Student Council Suggests Many Needed Changes

Several recommendations for the improvement of both campus and student facilities were discussed and accepted by the GTC Student Council at a regular meeting Thursday evening, April 14.

The Student Council does not expect to see these recommendations through immediately, but rather to encourage campus organizations and the administration to follow through on the recommendations until they are completed.

The recommendations are as follows:

1. The side of the Blue Tide Building which houses the book store should be extended several feet. Also a means of providing music should be available. This would relieve the crowded conditions that exist and also make dancing possible.
2. The appearance of the Administration Building hall should be improved by such means as portraits of former GTC presidents and other prominent figures in the school's history and also a more attractive bulletin board.
3. All buildings on campus should be identified by plaques with the name of the building on it. This would do away with a lot of confusion to visitors who come on campus and are unable to locate the building they are looking for.
4. A trophy cash should be placed in the Administration Building where athletic and scholastic achievements could be displayed.

Dean of Women Calls Meeting

Miss Helen Duncan, dean of women, would like to see all girls who indicate an interest in participating in a big sister plan on campus Tuesday, April 26, at 10 o'clock in the auditorium.

GTC Chosen As Site of Scheduled College Tourney

Georgia Teachers College and the Statesboro Country Club will sponsor the first annual Georgia Junior College state tennis and golf tournament on the weekend of May 6-7.

The tennis tournament, a single-elimination affair, will be held on the playing courts of GTC with the match play golf tournament being held over the Statesboro Country Club nine.

Plans have also been announced for the first state baseball playoffs. The top four teams in the Junior College Conference will participate in a Shaughnessy playoff with the sites to be determined after final standings are complete.

Teams making up the Junior College Athletic Association are Young Harris College, Truett-McConnell, West Georgia, Armstrong, Middle Georgia, Norman, Georgia Southwestern Abraham Baldwin.

Essay Entries Deadline Set

Deadline for submission of essays to be considered for the James Allen Bunce Loving Cup has been set for May 5, according to Dr. Thomas B. Alexander.

Each year this award is given on Honors Day to the student who submits the winning essay on some phase of Georgia history. The essay must be original and should be typed or written in ink. Sources of information should be included at the conclusion of the essay. Essays may be of any length. All entries should be submitted to Dr. Jack N. Averitt by the above date.

This award was first offered in 1919 by Dr. Allen Hamilton Bunce as a memorial to his father, Mr. James Allen Bunce of Bulloch county.

Schedule Set For Choice of Rooms

Schedule for reservation of rooms in the girls' dormitories for next year was announced this week by Miss Helen Duncan, dean of women.

The hours for registering room preferences have been set at 12:30 to 3:30, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Seniors will register Monday for Lewis Hall. Juniors will register Tuesday for either Lewis or East Hall, and sophomores can register Wednesday for East Hall. Girls who desire to room together should come together. No deposit for room application will be required.

Annual Visit of Parents Scheduled for Sunday

Industrial Arts Fair Scheduled For Saturday

A program has been planned to interest every individual attending the Regional Industrial Arts Fair Saturday, according to Edgar C. Godfrey, regional fair chairman and a member of the GTC industrial arts faculty.

The program will be Saturday morning at 9. A film, "Unchained Rainbows," starring Alan Ladd will be shown at 10 o'clock.

Demonstrations of electricity, metal, and developing of photographic film has been planned for Saturday morning.

The fair is open to schools in the state, sixth, and eighth Congressional districts, and is sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education and the State Industrial Arts Association.

Cash awards totaling $150 will go to winners in five areas of competition including wood, metal, graphic arts, electricity, and crafts. A grand prize of $20 will go to the exhibit taking top fair honors. The presentation of awards is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The Associated Industries of Georgia and the Atlanta Community Relations Committee of the Ford Motor Company have provided the prize money. Similar sponsorship is being provided for industrial arts fairs in other regions of the state.

Mr. Godfrey says that the film exhibits and demonstrations will be open to the GTC student body. Students may view the exhibits between the hours of 9-12 and 2-5 Saturday.

Piano Clinic Set For June 8-10

The fourth annual Piano Teachers Clinic will be held on the GTC campus June 8-10.

Jack W. Broucek, associate professor of music at GTC, will serve as director of the clinic which is expected to draw piano teachers from many sections of Georgia for a 3-day refresher course in the fundamentals of teaching, materials, contemporary methods of teaching, and psychological factors relevant to teaching piano in the public schools.

