Juniors Request 'No Corsages' Worn at Dance

Costume judges for the "Old South Ball," plans for awarding prizes to the best dressed boy and girl, and a decision against girls wearing corsages at the formal were discussed at a meeting of the junior class dance committee Wednesday night.

Although the dance is formal, the students are urged to wear costumes, and the sponsors decided that a costume contest with prizes awarded would heighten interest in this angle of the dance.

Faculty members who have been asked to serve as judges for the contest are Dr. Thomas Alexander, Dr. Jack N. Averitt, Miss Frieda Gernant, Miss Ela Johnson, and Stephen B. Homick.

The dance committee reported that the decision against giving corsages was made because it was felt that corsages are an unnecessary expense; it is hoped that more students will attend because of this decision. All students are requested to comply with this request and not wear corsages.

The dance, with an "Old South" theme carried out in decorations, floorshow, and refreshments, is scheduled Saturday, March 12.

Decorations will feature a mural of a colonial mansion on one wall of the gymnasium with the dance floor organized as a patio and garden.

The floor show will feature selections from popular old South music as well as music from "Gone With the Wind." Darwin Humphrey will act as narrator for the program which is based on the dance theme. At the end of the show winners of the costume contest will be announced.

Cathy Holt is in charge of the floor show which will feature Harriet Woodard, Tab Smith, Carolyn Pierce, Charlie Joe Hollingsworth, and Mary Alice Jones. Dan Hooley will serve as accompanist.

Vets to Sponsor Saturday Dance

The Vet Club will sponsor an informal dance Saturday, March 5, at 8 p. m. in the recreation room of Cone Hall. Music will be by the Professors.

Alton Dews is in charge of the floor show.

Committees for the dance are:

Decorations: Wendell Bowen, chairman; Charles Dill, Ace Little, Bobby Richard, George Martin, and James Quinn.

Cleanup: George Kemp, chairman; Britt Fayssoux, Jesse Sullivan, Charles Brannen, and W. D. Glisson.

Publicity: Lewis Strickland, chairman; Cay Fordham, Clarence Miller, and John Jordan.

Refreshments: John Rusher, chairman; Joe Smith, Bill Odum, and Robert Haulbrook.

MEN OF SONG HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

The Men of Song, famous song team with experience in radio and television, will give the final concert in the Statesboro Community Concert series Tuesday night at 8:15 in McCroan Auditorium. The group features John Campbell and Carl Honzak as tenors, Richard White as baritone, Edmond Karlsrud as bass, and Charles Touchette as pianist-arranger.

Men of Song to Present Concert Tuesday P. M.

The very popular men's quintette, The Men of Song, will be featured in the third and final concert of the 1954-55 series sponsored by the Statesboro Community Concert Association Tuesday night, March 8, in the McCroan Auditorium. The quintette, which has received critic's praise over the country, is composed of John Campbell, first tenor; Carl Honzak, second tenor; Roger White, baritone; Edmond Karlsrud, bass; with Charles Touchette at the piano. The quintette is generally considered by those who love male singing at its best as the number one male vocal group on the concert stage today.

The versatile members of the group are especially known for their precision, clarity, tone, quality, and excellence of their individual voices. Their fine voices are enhanced by the piano accompaniment of Touchette, who arranges practically all the songs for the vocal group.

The Men of Song are also noted for rich variety in their program, ranging from the classics of such composers as Shuman and Beethoven, the early American folk songs and spirituals, to the lighter works of Rodgers and Hammerstein and other contemporary composers of the American stage.

The concert will start at 8:15 p. m. and students will be admitted upon presentation of their ID cards. No students will be admitted without identification to this third and last concert of the 1954-55 Community Concert Series.

Women Students Meeting Tuesday

A meeting of all women dormitory students will be held Tuesday, March 22, at 6:15 in McCroan Auditorium, according to Miss Helen Duncan, Dean of Women. It is very important that all resident students be presented at this time.

