History Scenes Chosen Theme Of Homecoming

"Scenes From U. S. History" has been chosen as the theme for this year's homecoming activities, according to Dr. Georgia Watson, director of counselling and guidance.

The program for this year will begin with the Beauty Revue Friday, February 11, at 8:15, planned and staged by the Art Club. The winner of the Beauty Revue which is not actually a part of Homecoming, will be "Miss TC of 1955," and will take part in other activities.

The first event of Saturday morning will be the parade of floats at 10 o'clock, followed at 12:30 by a barbecue for alumni and their families, students, and members and their families.

A general meeting of the alumni association will be held in the college auditorium at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The different divisions on campus will have open house at 3 o'clock and President and Mrs. Henderson will have open house at 4 o'clock.

Supper will be served in the college dining hall at 5:30, and from 6:30 to 7:30 all dorms will be open for resting before the ball game at 8:15 between GTC and Spring Hill College.

There will be a dance immediately after the ball game with music by the "Professors," the college dance band.

First and second prizes of $15 and $7.50 respectively will be awarded by the Alumni Association for the best outdoor scenes. There will be three prizes for floats of $25, $15, and $7.50.

Clubs and organizations entering floats in the parade should file the theme for their float in Dr. Watson's office before January 21. Dormitories should also file the theme for their outdoor scenes before January 21.

EDITORIAL

Who Is Willing to Try?

Jesus Christ was born, lived, and was crucified, and in his lifetime, thought of no one as his enemy. His last prayer was, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

As the Yule season slips up on GTC again, spirits are high, and everyone goes about his usual tasks with lighter-than-usual hearts, even if finals are coming up, but is there something missing? Can people today, as Christ did, feel no malice toward any man?? Very few, if any, can say "Yes."

There is no better season or opportunity than the present to try and make amends with those persons regarded as "enemies."

Who is willing to try?

HERE'S OLD ST. NICK as he appeared at GTC last Christmas season. Expectations are high as the time for his appearance draws near again.

Staff Suggested For George-Anne

Carlton Humphrey, junior Milledgeville, has been approved as GEORGE-ANNE editor for next quarter by the faculty committee on publications, according to a report Thursday.

Humphrey, who has just finished a quarters work as managing editor of the student newspaper, will have Gene Meadows, sophomore, Register, as his managing editor, and Carolyn Pierce, junior, Eastman, as news editor.

Cherrell Williams, senior, Perry, outgoing editor, will remain on the staff as associate editor while Bobby Holcrow, freshman, Jonesboro, will serve in the position of business manager.

Roger Brown, sophomore, Sycamore, has been suggested for the position of sports editor and Jo Ann Hill, sophomore, Hawkinsville, is expected to serve as society editor.

Positions as assistant editors and reporters are open and will be filled at the beginning of next quarter from members of the present staff, plus any others interested in working on the GEORGE-ANNE, according to Miss Williams, outgoing editor.

Date Postponed For Sign Contest

The closing date for the Billboard Contest, sponsored by the Industrial Arts Club, has been moved up to January 31, 1955.

This change is being made because the contest came just before Thanksgiving and the rush before final exams. Since the date of closing has been postponed, the prizes will be awarded sometime in February.

Those persons interested in submitting a design may obtain a sheet of the contest paper from Miss Tommie Jean Corbett in the president's office.

Masquers Plans Winter Schedule

Masquers has made plans for winter quarter which tentatively includes "Arsenic and Old Lace," a three-act comedy with 11 men, three women, and two extras which will be "bodies," said Dorothy Few, assistant professor of speech. Whether or not they produce this play will depend on the amount of work they will have to do in the operetta which will also be produced during winter quarter. Tryouts for the play will be held this week and parts will be assigned if Masquers decide to produce the play. Miss Few said that there is plenty of enthusiasm and that it is a very good play although it will be hard to produce.

Other plans include helping with the scenery in the operetta and having a radio program in February.