This clinician for this year's meeting will be Dr. Maurice Dumesnil of Highland Park, Michigan, who is the editor of the "Teachers Roundtable," a feature of the ETUDE MUSIC MAGAZINE. Dr. Dumesnil, who is a teacher and a lecturer, is also an authority of the music of Claude Debussy.

President Charles R. Clegg, of Young Harris College, will be the speaker for the second annual Parents' Day at Georgia Teachers College Sunday, April 24.

Before going to Young Harris, Mr. Clegg served as head of the North Georgia Trade and Vocational School at Clarksville. Prior to this appointment, he was engaged in public school work.

The all-day program begins at 11 a. m. when parents gather for a social half-hour in the various dormitories. At 11:30 a. m., Mr. Clegg will deliver the sermon at a worship hour in McCroan Auditorium.

Open house at all dormitories, a band concert in the afternoon following a picnic lunch and tour of the campus buildings, complete the day's program.

President Zach S. Henderson will preside at the morning worship hour in the auditorium. Organ prelude music will be provided by Miss Mary Alice Jones, a senior from Hazelhurst. The Philharmonic Choir, under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil, head of the music division, and accompanied by John Huxford, senior, Homerville, will provide choral music. The choir will sing Neidlinger's "The Silent Sea," featuring Miss Mary Alice Jones, as soloist, and Mozart's "Gloria."

At 2:30 p. m., in the auditorium, the Georgia Teachers College concert band, under the direction of Prof. Dana King, will present its annual "Blue Tide Concert." The program includes Alford's "Vanished Army March," Tchaikovsky's "March Slav," Skinner's "Tap Root," Leroy Anderson's "Serenata," Morton Gould's "Begonia," and Beethoven's "Storm King."

Broucek - Hooley Concert Slated For April 27

A program designed to please all types of music lovers was announced last week for the scheduled Broucek-Hooley recital.

The duo-piano presentation will include such favorites as "Lesginka" by Khachaturian, "Ballet" by Debussy, "Billy the Kid" by Copland, "Danza Lucumi" by Lecuona, "Theme and Variations" by Brahms, music of an American composer, to be announced later, and "Tears," "It's Lovely Here," and "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff.

The recital will take place in McCroan Auditorium on Wednesday evening, April 27 at 8:15 p. m. and will be a benefit performance sponsored by the Music Education Club. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged students.

Whose Fault is It?

Last weekend at GTC was designated as High School Weekend for seniors throughout the state of Georgia.

An influx of nearly one dozen high school seniors crowded the campus for this weekend, which should be one of the most important of the school year. That such a small number of students were on campus for this event is certainly a disappointment to those few who came and for those who had done a great deal of planning for High School Weekend.

Evidently something went wrong. This is attested to by the fact that most students here on campus knew nothing about High School Weekend until about two days before the weekend began. Many students, after seeing the small group on campus Saturday asked who they were. When told what the event was, they often expressed that they had a cousin, a brother, a sister, or friend they had planned to invite. However, they couldn't invite someone to an event they knew nothing about.

Even after the few seniors were on campus, there was little activity going on for their benefit. The one boy who came was left to find his way around by himself. The one bright spot in the day was the dance on Saturday night which proved to be a success, thanks to some hard-working freshman in West Hall.

Every high school student who didn't get the opportunity or invitation to visit the campus is a potential GTC student lost. The George-Anne staff feels that somewhere along the line, someone fell down in the planning and supervision of High School Weekend. Who was it?

A Good Feeling

On Sunday, April 24, the parents and families of a large number of GTC students will be on campus for the annual Parents' Day.

Parents' Day should prove to be beneficial to both the parents and to the students as well. The importance of the day could easily be underestimated.

To the visiting parents it is a reassuring experience. First, in the religious service held on campus, they find that there is still that spiritual element present the students have been accustomed to at home. Then as the day goes on to the huge picnic, the parents get a chance to meet many of the student's friends. They find that his relationships at college are just as wholesome as those at home. Later they find that his living quarters are comfortable and adequate and also that there are some intellectual processes taking place. They are assured that the student of theirs is in a good place.

Parents' Day can also be valuable to the students. They enjoy treating their folks to a day of enjoyment. The students are also satisfied with the fact that they get a chance to show something of what they are doing to the ones who, in most cases, are paying the bill.

All in all the good feeling of a sense of accomplishment is felt by both the parents and the students.

