MISS MARY ALICE JONES, senior, Hazelhurst, (above) was elected 1955 May Queen, Monday in a campus-wide election, and was crowned at the May Day dance held in her honor last night.

Jones Crowned Student-Elected May Day Queen

The highlight of the annual May Day celebration at GTC came when Miss Mary Alice Jones was crowned Queen of May.

Miss Jones is a senior music major from Hazelhurst. She won second place in the "Miss TC" contest this year.

Maid-of-Honor for the new queen is Miss Betty Roan, a senior from Fitzgerald.

The queen and maid-of-honor were chosen by ballots last week and were announced as the climax of the May Day celebration.

After the coronation, a floor show was presented in honor of the queen and her court. Immediately following the entertainment the queen, escorted by Phil Norton, student council president, led the group in a coronation march.

Music Students Convention Held

Several students are attending the province convention of Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, national music fraternity being held in Tallahassee, Fla. May 6 and 7 on the FSU campus.

Those attending include Clifford O'Neal, Marion Porter, Archie McAfee, Jesse Sullivan, and Dr. Ronald J. Neil, local sponsor.

Friday night they will attend a concert by the University Singers of FSU and on Saturday night will see the FSU circus "Flying High."

NOTICE

All students to be honored in the Honors Day program are asked to meet in the auditorium at 8:30 Monday, May 9, for instructions as to the order of the program, according to Miss Viola Perry, Registrar.

FTA Sponsors Poster Contest

A campus-wide poster contest is being sponsored by the GTC chapter of the Future Teachers of America. The contest is being sponsored in order to make the student body conscious of the work the FTA is doing to further the profession of teaching.

There are no restrictions as to the size or shape of the posters and the only requirement is that a theme pertaining to the teaching profession or one that will create interest in the club be used.

The person submitting the winning poster will be awarded a prize of $5. Entries are to be submitted to the art department before noon of May 20. A judging committee composed of members of the faculty and club advisors will judge the entries and the awards will be presented in assembly.

Student's Interest Hightened By Student Council Race

Two Candidates Withdraw From Council Contest

A candidate for the office of president of the GTC Student Council and a candidate for the office of the secretary-treasurer withdrew from the race Wednesday of this week. This action on the part of these two candidates narrowed the field to two students seeking election in each of the above named offices.

Withdrawing from the race for the position as president of the Student Council was Heyward Gnann, junior, Waynesboro. Gnann's withdrawal came in a letter to the Student Council in which he expressed his sincere thanks for the nomination and extended his best wishes to the remaining candidates for the presidency, Kelly Powell and John Tootle.

Lewis Strickland also announced his withdrawal in a letter to the Student Council. Strickland had this to say concerning his withdrawal from the race: "I am applying for the position of editor of the 1956 Reflector. I do not feel that a position on the Student Council as responsible as secretary-treasurer would leave me sufficient time to devote to the yearbook editorship. I believe that, considering my experience, training, and many other personal factors involved, I can render a much greater service to the student body as editor of the Reflector if I am chosen to serve in that capacity."

Little May Day At Lab School

The Laboratory School held its first May Day festivities today on the campus in front of the building. The program was an outgrowth of items in the curriculum of this year.

Each grade presented some skit or stunt related to their studies. One boy and one girl was selected from each class of the eighth through the twelfth grade to be in the court.

The court was composed of Walter Bird and Nadyne Brannen of the eighth grade, Jimmy Hagan and Novella Mosely of the ninth grade, Charles Rushing and Shelby Jean Hagin of the tenth grade, Bobbie Jean Lott, and Lavonne Deal of the eleventh grade, and King William Perkins and Queen Annette Hollingsworth of the twelfth grade.

The climax of one of the hottest and most contested political campaigns in recent years will come Monday, May 9, when new officers for the Georgia Teachers College Student Council will be elected.

DR. J. T. ASKEW

Askew Presents Honors Address

Dr. Joseph Askew, associate professor of social science at the University of Georgia, will present the address at this year's Honors Day program Monday at 10 a. m.

The annual event this year honors eight seniors for leadership and 21 students who have maintained a grade point ratio of five or above.

