The Inkwell

Armstrong State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/inkwell

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Media at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Inkwell by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.
Bright minds gather at Student Symposium

Emily Smith
Editor in Chief

In honor of sexual assault awareness month, Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and the Chatham County Rape Crisis Center hosted the Clothingline Project Thursday April 21 in front of the Student Union. The Clothingline Project is a nationally recognized program that addresses the issue of violence against women by encouraging participants to support the cause by donating a shirt. Some garments were made by Armstrong students and others were donated by The Rape Crisis Center. The shirts were then hung on a clothingline to be observed by others as a testament to violence against women.

"I will be a victim or will I not?" was held April 22, Easter Day, however counties have one year to sign thecord.

---

Local Humane Society prepares for kitten season with shower

Elizabeth Blaney
Photo Editor

Nearly 300 students presented posters at the Student Symposium in the Student Union. The event included two days of student presentations from different fields. The Student Union stage, history and gender studies.

Poster presentations were held on April 20, with oral presentations held April 21.

The event is in its 30th year. Dr. Allison Redler has now chaired the event for five years. She said the symposium was moved from one day to two days because of the increase in student participation.

Redler said it was an "erroneous thing to see all the exciting work" by students. She on April 20th, while oral presentations were held April 21.

The event is in its 30th year. Dr. Allison Redler has now chaired the event for five years. She said the symposium was moved from one day to two days because of the increase in student participation.

Redler said it was an "erroneous thing to see all the exciting work" by students. She said she was "incredulous" to see all the exciting work by students.

The Humane Society for Great Savannah's Kitten Shower!

Allyssa Schiffman
Staff Writer

As the school year winds down and finals come to a head, many students will breath a sigh of relief. But while they sleep with relief, the staff and volunteers at the Humane Society for Great Savannah still have work to do for the creature of newborn kittens they will receive.

Summer is well known to animal care providers as "the kitten season," a time in which unaltered cats reproduce prolifically. In order to prepare for the onset of kitten season, the HSCG organized its first annual Kitten Shower last Sunday evening.

The concept is the same as a regular baby shower, in which a guest is invited to supply help for the adopted kittens.

"The purpose of this event was to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," Jill Bowmann, Foster Care Coordinator for the Humane Society said.

"We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added.

The HSCG is not only interested in the kittens that are brought home to adopt, but also in the kittens that will be left behind. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

"The event continues to bring in donations and gather kittens for all of the kittens that we'll need every year around this time," she added. "We did a list of what we could take, and that included pregnant mothers. So that's approximately 20 kitten supplies," she added. "We're not interested in kitten formula, nursing bottles, paper towels, foods that our cats-in-need really need every day," Bowmann said.

This week in world news

Llana Samuel
News Editor

- April 26 marked 30 years since the Chernobyl nuclear power plant disaster in Ukraine. Memorial services were held at the site which was visited by the President of Ukraine. According to an article by ABC News, some of those affected by the disaster are continuing to campaign for the government to pay support benefits to victims.

- The state of Connecticut, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware, word in primaries on Tuesday night. Bill Clinton and Trump in all five states could secure the democratic nomination for Clinton as well as give Trump the lead he needs over his competitors for the Republican nomination.

- The editor of an LGBT magazine in Bulgaria, Nikolai Manassan, was murdered on Monday in the country's capital Sofia, was a US government official living and working in Bangladesh. A branch of Al-Qaeda claimed responsibility for his murder Tuesday.

- 19 countries and the European Union signed the Paris Climate Accord this week. The agreement was reached in December 2015 and is the first global effort to prevent climate change. It includes seven climate goals for the world's countries. A formal signature ceremony was held April 22, Earth Day, however countries will have one year to sign the accord.
Armstrong tennis wins PBC tournament championship

For the Armstrong women's tennis team, the 2015 American Athletic Conference Tournament was a homecoming of sorts. The Cougars were able to claim a 13-8 victory over Southern Methodist University on April 16 to advance to the conference finals. The women's team then went on to win the conference title on April 19 against the University of Miami, 6-3, to claim the title for the first time since 2009.

