RABBI STARRELS

Rabbi Starrels Speaks at GTC For Assembly

Georgia Teachers College students and faculty will head a Savannah rabbi at the regular assembly period Monday at 10 a. m.

Rabbi Solomon E. Starrels of the Congregation Mickve Israle, Savannah, is the speaker under the sponsorship of the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

A native of Brooklyn, Rabbi Starrels has served congregations in New Orleans and Lincoln, Nebraska. He did graduate study in England, earning his doctorate degree in comparative religion at the University of London. The rabbi has taught philosophy at the University of New Mexico and is a member of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

X-rays slated For Students

Georgia Teachers College students and faculty are to have chest x-rays made Monday and Tuesday, January 24-25. A mobile x-ray unit from the State Department of Health will be on campus the full two days for the work. Hours are from 9-12 a. m. and 1-3:30 p. m.

According to an announcement by Dean Paul Carroll, all students are required to have the x-rays made. There will be no cost to the student, he pointed out. Any student failing for any reason to take the examination, the dean said, will be required to make arrangements with the County Health Department for an examination before being readmitted to classes.

Dimes Collected For Polio March

The House Counsile of the various dormitories will distribute coin cards for the March of Dimes in the near future. After these cards are filled they may be returned to the business office, a house council member, or put in the faculty mail shop.

Sixty Two TC Students On Fall Deans List

Sixty-two GTC students maintained the minimum 5.33 grade ratio fall quarter, and as a result are on the dean's list for this quarter, according to the list recently released by Dean Paul Carroll. This figure includes 45 women and 17 men.

'Arsenic ... Lace' Famous Comedy Produced Here

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a delightful comedy in three acts by Joseph Kesselring will be presented by Masquers, Thursday night, January 27, in the GTC auditorium, according to Miss Dorothy Few, play director.

The play has been cast as follows: Abby Brewster, Lorene Brown; Martha Brewster, Fay Brown; Mortimer Brewster, Darwin Humphrey; the Rev. Dr. Harper, Joel Cooper; Elaine Harper, Diana Bair and Fayrene Sturgis; Teddy Brewster, Bob Priestly; Officer Brophy, Stanley Brobston; Officer Klein, Hans Kittel; Jonathan Brewster, Tab Smith; Dr. Einstein, Jimmy Johnston; Officer O'Hara, Cliff O'Neal; Lieutenant Rooney, Johnny Purser; Mr. Witherpoon, Carlton Humphrey.

The plot, built around the unusual desire of two elderly sisters, Martha and Abby, to comfort lonely gentlemen by putting arsenic into their wine, is further complicated by their nephew, Teddy, who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt, and by the sudden appearance of Jonathan, an escapee from an asylum for the criminally insane, and by the muddled love affair of their sane nephew, Mortimer, a dramatic critic.

Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from members of Masquers. Student tickets are 50 cents. Adults tickets are 75 cents.

SCA Announces Special Services

Religious Emphasis Week has been scheduled for a January 17-25 on the GTC campus, according to an announcement by Jimmy Johnson, junior, Augusta, president of the Student Christian Association.

Five special services will be held during the week. Three of these are chapel sessions at 10 o'clock Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. Night sessions will be observed Wednesday and Thursday nights at 6:15. The Rev. Frederick Wilson is guest speaker for these services.

Evening watch will be held each night at 10:30 in all dormitories. Morning Watch is scheduled for 6:30 each morning.

Johnson has asked that students support this activity, and that any students wishing to help the SCA see any SCA officer.

What's The Issue?

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

IS A STUDENT CENTER POSSIBLE?

The Student Council, last quarter, began tossing the idea of a GTC student center around. Probably for the first time, this idea was considered from a practical viewpoint. It was decided that idealized dreams had continued long enough.

Now is the time to begin seriously to consider the possibilities of GTC obtaining a student center. The ONE handicap at present is the lack of available space. It seems, however, that some arrangements could be made if the desire is strong enough.

Two heads are better than one, according to the old story. If the entire student body or a representative group had the opportunity to thrash out the issue, perhaps a solution would be offered. Anyway, it appears to be worth a try.

Now, the only logical time for such a "meeting of the minds" is in our regularly scheduled assembly periods. I would suggest devoting assembly time to panel discussions—led by students—on the possibilities of getting a student center.

The results might prove profitable, and even if no solution was offered, students would at least have become acquainted with the problems involved in such an undertaking. We have all to gain and nothing to lose, so let's talk it up!