Fou reclub and private awards will be made at this program, and the winner of the Pittman Memorial Scholarship will be announced.

Parents of honor students have received invitations to the Honors Day program, and a luncheon has been planned for them after the program is concluded.

Since the final nominations were made in a regular assembly period Monday, there has been a rabid interest in the election sweeping the campus. The extent of the interest and competition has been shown by the great amount of advertising and promotion being done by the candidates for each office. Also, the great majority of casual conversation on campus this week has been centered around the election.

At least two candidates for office have named campaign managers who are busy taking care of the advertising and promotion side of the campaign.

Candidates for the positions of president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer of the Student Council are as follows:

Those candidates were nominated by the senior members of the Student Council and in assembly Monday. Two candidates have withdrawn from the race since Monday and one other was declared ineligible. Since there are only two candidates for the office of president and secretary-treasurer it is certain that a winner will be elected in the first day's voting. However, it seems very likely that a runoff vote will be necessary for the position of vice president.

All students are urged to vote in this election which will be held Monday, May 9. The polls will be opened on Monday morning and will be located near the steps of the dining hall.

Juniors Plan Banquet For Graduating Class

Graduating seniors will be feted with a banquet in their honor by the junior class Friday, May 27, in the college dining hall, according to an announcement made by Carlton Humphrey, junior class president.

Formal invitations have been sent to all seniors who graduate in June of this year, and plans are now underway for making the first junior-senior banquet at GTC a reality.

In the past, seniors have given themselves this banquet on the weekend following final examinations. This year's junior class decided to establish a precedent of juniors honoring seniors in this annual affair.

According to present plans, no one but juniors and seniors receiving invitations will be present at the banquet. A dance at the Country Club will climax the festivities and members of the junior and senior classes will be permitted to invite underclassmen dates to this dance.

The decision to invite only June graduates was made because of the lack of facilities to handle a larger crowd. This graduating group included seniors who finished requirements for graduation during the fall or winter quarters of this year but who haven't received diplomas.

Consider This...

Monday, May 9, will be an important day inasmuch as next year at Georgia Teachers College is concerned. On this day officers for the GTC Student Council for the 1955-56 term will be elected.

Since these officers, who will serve as president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, are destined to be a very important segment of GTC during the next school term, a great deal of care should be taken by each individual student before deciding which candidate he will support. In an election of this import personalities should fall into the background and the qualification of each candidate should be considered and weighed carefully.

A mature college student will be one who votes his own convictions instead of following the whims and dictates of any certain group. He will be one who considers the candidate's reliability, ability to meet people, readiness to speak out about his beliefs, maturity of judgement, and other traits before casting his vote.

Before voting the student should remember that he is voting on a person to be his personal representative. It is the only way that an efficient and representative Student Council may be elected.

What's Student Council

During the past week the question: Just what is Student Council and what does it do?, has been heard many times over the campus. Surely an organization of such importance to each student should be better known and understood by the students whom it is representing.

Many students recognize the Student Council as a student government organization. However, there is a great deal of difference in these two student groups. For the main difference, the Student Council does not have the broad duties and powers that is present in a student government.

As it now exists, the purpose of Student Council is essentially to correlate student activities and to carry out projects that would be impossible for any one campus club or organization to do. Such projects are counseling services for freshman week, setting up the social calendar for the school year, carrying out Rat Day, holding campus elections, making suggestions for campus improvements, and other projects that come up during the school term.

It is hoped that the interest stirred up concerning the forthcoming election will continue after the officers have been elected and that these officers and other new members of the Student Council will carry out these projects efficiently.

Certainly, after the heated campaign is over the winners will feel a great sense of duty and responsibility in carrying out his promises. Therein lies the virtues of a competitive campaign in which certain promises and assurances are made. Also it will bring the activities of the student Council into the light where each student may know what it is.

Calm or Hostile? Your Character

By ROGER BROWN

"There is a pleasure in the pathless woods; There is a rapture by the lonely shore; There is a society where none intrudes; By the deep sea, and music in its roar."

—From "Childe Harold" by Lord Byron.

