Regional I-A Fair Scheduled At GTC April 23

A regional Industrial Arts Fair, expected to attract hundreds of participants and exhibits and offering $150 in cash prizes, is scheduled at Georgia Teachers College Saturday, April 23.

According to Regional Fair chairman, Edgar C. Godfrey, of the GTC industrial arts faculty, cash prizes and certificates of merit will be offered in five general divisions of competition, woods, metal, graphic arts, electricity, and crafts.

Sponsored jointly by the State Industrial Arts Association and the State Department of Education, the fair is open to industrial arts students in the junior and senior high schools of the first, sixth, and eighth congressional districts of Georgia.

Judging of exhibits in the five general divisions will be done under three classifications, according to the experience of the student doing the work, the chairman said. The exhibits will be judged on the basis of accuracy, completeness and appearance of job plan (including spelling and use of grammar), originality, appropriateness and beauty of design, workmanship, finish, and general appearance. Each entry must be accompanied by a project plan, including a sketch or working drawing, specifications, steps of procedure, and itemized bill of material.

A grand prize of $20 is being offered the best entry in the entire fair. First, second, and third prizes of $5, $3, and $1 are being offered in each of the three groups in the five different divisions. A certificate of merit will be awarded those entries designated by the judges as honorable mention.

Science Radio Almost Complete

A radio transmitter for the college, a project of the Science Club, is slowly becoming a reality.

The transmitter itself has already been constructed and only the problem remains of putting it into operation and solving minor details that are necessary to proficient operation.

The transmitter of the radio signal will be unlike that of a normal radio station signal in that the impulse will be carried through the power lines of the campus. This is a necessary precaution that the FCC demands if GTC is to produce and transmit radio signals on the campus without a license; therefore radio signals cannot be sent through the air as most radio waves. This confinement of the impulse to the power lines has presented the major snag because transformers located at different points on the lines tend to interfere and make it more difficult to receive the signal clearly.

A tentative program schedule, coordinated with the radio speech class, has been set up and as soon as the minor difficulties have been adjusted, the college will be able to have a variety of "college-spun" kilocycles echoing across the campus throughout the dorms.

This project has been carried out by interested members of the Science Club under the direction of Dr. Wilson.

Work on the project has been going on now for almost two years but now for the first time the project is at a state where only a few refinements are necessary.

"Dear Brutus" Named For Spring Production

Backstage work for the forthcoming Masquers production, "Dear Brutus," was initiated this week under a new schedule to provide for a more efficient production, according to Carlton Humphrey, junior, Milledgeville, Masquers president.

"Dear Brutus," a comedy-fantasy in three acts by James M. Barrie, requires two scene changes, and switches from an interior scene to an outdoor scene, necessitating the construction of three-dimensional trees and shrubs for a forest scene.

The play is, according to Miss Dorothy Few, play director, one of the most difficult plays to stage that has been attempted by Masquers in several years.

Backstage workers were placed in several working crews, each individual working in the crew of his interest and ability. "It is hoped by Masquers that this play will help to produce better, more efficient plays with no great strain of work on any one individual," says Humphrey of this new work schedule.

Members will work in the following areas: construction crew, paint crew, stage crew, property crew, light crew, make-up, wardrobes, production, programs, and tickets.

The construction crew, responsible for designing, planning, and constructing the sets, has not been completely organized.

The stage crew, who will assemble and change sets during the performance is composed of Johnny Purser, sophomore, Statesboro; Stanley Brobston, freshman, Baxley; Lewis Strickland, junior, Hinesville; and Bobbie Warren, sophomore, Tennille.

Wilma Ricketson, freshman, Broxton, is to be property chairman. Assistants in this division haven't been named.

Lighting will be under the direction of Don Haimovitz, junior, Statesboro, who has supervised lighting for the past two Masquers productions, "Idylls of the King" and "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Makeup will be handled by Shirley Rountree, junior, Twin City; Nan Waters, senior, Savannah; Bobbie Jean Warren, senior, Stillmore; Cliff O'Neal, sophomore, Martinez; and James Jones, freshman, Twin City.

Wardrobes will be designed and constructed by Alyce McCord, junior, Sylvester, and Frances McGirt, sophomore, Poulan.

