USE FELONY CONVICTS IN JAIL TO PRODUCE HEMP

The cells in the county jail are filled with men who have been convicted of various crimes in the courts of this state and other states. They have been sentenced to prison, and are held there until the time of their parole. The state is using their labor to produce hemp, which is used in the manufacture of paper, cordage, and other products. The inmates work in small groups, under the supervision of prison guards.

LAID ON HIS FREEDOM TO SUPPLY SEED

The state is acquiring more acreage in hemp, which is a valuable crop. The state's goal is to provide enough hemp to meet the needs of the paper industry and other users.

BREEDINGbull

The state is also breeding bulls for use in agriculture. The bulls are carefully selected for their ability to produce high-quality offspring.

SELLING E BULLS

The state is selling hemp seeds and hemp fibers to farmers and businesses throughout the country.

SALES ON HEMP

The state's hemp industry is growing rapidly, and the demand for hemp products is increasing. The state is looking to expand its hemp production and increase its sales.

FOOD FOR LUNGS

The state is using hemp to produce food for the lungs. This is a new use for hemp, and it has the potential to be a valuable source of nutrition.

EXTRAORDINARY RULES FOR ROAD BUILDING

The state is establishing new rules for road building, which will improve the quality of the roads and reduce the cost of maintenance.

UTILITY BULLS

The state is using bulls in a variety of ways, including for the production of electricity, and for the production of hydrogen gas.

COFFEE, COCOA, AND COCA LEAVES

The state is also growing coffee, cocoa, and coca leaves, which are used in the production of coffee, chocolate, and other products.

CRISS CROSS BULLS

The state is using bulls in a variety of ways, including for the production of electricity, and for the production of hydrogen gas.