Have you ever thought about the ocean as compared to an individual? It was given to me as something to think about last week while I was at Tybee.

The person who gave me these ideas has really been doing some serious thinking along this line. The ocean is self-contained, it gives up things, and also takes things away, and it is very calm at times and very hostile at times.

A normal individual has some of these same traits. The only difference is that a person doesn't know when he should use these traits for his or to others' advantage.

A person isn't self-contained as the ocean. A human being is dependent upon other people for many of his needs. He gives up many things for other people (if he is a person who has some respect for other people) and also takes things from his fellowman. But we aren't perfect people so we don't analyze which we should do—give up or take away.

A calm ocean is one of the most picturesque creations God has provided. When the waters become hostile, a person doesn't appreciate the natural beauty that it possesses when it is calm. The same thing goes for an individual. A person needs to possess self-control at all times. Of course, situations arise when a person has to be outspoken, but this doesn't mean that he should lose self-control.

Character goes a long way toward developing one's personality. Throughout this article, I have been making comparison with an individual and the waters of the ocean. I have been trying to say that character is what you yourself make it. It is left up to the people with whom you come into contact to judge your type of character.

Are you satisfied with your character?

Why a Paper?

Why do we have a college newspaper? Is its purpose to allow a select few to acquire experience in journalism? Do we publish the paper just to "Keep up with the Joneses" at other colleges?

If this is its purpose we have failed. It is our opinion that the purpose of a college newspaper is to allow the STUDENTS TO PRESENT TO THE STUDENTS the news of the week. If the news of the week is the United Nations or the courtship of Frankie and Johnny it will be given to the student body.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By DICK BELL

"The pencil sharpener seems harder to crank since professor Snarf moved it up front."

A Needed Revival

The old idea that liveliness and school spirit is dead on the campus of Georgia Teachers College has of late be almost completely dispelled. For the past two weeks activity has been at an all time height over the campus.

A great amount of credit is due the Future Business Leaders of America club, their sponsors, and also to the students who worked so long and hard on the successful Preference Dance of last weekend. This attraction brought what was probably the greatest number of people to ever attend a dance at GTC together for an evening of the best in entertainment and dancing. The attendance was estimated to be at least 400. A revitalizing punch was surely given to the entire student body by this great success.

Another evidence of things beginning to "look up" at GTC came this week with the cooperation being shown by all the different clubs on campus contributing their share in planning and preparing for the May Day Dance held Thursday night. Those who saw the effective decorations and noticed the good times that was had by those who attended the dance and coronation really made a contribution.

The climax of this increase of student activity and interest will come on Monday, May 9, when an active campaign for Student Council officers will come to a close. For the past week this campaign has been the topic of much conversation and activity.

It can easily be seen that student activity and interest at GTC is on the upgrade. As long as students continue to voice their opinions and cooperate with others, this will continue.

Use Your Privilege

Why is it that students are always saying that they don't have the right to do things when they don't exercise the rights they are given? The particular right that is under consideration during the campaign for Student Council is the right to vote for our representatives.

These council members are the representatives of the students; therefore, the students should weigh carefully the merits of each candidate and after selecting their man, vote for him.

So many times, we weigh the candidate's merits and then simply forget that in order our candidate to win, we must vote for him. For this negligence, we plead the lack of time.

Let's not only begin the job, but also finish it. Pick your man, tell others about him, and all vote. Most important of all is—vote!

Campus Column

By HARRIET WOODARD

Your auburn-haired reporter begged off this week 'cause she had much work to do, so just bear with this lowly journalist till she gets back next week.

The FBLA Preference Party was the main event of last weekend and what a ball it turned out to be. I don't believe GTC has ever seen better cooperation and more fun than was had at that party. The most hilarious stunt of the evening was "Ma" Johnson's low dig at "The dignified dorm." She referred to Lewis Hall as "Loose" Hall. Low blow, eh, girls?

Star Woodard, Shirley Jones, Eugenia Wright, Sue Buchan, and Diane Wright acquired lovely tans last weekend at Punky Allen's home in Brunswick.