Emory Slated As Conference Site

"College Teaching as a Christian Vocation" will be the theme of a conference held on the Emory University campus in Atlanta, April 15-16. The conference is sponsored by the Danforth Foundation with the cooperation of several colleges in the southeastern area of the United States. The purpose of the conference is to present college teaching as a Christian vocation to outstanding college juniors and seniors who have an interest in this field.

The conference is set up around three addresses on teaching in general and two seminar sessions in particular subject fields. Included in the addresses will be a consideration of the expense of graduate work, scholarship help that is available, and possible earnings as a college teacher. Other addresses will be concerned with religion and higher education and "Teaching as a Christian Vocation."

The Danforth Foundation will provide for the entertainment at Emory: room, meals, administration of the conference. Students are responsible for transportation to and from Atlanta.

GTC Participates In Education Evaluation

GTC will participate in a national testing program next week to check on the general education program as compared with other schools in the nation, according to an announcement posted yesterday.

Jones Presents Senior Recital Monday Evening

Mary Alice Jones, senior Hazelhurst, will present a senior voice recital, March 7, at 8:15, under the sponsorship of the Music Division of GTC. This concert will take place in the Recital Hall of the music building.

Selections from her program will be an aria from the opera "Thais," a modern jazz lullaby; "An American Lullaby," a special arrangement of "Taps," and many other selections.

Miss Jones is a music education major, on the board of directors of the Philharmonic Choir, planning board of the concert band, dean of the Organ Guild, president of En-Melodie, member of Kappa Delta Pi, and was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Dr. Ronald J. Neil, head of the division of music will accompany Miss Jones. Everyone is cordially invited.

Deadline Set For Invitations Order

Orders for senior invitations and cards must be sent to the printers as soon as possible. Monday from 10:30 to 12, and from 3:30 to 5, orders will be taken in the hall of the administration building, according to Angene Culbreth, senior class secretary.

The personal name cards may be ordered by the hundred. No order for less than one hundred is accepted by the company.

Herff-Jones Company requests that the order be into the factory at least by March 10, so Monday will be the only time cards and invitations may be ordered.

Summer Rooms Applications Due

Applications for summer school rooms in the dormitories must be applied for by March 22. On that date room assignments will be open to those not enrolled now.

The purpose of the testing program is to study GTC freshmen and sophomore curriculums in light of results of these tests. 90 students have been selected to participate in this program, and will be required to take all three of the scheduled tests.

Each test will be given twice next week. Students who have been selected may take the tests at hours most convenient for them, but they must take all three tests. A two dollar fee will be charged if a special testing has to be arranged.

Students are expected to choose the schedule which will interfere least with class attendance. If it is necessary to miss a class, students should explain the situation to the instructor involved.

The testing schedule is as follows:

ENGLISH

Monday, March 7, 1:30.

Thursday, March 10, 10 o'clock.

GENERAL CULTURE

Tuesday, March 8, 8 o'clock.

Thursday, March 10, 1:30.

CONTEMPORARY AFFAIRS

Tuesday, March 8, 3:30.

Wednesday, March 9, 3:30.

The following students will participate in this national testing program:

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

Throughout the state for the past few weeks a common expression, "But there'll be next year!" has been heard.

Gymnasiums all over the state have echoed the sound as basketball teams were defeated but not broken in the always hard struggle for district or state championships.

Great ball players have been removed from the spotlight as other great players stepped into view. Players whose hopes were elevated for weeks walked to shower rooms with lowered heads after the final whistle caught them a few points short of victory. Fans began long, silent rides home to another year of waiting, each with one thought, "If only..." It is a saddening spectacle in a way, but enough spirit is always left for "But there'll be next year!"

It seems that this one expression—this hopeful, desirous, almost prayerful expression—is the mainstay of hundreds of players and many more fans through the long months that separate season from season.

Tuesday night the expression rang through GTC dormitories as the Professors lost "the game" to FSU.

For those students who heard the game (and who didn't), a more agonizing hour was never spent. Could any medieval torture chamber boast of a more dreadful torture than the minutes of "soothing" music while the game was interrupted by technical difficulties? For the boys, at least, it was a time of floor-pacing and chain-smoking and moaning something like "Why did it happen with the score tied?" or "Just our luck!", or stronger expressions that won't bear printing.

