Masquers Use New Technique In Entertainment

Masquers is laying aside the conventional "play" for this quarter, and will experiment with a completely new dramatic medium with the production of "The Idylls of the King," a narrative poem by Alfred Lord Tennyson, according to Miss Dorothy Few, play director.

This new dramatic form for poetry was first used by Charles Laughton in his presentation of Benet's "John Brown's Body" on Broadway and on tour last year. It consists of dramatized readings and characterizations by solo readers. A speaking chorus is employed to set the mood, and to furnish background and atmosphere. The star performers stand and move apart from the chorus and bring alive the characters and the action.

Miss Few describes this new medium as something "... quite different from modern drama. The performers do not act, but speak directly to the audience. It's not acting, it's interpretation, using many of the aids that acting has—color, lighting, music, dance, movement."

"The Idylls of the King" is a series of separate stories based on the legendary King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. Such famous fictional characters as Lancelot, Guinevere, Arthur, Merlin the magician, have been brought to life through the beauty of Tennyson's poetry.

Miss Few reports that this attempt by Masquers has been met with enthusiastic response by faculty and students.

Solo readers and choral members have not been announced, but Miss Few reports that the selections will be made sometime soon.

Because of the limited number of students attending try-outs for "Bernardine," the play was originally scheduled for this quarter, members of Masquers decided to postpone its production and attempt this new form which requires fewer main speakers.

Clubs Nominate Nine Candidates For 'Who's Who'

Appointees to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will be disclosed in about two weeks, according to Miss Viola Perry, registrar and chairman of the committee which will consider the nominations for Georgia Teachers College's nine "Who's Who" representatives.

Deadline for nominations for the honor is Saturday, October 16. By this time, all organizations on campus must have submitted their candidates and a list of candidates' qualifications. These nominations will be narrowed to nine by a special committee of qualified officials of GTC. The names selected will then be forwarded to headquarters of the "Who's Who" organization in Alabama.

The election was conducted under the supervision of the Student Council, and Phil Norton, senior, Griffin, president of the Student Council reported more than one-half of the students in each class voted.

Fletcher Wins $300 Scholarship

Sara Fletcher, a Georgia Teachers College senior from Chula, has won a $300 college scholarship as second place winner in the 1951 National 4-H Club Frozen Foods contest in Chicago.

As first place regional frozen foods winner in 1951, Sara won an all expense paid trip to Chicago where she took part in the National 4-H Frozen Foods contest.

The first place winner in the national contest forfeited the $300 scholarship when she did not attend college. Sara did not know that she was second place winner until she received notice

'Profs' Meeting Held Monday

A meeting of all prospective basketball players will be held at the gymnasium Monday, October 18, at 3 p. m.

Coach J. B. Searce announced this week that GTC will sponsor a "B" team to take care of the players that cannot make the first squad.

The first varsity game is at Parris Island on December 1. A tentative home opener for December 4 against the University of Georgia's Atlanta division is in the planning stage.

This Quarter's Social Calendar

The calendar for Saturday night socials for this quarter has been announced. It is as follows:

October 16—Dance sponsored by East Hall.

October 23—Dance sponsored by Cone Hall.

October 30—Square dance sponsored by WRA.

November 6—Movie sponsored by Social Committee.

November 13—Dance sponsored by Lewis Hall.

November 20—Starlight Ball semi-formal sponsored by Art Club.

December 4—Movie sponsored by Social Committee.

December 11—Christmas formal sponsored by the faculty.

A list of movies has been compiled from which our movies will be selected. They promise to be excellent entertainment.

This quarter's Saturday social can be the best if you will support them.

Dorms Council Met Monday

The inter-dormitory council held its first meeting in East Hall parlor Wednesday afternoon. Midge Bentley, senior, Tallapoosa, was elected secretary. Other members of the council are Etta Anne Akins, junior, Brooklet; Lou Nell Brockington, sophomore, St. Simons Island; Anngene Culbreth, senior, Edison; Marguerite Dye, senior, Elberton; Lois Hammon, sophomore, Augusta; and Kirbylene Stephens, senior, Waycross.