Shirley Gnanon journeyed to Newberry, South Carolina last weekend to visit a friend.

Martha Tinker spent a very enjoyable visit as Carolyn Bourne's guest at Colonel Island last weekend.

Nancy Stubbs and Sylvia Bacon, lucky girls, attended the Sponsor's Ball at GMC in Milledgeville. Both reported a fine time.

Lewis Hall wishes to add two more marks to its record. Ann Thrash is wearing Billy Jo Parker's engagement ring as of last weekend. Can't decide which is brighter—the diamond or Ann's smile. Celia Coleman accepted Ernest Jones' Frat pin weekend before last. Ernest is a Sigma Nu at the University of Georgia.

Last Sunday morn, after staying up half the night to clean up the last remains of the dance, Gloria Averitt, Peg and Pat Hadnerson, Bob Fuqua, Bo Ginn and John Tootle made the trip to Magnolia Springs where they spent the day.

June Knight, Doug Corry, Ann Johnson and Joe Harry Rowland really soaked up the sun last Sunday at Tybee.

Collen La Favor attended the Military Ball in Augusta with Hugh Fleming of Georgia Tech.

Don't forget the Student Council elections Monday and by all means, let your conscience be your guide as you make your decisions. By the way, this was not a paid political announcement.

Someone suggested that we proclaim next week as "Say Howdy To Your Neighbor" week. I'm for it, if you all will try to squeeze out one little half-way smile even if it hurts. OK?

So long, and thanks for letting me clutter up your column with my chatter.

Betsy and Dick, A Happy Couple

BY ALICE McCORD

It all began as Betsy strolled nonchalantly down the front walk of the campus. Dick, who was sitting in the shade of a pecan tree, saw Betsy and with a heart beating wildly, asked Betsy if he might walk with her to the gate.

They met everyday after that first walk and soon, their names being constantly linked together they became one of the steady couples on the campus.

As every story about a boy and a girl goes, Betsy and Dick fell in love and were married. They made their home in an empty room in the rear of the Ad building.

Their happiness was increased when they found that they were to become parents. Much to their surprise, they were not the parents of one child, but of three!

Betsy is a very proud mother and she struts around campus as if she is just asking you to come and see her family. Her offsprings, who are not identical are just nine days old and possess all the appeal of infants.

Maybe it should be mentioned that Betsy and Dick are two of the daps on campus and their three children are the little puppies in an empty room back of the Ad Building.

Betsy and her terrier children will soon be adopted by one of the students of the college.

Congratulations to Betsy and Dick—the proud parents of three lively puppies!

On The Clothesline...

By EULITA CARTER

Sun bathing on Sandspur Beach seems to be the main pastime these last few sunny days. Some of the outfits worn out there won't do to describe, but you can bet your life they're as brief as possible—the better the tan, my dear. Huh-uh, men aren't allowed!

To mention the more respectable outfits, cotton printed suits with oodles of ruffles seem to be popular this spring—the more colorful, the better. Saw a plaid one the other day that was quite striking! One of the stores in town has some beautiful Jantzen jobs in soft pastel colors—yellow, light blue, pink, blue, and white, and of course, the ever-popular black. I don't intend to be advertising, but another store has in some pretty Rose Marie suits. I saw a couple of the lilac colored ones that would really show off any Lewis Hall tan.

By the way, if you were at the beach last weekend, you'll know what I mean by saying it looked as if GTC had moved its camping grounds. Can you think of a better way to spend your money than for suntan oil? It's not nearly as expensive as a sun lamp, is it?

P.S. Here's hoping you don't peel!

Phi Mu Alpha Initiation Held

Seven pledges were initiated into the Zeta Omocron chapter of the Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, national music fraternity at a recent meeting according to Don Flanders, newly-elected president.

Neil, faculty advisor.

JOE AXELSON

On The Sideline...

Our Profs can clinch the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference title this weekend with just one win on the three-game road trip.

The present standings find Valdosta State and North Georgia each with three losses. GTC thus can lose all three remaining games and still back in to the title of Valdosta and North Georgia should split their series next week.