Long agonizing minutes after the game was surely over, ears remained glued to the radio, and fingers remained crossed. Then came Joe's voice "...83 to 91..." Immediately there came the expression, echoed by many voices down the corridors, "But there'll be next year!"

And there will be next year. The Professors who have surpassed all expectations this season will be identically the same Professors next year. The team that won 20 and lost 4 will return in its entirety for next season's play.

When this season's record is considered, it can be easily seen why the corridors echoed with the hopeful expression. All five starters have posted a double column average. Webb's season total pushed 800 and Warren recorded around 500 points. Every floor record in the history of GTC basketball is now held by this team, the same team who can break their own records next year. A new gymnasium will be ready for next season which should mean a schedule with better known teams. Several high school stars will give added strength to the current team.

Of course spirits were at a low ebb Tuesday night, as is always the case after an important defeat. But spirits were not so broken that promises of next year were not forthcoming.

To Coach Searce and the Professors, I'd like to offer congratulations for a fine season's play—play that surpassed all early hopes. Then I'll go out and join in the shouting of "But there'll be next year!"

Summer Projects

By JIMMIE JOHNSON

Each summer many students from all over the country join together in working with the National Student YM and YWCA's. Some of them work in youth comps as counselors and some in city Y's but let us introduce to you some new projects that are being tried by many students through the Y's.

There are international seminars, student-invocation projects and leadership seminars. Two of the most interesting are the work-study seminars and the citizenship seminars. Several of those mentioned, such as the international seminars are not feasible for those of us here at TC, in that they are rather costly. It would be a magnificent thing however if the student body would send one representative. It could be done, and it could be that a project of this nature could bring to our campus some of the spirit that we hear so much about and we so need.

In the seminar this summer the group will go to Europe and receive a first-hand study of political, social, and religious situations in other countries. Students will get to know the hopes and concerns of European students. They study their roles as Americans and Christians in working toward international harmony.

For those that have to work during the summer and yet would like to join one of these seminars, there are several possibilities for you. There are College Summer Service Groups. The members will have intimate acquaintance with life in two large American cities. They will hold regular jobs in the most effective social agencies in these cities. Some will work only for room and board, others will work and be paid salaries of $125 to $200 per month. If you are interested please contact the SCA Council.

There are opportunities for students to held jobs in factory, office or service industries. They gain actual experience in dealing with major social and economic problems of our country. The student will earn the cost of the seminar plus some savings.

Another possibility is offered in leadership seminars, one that is offered to you is Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Regular seminar sessions probe the concerns and responsibilities of campus christian leadership. Students earn $200 to $400 in addition to room and board. Dates: Approximately June 25-September 9.

One of the most interesting and important projects offered is the citizenship seminars in Washington, D. C. One can work and earn room and board and the cost of the seminar plus a savings. The seminar will visit Congress and meet with top government officials, study the major problems of government in terms of the Christian understanding of man, society and history. Visit the United Nations and watch it at work.

There is a second project under the citizenship seminar listed as, Meet Your Government—a three day seminar on highlights of American government. Dates: March 19-22. This is another project to which we could send someone.

Why can't we make TC known, and at the same time, give someone a chance for some worthwhile experience? Let's try it.

The Music Box

By HARRIET WOODWARD

The Music Box is 'bout shot this week. I've only had a few requests so far, so we'll just make a few of our own.

Before we start, though, let us warn you—if you see hundreds of kids swarming all over the Sweetheart Campus this weekend, don't get shock. They're here for the Region Five Music Festival. You can expect about 3,245 or more, and they'll be doing everything from folk-dancing to twirling, so just be prepared for lots of noise.

To all the students who are taking French at GTC, we dedicate Nat "King" Cole's new "Je Vous Ai e Beaucoup," which means "I Love You Very Much," or something just as sweet and romantic.

To James we dedicate "I Believe" by either Frankie Laine or Jane Froman—take your choice, James. It's a mighty fine song no matter who does the canarying.