The championship match was a hard-fought battle, with Armstrong coming out on top with a 4-0 victory. The team's success can be attributed to the efforts of several players, including senior Kea Hamlin, who clinched the match with a 6-3, 6-0 victory in singles.

In addition to Hamlin, the team also benefited from strong performances by junior Lauren Martinez, who won her singles match 6-2, 6-0, and junior Alexa Alvarado, who captured her doubles match 6-3, 6-2. The team's success can be attributed to their hard work and dedication throughout the season.

The win not only solidifies Armstrong's place in the conference but also sets the team up for potential success in future tournaments. With a strong foundation established, the women's tennis team is poised to continue their success in the years to come.

Pirate baseball ends PBC play with three-game loss

The Armstrong baseball team faced off against the University of Mobile in the final PBC series of the season. Despite a strong showing, the Pirates were unable to secure a win, falling 9-0 to the Bulldogs.

The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams putting up a strong fight. However, Armstrong was unable to overcome the Bulldogs, who were able to control the game from start to finish.

The loss was a disappointment for the Pirates, who had been hoping for a strong finish to the season. However, the team remains focused on their upcoming games and is looking forward to improving in the future.

The Pirates will now prepare for the upcoming season, with a focus on improving their strategy and performance. With a strong work ethic and a commitment to excellence, the team is poised to make a strong showing in the years to come.
Are we really a ‘dry campus’?

_TYPE OF EVENT:_

Please select one

- Please select one

Please select an Education Program

- Social or Mixed with Alcohol

Please select a Community Service/Philanthropy

- Other - Please explain in event description

The event registration form for Greek life events features the option to have alcohol, but the RSO event registration form does not. (Screen shot of the Greek event registration form - April 26, 2016)

The Registered Student Organization (RSO) event registration form does not have a space to distinguish between alcohol events or dry events, while the Greeks (at all the events so far), have an event registration form that asks “social/mixer with alcohol?" - or “social/niter dry?" If a Greek Organization chooses to host an event with alcohol, all they have to do is fill in “a risk management plan" further along on the form for legal reasons and to appease their national higher-ups. The regular RSO form is nearly identical except for the option of anything involving alcohol. Could other organizations not do this?

Why Greeks and not other RSO? Do Greeks pay for the right to house in their spaces?

Do they have the right? While I’m friends with some Greeks, I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?

I was taking my morning walk around Gamble Hall recently when I passed on one of the big, red inkwell stands. As I got closer, I realized there was a soda can inside, sitting on top of our latest issue. I’m friends with some Greeks, but I’m not going to pretend like their organizations don’t have a bad rep. Are they as a whole, really, really, thought of as a more responsible bunch than other causal student organizations like Go Green, Anthropology Club, French Club, Math Club, Feminists United, etc...? I’m not really going out on a limb here.

Not being labeled a dry campus wouldn’t change the law that persons under 21 can’t consume alcohol. Armstrong’s own website says that “students and visitors are not permitted to have alcoholic beverages in Housing and Residence Life properties or anywhere on the campus property.”

Are we really a dry campus?
Housing throws annual Block Party for residential students

World-renowned pianist closes Piano in the Arts Series

BY ALYSSA SCHIFFMAN
STAFF WRITER

Last Thursday, students flocked to the end-of-the-year Housing Block Party held outside of Windward Commons. Hosted by Housing and Residence Life, the event thanks students for continuing to make the campus at Armstrong home.

The event featured inflatable water slides, a giant slip 'n' slide, small rides and games. Multiple student organizations participated, including several branches of Armstrong Greek life, the Art Club and more.

The Block Party's housing focus was a strategic choice, as the event primarily targeted students who reside on campus.

"We've been anticipating the water slides and the slip 'n' slides were the favorite for girls, though it didn't seem like a lot of people were using them," Streeter said. "The turnout was estimated at 500, as many took the opportunity to enjoy the weather before hurrying themselves away to focus on finals."