The standings:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Georgia Teachers	9	0	1.000
Valdosta State	4	3	.571
North Georgia	3	3	.500
Piedmont College	2	5	.286
Oglethorpe Univ.	0	7	.000

GTC finally bounced back with one of their patented big innings on Monday, and pulled out a very satisfying 11-9 win over old-rival Mercer. It was the 21st time this season in 19 games the Profs have scored 5 or more runs in one inning.

However, we don't have to feel too badly about the FSU series. True, we didn't play good ball, but FSU went on to Georgia on Monday and clubbed the Bulldogs 14 to 5. Georgia had clinched the Eastern division of the SEC on Saturday.

How long has it been since you saw a batting show like the one Bo Warren put on against Mercer in the sixth inning Monday?

Off Bud Culbreth, the ancient junkman who beat GTC a week before, Warren fouled off seven pitches including two well over the fence. Then Bo launched one fair over the fence that must have carried 350 feet, for a two-run homer.

THERE AIN'T NO JUSTICE DEPARTMENT: Preston Sizemore hit one estimated at 425 feet to dead right field in the same game against Mercer, and saw rightfielder Harold Scott make a heckuva catch over his shoulder on the dead run. That one would have been a home run anywhere in the world where there's a fence.

Next year's basketball schedule is rounding into shape. Received already have been the usually well-couched declarations by our big brothers, Tech and Georgia, that "We'd love to play you, but scheduling commitments being what they are, etc." They want to play us about like they want a hole in the head. Let's face it.

Interested newcomers on the schedule next year will be Morningside College of Sioux City, Iowa, Kentucky Wesleyan of Owensboro, Ky., and the University of Mexico from Meh-he-co City, no less. Some other games with new opponents are in the wind.

DAVE ESMONDE

Esmonde Leads GTC in Hitting

GTC outfielder, Dave Esmonde, is currently leading the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference batting race with a .424 batting percentage. Esmonde, a freshman from Mendon, Ohio, is shown in the above photo taking the cut at the ball that has brought him this average. With three years of eligibility remaining Esmonde is expected to continue to give opposing hurlers a threat.

GTC Reflector May Arrive Late

Present indications are that the 1955 Reflector will not be received from the printer in time for distribution before the end of this quarter, the faculty publications committee announced this week.

The Atlanta publishers told the committee by phone Wednesday that because of last-minute printing problems, they probably would not be able to meet the May 31 deadline.

The committee assures the student body, however, that the annuals will be mailed out individually as soon as possible if they are not available before the end of school. If it is necessary to mail the annuals, those students who will be at an address other than that listed on office cards will be given a chance to specify where it should be mailed.

Methodist Group Plans Banquet

The Wesley Foundation has announced plans for a banquet to be held Sunday, May 15, at the Statesboro Methodist Church.

The banquet is open to the members of the Methodist Church and will be held immediately after church services in the recreation part of the church. Faculty members of Methodist denomination are also invited to attend. Invitations to faculty members will be sent out this week.

Personalities...

MARY JO JACKSON

Our personality for this week is Mary Jo Jackson, a senior from Attapulgus.

Mary Jo is active in all her class activities as well as extra-curricular activities. This year, she served as president of Kappa Delta Phi.

She is majoring in home economics, and from the looks of things, she'll be a most capable teacher, or maybe housewife.

Her favorite pastime is being with Harry, as can be observed by anyone on GTC's campus.

Always willing to work, outstanding in scholarship, a friendly greeting—because of these qualities, we have chosen Mary Jo as our personality.

LARRY EVANS

A quick wit, a hearty "Hello" to everyone, and a smile, always characterizes our male personality of the week.

Larry Evans, sophomore, Crawfordville, is a business major. He is president of the sophomore class and serves as a member of the Student Council.

He served as trainer of the baseball team last year and of the basketball and baseball teams this year.

His favorite pastimes are dancing and talking to his parakeet, "Buddy." At nights when he finds time, you can usually find him at the Skat-R-Bowl enjoying himself dancing with the girls.

We feel that Larry well deserves the title of Personality of the Week.