Let's do our part in creating this good feeling.

Believe...

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

Out of the vast reservoir of wisdom possessed by Woodrow Wilson, came many thought-provoking comments on education. These comments seem to be worthy of consideration as ideas upon which we, as college students, should base our beliefs.

For example, this: "... a college is not only a body of studies but a mode of association; its courses are only its formal side, its contacts and contagions its realities. It must become a community of scholars and pupils—a free community but a very real one in which democracy may work its reasonable triumphs of accommodation, its vital processes of union." Can we believe the above statement? If so, GTC could grow in the much talked about lack of school spirit.

"Any pupil who is contented with what the textbook contains is not educated. He is just like a little bird on a branch with his mouth open waiting to have things put in it." If we could believe this and show individual initiative in thought, complaints of low academic standards would necessarily cease.

Wilson also makes a sagacious comment on making advantageous use of leisure time. "The very best effects of university life are wrought between six and nine o'clock in the evenings, when the professor has gone home and minds meet minds and a generating process takes place."

And without comment, this quotation is offered: "The object of the university is singly and entirely intellectual. The object of sport, the object of social pleasure, is relief from the strains of work; but pleasure is not pleasure and any diversion is professional, if it be not simply a relief from the main object of college ambition."

To believe these statements, we would have to accept this: "We are not put into this world to sit still and know; we are put into it to act." Can we?

Personality...

SARA ANN JORDAN

A smile, a friendly greeting, and vivaciousness galore certainly characterize this week's personality, Sara Ann Jordan.

Of course, few of us know her as Sara Ann, because somewhere along the line, the nickname of "Tissy" was acquired—and stuck.

"Tissy" is a sophomore from Bartow and is majoring in home economics. Besides being active in all her class activities, she is a member of the Home Economics Club and the choir.

Her favorite pastime, from all observations, seems to be dancing, and a better one is hard to find.

All in all, "Tissy" is tops among her fellow students, and for this reason, we've chosen "Tissy" as our personality for the week.

Cooperation Begun?

By ROGER BROWN

All GTC students have probably heard the remark about a complete lack of interest in the activities on the GTC campus.

It seems to me that one of the main reasons for this serious problem is the individuality of the clubs and departments on campus. The clubs seem to work for their own glory instead of the foremost idea to work for the betterment of our school.

The student council has taken a big step to solve this problem in making plans for the May Day Dance to be held May 5.

In the preceding years, the physical education department and the student council have been the only organizations planning for this big activity. Thus the interest was centered around the students who did the majority of the planning.

For the first time in the formation of the May Day program, each club will have a representative on one of the committees for the dance. This means that for the first time in the history of the May Day Dance, it will be an all-school affair. Interest should build up for this program in every student on campus, because every student on campus is a member of at least one club.

I will admit that the spirit of GTC is rather "ghostly," but with no more interest on the part of the students in the activities on the campus, I can see why. I don't think all of this laziness can be explained with the mere statement, "Spring fever has really got me," for we students have this same "no care" attitude for almost three quarters.

Now the time has come for each club to produce some of that stored-up spirit for the May Day dance. If this doesn't get every club started with some kind of activity, it at least is a step in the right direction on the part of the student council.

If any organization fails to do its part toward making the May Day dance a success, then I personally believe that the organization should be classified as "dead," and therefore, not take any more of the student's time in going to the meetings. Are we dead or not?

The Spark of Life

At last one of our organizations, the FBLA, is doing something to bring us from the doldrums of mediocrity. Not in a long while have we seen any organization on campus show such originality and enthusiasm as the Future Business Leaders.

First, they announced plans for a "preference dance," something completely new on the Sweetheart Campus, and now they're furthering the originality by such clever advertising stunts as the picket-parade around the campus Tuesday evening when a group of boys carrying such signs as "Don't Be Shy, Give Us a Try" picketed the girls' dormitories.

Perhaps FBLA has furnished the spark that may burn a little life into some of our more or less dormant organizations. We have been given our chance, whether or not the dance is a success is now up to our coeds.

With a few exceptions, little has been contributed by our organizations this year.

Such ambitious projects as these take initiative and plenty of hard work plus a little ingenuity. The potential is here: it needs only to be developed.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Oh, my roommate is a nice enough guy ... it's just that he is so dang big!"

JOE AXELSON

On The Sideline...

Tommy Howard went back on the "inside" yesterday, and the Georgia Teachers baseball team has Emory Clements back on the initial sack for a couple of games at least.