The council meets once a month to discuss the problems arising in the dormitories.

of the scholarship just before school began this year.

The scholarship will be used toward Miss Fletcher's tuition.

1954-55 Annual Theme Chosen By 'Reflector' Staff

Initial plans for the 1955 "Reflector" were submitted to the publisher this week, according to Editor Anngene Culbreth, senior, Edison. Several big changes are being planned and the theme will concern "Open Doorways." One major change is that of having group pictures of the seniors on the same page with the still photographs. A schedule for individual and group pictures is now in the making and the date for photographs will be announced later.

The staff for the Reflector was announced last week at a meeting in the auditorium. The positions of editor and business manager were announced last spring quarter by a faculty committee on publications. Charlie Grovenstein, senior, Savannah, is the business manager.

Deputation Sent To Armstrong

This Sunday, the Wesley Foundation will make its first deputation to Armstrong College of Savannah. The purpose will be to acquaint the newly-organized Armstrong Wesley Foundation with the Georgia Methodist Student Movement. There will be a songfest led by Bobby Holcrow, freshman, Jonesboro; then the officers of both clubs will be introduced. Armstrong College is in charge of the devotional, after which a short talk on the MSM and the coming state MSM conference will be given by Cathy Holt. Special music will be presented by Carolyn Pierce, junior, Eastman, and Mary Alice Jones, senior, Hazelhurst. After the program, there will be a social hour and refreshments.

Arrangements with Armstrong College for this deputation have been handled by Carolyn Readdick, junior, Savannah.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

FORTY-EIGHT GUM WRAPPERS, 12 cigarette butts, 8 orange peelings and 3 votes in this one—if you ask me there hasn't been enough student interest in campus politics this year.

Public Nuisance No. 1

Public nuisance No. 1 here at GTC seems to be the line breaker. Standing in line in the blistering sun or stinging cold wind isn't very much fun—anyone will testify to the truth of that statement.

Some students however seem to think that they are too young and tender to take such punishment so they wait 'till the last minute and then bolt to the steps to join the crush at the door.

The way things stand right now it would really be unfair to criticize any one student for line breaking; everybody else does it, why can't I?

One partial solution might be for all students who can eat lunch at 1 o'clock to wait at least until 12:45 to get in line. By that time there is no line to speak of.

For this to go into smooth working order a little big crush would never have a chance to form. cooperation is all that is required.

Surely some effort and waiting are preferred to o'clock. With this plan in operation the long line and and one will find he has, as the music books say; "Made Haste Slowly."

Another idea that might help would be for the dining hall to open its doors at ten minutes until 12 a rigid system of controls and "policemen" to regulate our eating habits.

Rat Squeaks

By BOBBY HOLCROW

We've only been here four weeks and already we have had in our honor receptions, dances and socials of other sorts. Early last Friday morning we were guests of the sophomores to a party, concert, and a track meet, but of course we furnished all entertainment. They finally decided to call us down to join them at 12:15 a. m. and plans for the party were already underway. We, dressed in our late evening wear, found the 46-degree weather rather unagreeable.

After huddling around one another, and I'll assure you it wasn't to get acquainted, we moved our party to the baseball field. Each of us twice had the pleasure of having our "Rat" hats dipped in mud. The bad part of this is that we were attached. The upperclassmen kept the party clean and therefore they washed each of us with nice cool water.

This seemed to get everyone in the party mood so we started playing games. The first was leap-frog which we thought was a kid's game until we played it their way. When we reached center field we found ourselves fighting with a barbed-wire fence and the enemy was close to the rear.

Those surviving so far found it quite interesting to see how fast they could run the mile in track equipment—except for shoes and shirts. We crossed the finish line at the entrance of the college campus where we were immediately examined to make sure we were able to enter in the 220 which was fixing to be held.

Finding our places at the starting line we nervously awaited the start and then we were off—like the cracking of belts. As we rounded the turns we heard screaming and cries from our feminine spectators which encouraged us to go faster. I might add, one of our participants decided to scratch, and leaving the race he joined the spectators in their reserved seats.

