'Starlight Club' Opens Sat. Night

The "Starlight Club" will be the setting for the semi-formal Starlight Ball which the Art Club will present in the college gym Saturday, Nov. 20 at 8:30 p. m.

A night club motif will dominate the affair, decoratively, according to the Art Club decorating committee. Candlelight, reserved tables, bartenders, cigarette girls, waiters, and a bouncer have been incorporated into plans for the dance. A floor show complete with can-can dances and a chorus line will provide entertainment for the dance.

Vocalist for the Starlight Ball will be Guy Thompson. Some of the music for the dance will be contributed by the Stockyard Six, GTC faculty band.

PTA Workshop Met Here Tues.

A parent education workshop for the Seventh District of Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers was held here last Tuesday. This workshop was held for the purpose of developing leadership in skills and techniques of the group processes in PTA work.

The meeting was opened at nine a. m. with registration and greetings extended on behalf of the college by Dean Paul Carroll.

Miss Maude White, director of Seventh District Division of Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers made some introductions.

Mrs. Lalia Perkins of Savannah gave the purpose of the workshop and Mrs. Helma Traver, chairman of the workshop explained the program of the PTA.

Mr. W. W. McCune, assistant superintendent of Chat-ham county schools, then explained the discussion groups for the workshop.

The group then divided into three smaller groups with parents from the district serving as leaders and three members of the GTC faculty as consultants. The consultants were: Fred Lenfesty, Dr. Georgia B. Watson, and Dr. M. W. Hamilton, all members of the division of education.

Puppet Show Is Planned by ACE

A Puppet Show sponsored by the ACE Club is one project, to make money for the club during the year, according to Nancy Armstrong, president.

The Puppet Show will be made by the members of the club. It will be shown at various grade schools and an admission will be charged to see the puppets perform.

Other tentative projects include selling Christmas cards over the Thanksgiving holidays, a rummage sale, which will be made possible by obtaining old clothes from the members and a Book Fair.

DIANA DAIR, Pelham, might be enjoying kissing the "Rat Day" pig, but more than likely, she, like many other GTC freshmen, is only glad the whole thing is nearly over. James Jones, Twin City, and Dewey Blaxton, Lyons, were probably glad to let that wriggling animal go, also.

Dance Classes Begin Monday

Dancing sessions will begin Monday night, November 22, from 7:30 to 8:30 in Cone Hall Recreation room for those who cannot dance and wish to learn how. They will be held each night, Monday through Thursday, at the same hour.

This activity is sponsored by the Inter-Dormitory Council and those on the committee are Clarence Miller, chairman; Midge Bentley, Bo Ginn, Lois Hammond, Gene Meadows, Janice Miller, Tom Perry, and Kirbylene Stephens.

BSU Deputation Goes to Collins

Members of the local BSU will go to the Pine Grove Baptist Church near Collins next Sunday night, November 21, where they plan to take complete charge of the evening worship service, according to Annegene Culbreth, president.

In this deputation service the BSUs will use the theme, "20th Century Discipleship." Members having speaking parts are Phil Norton, Bo Ginn, Jane Seabolt, Diana Bair, Kirbylene Stephens, Annegene Culbreth, and William Brookard.

EDITORIAL

Count Your Blessings

Thanksgiving, the humble but proud season of the year is almost upon us again. As is shown in several articles on this page, this is a time when people turn their hearts and minds toward God and give heartfelt thanks for the blessings that have come their way. Many college students may tend toward a cynical turn of mind or maybe are so disheartened that they really can't see anything that is worth thanks.

About all that can be suggested that might interest people of this frame of mind is that they memorize the words to that new version of "Count Your Blessings," and then count them, instead of sheep.

Panel Discusses Dating Problems

A panel discussion on Boy and Girl Relationship was held in Miss Caroline Wingo's section of the home economics 100 class, Monday, November 15. This is the section composed of home economics majors.

A committee selected a panel of six boys and three girls. Mrs. Miriam Moore, home economics education instructor, was asked to be moderator.

The discussion was concerning dating problems and the characteristics that boys like in girls.

Foundation Has Special Service

The Wesley Foundation will hold a Thanksgiving candlelight communion service at the regular program Sunday night at 6:30. The Methodist Church bus will circle the campus at the usual time of 6:20.