"You'll Always Be the One for Me" by the Four Aces is real fine, but I still think "Tell Me Why" is the best record they've ever made.

Dukes said that he heard a record called "One Heart's Not Enough," but he couldn't remember who sang it. Well we'll dedicate it to him anyway.

'Scuse me, Ellen, for not wishing you a happy birthday last week, but to make up for it could we dedicate another of Nat "King" Cole's new releases to you? How 'bout "The Sand and the Sea." Hope you like it!

The feller who said "Buddy, have a drink" this summer has done it again—but good! He really makes hash out of "Make Yourself Comfortable." 'Case you don't remember his name, it's that crazy mixed-up Deacon Andy Griffith. "What it was, was a fine tear-down of a real nice song so that you can see the motives behind the words.

Kay Starr really gets lively on a number called "Comes Along a Love," and the accompaniment is really crazy.

I'll close now, saying "Welcome Home" to the Professors, and we love you even though you aren't going to Kansas City.

Who Isn't Considerate

A few people over the campus have been heard recently saying that politeness of some personnel isn't up to par. Realizing that many times the mood a person is in has a lot to do with one's work during the day, we wonder if some of us aren't being a little hasty in the view of criticism.

The George-Anne staff weels that we have a friendly atmosphere on the GTC campus. Most of the professors and other employees of Georgia Teachers College are looked upon as nice, friendly people. Of course everyone has his own ideas about this controversy.

Most of the complaints we have heard come from students whose feelings have been hurt by seemingly overbearing personnel in the library.

College students have sufficient knowledge to respect other people in the library who are taking good advantage of their time.

The George-Anne staff feels that a little cooperation between students and library personnel can solve this problem.

On The Sideline...

Well, another roundball season is on the record books, and to say that Georgia Teachers College enjoyed a successful season would be rather redundant, to say the least.

To quote Coach J. B. Scarce, "This team came the farthest and gave me more personal satisfaction than any other squad I've ever coached."

This column went on record last November as saying our Professors would do well to win 12 out of the 22 games for record. That was calling a spade a spade, and was based on pretty close observation of practice sessions and game-situation scrimmages. The scrimmage on Thanksgiving afternoon was enough to convert a Professor fan to ice hockey or even studying or something. Terrible.

On December 1 we visited Parris Island and suffered a 101 to 65 drubbing, that seemed to prove only two things, namely that Doug Corry had improved 200 per cent over last season, and that teamwise the winter would be a long one.

The first hint of things to come was the 75-67 loss at Florida State. Then the Stetson win, the two-point loss to Rollins and the convincing win over a veteran Wofford team at Augusta made things look potentially bright.

Team balance was the answer, I suppose. Chester

Webb figured to have a good year, and he did even better than that. The Helms-Foundation All-American is to be announced on March 7, and if "Large Chester" isn't among those present I'll be surprised. His 792 points, 388 rebounds, and 83 assists speak for themselves.

Bo Warren had a good year. He finished with 498 points in his sophomore year, which places him just 75 points back of the 865 points Webb scored in his first two years with GTC. The Ludowici husky picked-up a fair jump shot late in the season to go along with the prettiest one-handed set in the land, and by next season Bo should be a well-balanced scorer.

If the hustling Corry improved 200 per cent then Don Wallen came on about 195 per cent over last year's performance. He changed from an erratic, driving-type guard, with little or no scoring ability (54 points last year), to a cool, calm floor general with 295 points and a fantastic total of 238 assists. Some of the most beautiful cross-court bounce passes I've ever seen, were delivered this season by the transplanted Kentuckian from the improbable-sounding town of Wheelwright.

Garland (Humpy) Campbell turned in a masterful job of rebounding for a 5-11 man, and hit the double figures with 290 points. An aggressive hustler all the way, Hump figures to play a lot more fine basketball in his remaining three seasons.