All opinions on this issue will be appreciated, for I feel that it is one of the most important issues facing us at present. If this idea appeals to anyone, please drop a line to the editor. All comments will be printed.

Action and not dreams just might make a student center possible!

Any Suggestions? . . .

Several students have talked to members of the George-Anne staff recently concerning improvements on the paper. Some of these students have offered suggestions that have proven useful in the publication of the paper.

Since the George-Anne is a student paper, the staff feels that the students should be able to give voice to their likes and dislikes and also their suggestions in improving the George-Anne to make it more useful and enjoyable to the students.

With this in mind, the staff of the George Anne would like to invite any student who has a suggestion as to the paper's improvement to submit this suggestion in the form of a letter to the editor. The George-Anne staff is always ready to cooperate with the students and we need the cooperation and ideas of the students in order to make the paper one that really represents the student body.

Phone-Huggers

By CAROLYN PIERCE

Are you a "phone-hugger"? If you are, there's a watch-bird watching you. No kiddin', it's awfully irritating to anyone, even the most patient, to pick up the phone time after time, only to hear the same persons carrying on practically the same conversation.

You know, there is such a thing as getting homesick, no matter how long you've been away, and just when you're all ready to shed a few tears and tell Mom all your troubles—you've gathered all the change you can rake and scrape together—you pick up the receiver and what do you hear? Just take and guess and you'll be right—usually some very unimportant chatter. If it happens to be someone else in the same spot you're in, you can understand, and not mind waiting for a few minutes, but that happens few times.

What are we doing in college, and what should be our goals while here? In my book, one of the most important virtues, and it can well be called that, to be learned and practiced in campus life is to respect the rights and privileges of others. It is also the most abused virtue I know of, especially when one considers the length of time some people stay on a telephone.

There are approximately 550 people, who use the telephones on campus at one time or the other besides families and friends calling those 550. It's a mighty good thing that everyone of these don't persist in holding the phone as long as the so-called "phone-huggers" do. If they did, the telephone system at GTC might as well be disconnected in consideration of all the "good" it would do.

I haven't forgotten that the college is serviced by a private company in Statesboro and that the dorms are on party lines instead of having private lines as needed. In most of our home towns, we are serviced by Bell, and maybe it's hard to get used to not talking as long as we would like, but we should at least remember that the college is doing its best for us. Don't you think that we should do our best in making it less complicated for all concerned. Are you a "phone-hugger"?

Believe . . .

"Well That's a 'Cross' I have to Bear." How many times has a person uttered those words in a weary resigned tone of voice, seemingly trying to make his burden easier, or at least worth while.

Next time that phrase enters your mind think about this. A burden is a "Cross" only if taken on willingly, a load that cannot be avoided cannot be a Cross because it does not have the lifting power of free will or acceptance supporting it.

These words may not clarify this belief but are meant as food for thought.

This little column will be run from time to time; it's several creators hope that some minds will at least be lead to think about these subjects.

The Music Box

By HARRIET WOODWARD

Hi fellers and gals! Oodles of fine discs have popped up since the last issue of ye olde George-Anne.

The current rage is "Let Me Go, Lover." Four top singers have made recordings of this "real gone" song. Take your choice! You can hear it by Joan Weber, Teresa Brewer, Sunny Gale, or Dean Martin.

The canary from Robert Q. Lewis' TV show is making herself popular with her version of "That's All I Want From You." This very feminine little blonde has a very masculine name—she's Jaye P. Morgan.

For a real "jigged-up" version of "Sincerely," you must here it by the Moonglows. Course if you want som harmony leave it to the McGuire gals. They're really on the ball.

This one isn't new but it sho' is pretty. It's the Tara Theme from "Gone With the Wind." Words have been written for it and it's now called "My Own True Love." Miss Maggie Whiting does it in her own sweet style and it goes over in a great big way.

The fellow who made such a hit with "Answer Me Oh Lord," croons a different tune these days. It's "Old Shoes" by Mr. Rhythm himself — Frankie Laine.

RCA Victor has made up an Honor Roll of Hits containing twenty albums of hit songs from 1926 to 1952 with today's top entertainers giving the old songs a new twist.

Some of the best are:

1926—"Remember," by Eddie Fischer.

1930—"Time On My aHnds" by Vaughn Monroe.

1931—"Dancing In the Dark" by Ralph Flanagan.

1937—"Marie" by Tommy Dorsey.

1943—"Paper Doll" by Henri Rene.

1945 — "Sentimental Journey" by Hal McIntyre.