"I definitely needed this," a student remarked, "it was exactly what I needed." The perfect time right before the last week and finals."

Assistant director of Housing Angela Storck has been personally managing and overseeing the event since her arrival at Armstrong in 2011.

"We started it in spring of 2012 and it originally began to make the event a success for its first three years, but this year signaled a change of guard as responsibility was passed on to the Resident Student Association."

"Now that they're getting up and running again and taking a more active role in housing, they'll be taking over the event as one of their big events for the year," Streeter said.

"We're just thrilled to have someone at this level perform for our students and our community," Worner said.

Now in its third season, Piano in the Arts continues to showcase the versatility of the piano through unique concerts that take center stage across multiple genres. In the past, the series has brought to the stage classical, jazz and the Great American Songbook. This time, pure classical took the spotlight.

The program for this concert included transcriptions by Franz Liszt and Franz Schubert's famous songs, including the Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2. Worner explained that "this concert is really showcasing that Vandro is a true master." In addition to the concert, Maestro Vandro will be performing a masterclass with Armstrong students from Armstrong Student Association.

"It was incredible," said freshman, Luke Bloss, who had just attended the concert. "I've never been to Armstrong and you can tell it's an emotional performance."
Armstrong’s bi-annual ‘Stress-Free Day’

Students enjoying activities like coloring, manicures and hanging out with visiting dogs during the Spring Stress Free Day - April 26, 2016 (Photos by Elizabeth Rhaney, Photo Editor)

THE INKWELL
April 28, 2016

FINALS PLAYLIST

BRADLEY MULLIS
A&E EDITOR

Fresh is just around the corner and it’s important to have an appropriate accompanying playlist to navigate all of the different stages the average student will be experiencing over the next two weeks.

Stage 1: Preparation
This is the most important stage. A good foundation is key to establishing an even better routine for studying, so some of these tracks should help you get into the swing of things.

Charlie Parker - Omnibop Thelonious Monk - Brilliant Corners
Squidly Nip Zipper - Flight of the Passing Fancy

Stage 2: The Night Before
The good student has been devoting at least a good thirty minutes to two hours a day reviewing class notes, emailing the professor about new formats and questions that may not have been explained in class. As such, they aren’t scrambling around at the last minute, showing up to the exam sleep deprived with information falling out of their mouth. The 80’s had a song of music that embodied the rock solid realism of people who didn’t think they’d ever fall away. Some of these songs from this “melancholic” era may help get the good student ready to knock that exam out of the park. Stay focused and watch out for that “small builders” who wants to come over to study and “oh yeah, maybe I’ll grab a sixer on the way over”.

Rock you like a Hurricane Scorpions

Did you feel bad about the exam?
All Star - Smash Mouth

Did you feel good about the exam?
The Sudden Death - Converge

Game Review: Quantum Break

CHRISTOPHER WILSON
STAFF WRITER

Jack Joyce struggles to find an even playing field after disrupting time in the game Quantum Break, a science fiction action adventure developed by Remedy Entertainment and published by Microsoft Studios for PC and Xbox One.

Joyce is forced to deal with the repercussions of meddling with time alongside his brother, William, and long time friend Paul Sereno. Following an initial time travel accident that created a rift in time, Joyce develops the power to slow time for a stop. On top of the standard slowing of stopping time, Joyce has a few other variations of time powers that he found useful in combat. Actions like “Time Block” turn enemies apart, also reversing the direction of oncoming bullets back at their source. Segments of the game are less action oriented, testing player’s puzzle solving skills. As time begins to fall apart, the objects in Joyce’s path may get caught in a time loop preventing him from advancing. Joyce must bypass these objects by sped up or slowing down wherever blocks Joyce from furthering his mission. Players can also occasionally get help from other characters by restoring them from being frozen in time.

Joyce’s struggles revolve around a time machine that has been created from the work of the main character’s brother, William Joyce. Building upon the work of the brothers, the Joyce and Sereno advance to build a functioning time machine. After some internal success, the machine is damaged, forcing the collapse of the world. As the chaos ensues, the brothers are thrown in tine particles, giving the two brothers the ability to manipulate time.