When the race was over we stood outside our "home" and told stories and jokes for amusement. Others were hot from the race and were trying to take off their coats—of mud. After listening eagerly to the most amusing stories we stood and sang "Dixie."

There are a few casualties which are always necessary to make the party complete, but I'd like to take this opportunity in behalf of the freshman class to thank each of the upperclassmen for the fine party given in our honor.

(Editor's note: This reporter was assigned to this subject, and was under obligation to write it. Please take up all complaints with the editor.)

Alma Available

As Practice Post

Alma High School is being considered as a possible practice teaching center for the Georgia Teachers College teacher training program, according to an announcement from officials.

Dr. James D. Park, chairman of the GTC education division and director of the Laboratory School, said he and Dr. Marshall Hamilton, also of the GTC faculty, visited the school last Thursday and conferred with Principal W. F. Blackmon and Bacon County School Superintendent D. M. D. Tyre.

No decision was announced.

What's The Issue?

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

What would happen if Negroes were admitted to GTC next quarter? A very unlikely prospect, we all say. But we can't be like the proverbial ostrich who, having stuck its head in the sand, thought itself hidden from all danger. We cannot lessen the impact of the Supreme Court ruling by refusing to face the issue with our heads high.

The GEORGE - ANNE cannot very safely take a stand on segregation, this being a state supported school. Nor is it my purport to express my personal feelings on this controversial issue through the medium of this column. However touchy the subject, though, I feel that we cannot afford to ban it from our thoughts and declare it "taboo"—untouchable.

Sons of Ham... bondservants... sweat of their brow... are terms found in the Old Testament, and upon these terms men have fashioned the idea that the Negro is inately inferior to other races of man. The Bible, wondrous book that it is, is of such nature as to contain passages that take on various meanings when read out of context. Any number of contradictions can be found in it, depending upon the intent of the individual reader. As an example of contradiction to the story of Ham, I should like to offer a sentence from the philosophy of Jesus, the greatest teacher the world has known, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Can anyone deny the fact that all inhabitants of the earth are neighbors?

Some discussion has been held as to the lowering of standards of white schools by the admission of Negroes. Let's look at this without prejudice, if possible. Every student admitted to GTC has to stand an admission examination. If Negroes pass this test, will our standards be lowered by their admission? Not to my mind. I can't believe that all Negroes are of inferior intellect because of color. Such figures as Booker T. Washington and the present-day novelist, Frank Yerby speak in denial of this.

Perhaps the greatest argument is that of intermarriage. To me this is a personal matter, and should be left to individual consideration. Surely we who are college students can choose for ourselves the one with whom we will make our home. The admission of Negroes here would not necessitate our dating or marrying them.

Even in elementary school, individuals exert a great ability in choosing their friends and companions.

Probably of even greater influence upon our emotions than any of these above ideas, indeed the core of our feelings, is the ante-bellum South society that is instilled within us from birth. The South has not yet lost the aristocratic notions established by our ancestors when cotton was king, and plantation life was at its peak. Somehow we can't acknowledge what is written into our Constitution in the form of the 14th Amendment.

Now we are faced with another law, handed down by the highest court of the land. No matter how painful to accept, it is a law.

From a practical rather than a moral point of view, the law may have been unjustified. At any rate, it hasn't been enforced yet. Perhaps it never will be perhaps so. Georgia is at present trying to find a loophole through which to evade the law. If this can be done without posing a problem to any group involved, fine. If not what is to happen? Are we to secede? That is a painful experience, as the South already knows. Are we to revive the Ku Klux Klan? This would only mean bloodshed on both sides with nothing settled. Then what are we to do?

This is a matter that requires careful, unbiased, open-minded consideration from every individual from moral, legal, and practical standpoints. We can't be ostriches. We must face the issue.

I should like to learn your comments on the matter and will discuss all significant angles from time to time. All letters must be signed if they are to be considered in this column.

The Music Box

By HARRIET WOODWARD

Can you stand it when we finally have music in the chow hall? It's been out of whack the past few days but we really went for the Jackie Gleason music they played Sunday. It set even the toughest of us in a mellow mood. Orchids to the Student Council for their untiring and unceasing efforts to make our meals more pleasant!