Assignments Made for 33 Student Teachers

Student teaching assignments for winter quarter were announced this week by Dr. Marshall Hamilton, associate professor of education. Thirty-three students, all seniors in the GTC education division, will practice teach in seven schools in this area.

Winter quarter practice teaching will be done in Hazelhurst, Sylvania, Savannah, Vidalia, Glennville, Claxton, and the GTC Laboratory School. The student teachers, working under the supervision of regular classroom teachers to whom they are assigned, will work in every field taught in state elementary and high schools except foreign languages and agriculture.

The schools, student assignments, home, town, and subject taught, are as follows:

Hazelhurst: Charles Grovenstein, Savannah, physical education.

Sylvania: Sara Fletcher, Chula, home economics; Gene Stallard, Brunswick, social studies; and Don King, Wrens, industrial arts.

Savannah High: Rachael Powe, Camilla, home economics; Phil Norton, Griffin, social studies; and Edward Potts, Rome, social studies.

Vidalia: Jane Seabolt, Tallapoosa, business education.

Claxton: Warren Gailbreath, Waycross, business education.

GTC Laboratory High School: Vaughn Dyer, Statesboro, physical education; Carolyn Talley, Griffin, physical education; Mary Jo Jackson, Attapulgus, home economics; Charles Dill, Waycross, social studies; Jean Wall, Atlanta, social studies; Carl Tyson, Lenox, English; Thomas Godbee, Portal, industrial arts; William Odum, Claxton, industrial arts; Ray Darley, Statesboro, business education; and Kirbylene Stephens, Waycross, business education.

GTC Laboratory Elementary School: Betty Vardeman, Waverly Hall, first grade and kindergarten; Ruby Lee Houston, Blakely, first grade and kindergarten; Peggy Marriott, Augusta, first grade and kindergarten; Jeanette Wallace, Pooler, second grade; Pat Underwood, Fitzgerald, second grade; Nancy Armstrong, Decatur, third grade.

Shirley Hanson, Avondale Estates, third grade; Shirley Bragg, Sylvania, fourth grade; Joan Womble, Waycross, fourth grade; Jeanine English, Gordon, fifth grade; Marquerite Dye, Elberton, fifth grade; Nina Jones, Matthews, sixth grade; and Robbie Nell Hendley, Garfield, sixth grade.

Yule Activities Slated Sunday

A series of Christmas activities are scheduled on campus Sunday, December 12. Included in this is a tea, dormitory Christmas parties, and male caroling group, which have become traditions at GTC.

The first of these is a tea in Cone Hall Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The boys will be hosts to the girls at this time. Sunday night each of the five dormitories will have Christmas parties. The girls' dormitories will carry out a program ending with distribution of gifts by a visitor in a Santa outfit. Refreshments will be served at these parties.

After the parties in the dormitories, the boys will form a caroling group with accordion accompaniment by Mrs. Zach S. Henderson. They will go to each of the girls' dormitories and sing Christmas carols.

Wilson Releases Survey Results

"How do you think the academic standards is at GTC?" Seventy-two per cent of the faculty answered "too low" to this question in a survey conducted recently by Dr. Leland Wilson, professor of exact science.

Nineteen per cent think the standards are about right at present. No faculty member reported that GTC standards are too low.

This survey on academic standards was made prior to a discussion by the faculty on the problem of raising standards at GTC.

Another important question considered by the faculty asked whether GTC as a teachers college should be greatly concerned about high academic standards. The faculty agreed that it should by a 96.9 per cent majority.

Dr. Wilson has also announced the results of the student opinions secured from juniors and seniors.

The students differ from the faculty on the present standards, students suggested (1) improve teaching methods, (2) plan a positive study program, (3) more individual help on the part of the instructors, and 4 more study by students, in this order.

'6 Die In Sanford Fire' Rat Squeaks

By BOBBY HOLCROW

This could have been true . . . . . because someone was lucky, it's not.