The two have played two-platoon ball at the gateway spot this season, but Coach Clements didn't mastermind it that way.

Emory opened on first and had four hits in nine appearances against Amherst. In the second game of the series, Emory pulled a tendon in his right ankle, a very painful injury that has kept him from running for almost a month.

Howard entered school by the special arrangement the army has with colleges during the last couple of months of stateside service. He has hit .404 in 12 games, and his fielding has been nothing short of sensational, nope, even better than that.

So now Tommy and Sandy are standing tall again, eating off those good metal trays, and leading the full life as only the service can offer it in our time.

He'll miss the Mercer game next week, but after that Coach Clements will have the pleasant task of figuring out where to play two .400 hitting first basemen at the same time.

Next weekend, the Florida State Seminoles come to town for a two-game series. What say we turn out for the games? FSU is developing into our number one rival these days, and they're coached this year by Danny Lithwhiller, the erstwhile National League outfielder.

The Dangerous One holds the major league record for most games played consecutively without error in the outfield, and needless to say the Seminoles will give us a battle.

Over 80 students reported for practice when Litwhiller issued the call in January, so the Seminoles have a Junior Varsity playing a full schedule. A team good enough, I might add, to defeat a Class D. professional club last week.

So let's turn out and cheer for our Profs in their toughest series of the season. FSU has defeated Rollins and Amherst among others this season, and our boys will need all the support we can give them.

The intramural (between the walls, or Emorymural) tennis tourney will get underway next Wednesday, and your entries are due in to the Fizz Ed Dept. no later than 5 p. m. on Monday. So simonize your watches.

Both students and faculty are eligible to enter, and some over-the-weight matches are sure to result.

Rumors that the winners will receive an automatic invitation to Wimbledon next September are fallacies and indiscreet. A lot of good fun is on tap, however, and we want a lot of entries. There will be five divisions, men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles, which just about covers the field.

North Georgia Is Victim Twice To GTC Profs

By LARRY HYDE

The Georgia Teachers College baseball team took two giant strides toward the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference title last weekend with 22 to 1 and 8 to 1 wins over North Georgia College.

Jack Maxwell and Ace Little both picked up their fourth straight pitching wins of the season as they held North Georgia to a total of 11 hits in the two game series.

Jack Maxwell scattered six hits in the game Friday. GTC's leading hitter, Kelly Powell, had three hits and four runs batted in, to lead the twelve-hit attack.

Preston Sizemore hit a grand slam homer to highlight the fifth inning in which GTC scored nine runs.

Ace Little, with excellent support from his teammates, gave up five hits, struck out six, and walked three to gain his fourth win without a defeat on Saturday. GTC had five double plays and played heads up ball all through the contest.

Rightfielder Dave Esmonde had a single and a triple and three runs batted in to rank as the game's hitting star. Bo Warren added two singles and a RBI-fly to the GTC attack. It was the 18th straight game in which Warren has hit safely.

Both shortstop Don Wallen and second baseman Sketter Griffin handled ten chances in the field without an error.

These two wins left GTC at the top of the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference standings with a record of eight wins and no losses.

Hard Hitting Revealed In Professor's Statistics

Two wins over North Georgia College last weekend raised the season record of the GTC baseball professors to 12 and two with the last nine iwns coming in succession.

Bo Warren, sophomore centerfielder from Ludowici, has two streaks going that are already new school records. Warren has hit safely in his last 17 games, including the last three games in 1954. Since coming to GTC, he has played 32 consecutive games without an error, another record.

Jack Maxwell and Clyde Little lead the hurlers with four wins apiece, and Maxwell's near perfect 0.31 earned run average sets the pace in pitching effectiveness.

Catcher Jimmy Ford leads with 14 stolen bases and also in doubles with nine.

Third baseman Kelly Powell leads in three departments. He is the team's leading hitter, with a .431 average, 32 RBIs, and five homers. Powell is also tied with "Bo" Warren with triples at 3.

Campus Column

By JOANNE HILL

The FBLA is really pushing their Preference Dance. From the looks of things on Tuesday afternoon, some of the boys are really going in big for it, too! Now, I know they couldn't be afraid they won't have a date. All kidding aside, it seems that the affair will be quite an event.

Spring is here and the young ladies' fancies have turned to—you guessed it—that "dream" tan. Yep, lately Lewis Hall's "beach" has become the most popular place on the campus for the girls. Careful, girls, don't absorb too much sun. Remember, too much of the good stuff is NOT good for you.