I have to be honest, the game can be quite frustrating at times and the graphics are nice to look at, but the plot gave me a headache. During this time of year the released games flow down to a crawl with very few things to look forward to, but if nothing else they killed another nugget of time between here and the game. Though the game itself has a decent replay value because of the many different possibilities of cut scenes that effect the games outcome.

RATING: 3.5 OUT OF 5

Initial release date: April 5, 2016
Developer: Remedy Entertainment
Publisher: Microsoft Studios
Manufacturer: Microsoft Corporation
Remedy Entertainment
Platform: Xbox One, Windows 10, Macintosh Windows
Genre: Action/adventure game
Third-person shooter

Stage 3: On the Way to Class
You’ve made it this far. Just a little further. The exam is at 8, so you’ve made sure to wake up at 6:00. Get some breakfast, shower, get dressed, review your notes, and head to class. On the way, make sure to practice some breathing exercises and maybe try these classic compositions flown through you. Studies have shown that classical music helps control stress levels.

You are on the exam...
Symphony No. 4 in F Minor, Op. 36, - Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky
3 Preludes, Op. 30, No. 4 in C-Sharp Minor - Ravel

Scissors: Post Exam
It’s over. It’s finally over. 16 weeks worth of work and you can finally make look home so look yourself in the mirror and say “You can’t hurt me anymore. Armstrong final”. But you either knew you did well or didn’t. Maybe that last question wasn’t “A...but you put C...”

Did you feel good about the exam?
A&E EDITOR
BRADLEY MULLIS

STAFF WRITER
CHRISTOPHER WILSON
KITTEN CONTINUED | PG 6

not the only way the commu nity can help during the sum mer months. Fostering a litter of kittens is a highly impor tant service for the shelter, the kittens, and the mothers alike.

"Fostering kittens is a great help," Bowman explained. "Even the mothers sometimes need to just go to a home for a while just to not be in such a stressful environment. Then when they return they're relaxed and much more presentable on the adonation floor."

However, as Bowman explained in WTOC, the entire process of raising the kittens promises to be an incredibly rewarding experience to the human as well.

"It's actually the whole process that is rewarding.
 Seeing them here, then they go to foster and come back two weeks later. All of a sudden they are grown and they're going out the door."

Caring for and controlling stray animal populations is vital in the community for a multitude of reasons. In order to combat the growing numbers, all animals are spayed and neutered before leaving the shelter. To provide support to the foster families of the kittens, the HSGS provides food, medication, and other items to aid in the care.

With all the action taken by the HSGS staff and volunteers, their motivation for putting in the work is pure compassion for the often-vul-rnerable animals that enter the shelter.

"There are just certain things they can't do for themselves. The outdoor cats can make it on their own, but without scraps from us.
They're domesticated animal, they know nothing about fending for themselves and I feel like we have to do that for them," Bowman shared.

For a complete list of doations needed by the shelter or for information on how to volunteer or foster a litter, visit their website at humane-societysav.org, or go to their Facebook page.

GOT AN OPINION?
WE WANT TO HEAR IT!

CONTACT:
CHIEF.INKWELL@GMAIL.COM
ABOUT WRITING AN OPINION PIECE.
ALL VIEWS WELCOME!

CALLING ALL WRITERS AND PHOTOGRAPHERS

THE INKWELL WANTS YOU.
EVERY WED. 12:30 P.M.
MCC 202

Be a Calliope editor!

Applications are now being taken for the post of co-editor for the 2017 issue of Calliope, Armstrong's art and literature magazine.

PAID POSITION

Respond to our online Human Resources posting or contact Dr. Christopher Baker at 344-3188 or Christopher.Baker@armstrong.edu. in de the Department of Languages, Literature, and Philosophy.

J. A.

About Writing an Opinion Piece.

ALL VIEWS WELCOME!