Anyone who is senseless enough to shoot off a nine-shot repeater inside of a dormitory should certainly get what's coming to them and in the case of the Sanford Hall fire, it may be more than is expected.

Of course rumors are flying thick and fast, but since there's not much to go on, these are the possibilities:

Since damages amounted to between two and three hundred dollars, and pictures were taken of the scene for the the insurance company, possibilities are than an insurance company investigator may be paying GTC a visit. Since these boys usually get their man, this may be one of the few times that a campus vandal was apprehended.

The rules seem to be that persons caught shooting fireworks are liable to be severely punished (shipped home).

Another interesting possibility is that the Coke room where the fire started was cluttered with waste paper; a fact that could lead to an indictment for arson, a crime that could lead, eventually, to ten years in prison.

It seems that in the past mischief makers here have, as was brought out above, gotten away with next to murder, much to the dismay of other students.

It's embarrassing to a student when he's at home and his brother gets in trouble and it's embarrassing at GTC when the boy next door does something that, if discovered, will lead to shipping.

The GEORGE-ANNE does not advocate that everyone here turn into quiet little mice but it does advocate a certain amount of law abiding behavior.

All of this is directed toward any students who might be thinking of trying a repeat performance of Tuesday night's mishap.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

GTC Christmas Spirit

By MAGGIE SIMPSON

The Christmas spirit is really spreading around campus this week as all the dormitories are being decorated for the Christmas parties Sunday afternoon and night.

Lewis Hall is brightly decorated with greenery and lights on the railing and greenery, ribbon and bells on the door.

As you step into the parlor, you see a tree with various colored lights and angel hair. On the mantle is a beautiful arrangement of blues and silver over an artificial fire in the fireplace. Several arrangements of red candles and flowers on the window sills and tables complete the decorations.

As you continue around the circle, you see the candy cane posts of West Hall. The same theme of red and white is carried out in the parlors. The tree and greenery has been painted white and red bulbs are used. The bannisters are decorated with greenery and bulbs, also. Candy canes adorn the doors of the side parlors, one of which contains a centerpiece on the piano, the other contains holly and red candles.

Next you come to East Hall which was decorated early because of visitors and various parties held there.

East Hall decorations consist of a big tree in the main parlor with various colored lights, greenery and decorations on the bannisters, and stars behind the stairs. The two side parlors each contain a small tree with blue lights. The front door is decorated with greenery and a

Yes, I'll agree it seems inappropriate but let's reminisce for awhile. We've finally reached the point where we can look back and now we see it wasn't so bad after all.

Remember that first day? I guess we will never forget it. We stepped from the top of the ladder to the bottom, all in one move. We looked, not really knowing what we were looking for. We asked, not really knowing what we were asking about. We found, and yet we didn't realize what we had found.

A place to live and learn, a place to find friends, and a place to love. We found new teachers, once if we try to understand, can also be the closest friend we could ever have. We've found friends, those people who made the campus such a wonderful place to live. Those that give us a smile, a laugh, and a needed helping hand.

Of course, we'll always remember the day the new blue fads seemed to sweep the campus. It was fun and even somewhat enjoyable at first. It pointed us out, but it helped us to get acquainted among ourselves, and for this we were thankful.

We can look back now on the nights of our parties. Who could forget the nights we gathered in just a little more than our "birthday suits" to parade around the surrounding hills and plains of our TC campus. How about when we went sliding through the mud and finally returning home not even noticing the 31 degree weather? Yes, it was rough going for awhile but we always had the slaps of encouragement by our beloved housemates. Then of course, the girls will never forget the mayonnaise and worms. And what about the dances, strutters, and vocalists?

The night and morning before "Rat Day"—another unforgettable, which we don't look back on without remembering the shine rooms, beauticians, masseurs, wash room, and the night of 100 janitors.

Then came the day, or at least it seemed to break in without notice, which will live forever. "Our day." Yes, at 6:30 we stood beneath the flag pole and answered "sir" to rat calls. This was after being "shook" by our rat friends from West Hall as they "bunny hopped" around the campus. No one will ever be able to relive that day and yet it will live in our hearts forever.