Shirley Rountree, Diana Bair, freshman, Pelham, and Nan Waters will be in charge of promotion, which includes making posters, writing radio spots, and advertising in newspapers.

Lewis Strickland will serve as business manager for the production.

Program designer and editor has not been appointed.

Masquers asks that any students wishing to assist in any of these committees please contact a Masquers members and state what committee work is desired. Humphrey states that as many students as are available will be needed on a production of this type.

"Notable Books of 1954" Are Acquired by GTC Library

By BOB ALLEN

Among the many books available at the library this quarter are the "Notable Books of 1954" chosen by the American Library Association Bulletin.

The following are a few of the really outstanding books chosen.

"The Doll Maker" by Harrier Arnow. The story of Kentucky Hill country woman who joins her war-time husband in a big city. It is an outstanding city. It is an exacting portrayal of the merciless impact the city makes on the lives of families.

"View from Pompey's Head" by Hamilton Basso. A New York lawyer returns to the small southern town of his birth to investigate a literary claim. The situation is complicated by the renewal of his old friendships, but he manages in time to clear up the mystery of the literary claim and the funds involved. This is a long, mildly ironic, pleasant toned story.

"My Several Worlds" by Pearl Buck. Those who have been ardent fans of Pearl Buck will need no inducement to read this book. In it, Miss Buck, no mean authority on Asia, sets down her recollections of life in Asia, our policy there and attempts to familiarize Americans with the Oriental way of life. She makes us aware that the study of Asia's problems has too long been neglected.

"Fall of a Titan" by Igor Gouzenko. This long novel by a former Russian cipher clerk who defected to the west is an impassioned large scale work illustrating the inner working of the Communist Party, Soviet Secret Police and Soviet Espionage system. It gives a true-to-life picture of the terror, mystery, and confusion associated with the Soviet regime.

"The Roosevelt Family of Sagamore Hill" by Hermann Hayedarn.

Mr. Hayedarn, who is a devoted admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, has gone to the trouble to bring together from memoirs, newspapers, letters and personal recollections, the stories - - gay, touching, comic or astounding - - of the fabulous funny Roosevelt family and their life from Sagamore Hill to the White House.

"Of Whales and Men" by R. B. Robertson. This story, by a Scottish medical officer, of a whaling expedition to the Southern Ocean, is full of adventure and humor. Generally dry, the humor at times rises to hilarity thus making this an ideal book for spring reading.

Other books recently received and not on the list of "Notable of '54" are "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A" by Richard Aldrich. This unusual biography is an intimate account of the married life of Gertrude Lawrence by her husband.

"Treadmill to Oblivion" by Fred Allen. This humorous biography begins with 1932 when Fred Allen went on the air with his first radio show. In his usual wry commentary, he relates his experiences in radio since that time. Extremely funny,

'Straying Eyes'

It seems that many students of Georgia Teachers College could use a lesson in the good old-fashioned virtue of honesty. There have been several incidents of late to back up this statement.

Usually a college student is thought to be of a very high caliber as far as resourcefulness, trust, and honesty are concerned. However, there are a few persons that do not live up to these standards. This is shown by the fact that many professors have to remain in the room while tests are being taken and give repeated warnings about "straying eyes." The problem reached its height near the end of winter quarter when more than one final test was being circulated among the students. Certainly something should be done to correct this situation.

Many colleges and universities over the nation use what is called the "honor system." Most of the students who are under this system feel that it is too rigid and places an unnecessary strain on them. It is not felt that the "honor system" is the one for GTC. The situation that exists here could be corrected by a greater degree of cooperation and responsibility on the part of the students.

The Answer: Student Center

On the back page of this issue of the GEORGE-ANNE, is a poll of students' opinions, suggestions, and ideas as pertaining to the current status of social activities at GTC. Evidently there is something wrong in the manner in which the present program is operating.

That this matter is a real problem on campus is shown by the fact that more than one or two Saturday night dances have had poor attendance and participation on the part of the students. In practically every instance there has been a great deal of work done in the decoration and planning for these events. Naturally this is a letdown to those students who do attend and to those who have helped in the preparation.

THE GEORGE-ANNE staff is in agreement with those students who answered the poll question with the idea that more student participation and a student center is the answer to the problem. More participation on the students' part would certainly improve the situation to a large degree. A student center would solve the problem.