Les Paul and Mary Ford have turned out another fine new record. It's "Whither Thou Goest" with Mary doing the canarying, natch. It's a slow tempoed tune, much like "I'm a Fool to Care." The tune is old, but the "dubbing" duo gives it a modern treatment.

Bing Crosby has just finished a musical autobiography of himself, featuring 89 songs that he made famous and tells the "how," "why," and "when" of each song. It's titled "Bing" and is a true treasure chest of over 20 years in popular music. Course it's kinda costly for a common college kid, but it was a nice thought anyway.

Music is supposed to soothe the savage beast, but how can you remain cool, calm, and collected with noises like "Shake, Rattle, and Roll," "Sixty-Minute Man" and "Honey Love" being thrown at you from every juke box in the land?

On the long, lonesome weekends you can always hear "If I Give my eHeart to You," "Teach Me Tonight," or the old stand-by, "I'm In the Mood for Love" floating through dormitory windows all over the campus, but on Sunday night when all the kids have returned from home and things are jumpin' again we race to the nearest juke box and punch "Come Over and Say Hello" by Connie Russell.

"Thank You for Calling"—Goodbye!

Believe . . .

That the one attitude to religion that makes no sense at all is the attitude of bored indifference. Socrates was surely right when he said, "The unexamined life is not worth human living."

On The Sideline...

This writer, in the process of bringing the athletic department files up to date, has spent several hours this week pouring over the ancient George-Anne's and Reflectors in the library.

Georgia Teachers College, in its 25 years of existence, both as South Georgia Teachers College and GTC, has had a very interesting sports history. In the next few weeks we'll tell you about what we turned up.

Many of you probably don't realize that GTC had a football team. The "Blue Tide," as it was called, played an even 100 games from 1930 until 1941, the last year for football on this campus. The locals won 38 games, lost 57, and tied five.

GTC has also sponsored track, tennis, boxing, and even golf, as well as two intercollegiate sports now operating basketball and baseball.

The golf course was located on the right side of the road leading in the present front gate of the college. One match is on record, a combination student-faculty team defeating the Jesup Country Club "by 35 strokes" in 1934.

One of the GTC golfers was "Mr. Russell," whom I strongly suspect was our present Dr. Russell. I won't tell you what his score was that day, but it won't fit into two spaces. More Did You Know stuff next week.

The girls majoring in physical education had a little informal get-together tea at the gymnasium on Tuesday.

Approximately 20 girls attended, and met socially their departmental instructors, Miss Margaret Stanion, Miss Nita Graham, as well as Coaches Searce and Clements.

The coaching staff is currently attempting to organize something that has been needed for a long time, a baseball conference among the four-year schools in Georgia.

Teams receiving invitations to join besides GTC are: Mercer University at Macon, Oglethorpe University at Atlanta, Valdosta State College, Piedmont College at Demorest, and North Georgia College at Dahlonega.

Henderson Gives Committee Posts

Two new appointments to the Georgia Teachers College faculty athletic committee were named this week by Dr. Zach S. Henderson, college president. They are Dr. Fielding D. Russell, chairman of the language division, and Dr. Leland L. Wilson, professor of physics.

Both new members have athletic backgrounds. Dr. Russell was a member of the University of Georgia boxing team, and later coached boxing at GTC for several years. Dr. Wilson was a member of the Eastern Kentucky swimming and track team.

The three holdover members are William S. Hanner, chairman of the exact science division, and chairman of the athletic committee, Dr. Donald Hackett, chairman of the arts division, and J. B. Searce Jr., athletic director.

Dean of Women Touring Dorms

Helen G. Duncan, dean of women, made a tour of the dormitories this week to become acquainted with the girls. She discussed problems of campus life which the girls are confronted with. Her duties as dean of women were discussed. She explained her responsibilities to the girls and their responsibility to her.

Miss Duncan desires to become acquainted with each girl and encourages them to come to see her. She has expressed the desire that the day students visit her, since she is as responsible to them as to those living in the dormitories.

Her schedule was as follows: Monday, West Hall; Tuesday, East Hall; and Wednesday, Lewis Hall.