Later that evening all assembled and were brought before Rat Court. Of course, it was completely fair, it just happened no one was innocent. Everything from eating onions to sitting on ice made the entertainment enjoyable for the spectators. Even what seemed to be a riot by the freshmen just added to the suspense of the day and caused it to be more interesting—the catching "Merry Christmas" sign.

The decorations of Sanford consists of two small trees over the front doors instead of the big tree this year.

Cone Hall has a tree on each end of the porch. On the mantle in the lounge is an unusual centerpiece of straw, figurines and a lamp.

Instead of having the Christmas party after church Sunday night, Cone Hall will hold an afternoon party from 3 until 4:30 and all the boys are to invite a girl.

No one seems to be having any trouble getting the Christmas spirit this year.

BABS WISENBAKER, Editor

This last edition of the GEORGE - ANNE for this quarter has fallen a mite short on society news. The nearness of final exams plus the opening basketball season must have encouraged a large number of the students to remain on campus last weekend. Anyway, the news collectors for this column realize that something happened. We aren't complaining about students staying on campus, though. As a matter of fact, I think it would be a pretty good idea if more of us stayed here more often—but back to the news.

Last weekend found Barbara Burkhalter visiting Anzell Powell in Adrian.

Barbara Hodges journeyed to Savannah for a weekend with Gwen Shell.

Also missed on the campus during the "two-day rest period" were Frances Barfield and Bobby Jean Warren. The two of them went to Frances' home. It seems that they didn't miss us too much, 'cause from all reports, they had a wonderful time.

Visitors on campus lately, included Billyce Wall and Joanne Williamson from Atlanta. They visited Billyce's sister, Jean, at Lewis Hall. Billyce is engaged to Don Smith, who is a guard for the Atlanta Division basketball team. Billyce and Joanne had a good time and stayed at GTC from Saturday afternoon until Sunday afternoon.

You don't have to go off campus or have a visitor to get your name in this column. Take for instance the following happenings:

Cherrell Williams was honor guest at a birthday party Monday night. From a reliable source, we learned that our GEORGE-ANNE editor is the ripe age of 21.

Away from the birthday line, but still in connection with life on campus, this week's roving reporter has discovered that:

Star Woodard has been appointed as a majorette for the GTC band.

and kissing of the greased pig. It caused quite a few laughs but left a bad taste for a couple of people.

Now it's over, but yet it will live, because we lived it. It's over but now we know we've found what we were looking for, know what we were asking about. We've found a new home.

Peggy Henderson received a diamond from Walson Weathers last Friday.

The number of girls to be in the Beauty Revue is steadily increasing. In addition to the ones mentioned last week, it seems that Eulica Carter, Billie Kinchen, Nancy Armstrong, Dale Warnock, Anne Johnson, Mary Alice Jones, Betty Harden, Uldine Shuman, and Cathy Holt are all being paid honorable tributes by some of the campus organizations.

Well, we must admit that this is a long distance from the Beauty Revue, and not half as pleasant to think about, but health cottage has really been doing a booming business lately. Not wishing hard luck on anyone, but the reporters of this column hope that all the present "flu victims" are feeling much better in time for those exams.

Christmas is really making a grand debut this year. Instead of "Blue Christmas," GTC is going to have a pink one. If you don't believe it, just take a look in the hall of the ad building.

East Hall is planning to pull a funny on St. Nick. They have up three trees. I'd say they're shooting for high stakes, "triple or nothing"—along the gift line, that is. In all seriousness though, the season spirit really prevails there, and if I might editorialize a bit, I'd have to admit that it prevails in a very striking way.

Judging from the outside, it appears that the girls of West really like that "ole famous" Christmas candy. But what exemplifies this season anymore than peppermint sticks. The inside of the dorm is truly a pretty sight. They're having the ever faithful "White Christmas" at their house.