Building Bridges

By CAROLYN PIERCE

A story is told of a man who came at the evening to a sullen stream which blocked his way. The old man crossed the stream safely, but when he reached the other side he turned and built a small bridge to span the stream.

When asked why the bridge was built after he was safely across the water the old traveler lifted his head and said that the stream had not been much to him but he had built the bridge for others who came after him.

In the hurry of life how many of us take time to stop and do a little work in order to make the task or trial a little less difficult for those who are to come after us.

The opportunity to help a fellow student, a roommate, or just anyone presents itself nearly every day while we are in college. Just as the old man unselfishly used his time and energy after he had finished his task to help another; so should we do our best to build a bridge to help make the load lighter for our fellows.

These bridges may be built in many different ways; by helping the classmate catch up with his studies, by giving your biggest and most encouraging smile to those who seem "down in the dumps," and countless other small things that to some are all-important.

Although the bridge may be made in many ways, it is always characterized by one quality; and this is unselfishness.

Most Preferred Finally Named

By CATHY HOLT

Finally, after all the waiting, bribing, and speculation, the "Most Preferred Man at GTC" was announced at the floor show of the FBLA Preference Party last Saturday night. The only catch was that there were two of them, and right now, I'll say "Congrats" to Herbert Houston and "Bo" Ginn.

When the long-awaited moment arrived, our ears were blasted with the sound of Tucker's siren, and we wondered if we were having too good a time down on the tennis courts. But, it was only a fitting announcement of the "Most Preferred Men."

"Mo" conceded the title to Herbert, but they were both saluted (?) by TC's campus queen, Miss Diana Bair.

The big secret had certainly been kept successfully. At least, it seemed that way when everyone burst into whispers of exclamation when the big moment arrived.

Speaking of success, I think the party as a whole was certainly that, and I think perhaps one should be held annually at GTC. What about it, folks?

Afro-Asian Conference

By HEYWARD GNANN

Communist propaganda contends that the United States is the new heir to the old Western colonialism in Africa and Asia. The Communist countries represented were hoping to obtain from it a resolution which would have been an implied repudiation by the bulk of Africa and Asia of the present role of the United States in those parts of the world. In lieu the Communists got a vigorous sound of protest against Communist style colonialism. It was started by Iraq and carried through by Thailand, Pakistan, the Philippines to a rousing climax from Ceylon. With this unforeseen initiative by these less important delegations, the conference got out of hand for Chou and Nehru. Chou became conciliatory and assumed an attitude of restraint. For Nehru the conference had now dashed cold water on his efforts to preside. The end of it seemed to be that Africa and Asia were not willing to accept the leadership of Nehru, Communism or anyone else. There was no victory for either Nehru or Chou.

With the guidance of the conference under the influence of the pro-Western group, a chain reaction began in which this group began the assault upon colonialism. Mohammed Ali of Pakistan denounced the undermining effects of the Cominform of Red China and Russia with their infiltration of other governments. He also spoke out against the agitation which agents of these countries were stirring up in independent nations. Carlos Romulo of the Philippines, another staunch anti-Communist, made a keynoting statement: "We can only hope that this conference serves as a sober yet jolting reminder that the day of Western racism is passing with the day of Western power over non-Western peoples. I do not think that we have come to where we are only to surrender blindly to a new superbalance, a new superpower. We do not want leadership in our countries subservient to foreign rulers be they in London or Paris, The Hague, or Washington, or, we must add, Moscow." He also assailed the trend that the conference was leaning toward in regard to the issue of racial discrimination. He warned his fellow delegates not to fall into the "racist trap." Sir John Gotelawala of Ceylon furthered the attack when he posed the question: What is the difference between Communist colonialism and Western imperialism? He stated, "All of us here, I take it, are against colonialism. But let us be equally unanimous and equally positive in declaring to the world that we are unanimous in opposition to all forms of colonialism." He branded the satellite countries in the Communist orbit as products of Communist colonialism. These were but a few of the stimulating moments of the conference. The vigor of the initiative shown by the pro-Western group had definitely prevented the conference from becoming a sounding board for a barrage against the West.