Georgia Teachers College is considered one of the growing colleges in the state. With a larger student body and a larger school plant it would be necessary to have some attraction that will center the student's interest and activities on the campus. A student center is the answer.

Credit Deserved . . .

Approximately twenty students of GTC will work in summer camps located in several different states this summer.

These students will carry with them the story of GTC and in this way benefit the college greatly.

It would be practically impossible for each of these students to make their own contracts. A great deal of credit is deserved by the guidance and counseling director, the physical education department, and other members of the administration who helped place the students in these jobs.

You Belong

By JIM JOHNSON

Many people have been asking about the World Student Christian Federation, an organization to which each of us here at TC belongs. What the WSCF is may be discovered in the story of the small silver cross that we see many people around the world wearing.

Students who wore them during World War II recognized each other in prison camps, in resistance groups, as they traveled. They still wear them and recognize each other as members of the World's Student Christian Federation.

Everyone knows how the German Student Christian Movement was forced into the underground during the time of the Nazi regime. Not everyone knows that the federation cross came to us from the German SGM. Secretly sent out of Germany to the federation offices in Geneva, they were to be sold as the German contribution to the work of the federation.

The World's Student Christian Federation was founded in 1895 in Vadstena, Sweden when representatives of five American and European movements came together for this purpose. Today it unites students in fifty-six countries of the world. Its office is in Geneva, Switzerland, but it is not simply an international organization. It is a movement with a purpose.

Simply put, the purpose of the Federation has been since the beginning, to obey Christ's command to go into all the world, with His message of Good News.

Just a small silver cross—but all who wear it and confess the Name of Jesus know that they are members of a fellowship which transcends and withstands all barriers and conflicts which divide the world today.

We here at TC have our affiliation with the WSCF through the Student Christian Association. One becomes a member of the SCA and in return a member of the WSCF when he comes to TC. There hasn't been much activity on the part of the SCA this year for several reasons but it is the hope and prayer that during this last quarter and next year that the students here will accept the challenge before us and the world and work toward the prized goal of PEACE. What is it worth to you?

Believe . . .

"Our species is the only creative species, and it has only one creative instrument, the individual mind and spirit of a man. Nothing was ever created by two men. There are no good collaborations, whether in music, in art, in poetry, in mathematics, in philosophy.

Once the miracle of creation has taken place, the group can build and extend it, but the group never invents anything. The preciousness lies in the lonely mind of a man."

—JOHN STEINBECK.

Whether we accept this complete statement lies in the feelings of the individual, but we must believe that it is possible, by group effort, to build and extend inventions until they take on the full proportions that were intended by their creator. Only in this way can humanity make forward advances.

The Supreme Sacrifice

By ROGER BROWN

One thousand, nine hundred and twenty-two years ago today, Jesus gave his life so that every person who believed in him should have eternal life. This day has been known as Holy Friday since that day.

Just to refresh our minds, let's go back to the week of the crucifixion. Jesus prayed to His Father to let this thing pass by if it was possible. But He also added the statement, "Not My will, but Thy will be done." Of course, Jesus wasn't ready to die. He had been teaching for only three years and He had not been able to do many things He had wanted to do. His disciples tried to talk Him into avoiding certain death by not going into the city of Jerusalem. But Jesus never ran away from anything; He went into Jerusalem where Judas sold Him for 30 pieces of silver.

Let's go back a little further in the life of our Saviour. He challenged fishermen to forget the inhabitants of the sea and to seek to capture the souls of men. Twelve men in all, members of the core community, united in loyalty to Jesus that they might serve God.

"See the little band as they go about the cities and villages of their land, as they listen, and question, and begin to understand the one whom they call their Master. Here their cries of fear, as winds and waves toss them about in a small boat, until Jesus speaks the calming word.

"Remember the twelve on the Day of the Passover, as they meet in an upper room to eat the sacred feast together. Bold at that hour, Peter declaring "I will never fall away, I will not deny you." See them on the Mount of Olives, at a place called Gethsemane, asked to keep watch while their Master went apart to pray. And they sleep.

"They were a restrained group that night, as the betrayer led a crowd to Gethsemane, except for one impetuous disciple who took a sword to defend his Lord. Peter, the boaster, followed at a distance.