We don't graduate a squad-member, which in itself bodes no good for Florida State next season. FSU graduates 6-7 Rick Benson and 6-0 Ham Wernke, king-sized thorns at Tallahassee on Tuesday night. It may sound like the time-worn battle cry of the Brooklyn Dodger, but "wait till next year" seems unusually appropriate to me at this time.

With the NAIA district play-offs already tentatively set for our new gymnasium next season, it looks like Kansas City in March, 1956, is definitely a strong possibility.

Our most hearty congratulations to Coach Scarce, Coach Clements, and their 12 battlers on their 20-4 season, their 14 game winning streak, and all the pleasant moments they accorded the basketball fans of this area.

Baseball Team Plays Twelve GIC Ballgames

The Georgia Teachers College baseball team will begin the 1955 season March 12 at Parris Island.

Amherst College of Massachusetts will be the first home opponent this year. The two games will be played March 21 and 22, the first two days of the spring quarter.

This is the first year for the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference. Coach J. I. Clements Jr. feels that he will have the best team he has fielded in several years.

The official Georgia Intercollegiate Conference 1955 baseball schedule has been announced.

The home games are with Piedmont College, March 31; Valdosta State College, April 8, 9; North Georgia College, April 15, 16; and Oglethorpe University, April 28.

Games away will be played with Valdosta State College, April 19; Oglethorpe University, April 22, 23; North Georgia College, May 6; and Piedmont College, May 6, 7.

Webb, Warren Named to NAIA All-Tournament

Chester Webb, 6-7 center, junior, Elberton, and Howard "Bo" Warren, 6-0 guard, sophomore, Ludowici, were selected on the six man all tournament team last week in Tallahassee.

Webb scoring 68 points in the two games to take scoring honors for tournament play. Warren scored only 27 points, but played a remarkable game both nights.

Seminole Down Profs In District NAIA Finals

The Georgia Teachers College Professors winning streak was snapped at 14 when Fla. State University of Tallahassee, edged the Professors 91 to 83 to cop the District 25 NAIA small college tournament.

The Professors earned the right to enter the finals when they tripped Mercer 96-79 Monday night. FSU topped Stetson University 86-77 to gain a berth in the finals.

Chester Webb played a great game, scoring 39 points and taking 18 rebounds to lead the Professors in winning over the Mercer Bears. Don Wallen scored 20 points and contributed eight assists to the winning cause.

GTC led 6-2 after the first four minutes. Webb scored 10 of the Professors' first 13 points and had scored 25 by the end of the first half. Don Wallen accounted for 10 points and the three remaining starters could account for only five points, all total. Halftime found the Professors ahead by only one point, 40-39.

The boys from GTC roared back in the second half, scoring 33 points in the first 10 minutes to Mercer's 24 to gain a 10 point advantage that never was relinquished.

Garland Campbell scored his 15 points in the second half, jump shooting and driving, and he collected eight rebounds for a good 20 minutes work.

Mercer froze the ball for the remaining two minutes, to keep the Professors from breaking the 100 mark for the eighth time this season.

The Georgia Teachers College Professors lost a heart-breaker to Florida State University in the District 25 NAIA small college tournament finals, 91-83, played at Tallahassee, Tuesday night.

Chester Webb led the Professors scoring with 29 points. Bo Warren and Don Wallen hit for 18 apiece.

The Professors outscored the Seminoles 33-28 from the field, but lost at the foul line 35-17. Three Professors left the game via the foul route. They were Doug Corry, Garland Campbell, and Bo Warren.

The lead changed hands 11 times before the Seminoles tied 74-74 and then going ahead to keep it for the victory.

Campus Column

By JOANNE HILL

As quitting time draws near and we review for final tests, we would also like to glance back at some of the happenings of this quarter.

Perhaps the most outstanding thing of this quarter was failure of interested fans to hear the last few minutes of "that" ball game with FSU Tuesday night.

And then there will always be the memory of this season's basketball team. Though they lost their last game, we know they really won, for it matters not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game.

Then we remember the big Homecoming "blow." It wasn't the most successful Homecoming GTC has ever had, but ten to one it was the windiest. Who could ever forget the sight of those heart broken people who watched their floats being blown away.