To demonstrate that the former colonial people had come of age was a major underlying factor for conference. The first attempt of these men to unite themselves and their nations under such adverse conditions will be a new force with which the major powers of the world will have to reckon and recognize as a new decisive bloc in further world affairs. These men were seeking equality in the eyes of the world. They were sincere in their efforts to establish a policy which would confirm their reasons for uniting. There were tacit moves for leadership but in the end no one leader did emerge. No country whose interests were at stake there obtained what could be called a victory. The Bandung Conference is a signpost pointing to a new direction that the East and West must heed before they rush down the road to any hasty decisions.

Editor's Note: This concludes an article on the Afro-Asian Conference begun in last week's issue of the GEORGE-ANNE.

The staff feels that articles of this type giving an insight into events of international as well as national concern should be of interest to college students. More columns of this type will appear in future issues of the GEORGE-ANNE.

League-Leading Sophomores In Favored Position

The sophomore intramural softball team took over undisputed possession of first place in the league as they took measure of the juniors in a close 14 to 13 game Wednesday.

Terry Smith started on the hill for the sophomore aggregation but had to be relieved in the sevenths as "Sonny" Stephens came in to put out the fire. The sophomore lead was cut to only one run at the time "Sonny" came in.

Bub Denham had a total of 4 hit in 5 times at bat as he paced the sophomores at the plate. Jack Upchurch, also a sophomore, came up with 3 hits in 4 times at bat.

Chester Webb and Bub collected three hits each to lead the losing efforts of the juniors.

The freshmen lost their fifth straight game in the only other game of the week, 5 to 4 to the seniors, as speculation rose as to the chances of their breaking into the win column before the season's end.

In the other game of the week the seniors grabbed possession of second place with an 8 to 5 win over the juniors.

The league standings through May 4 are:

	Won	Lost
Sophomores	4	1
Seniors	4	2
Juniors	3	3
Freshman	0	5

FSU Defeats Teachers, Mercer Bows to Profs

By LARRY HYDE

Florida State University took both games of a two-game series with Georgia Teachers College last Friday and Saturday by a score of 10 to 3 in the first game of 12 to 2 in the second.

The first game found FSU knocking out 17 hits, 16 of them singles, off Jack Maxwell and Wimpy Odum. Maxwell was credited with the loss, his first of the year.

Third baseman Kelly Powell had two singles to pace the professor at the plate.

In the second game, the bats of the Professors were held under control by the steady six-hit pitching of lefthander John Ash, while FSU got to Ace Little for 14 hits and 12 runs.

Little, who lost his first game of the season, pitched much better ball than the score indicated. Nine errors behind him had much to do with the FSU scoring.

Centerfielder Bo Warren had tough luck during the two-game series. His 19-game hitting streak was halted and he committed his first error in 35 games when he allowed FSU's Ash an extra base in the ninth.

Georgia Teachers College broke a three game losing streak Monday when they came from behind to defeat Mercer University 11 to 7.

Mercer jumped off to a 5-0 lead on two runs in each of the first two innings and a single run in the third. GTC bounced back in the fourth inning with seven runs.

The visitors from Macon knocked GTC started Vondall Hall out of the game with two runs in the seventh. Roy Alewine came in and pitched the last two and two-thirds innings without any trouble.

Hall gained credit for his fourth win as he gave up five hits, walked four, and struck out two.

Second baseman Skeeter Griffin had a triple and single to lead GTC at the plate. Centerfielder Bo Warren hit a 350-foot home run in the sixth after fouling off seven pitches. It was his fifth of the year.

The Professors' win over Mercer reversed a 2-1 loss to them last week at Macon.

Girls' Softball Underway Soon

A girls' intramural softball league has been recently organized. The league will be sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association Club and play has been scheduled to get underway Tuesday evening, May 10 at 6:15 o'clock p. m.

Three teams have been organized to compete in the league, according to Marie Thomas, president of the WRA. These teams will be from East Hall, West Hall, and Lewis Hall.

The setup as now planned will call for single games to be played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. All games will take place on the Lab School recreation field, located behind West Hall.

It was planned originally to have four teams in the league, but later it was decided that operation would be less difficult with only three teams.