What were their thoughts as the clamorous mob demanded that the Nazarene be crucified? Were they watching as a man of Cyrene, Simon by name, carried the cross of their Lord? Did they see the guards casting lots, deciding who would receive the victim's clothes? Perhaps they were there, like some women—"looking on from afar." For the spirit that had molded this tiny band into a community that was far greater than the sum of all its parts—this spirit was gone, the blessed community was dead.

Or was it? On the first day of the week, the disciples were together—behind closed doors, as the Fourth Gospel tells us, "for fear of the Jews." Jesus came and stood among them and said to them, "Peace be with You." "As the Father has sent me, even so I send you."

Even the defeated disciples were transformed by the presence and promise of their risen Lord. And they were a community—filled with a power greater than themselves and commissioned to be witnesses to all the world.

Yes, this is the story of Easter. Easter means more than the Easter Parade and colored eggs. The Spirit which made these simple folk into a holy, witnessing community can so transform us that we also may be witnesses to the Lord crucified by man and risen by the power of God.

I-A Club Orders Individual Pins

The Industrial Arts Club ordered individual pins last week for the members. Under the direction of Don Whaley, the club designed their own pin thus making the die available to future members.

The pin is in the shape of a triangle with the words "Fellowship, Scholarship, Service" on each side, and the letters "IAC" in the center. They are expected to arrive several weeks before the end of the quarter.

Plans are underway for participation in the Regional Industrial Arts Fair to be held here April 23. Also in plans is the future construction of the entrance signs when the administration gives the go-ahead with specifications.

Jack Maxwell won his second game of the season giving up 5 hits, while striking out 2 and walking two. Wimpy Odum relieved him in the eighth and finished the game.

The big bats of the "Profs" continued treating opposing pitchers with no mercy. They collected 18 hits, including four doubles and one triple off two Piedmont pitchers.

Jimmy Ford, Don Wallen, and Tom Howard each had three hits apiece to lead the 18-hit attack.

OGLETHORPE

GTC added Oglethorpe University to its list of victims last weekend as they took a two-game series from them in Atlanta. The "Profs" won the first game 13 to 2, and slipped by them in the second 16 to 1.

In the first game, Ace Little gave up three hits, struck out 12, and walked three, in winning his second game of the season. It was the first time this season that a GTC pitcher had gone the full distance on the mound.

Again, it was Jimmy Ford, Don Wallen, and Tommy Howard, that led the "Profs" in hitting. Each had three hits.

Roy Alewine went the distance in the second game, giving up four hits and striking out nine. This gives Roy a two-win and one-loss record for the season.

Preston Sizemore and Tommy Howard had three hits each in this game.

Attending from GTC were Ronald "Bo" Ginn, president of the local chapter, Gwen Lanier and John Tootle, elected delegates. Accompanying them were Stephen B. Homick and Mrs. Iona Wells, advisors.

Warren Leads Baseball Profs In Hit Parade

The Georgia Teachers baseball team is away to their best start since World War II.

A 7 to 3 win over Valdosta State on Monday was the Professor's eighth win in 10 starts. The losses came in a series of splits with Amherst and Newberry.

Four pitchers, senior Clyde Little, junior Jack Maxwell, sophomore Vondall Hall, and freshman Roy Alewine, have two wins apiece. Hall and Alewine took the losses.

The pitchers have never had it so good, with the hitters furnishing them an average of 14 runs per game on a team batting average of .374.

Center fielder Bo Warren leads the team at the plate with a .435 average. The Ludowici sophomore has a 13-game hitting streak going, including the last three games in 1954. Warren, third baseman Kelly Powell, and left fielder Preston Sizemore have two home runs apiece, and catcher Jimmy Ford leads in stolen bases with 11.

Valdosta State comes to Statesboro for a two-game series on Friday and Saturday, and then the Professors go on the road for two games at Erskine on Monday, and Tuesday and a single game at Newberry Wednesday.

Professors Statistics Indicate Heavy Hitting

Statistics were released this week of the Georgia Teachers College baseball team which post an 8-2 record thus far.

The team batting average is .374 for the first 10 games of the season. Emory Clements was leading with .444 until the accident at Parris Island that had him sidelined for the last two weeks. Howard "Bo" Warren has now taken the lead with a .435 mark. Don Wallen is the only player that has not reached the .300 mark this season.