Just heard another ditty by Les and Mary and they really go wild on this one. It's "Song in Blue," but it definitely isn't blue.

Have you heard the new radio program, "Early Date"? It's for folks who like to go to bed early, I recon. Anyway, it comes on at 905 till 10. It's on the same order as "Late Date" and "Platter Parade." Speaking of "Platter Parade," I heard one that I'm crazy 'bout. It's Kitty Kallen doing "I Want You All to Myself." Real sweet! And on "Early Date" I heard the Hilltoppers introduce a new song called "Darling."

Enough of my scribbling—see ya 'round.

"Sincerely."

Is Religion Important?

Religion is admittedly of great importance in the life of every individual. Yet college students tend to treat religion as a good thing as long as it doesn't interfere with other weekly activities or that Sunday morning sleep.

Next week has been set aside as Religious Emphasis Week for GTC students in an effort to highlight religious activities as a part of college life.

The Student Christian Association has scheduled a full week of activities including Evening Watch in each dormitory during the week. The Rev. Frederick Wilson will be guest speaker for the services.

Religion is not a leisure time activity, but requires a continuous realization of its continuous importance in every-day life. The George Anne urges every GTC student to observe Religious Emphasis Week next week and to make a place for religion in daily college life.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"One big advantage in having to take this course over is that I know when I'm supposed to laugh."

JOE AXELSON

On The Sideline...

With 12 basketball games remaining on the Georgia Teachers 1954-55 schedule, it seems premature to talk about next season, but now is when 1955-1956 schedules are in the embryo process.

With all 12 squad members returning for next season, and a successful current season in the mill, Coach J. B. Searce is trying hard to draft the toughest schedule in GTC history.

With the best gymnasium in the state of Georgia on the verge of completion, Coach Searce has come up with what we think is a terrific idea for a novel way to open up the new roundball palace.

He wants to hold a four-team tournament to be run off in two days, single elimination style. The teams? The University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, Mercer University, and of course, GTC. The proposed dates would be Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3, 1955.

Coach Searce thinks, (as does everyone else, for that matter) that such an affair would pack the 3,000 seat gym, and would provide adequate financial remuneration to everyone concerned. The idea could be made a permanent one, with the tournament site rotating among the four schools on a four-year plan.

Georgia Tech's recent Cinderella win over Kentucky and Georgia's Southeastern Conference successes this season have given a terrific shot-in-the-arm to Georgia basketball.

After Tech gave Baron Adolph Rupp a new ulcer, the Atlanta sports pages actually put football on a back page and resembled a typical copy of the Louisville COURIER-JOURNAL or the Indianapolis STAR.

GTC and Mercer have had good basketball on the so-called "small school" level for years now, and with Georgia and Tech starting to push the big boys around, I suspect the fans would have to be packed into our new gym for such a tournament with a shoehorn.

Speaking of schedules, Coach J. I. Clements' baseballers have a 32-game card arranged that includes home games with national baseball powers Wheaton College (Illinois) and Amherst College, a perennial New England entrant in the finals of the NCAA baseball tourney.

With membership in the newly-formed Georgia Intercollegiate Conference as an interest stimulant, we're looking forward to GTC's best year on the diamond since the great teams of the early 30's.

Chester Webb is going to try to put another of Scotty Perkins' GTC school scoring records in the ashcan tomorrow night. If and when he scores his 16th point against Belmont Abbey, his career total will be 1,182 points, one more than that of Perkins, who scored his points in the 1949-1951 era.

The other one Perkins holds is the one-season mark of 611 set in 1951, and "check" is well on his way toward that one with his 26.5 average per game.

Varsity Sports Review

By ROGER BROWN

Chester Webb, 6' 7" team captain and center, set a new one-game scoring record for Georgia Teachers College with 47 points against Piedmont College at Demorest last week.

The total eclipsed the previous mark of 39 set by Webb in the last game before the Christmas holidays played at Augusta against Wofford. This gave Webb a total of 86 points in two games, also a record.

Webb is also leading the Professors scoring with an average of 26.5 per game, fifteenth among the nation's small college scorers.

A road trip last week produced two victories and one loss. The Professors tumbled Piedmont College 135-109, North Georgia 87-65, and was edged out by Erskine 88-78. A victory last Monday night over Florida Southern by a score of 77-56 gives the Professors a seven won and three lost record.

The game played at GTC Wednesday night against Quantico Marines will not count in the NCAA standing as a result of the new rule by NCAA stating that games played against service teams would be played as exhibition games.