Miss TC of 1954 stepped down from her ruling throne on the night of February 12 and passed the title on to Diana Bair, Miss TC of 1955.

Masquers, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Few, did their usual superb job when they presented "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Vieing with our Masquers for top honors in the field on intertainment, was the Boston Pops concert presented by the Statesboro Community Concert Association.

The music department has done their share toward providing entertainment for the students. Probably their most outstanding event was the student recital which was held March 1.

Another notable happening of the quarter was the appointment of "Bo" Ginn, as the youngest member of the governor's staff in the history of the state.

Certainly unforgettable in the glance back, is the new individual scoring record set by Chester Webb, who was also unanimously selected to the All-State ball team. By virtue of his unanimous selection, he was also named captain of the team.

Besides Chester, the other four starters made either the "B" team or honorable mention.

And then there was Don Walen who set a new school record in scoring assists.

Bo Warren almost came into the limelight. He missed the 500 mark by 2 points.

Also now on campus this quarter were Dr. Farkas and the foreign language department. With the addition of this department, there were added two new clubs—the French and German.

The auditorium was dedicated to J. E. McCroan during the quarter.

Last, but we feel that it wasn't least was the addition of your "Campus Column."

Back to this week's events and we find that Diana Bair spent the weekend with Sue Buchan in Dublin.

Eugenia Wright was Star Woodard's guest in Hazelhurst.

Shirley Gmann was given a surprise birthday party Tuesday night, by the girls on third floor, back wing of West Hall.

Carolyn Bourne visited June and Joy Bacon in Hinesville over the weekend.

Saturday night Liz Morgan was the guest of Sylvia Bacon at Sylvia's home in Statesboro.

Helen Knight's sister visited her during the weekend.

Myrna Robson and James Hood will be tying the matrimonial knot. Myrna came in Monday night with a very pretty "rock" on the third finger of her left hand.

One of those times when we didn't have anything to do, just for kicks, we figures out some statistics on East Hall. There are 12 girls going steady, two pinned, 11 engaged, and one married. Not so bad—huh?

The campus was extra noisy Thursday and Friday—as you probably noticed—Why? Because of the Music Festival—why else?

News is out so as a close:

Spring is here and the young man's fancy has turned to what we girls have been dreaming of all winter.

Gotta go—see ya next issue!

GTC Delegates Attend Home Ec. Meet in Augusta

Today and tomorrow the delegates of the Home Economics Club are attending the annual Georgia Home Economics Association convention in Augusta at the Bon Air Hotel.

This year's theme is "Today's Challenge to the Home Economist." The program features speakers on "Are We Doing Our Part?", "The Challenge of Education for One World," "Research in Home Economics," and "Effective Bulletin Boards, Posters, and Exhibits." Other features include a banquet tonight, a Saturday morning breakfast, club section luncheons, and business sessions. The election of state officers will be held Saturday morning.

Nominations for state offices include three girls from our own club. They are Etta Ann Akins, for president; Janis Miller, secretary; and Ann Davis, reporter. These girls were nominated upon their records of high school and college activities and projects.

Etta Ann is president of the Home Economics Club and East Hall, representative of the Student Council, secretary of PBIF, and a member of the Organ Guild. Janis is president of West Hall and PBIF, is on the SCA council, and a member of the Home Economics Club.

MYF Deputation Set for Siloh

About 30 students will attend a deputation at Shiloh Methodist Church Sunday night. The Methodist Church bus will leave from the administration building at 6 p. m.

Jimmy Johnson, a senior pre-ministerial student from Augusta will give a talk and James Jones, freshman, Twin City, will sing special music, accompanied by Cathy Holt, junior, Albany. Lewis Strickland, junior, Hinesville, will offer a prayer; Cherrell Williams, senior, Perry, will read the Scripture; and Joel Cooper, sophomore, Thomasville, will be song leader. The remainder of the group will make up the choir for the service.

Joel Cooper was in charge of arrangements for the deputation; Rochelle Woodward, freshman, Mountville, was in charge of publicity.