Tommy Howard, Jimmy Ford, and Dave Esmonde are also hitting above the .400 mark. Howard replaced Clements at first base after his injury. He is a veteran, receiving his discharge last month, and enrolled in school here this quarter. He attended Wake Forest College in North Carolina before entering service.

Ford performed his duties last season as a first baseman for Coach J. I. Clements Jr. When catcher Ferrell Sparks signed a contract to play professional ball, Ford moved to the catching position to occupy the vacancy.

Public Opinion Poll

Do you feel that there is a lack of student activities on our campus? If so what do you suggest should be added?

Cecil Woodard: "I do think there is a lack. I think more students should attend the nightly twilight services. If more people would attend the weekend activities, they would become more enjoyable."

Guy Thompson: "I think our weekend activities are fairly balanced, but activities to fill in dull moments during the week could be added such as ping-pong in the dormitories."

Shirley Maxwell: "I think we need a student center. If we did more students would stay here on weekends. Even though we don't have a student center, more students should participate in what we have."

Shirley Rountree: "Nothing should be added. The students should participate in what we do have."

Alton Jones: "I think the students should participate more in what we do have. A student center would be a big help."

Stanley Brobston: "The students should participate in the activities we already have; already an editorial has been written about attendance at ball games, and numbers have been written about people staying on weekends to attend dances. I don't think any student need gripe about a lack of activities."

Mary Jo Jackson: "I definitely think there is a lack, but this is because every weekend a majority of the students go home. What we need is for the students to support what we have."

Barbara Barineau: "I'd like to see some of the 'good' movies of the past, maybe on Saturday nights. We could have bingo parties in the dorm lobbies more often."

Bob Allen: "I don't think there is any shortage of student activities. There's plenty to do—just not enough student interest to make it a success. If all TC students take part in out activities, especially on weekends, everything would be much better."

"Skeeter" Griffin: "I don't think there is a shortage of activities, it is just that people go home and aren't here to support what we have."

Rebecca Sheffield: "No, I don't think there is a shortage of activities, but the students just don't participate."

John Harvey: "A student center should be built."

Jim Johnson: "There is definitely not a shortage of activities. There is a shortage of active people. The old expression, 'It's not that I don't have anything to do, I'm just not doing it,' fits our campus very well."

Movie Set For Saturday Night

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," a movie starring Gary Cooper, will be shown in the audio-visual room Saturday night at 7:30.

The movie is sponsored by the Social Committee of the Student Council.

Methodist Plan Spring Retreat

Plans have been made for the Wesley Foundation's annual Spring Retreat to be held at Epworth by the Sea on St. Simons Island, April 22-24, according to an announcement by Roger Brown, president.

The program will be based on "Great Moments in the Life of Christ," a book by Charles Laymen. Three adult leaders will be in charge of these programs.

Rev. Frederick Wilson of the Statesboro Methodist Church, and Dr. Donald Caplenor, professor of biology, will be in charge of two of the programs. later.

Two representatives have been asked to attend the retreat from the other religious groups on campus. Also, representatives from Georgia Tech, Emory at Oxford, Wesleyan and Mercer together, and Armstrong Colleges have been asked.

The cost for the weekend will be $5.50 for each person attending. A poster will be on the bulletin board next week for students to sign who would like to attend this program.

Baptist Retreat Is April 22-23

Approximately 25 members of the GTC Baptist Student Union will attend the Spring Retreat for the Baptist students over the state at Bessie Tift College in Forsyth, April 22-23.

Dr. Leslie Williams, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. T. E. Serson, and Colleen Dykes, church secretary, will accompany the students.

Registration cards may be obtained from Anngene Culbreth, BSU president. The cards should be filled out by April 17. This pre-registration will prevent students from having to register after their arrival on the campus. The registration fee of $1 will be paid at Bessie Tift.

Some of the speakers at the retreat will be as follows:

Dr. T. B. Maston, Southwestern Seminary; Mr. Bill Cody, Baptist Sunday School Board of Student Work; Mr. Charles Roselle, state secretary of the Tennessee Department of Student Work; Rev. Louis F. Kennedy, pastor, First Baptist Church, Thomasville, and others.