Concerts Drive For Members

The annual membership drive of the Statesboro Community Concert Association will begin October 18, and will continue through October 23. Season tickets will be $6 for adults and $3 for students.

Students of Georgia Teachers College may attend these concerts by presenting their identification cards as they enter the auditorium on the nights of performance.

Plans for the year will be made after the drive has ended

Old Maids Club Elects Officers

Monday night, October 11, a meeting was held in the parlor of East Hall in order to organize the Old Maids' Club (OMC).

The club elected its officers, decided upon its song, motto, colors and flower.

Officers for the OMC are Babs Wisenbaker, sophomore, Savannah, president; Althea Rutland, sophomore, Macon, vice president; and Libby Ann Martin, sophomore, Brunswick, secretary-treasurer. The club's song is "A Good Man is Hard to Find," the colors are black purple (because the members are mourning for men); the flower is tulip (should be "too lips"); and the motto for the club is "Catch Him If You Can."

The only requirement for the club is that the girls must not have had a date on campus. Once a member is so fortunate as to get a date, the club will gladly accept her resignation.

in order that the association may know how much money is available for each performance.

Round And Round

By BABS WISEBAKER

Lewis Hall girls certainly show themselves out when it comes to social affairs. They not only make happy news, but they are also capable of having a little sadness in their lives.

Nancy Armstrong was honor guest at a birthday fete Monday night. Since her birthday was really Tuesday, her friends definitely succeeded in surprising her with the early celebration. By the way, last weekend, Nancy attended the Fair-a-ganza which is being held in Atlanta. Feature attraction of the affair, according to Nancy, was a man who ate live mice. Ugh.

As for the sad news of Lewis Hall, Shirley Bragg was confined to the Mulkey Hospital, Millen, several days last week. Shirley had a slight case of pneumonia and is back at school now.

Ann McHugh, Pierson, calmly walked into Lewis Hall Sunday and announced that John Huxford had given her an engagement ring. The girls looking at her ring were, or rather seemed to be, more excited than Ann.

Jim Harley came all the way from Fort Jackson last weekend to visit Mary Alice Jones on campus. For the benefit of the freshmen, Jim was one of GTC's top basketball players last year.

Jean Shine, sophomore, who was on campus the first week of school, but had to leave because of illness, has recently become engaged to Russ Cohen, of Brunswick. Jean plans to return to school in the winter quarter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Sparks, formerly Miss Dot Hamilton, were visitors on campus last Saturday.

Another "old married" couple, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pierce, formerly Betty Ruth Folsom, visited GTC's campus also this past weekend. (Looks like Homecoming, doesn't it.)

Joan Whitley, former GTC student, has joined the huge flock of engaged girls. Joan has announced her engagement to Charles Outler of Brunswick.

Lou Nell Brockington was looking very bright-eyed this past weekend due to the fact that a very certain person, Dwayne Roberson, was visiting her from Brunswick.

Ethelen Williams enjoyed a very pleasant weekend visiting Shirley Scott in Reidsville.

Betty Jo McDonald and Ann Whiddon had a glorious weekend visiting on the campus of Middle Georgia College. Betty Joe and Ann made it back on Sunday.

Chester Webb has given his "T" pin to Carol Smith.

Betty Jean Sisco, a former Emory student, visited the campus of Emory University last weekend. Betty Jean reported that she had a marvelous time.

Bob Tanner and Paul Dye from the University of Georgia were the guests of Shirley Rountree last weekend. On Saturday, Shirley, Shirley Brown, Paul, and Bob visited in Savannah. Shirley said that they all had a wonderful time and hoped that it would happen again—soon.

Monday night Rose Watkins was given a surprise birthday party by her friends. It was reported that a lot of fun and a lot of noise was had at the party.

Louise Bird was the honor guest at a surprise birthday party Wednesday night given by her friends. The guests at the party had a grand time, and they really had the dormitory rocking.

Patsy Page, Shirley Akins, Teresa Foy, Martha Tinker, and Betty Jo Collins are planning to attend Homecoming at the University of Georgia in Athens this weekend.