I got the shock of my life when I walked down one of the halls of the sophomore dorm this week. Why? Well, if you had been looking at the same dull room day after day, and suddenly—BANG—that old room has taken on a new look, you would suffer from shock, too. That floor that had black shoe polish spilled on it was very glossy from a new wax job; those curtains that had drooped something terrible now were freshly starched and crisp; those bedspreads that I could have sworn were black had suddenly become pink, and those places that had looked like a big sand pile in the floor had been shaken and consequently turned out to be rather nice looking rugs, and dear me—that chest by the lavatory that had been so dusty and cluttered, now was sparkling clean. You know, it's amazing what we students will do to make a good impression on our parents! Just as a hint, though, don't look under the beds or in the closet—after all—that "junk" had to go somewhere.

Let me stop here to say "Congratulations" to Jimmy Johnson and Loretta Roach. Their March wedding has just recently been announced. That's what I call really living up to the Sweet-heart Campus.

One night this week, when I didn't have anything else to do, I sat down and began to wonder if the campus would be the same if—

Chester Webb were to suddenly become an opera singer.

Mary Alice Jones, Archie McAfee, Mel Seidel, and Mr. King came up with one of the biggest and best hillbilly shows of all time.

Bob Fuquay drove a hot-rod Model A around the campus.

Tissy Jordan were a quiet, subtle person and never smiled or giggled.

The rules and regulations on boys and girls were reversed.

Mose Bass were to resign as official "waker-uppur" for the boys of Cone Hall.

Ralph Spurlock, Cliff Johnson, Windel Marsh, and Charlie Berger don't like to fish.

None of the people on the campus owned a car! Oh, dear me! That was a horrible thought.

-fa(fb sicst.

Students went into the dining hall one time and no one pushed, shoved, or broke in line.

Just once, I had the column ready in time.

Just because there is no one on front campus every afternoon doesn't mean that they have retired to their rooms to study. Nope, not by for. For some odd reason, most everyone prefers to attend the intramural softball games. And they are pretty good! (the ball bame that is)

This is it for another week. If the column sounds weird, just consider the source from whence it came, and try to understand. See you next issue!

Flanders Heads Phi Mu Alpha

Don Flanders, junior, Statesboro, has been elected to head Zeta Omicron chapter of Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia for the next school year.

FBLA Offers Girls a Chance

This time next week, GTC students will be getting ready for the big event. The Preference Party to be given by the FBLA April 30, is the occasion, and judging by the advertisement and publicity that has been spread around (such as picketing), everyone will have a ball.

Music for dancing on the tennis courts will be provided by the Professors. They have been practicing dutifully, and Al Dews has been limbering up those vocal cords so he can give his best.

For the students who don't dance, or don't like to dance, bridge, Canasta, or other party games will be held in the gym, so that there is bound to be something for all students to participate in and keep the party going strong.

The votes for the Most Preferred Man at GTC are being counted, but he won't be announced until dance time. The lucky man will be escorted by Diana Bair, Miss TC of 1955.

Just to make the turn about complete, the girls will be expected to call for their dates at either Sanford or Cone Hall and escort them to the party. Some girls are even planning corsages, such as carrots, weeds and radishes.

By now, the girls will have made their preferences, and the boys will probably be told the news (good or bad) in the near future. Here's hoping that all girls get dreamboats, and all boys get dolls.

Broucek Named Piano Chairman

Jack W. Broucek, associate professor of music at Georgia Teachers College, has been named state piano chairman for the Georgia Music Educators Association.

His election is for a two-year term. During that time he will be responsible for arranging and conducting piano workshops and clinics for teachers in various Georgia schools. He begins his duties July 1.

Mr. Broucek is now in his tenth year on the GTC faculty as instructor in piano.

Perkins Named Home Ec. Prexy

Beverly Perkins, freshman, Richland, was recently elected president of the Home Economics Club for the school year 1955-56.

Plans were made at the meeting for the annual "hobo work" planned to earn money for the club trip to the beach.

NITE SHORTS*

A new little gem of a shortie with multicolored turtles on parade. The side-pocketed, wide-flaring top, gathered at the neck and buttoned at the back, barely covers the darling ruffled, matching panties.

"Tailored by Katz" in a gay assortment of vibrant tropical colors on white. Small, medium or large.