Industrial Arts Club Sponsors Sign Contest

A sign contest is being sponsored by the Industrial Arts Club with the cooperation of the college administration. The purpose of this contest is to find a design for a sign that would be suitable for use for construction on U. S. Highway 301. In this way much attention will be focused on our campus by passing motorists. A picture of the exact site will be shown in the editorial of this paper. The rules for the contest are as follows:

Freshmen Elect Representatives

Shirley Brown, Twin City, and John Ell Hendley, Garfield, were elected by the freshman class to serve as representatives on the student council in a meeting Monday following assembly.

Miss Brown graduated from high school in Twin City last June. Her plans are to major in elementary education.

Hendley has recently been discharged from the navy and is planning to major in physical education.

According to Phil Norton, president of the Student Council, these students will assume their duties as representatives this quarter.

Beauty Review Plans to Be Set

The theme for the 1955 Beauty Review will be set at the Art Club meeting Monday night. The plans will be announced next week and all organizations eligible to sponsor entrants will be notified as to the deadline for entering contestants and as to their responsibilities concerning the review.

Faggot Service Slated for Wed.

A Thanksgiving Faggot service will be held by the lake Wednesday, November 24, at 6:30 a. m. This program is sponsored by the BSU and is for all students, according to Ruby Lee Houston, devotional vice-president of BSU.

The plans are to have Mrs. Zack S. Henderson play accordion music as a background for the service which will be held around the campfire. A short devotional and special music will be presented by some of the students, after which the faggot service will conclude the program.

Students Exhibit Displayed Here

An exhibit of children's paintings from the 1954 Georgia Student Art Exhibit will be shown in the halls of the art department, Monday through November 29.

1. The contest is open to all GTC students, GTC employees, and families of both groups.

2. Each contestant may enter only one design (One Entry).

3. Entries must be submitted on 12 by 18 manila drawing paper which may be secured from Miss Tommie Jean Corbett in the president's office. Miss Corbett will register contestants.

4. Entries must be done in full color and drawn to a scale of one inch to one foot (1 in. - ft.).

5. The name, Georgia Teachers College, should appear in the design. Additional lettering must be limited to ten (10) words.

6. All entries must be in the hands of Miss Tommie Jean Corbett in the president's office by December 10, closing date for the contest.

7. Entries will be judged on the following points:

- a. Is it readable?
- b. Does it present one clear and original idea?
- c. Is the composition unified?
- d. Will the sign attract attention?

e. Is it neatly executed?

f. Is the medium well-chosen for the sign?

8. Cash awards will be made in January as follows:

First prize, $15; second prize, $10; third prize, $5.

9. The college reserves the right to use any sign or any part of any sign or any combination of signs submitted in the contest.

Tyson Resigns Masquers Post

Cary Tyson, Lenox senior, resigned as president of Masquers at a meeting, Monday, November 15.

Rebecca Sheffield, Edward Robbins, Marilyn Coons, and Bob Dixon were selected to be ushers in the Masquers' production, "Idylls of the King."

"Idylls of the King" was presented in the auditorium of Georgia Teachers College Wednesday and Thursday, November 17-18 at 8 o'clock. An oral reading of Tennyson's poem, "Idylls of the King," was Masquers' fall presentation, Miss Dorothy Few, assistant professor of speech, directed the production.

Masquers pledges were urged at the November 15 meeting to complete the five hours of dramatic work which is prerequisite for full membership in the club. Skits must be presented by new members of Masquers.

Put GTC on the Map

Georgia Teachers College is usually thought of as the unknown element, the X in the high school senior's maze of facts about colleges they might attend.

People here at GTC, students and faculty, are constantly trying to correct this impression; the industrial Arts Club, with the backing of the administration, has a project underway that will require the cooperation of the student body.

The club plans to build two signs, as shown in the accompanying pictures, each eight feet by 12 feet at the north and south approaches to the main college gate.

Position of Sign From Southern Approach

Position of Sign on North Approach

The wording and design of these signs will be determined by the contest announced in the front page of this paper. Since school spirit and cash prizes are features of the contest, a great part of the Collegeboro population should seriously consider helping make GTC more obvious to 301 traffic.

The erection of these signs will eliminate the problem some parents have had in finding the college when they come here the first time on a visit.

On the Sidelines

Some students at Georgia Teachers College have asked the coaching staff, and many more have wondered, what happened to the boys that played basketball for GTC last season.