Lewis Hall is very attractively attired with her huge tree. Santa will have a full-time job if he fills the space that has been left for him in that house.

The decorations in Cone and Sanford Halls just go to prove that the boys will not be outdone by the weaker sex.

Say, something that is certainly a part of Christmas was about to not even be mentioned in this column. In case you haven't guessed, the subject being referred to is mistletoe. All that can be said for it is—it's around—so—Beware!! Merry Christmas!

On The Sideline...

The basketball squad was on the way home from Tallahassee on Monday night, and the bus radio was playing. That's usually a sign a team has just won themselves a game, but in this case it merely meant that Coach J. B. Scarce was pleased enough with the Professor's performance against FSU to relax the usual "no win, no radio" rule.

There were several bright spots in the 75-67 loss to FSU. Chester Webb finally looked like the great center of 1953-1954, even though he only totaled 17 points. At least 15 more rolled around and out. By the way, have you noticed Webb's free throw shooting? He led the squad the last two years with identical 71 per cent averages. For two games this season has converted 18 of 23 attempts, for 78 per cent.

Bo Warren had another 20-plus night at the baskets. He has improved his defense a great deal over last year, and is taking up the scoring pace he ended with.

Garland Campbell finally had a good night in his shooting. Known to be a good ballplayer in the service, Campbell had been generally ineffective until his second half performance on Monday night. FSU Coach Bud Kennedy said after the game that both Ronnie Rush and Campbell will be top college players.

Until Doug Corry went out with a five-stitch gash under his chin, and Rush picked up his fourth foul in the first half, the locals were outplaying the taller FSU squad even on the boards.

***

This game was the last one to be played in FSU's old gymnasium out at the air base. For the balance, the Seminoles will play in a new Tallahassee high school gym, and then next year move into a new 5,100 seat gym now under construction. With an enrollment jump from 5,500 to 8,500 in the last calendar year, Florida State University will be wishing for more seats than that in a very few years.

***

The folks at FSU are pretty thrilled over the prospect of their football team playing in the Sun Bowl at El Paso on New Year's Day. It's a large step on FSU's path toward recognition as a "bigtime" school.

Home Ec. Club Sees Gift Ideas

Monday night, December 6, Mrs. Myrtice Edenfield, home economics teacher at Metter High School, gave demonstrations of many inexpensive Christmas decorations, that could be made at home, and displayed the clever gifts made by the Metter High School girls from beads, rickrack, muffin tins, and bakery. Twenty-seven members were present at this regular meeting of the Home Economics Club.

Miss Caroline Wingo attended the Georgia Home Economics College Teachers meeting in Atlanta December 3 and 4. Miss Wingo is a member of the committee on Research on Home Economics Curriculum.

Thursday, December 9, the home economics student teachers and the girls in the home management house went to Savannah to visit and gather ideas on teaching vocational home economics in the high schools here, and in teaching adult classes.

Puppets Feature Art Class Show

"Little Red Riding Hood" and "The Three Wishes" are two puppet shows that members of Miss Roxie Remley's advanced educational art class have created.

These girls have worked on the project in class in cooperation with their local organization, Association for Childhood Education.

The show has been well received by children at the Zetterower Elementary School, and Laboratory School. Visiting students on campus this week from South Georgia College received a presentation, and the girls discovered that adults as well as children, enjoy puppets.

The puppeteers are Shirley Bragg, Jeanine English, Robbie Nell Hendley, Ruby Houston, Margaret Dye and Joan Womble. An experienced pup-

Professors Capture Opener 88-59; Seminoles Scalp GTC 75-67

By ROGER BROWN

The Georgia Teachers College Professors opened the season Saturday night with an 88-59 victory over the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia.

Bo Warren of Ludowici led the professors scoring with 12 baskets and a free throw for a total of 25 points. Team Captain Chester Webb, Ronnie Rush, and Doug Corry scored 13 points each for the Teachers.