The Georgia Teachers College Professors lost a thriller to the Quantico Marines Wednesday night by the score of 101-82.

Chester Webb led the scoring with 31 points followed by Bo Warren with 19 markers.

The game was classified as an exhibition game since the opponent was a service team.

The Professors meet a new basketball power Saturday night at 8:30 when they play the Belmont Abbey Crusaders of Belmont, N. C. One national ranking system rates the visitors six-point favorites in the first contest of the two schools.

A preliminary game has been scheduled for Saturday night between Manor and Nevils High Schools. Game time is 7 o'clock.

SCA Shows Film Concerning Bible

January 27, February 3, and 10 the SCA will sponsor the on-campus showing of the movie, "Our Bible—How It Came to Us." This picture, which is released by the American Bible Society is said to be one of the greatest spiritual films ever made.

The reels, 25 minutes in length, will be shown at 6 p. m. in the AV room of the library on the above mentioned Thursday nights, taking the place of regular Twilight services.

Part one concerns the beginnings of the Bible. Part two deals with the spreading of the Bible across Europe, while part 3 treats the various English editions of the Bible up to the present Revised Standard Version.

Some excerpts from this movie have been shown over TV and it has been referred to as being worthy years of Bible study.

Campus Column

JO ANN HILL, Editor

Starting out with a new year, the George-Anne is beginning a new column to be known as Campus Column. This column will be composed of general news affecting anybody and everybody.

Let's begin with all the rings received during the holidays. Seems as if Glynn county did a booming business.

Barbara Wilkins of St. Simons, received a diamond from Charles Snook.

Lou Nell Brockington, also of St. Simons, is now planning a June wedding, as she received her ring from Dewayne Rober-son.

Donna Jo Livingston, Brunswick, a GTC student of last year, will also be a June bride.

Not from Glynn county but also receiving a ring is Anne Davis of Odum. As of yet an official wedding date has not been set for her and Edward Murphy Jr.

Laurien Seanor received her ring from Morris Davis, A GTC graduate. Morris is now attending Augusta Medical College and was on campus last week-end visiting Laurien.

Last month Sue Collins received a ring from Red Harper. In keeping with Lewis Hall's traditions, Sue was treated to a rather "wet shower" by many of her friends. Other Lewisites are Nancy Armstrong and Edna Faye Morgan, also sporting rings.

Exchanging visits during the holidays were Harriet Woodard and Carolyn Pierce. Also swapping visits were Cherrell Williams and Cathy Holt.

Numerous visitors were on campus this past weekend.

Among them were "Peabody" Denny, Donald Thomas, Hugh Wells, Marvin Vanover, and Larry Cook, all ex-students.

Robert Taylor and Jack Gay, GTC alumni, visited Rebecca Sheffield and Lena McNeal.

Curtis Gleaton of Brewton Parker visited Geraldine Philips Monday night. Coming with Curtis from BPI was former student, "Check" Litvaney.

Back to Christmas and Santa Claus, Ellen Blizzard's gift topped them all. Victim of bad luck, Ellen received two white sidewall tires from old St. Nick.

The new two-toned-blue Pontiac seen on campus of late is the proud possession of Bernie Bernard. Just one suggestion from us Bernie, don't let Ellen play chauffeur for your car.

And so students, this ends your column for this week. You now have the general idea and perhaps next week when your roving reporters are searching for news, you will have an item.

So long for now. See ya' next issue.

Homick Attends District Meeting

Stephen B. Homick, head of the division of business education, will participate in a district planning conference of the Georgia Business Education Association at Milledgeville Jan. 14-15.

The conference, at Georgia State College for Women, includes representatives from GTC, GSCW, and the University of Georgia.

Freeman Speaks On 'Child Fear'

Miss Bertha Freeman, associate professor of education, will be the speaker for the regular monthly parents meeting at the nursery school Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Subject of her talk will be "Children's Fears," according to an announcement by Miss Betsy Meadows, nursery school director. The program is part of a regular monthly series in which parents of the nursery school children get together for discussions of problems of the nursery school age-group.

Office practice and education students witnessed a demonstration on Merle Norman cosmetics in the Laboratory High School Wednesday.

The demonstration was given by Mrs. Christine Mikell, Statesboro, and Mrs. Rebecca Anstein, Savannah.

A movie, "Invitation to Beauty," proceeded the demonstration.

Winter Quarter Revisions Made For Orchestra

The Georgia Teachers College dance orchestra has been revised in several ways at the beginning of winter quarter.