To quell some rumors that have come to our attention,
Here Are the Fax, Mam—
Horace Belflower, Boney Phillips, and David Harris have either graduated or at least used up their four years of eligibility.

Jim Harley was drafted, is now stationed at Fort Jackson, and still has one full year of eligibility remaining.

Ferrell Sparks signed a professional baseball contract with the Detroit organization, and played last summer in the Georgia-Florida league at Valdosta.
He has recently married
and is now in the service.

Artie Richards returned this fall for six weeks, and then joined the Air Force.

James Denny and Kenneth Averett were drafted and are now in the army.

Now about the contin-gent now attending school
at Brawton-Parker Institute, a junior college located at Mt. Vernon, Ga.

Of the group, Don Avery,
Jack Harris, and Chuck Litvaney, only Litvaney was scholastically eligible to play
this season at GTC.

Coach Searce invited him to return this season on an abbreviated athletic scholarship basis, but Chuck decided that he'd play a lot more at Brewton-Parker and perhaps return here
next season with a better chance to play as a regular.

incidents depicted in this report are true. Dum-de-dum-

The Music Box

By HARRIET WOODARD

Have you ever wondered what a music major dreams about? You just can't imagine the conglomeration of noises and visions that keep a vocal or instrumental major tossing and turning seven or eight hours every night. Unless we're lucky enough to doze off when we first "hit the sack" we try counting pianos.

When we finally slip off into slumber we have visions of Bach or Handel challenging us to a duel just because we sorta
"murdered" one of their great works at a piano lesson. We wake ourselves and our roommates screaming for mercy from the great men. Still trembling, we again doze off to dream that we flunked our sightsinging course, or worse
still, that we got our noses
mashed between the cymbals
during a parade.

When the dawn's early light
finally comes through, a music
major wearily drags himself from the warm depths of his bed and trudges over to the music building to practice an hour or so before breakfast.

If you've wondered why
music majors have that gray, puffy-eyed look and why our eyes are only half open, hair uncombed and white bucks
dirty, maybe now you'll understand and bear with us.

Babblings by Babs

BABS WISENBAKER, Editor

Looking around East Hall, I find that things have been very much on the quiet side when it comes to social events. There have been a few girls going home with their roommates or to a local football game, but other than this nobody does anything but go home.

June Prescott, junior, spent the weekend in Augusta with her sister, Mrs. McFeely.

Beverly O'Conner went home
with Mary Tippins to attend
the Claxton-Statesboro game
Friday night.

Julia Corry, Becky Sheffield, and Marcia Wilkins spent the weekend in Atlanta, and said that they had a marvelous
time.

Ann Davis was the guest of Dolores Ivey at her home in Vidalia over the weekend.

Watson Weathers, of Camp
Gordon, was the guest of Peggy Henderson from Wednesday until Sunday on Campus.

Sue Durrence and Shirley Scott spent the weekend in Cobbtown as the guest of Ethelyn Williamson.

Betty Altman and Myrna Robson were the guests of honor at a surprise birthday party last Tuesday night. It seems that there was a fine
time had by everyone present, and from the noise coming from the room it is not hard to believe.

Betty Jo McDonald and Ann Whiddon spent the weekend
with Betty Jo's sister, Ruth Mc-Donald, in Savannah.

How do they do it! Those girls at West Hall never seem to have a slack period in their social doings. Catherine aWters, Eastman, spent the weekend in Lyons with Pam Taylor. She reported she had a very good
time.

Dottie Bourne, Savannah, and Vila Brown, Brunswick, spent the weekend at North Georgia Military College in Dahlonega.
They were escorted to the Old South Ball by Cadets Glenn Eberheart and Bobby Paulk.

Eugenia Wright, Dublin, had Cadet Ronny Brunson from GMC as a weekend guest.

Sara Harrell, Savannah,
spent Friday night with Mary Jane Harper at her home in Dublin.

Shirley Akens, Statesboro, and Punky Allen, Brunswick, attended the Benedictine Glenn

Academy football game in Savannah on Friday and went on to Brunswick where they spent the weekend at Punky's home.

Beverly Perkins, Richland, spent the weekend with Evelyn Jones in Statesboro.

How lucky can a girl be?
Ask Mary Lula Peagler, she
ONLY went to the Sigma Chi Dance at Georgia Tech this weekend. She also saw Tech defeat Alabama 20-0. Mary Lula says she had a fine time
at Sigma Chi's possum hunt Saturday night. Strange that she didn't find any possum, isn't it?