The Professors led 33-29 at halftime, but bounced back in the second half when Rush scored 10 points in the first six minutes. The Professors made 25 baskets in 90 attempts during the evening for a shooting percentage of .278.

A new floor record of 65 personal fouls was assessed by the officials during the game.

Music Fills the Air

By HARRIET WOODARD

Did you hear strange music in the air Tuesday night? No, it wasn't angels and you hadn't had one drink too many (I hope). You see, the Music Education Club had a party in their newly-decorated lounge and someone got the bright idea of putting the juke—pardon me, I mean the phonograph, out on the fire escape so everyone on campus could hear Christmas carols and get the yuletide spirit.

There were approximately 30 students and faculty members present. Bob Priestly was chairman of the party committee and acted as master of ceremonies. Mel Kelly provided the entertainment, and Maralon Westbrook and Betty Kemp were hostesses. The highlight of the evening was a "kangaroo court" and we had our own Ralph Edwards, namely Mel Kelly, who really "gave us the works." He even called our dignified? faculty members to the stand and ordered them to retire to the outer chambers. Ten minutes later, out came the famous red-nosed member of Santa's team, Dasher, another faithful reindeer, and Santa, of course. You'd never guess who was under all those antlers and make-up! Mr. Hooley and Mr. Broucek, natch. Then Santa, alias Mr. King, pulled presents out of his pack for all of us.

Betty and Maralon called us to "come and get it" and for the next hour we munched old-fashioned pound cake and sipped coffee. Of course some of the more energetic ones danced and played games.

We're sorry if we disturbed anyone with our Christmas carols, but we wanted to share a part of our wonderful party with all of you, anyway.

Winter Quarter Changes Posted

Schedule changes for winter quarter, 1955, have been announced by the Georgia Teachers College administration. These changes will include the addition of four language courses in line with the straight AB and BS courses Georgia Teachers College will offer this year.

Courses added to the winter curriculum include French 101, French 201, biology 104C, Latin 201, biology 104C, Lab; German 101, psychology 201, business 441, physical education 302. Courses which have been dropped from the winter schedule are psychology 201, sociology 202, business 324, physical education 302.

ACE Chapter Makes Favors

The Association of Childhood Education is making Christmas favors for the trays of children at Eggleston Hospital for Crippled Children in Atlanta.

These favors are balls made in the form of a Santa head with a surprise inside. In the ball are a flag, a ball, and a balloon.

Outdoor Christmas trees are always things of true beauty and certainly this year is no exception. If you don't take the word of the press, all you have to do is cast your eyes in the direction of the two homes of the boys.

Fashions For Formals

Under all the mistletoe and holly, this holiday season will find party dresses in the prettiest fashions.

The Faculty Formal this Saturday night will bring out the best in frilly formals in all the shades of the rainbow. There will be everything from innocent white to fire engine red and in between will be colors like royal blue, lime green, and even subtle combinations such as gold and green and monochromatics like white, lavender, and purple.

Ballerina-length dresses are really easier to wear and are very becoming, but they're kinda like short hair; if the girls listen to most of the boys, they won't wear them, so many floor-length dresses are found.

Silver and gold, silver and gold. Well that's not exactly right but what looks like silver or gold high heeled sandals are flashing under many of these dresses and under the others may be satin pumps, dyed-to-match.

The usual order of the evening includes rhinestone earrings, sometimes big flowery sprays, sometimes little dainty ones, and many times long glamorous dangling ones.

To top things off there is gold and silver dust to sprinkle on your head.

So when that moon dust gets in your eyes remember us.

Lab School PTA Meets Dec. 15

The Laboratory School Parent Teacher Association will meet next Wednesday night in the Lab School auditorium. The program will be presented by the sixth grade students, taught by Miss Marie Wood.

The program will be a play entitled "Why the Chimes Ring" with the dialogue written by the pupils adapted from the story by the same name.

The Glee Club of the elementary school, directed by Dan Hooley, will provide the music for the program.