The orchestra is now a self-governing organization, with all rules and regulations set up by the members. Mr. Dana King, band director, will continue to liaison between the orchestra and any outside group and at the beginning of each quarter each member will sign a contract.

Try-outs on a challenge system were held last week and the results have been posted though additional changes may be made. The instrumentation is as follows:

Vocalist—Alton Dews, sophomore, Edison.

Drums—Don Flanders, junior, Statesboro.

Bass—Melburn Kelly, junior, Sardis.

Piano—John Huxford, senior, Homerville.

A great addition to the dance orchestra is the fact that a piano has been put in the gym so that individual groups won't have to furnish one.

The full orchestra will play for all dances on campus this quarter. Their calendar is as follows:

January 29—Junior Formal.

February 12—Homecoming dance.

March 5—Vet Club dance.

March 12—Sophomore dance.

Horne Reports Bowl Festivities

According to Betty Horne, Miss TC Gator Maid, the Gator Bowl festivities will have a high place in her college activities. There are many functions and much rushing, but all was fun.

To start off with all the girls went aboard the USS Midway on Monday and ate dinner in the officer's mess hall. While they were aboard and also Tuesday when they toured the Naval Base the girls were provided with officer escorts.

Wednesday night all the girls went to the Gator Bowl Basketball Tournament and during the halftime were judged for Miss Gator Maid.

Of course the big day was New Year's Eve when she had a front seat at the Gator Bowl Football Game between Auburn and Baylor. Saturday all the girls in the contest were invited to a banquet for both teams.

Dr. Farkas Joins Staff As Language Professor

Languages are back on the Georgia Teachers College curriculum this quarter, and the newly-enrolled students have the benefit of an instruction with an authentic accent in as many as five different tongues!

Dr. Zoltan J. Farkas, 46, a native of Budapest, Hungary, but who became a U. S. citizen last November, joined the GTC faculty January 3 as associate professor of languages. His work this quarter includes beginning classes in German, French, and Latin.

The new teacher, with his wife and three children, moved to 42 Carmel Drive, Statesboro, on New Year's Day from Savannah (White Bluff) where they lived for the last three years and where Dr. Farkas was office manager for the Diamond Construction Company.

Dr. Farkas, who speaks German, French, Italian, Hungarian, and English, has a varied background of teaching experience. Beginning in 1931 it includes two years as tutor for the children of the Hungarian ambassador in Ankara, Turkey, three years at Presbyterian College in Budapest, eight years at Wesselenyi Commercial College, Budapest, and four years with the Exiled Hungarian Boy Scout Association. Since 1951 he has taught German and French at Armstrong Evening College in Savannah.

At the age of 18 he received his AB degree at Kossuth Junior College in Cegled, Hungary, in 1926. Four years later, at Pazmany University, Budapest, he received his MA, majoring in German and Hungarian Language and Literature. The following year, at the same university, he earned his Ph.D degree with majors in German, literature, and commercial correspondence.

Dean Announces Point Averages

Residents of Lewis Hall have considerably better grade point averages than the other women's dormitories according to a list compiled by Dean of women, Helen Duncan.

One corridor in Lewis Hall achieved a B average and two halls in East dormitory were close behind with high C averages. Ane corridor in West Hall had the doubtful honor of playing anchor man with a bare C. average.

His commercial activities, besides his work with the Savannah construction firm, include a stint of teaching in a Budapest vocational school, four years of office work with an electric company in Saalfelden, Australia, and two years as partner in "Translation Service" in Savannah.

The new GTC staff member came to the United States in 1949, settling permanently in Savannah. He has traveled extensively in Europe, covering Australia, Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, England, The Balkans, and Turkey. His hobbies include photography, scouting, and gardening.

Languages have not been offered at GTC since the 1949-50 school year. This quarter's program of beginning courses is to be expanded to include advanced sections later this year. Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president, and Dr. Fielding Russell, chairman of the English division, both expressed pleasure at having secured Dr. Farkas on the faculty. His background and his various teaching experiences, they say, make him a valuable addition to the staff.

Dean of Women Edits News Letter

Miss Helen Duncan, dean of women, has been appointed the new editor of the Southern College Personnel Association newsletter.

Miss Duncan, who joined the GTC faculty last summer, was appointed to the position following the recent annual convention of the group in Williamsburg, Va.

The newsletter is published quarterly and carries news of personnel activities in the college of the 14 southern states in the association.