Nan Waters has quite a trip
lined up for Thanksgiving holidays. On Tuesday, she'll fly to Annapolis for the "Beat Army Hop" and Pep Rally.
From there she'll go to Philadelphia to see the Army-Navy game.

Bonnilyn Bell had two guests last weekend. Bonnilyn's brother, Luther, and Betty Gray attended the Lewis Hall
Dance Saturday night.

Tom Vandiver from Artesia, Texas was a recent visitor on our campus.

Joseph Smith of Claxton, was on campus last Saturday and Tuesday. He will be discharged from the Air Force next month and will enter school here in January.

Dr. Joe Baird and his wife visited on campus last weekend.

George Parrish, a former student at GTC, spent last weekend on campus. George is now serving a sentence in the Army.

Bobby Davis, better known as "Lover," visited Anson Callaway here last weekend.

Warnell Denmark, student teacher in Savannah, was on campus last weekend.

Dan Wilson was on campus
Monday. Dan has just finished
"boot training" in the Army.

Helen Knight, freshman, is planning her wedding which will be December 30.

Josh Durden, junior, is planning to make the trip to the altar on December 30 also. Congratulations, Josh!

Rumors are that Pauline Vickers and Harold Wynn are planning to "tie the knot" sometime in December. This month seems to be lucky for lots of the gals.

Varsity Roster Has 17 Players

By ROGER BROWN

The "B" team basketball squad has been disbanded, according to an announcement Monday by J. B. Searce Jr., athletic director.

The reason given by Coach Searce for discontinuing the "B" team was lack of interest on the participants part. He said they were missing practice and it was causing an extra effort on the part of the coaches and the other players.

The varsity roster now consists of 17 players. These are Garland L. Campbell, 5' 11", Windfall, Ind.; Emory Clements, 6', Irwinville; Douglas Corry, 6' 5", Union Point; Louie Cunningham, 5' 11", Sharpsburg, Ky.; Abner (Sonny) Dykes, 5', Cochran; Jimmy Ford, 5' 11", Augusta; aLlmy Ross Heath, 6' 3", Junction City; Jackie Kidd, 6' 11", London, Ky.; Ronnie Rush, 6' 6", Savannah; Ralph Spurlock, 6', Cawood, Ky.; Don Wallen, 5' 10", Wheelwright, Ky.; Wesley (Buddy) Ward, 5' 9", Harlan, Ky.; Howard (Bo) Warren, 6', Ludowici; Chester Webb, 6' 6", Elberton; David Esmonde, 5' 9", Mendon, Ohio; Norman Griffin, 5' 8", Augusta; Herbert Houston, 6' 1", Blakeley.

Juniors Lead In Intramural Football Games

By RICHARD CATES

The sophomores and juniors clashed in an intramural football game last Wednesday. The game was primarily a defensive battle as both teams battled around the mid-field area.

The lone score came just before the half when Kelly Powell fired a strike to Jack Maxwell in the end zone for six points. The point after the touchdown was good and the final outcome of the game was 7-0 in favor of the juniors.

"Rat Day" festivities last Thursday caused the freshmen-senior game to be postponed, due to the unavoidable absence of the freshman team.

The juniors and seniors slushed through the mud Monday as the seniors took the measure of the juniors 7-0.

In the first quarter, Ace Little hit Alton Dews with a pass for six points. Point after touchdown was good and the game remained a mud battle except for the lone score.

Under an overcast sky Tuesday, the freshmen and sophomore fought to a 7-7 draw.

The freshmen started fast and on the first series of plays Bucky Tarpley broke loose for a 43-yard touchdown run. The conversion was good and the frosh had a quick 7 point advantage. This lead held until the third quarter. After knocking at the goal line repeatedly and being turned away the sophomores finally scored when Bub Denham intercepted a freshman pass and raced across for the score. The extra point was good, and the game ended as both teams tried desperately for another score. The tie game didn't help either team's record, as both needed a win to stay in competition for the intramural championship.

College, Collegeboro.

February 21—Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla.

Cockfighting Is Exciting Sport

Although cockfighting is illegal in most of the states, there is a student on campus who raises and trains these game cocks. Charles Berger, freshman, from Harlan, Ky., is a person who has an interest in this old sport which has recently seemed to have a revival in some few states in the country.

