost record. They finished up the season by winning three straight games, beating the sophomores 14-7, the juniors 11-10, and the seniors, in the clincher, 7-2. In the only other game during the week the juniors beat the sophomores 15-11.

The playoffs begin Wednesday night with the seniors playing the juniors and the freshmen and the sophomores play on Thursday night. The winners will play on Monday night for the playoff championship.

The men's intramural softball league ended their regular schedule last Friday night. The freshman class edged out the seniors for the first place spot in a very close battle that was decided by a few percentage points. With the end of the regular schedule, the pay-off's have now gotten underway. The freshman class continued in their winning ways behind the three hit pitching of Sonny Stephens as they defeated the seniors 5-2, Wednesday night. In the Wednesday night's game the junior class won over the sophomores, putting the junior class in line for the championship game with the freshmen.

With the end of the softball play-offs the intramural athletics for this year will close. We think that the intramural program has enjoyed one of it's most successful seasons this year. Also, there has probably been more student participation in the intramural activities than in any other activity on campus.

With the signing of Joe Ed Green by the Detroit Tigers, the GTC campus has again been a source of player material for the major league farm teams. Joe Ed ended his fourth season with the Professors with the close of the current season.

Education Cost Will Rise Next Year At GTC

The cost of a year of education here at GTC will rise from $506 for this school year to $552 for the 1954-55 year. For boys living in Cone Hall costs will jump to $570 per year.

Of this amount $96 per quarter will go for board. The cost of meals here has fluctuated in the past 12 years, but in 1942 the fee per quarter for board was $95, this year we paid $90 in the fall quarter and $85 for the two remaining quarters, actually less than was charged in '42. In this 12-year period the cost of food is supposed to have risen 125 per cent.

The overall upping of the fees is merely a measure to keep up with rising costs in all fields.