Baseball Profs On Road Trip

The GTC baseball Professors along with Coach J. I. Clements Jr. are currently on a road trip that takes them to North Georgia College and Piedmont. The Profs can clinch the Georgia Intercollegiate Conference title with just a single win on this trip.

The Profs played a single game on Thursday with the North Georgia Cadets and moved on to Piedmont where they will play single games on Friday and Saturday.

According to Coach Clements, the 1955 edition of the Professors has been one of the best ever. The season record previous to the current road trip is 14 wins against only 5 losses, which gives them one of the best baseball records ever at GTC.

Public Opinion Poll

There was a great deal of speculation as to what type of May Day program we should have at GTC this year. Do you think that May Day should include the afternoon festivities as before, should it consist only of a formal dance and include the crowning of the May Queen as is being done this year, or should it be discontinued altogether.

Joyce Mitchell—I think more interest will be shown in May Day if it is planned as it is this year. It seems to me that the formal dance is more in keeping with May Day than just an informal one.

Marie Thomas—The previous May Days have been said to have been flops, so why not try something new. I'm for it.

Jimmy Johnson—Not long ago, this question was brought up in my presence. At that time and now, I feel that there is too little or no interest in May Day in an afternoon festival, then I feel that just a dance in the evening is suitable. I feel that May Day is an important part of our calendar year, but I don't think we should mock it with nothing.

Carolyn Tally—I think the way May Day has been planned this year will be more successful. It gives the students who prefer going home on the weekends a chance to see and be a part of the activity.

Buddy Martin—I have had the honor of seeing other college May Day programs and it has proved to me that festivities other than a dance is far more impressive.

NANCY STUBBS—I definitely don't think it should be discontinued. I would rather have the afternoon festivities as well as the dance because with a variety of events, more students would enjoy May Day.

Joe Smith—I like the idea that is being used this year better than the one that has been used in years past.

Robbie Warren—I feel that if a program of afternoon festivities is carried out with all the trimmings plus a dance at night, there would be more atmosphere of a real May Day celebration.

Beverly Perkins—I feel that it is a good idea to have the festivities all at one time, and during the week so that every student on campus has a chance to participate in the festivities. Lois Hammond—I feel that May Day is something that should be observed each year, and if it is observed, all the activities should be used. It would have a fuller meaning by using the afternoon festivities as well as the formal dance.

Six Weeks Shop Slated in Jesup

Off-campus workshops will be held in Jesup and Louisville according to an announcement made this week by Dr. James D. Park, chairman of the division of education.

The planning for the conference in Jesup has been in progress for several weeks and final arrangements will be announced in the near future.

Workshops will be serviced by a staff of three or four teachers from our campus and will be held for the duration of six weeks coinciding with the

Library Activity Excels for April

A total of 8,364 books were checked out of the GTC library by student and faculty members during the last four months, according to a report by Miss Hassie McElveen, librarian.

In addition to the total number of books checked out there were 164 pamphlets, 70 filmstrips, and 1,068 films. These figures indicate quite a bit of activity taking place in the library.

A breakdown of totals by months follows:

January—2,075 books, 24 pamphlets, 35 filmstrips, and 249 films.

February—1,897 books, 70 pamphlets, 22 filmstrips, and 302 films.

March—1,868 books, 49 pamphlets, 6 filmstrips, and 176 films.

The average monthly attendance at the library has been a round 2,000 for the past few months; however, Miss McElveen says that circulation for the month of April was higher than at any time during a regular school session for the past five years.

first session of summer school on campus.

The primary purpose of the workshops is to permit teachers who for various reasons cannot attend summer school to obtain credit for re-certification. Under a State Board of Education policy teachers are required to take additional study every five years in order to obtain new certificates.

Dr. Georgia B. Watson, director of guidance, was in Toccoa, Ga. May 4 where she addressed the GEA unit.

Mrs. Miriam Moore, assistant professor of home economics, and Dr. Marshall Hamilton, associate professor of education, will go to Hazelhurst and Lyons May 10 and 11 to investigate for prospective student teaching centers.