The cocks used for cockfighting are game cocks and there are many different breeds. They are raised chiefly for cockfighting and the average cock weighs about five pounds. They are different colors just as different breeds of chickens are different colors.

The cocks begin their fighting career around the end of their first year. They don't use their own spurs but use steel ones with points on them that resemble a needlepoint.

The fights usually begin around thanksgiving or later and end in June or just before the cocks shed their feathers. They don't fight cocks without feathers because they don't have the balance in their wings that they have with feathers.

The officials in the game are two handlers and one referee.

There is no set time for a game to last. In the cock's pit or fighting arena, the cocks usually fight until one kills the other one; or they may get too tired to fight and are only able to peck each other. In this case, one cock may win by pecks just as a boxer may win by points.

Intramurals Are Healthful, Fun

The purpose of the girls' intramurals is to give each girl on campus an opportunity to compete in individual or team sports each quarter.

Intramurals offer an opportunity for all to participate. Timekeeping, scorekeeping, and cheering squads provide activity for those who do not wish to take part in the sport itself.

Practice is held for each sport before the competition begins to give the players a chance to refresh their skills and learn team play. For some girls, college intramurals are the first team and sport competition, as some schools do not have a sports program.

Dormitories provide the basis for the team competition. Each dormitory competes with each of the others. Only one team from each dormitory participated in the volleyball tournament. This is a small number of girls to represent a dormitory of more than a hundred girls.

Physical education majors Marie Thomas, Pat Blake, Janice McGroogan, Carolyn Tally, and Carol Thomas have been officiating at the games.

Intramurals sometimes lead to games with other schools or to College Play Days which are sponsored by the Georgia Athletic Federation for College Women. College Play Days are intramurals between college teams held on the campus of one college in the state.

The girls on campus need intramurals as much as intramurals need girls. Intramurals not only have recreational value but they are healthful and fun.

Other girls in the contest were Anne Whiddon, sophomore, McRae; Dale Warnock, junior, Tarrytown; Anne Johnson, freshman, Franklin; Carol Thomas, junior, Waycross; and Ruby A. Wilson, sophomore, Register. Miss Horne will represent the Vet Club in the annual Georgia Teachers College beauty review that is to be held February 12.

Godfrey Enjoys Pedaling Bicycle

In this modern day when practically everyone is driving an automobile, Edgar G. Godfrey, assistant professor of industrial arts, is riding a bicycle.

This may seem rather unusual since Mr. Godfrey does own a car, but he feels that his wife needs their car more than he does, because her work is further away from home than his. Mr. Godfrey says that he can get to work within ten minutes on his bike. Another reason for riding the bicycle is that he thinks it is good exercise, cheap transportation, and enjoyable.

Mr. Godfrey's bike is a British model and weighs only 30 pounds. The brake control is on the handle bars, and there are three gear shifts, low, normal, and high.

Maybe some of the rest of us should consider riding a bicycle. It might be not only cheaper, but safer too!

On The Clothesline

By NANCY ARMSTRONG

On dreary days there aren't many places to go, so we all just sit around. Sooner or later the conversation is bound to get around to clothes, so let's get around to that, too.

What about hats? A big hat is always good. This season the little hat is making a return engagement. Specially good is the Chignon Cap. This little hat shows off more head than hat. For those who don't particularly like to wear hats, but feel they must for the occasion, here's your hat. The style of hats is certainly centered around the hairstyle of the season, and, according to the country's leading beauticians—that hairstyle is going down. The length for this season is just below the ears. The featured style is the ever-so-casual page-boy bob. The extreme "I just got off a roller-coaster look" is slowly making its exit.

What about the latest in shoes? Now they are showing a loafer they call "dirty bucks." This is a buck loafer in an off-shade of white. This way no one can accuse you of neglecting to polish your white bucks.

Tailored looking wesuits, or vests as they are called this year, are certainly making a solid comeback. Brightly colored vests will certainly liven up a tailored charcoal grey suit. Velvet is an outstanding fabric in this fashion. Our editor of the GEORGE-ANNE really had on a lively looking one—a shocking pink leather vest, no less.

Before I go, let me comment on one more item. The height of fashion this year is some sort of a "ring-on-your-toes" deal. Comments: no comment. I just hope they don't carry this to the altar. See ya' in two weeks!
