Annual Review Scenes Staged In Orientrigue

Homecoming Agenda Planned For Returning Graduates

Homecoming activities begin tonight with the annual Beauty Revue sponsored by the Art Club at 8 p. m. The theme for the contest this year is "Orientrigue."

Saturday's agenda will get under way at 9 a. m. when the alumni will register at East Hall. Registration will last until 2 p. m. and will resume at 3:30-5 p. m.

The alumni board of directors will meet in the guidance and counseling offices at 11 a. m. to elect officers and will adjourn for a barbecue dinner at noon. All of the alumni, the students, the faculty, and their families are invited to this feast.

At 1 p. m. the G.T.C. seniors will attend their first general alumni meeting in McCroan Auditorium.

Floats will parade uptown beginning at 2:30 p. m. A loving cup will be presented to the winner of the float competition. After the parade open house will be held at Lewis Hall from 4 until 5 p. m.

The climax of the Homecoming weekend is the basketball game Saturday night—G.T.C. versus Rollins College. Rollins defeated the Professors by two points in Winter Park, Fla., January 28, and are expected to give them plenty of trouble again Saturday night. The game starts at 8 p. m.

After the game, the spectators will migrate to the old gym to the Homecoming dance sponsored by the Student Council and the social committee. Girls attending have been given curfew extension until 1 a. m.

Miss Kirbylene Stephens, secretary to the president, is serving as chairman of Homecoming activities for 1957.

Dean Will Report to Students On Parking Situation Monday

Dean Paul Carroll will report on the campus automobile situation during chapel next Monday. The report comes after extensive study of the parking and driving problems by a student-faculty committee headed by Dean Carroll.

During the chapel period he will present the procedure for the registration of the cars of all students and faculty members. At the same time he will give the method by which owners of automobiles can acquire stickers to put on the windows to show that the car is registered.

Dean Carroll states that the work on the front circle should be finished within two weeks unless delayed by some reason. According to the dean, the state is doing the job, and since the college has no authority over the work, it can only be hoped that the work will be completed within this length of time.

He further states that after the announcement in chapel Monday, car registration and issuance of stickers should be completed in about two weeks.

Pre-Ministerial Students Will Conduct Revival On Campus

Basketball Note

Tomorrow night, all students with non-student dates must purchase tickets if they wish to sit with their dates. After the Homecoming game, the regular arrangements for dating students will be made.

The G.T.C. Pre-Ministerial Association will conduct a revival beginning Monday, February 11.

The services will be held in McCroan Auditorium and will begin at 6:15 p. m. with services being held Monday through Friday. The services will last for approximately 30 minutes.

All services will be conducted by the ministerial students, with the only outside assistance coming from the local ministers who will be present to receive anyone making a decision.

The idea for the revival originated one night after the evening devotion held in Sanford Hall. A group of the members of the association met and after prayer and consideration decided it was their duty to conduct some sort of service on campus and finally decided there needed to be a revival. The group then went to President Henderson. He heartily agreed with the idea and stated that he felt that it would be a big step forward.

The Pre-Ministerial Association is an interdenominational organization composed of pre-ministerial students and anyone else who has dedicated their life to full-time Christian service. This group was formed for the first time this year for the purpose of creating a Christian atmosphere on campus and to help individual students gain experience through practice preaching. The association has fifteen members and is under the direction of Bill Hinson, president; John Carroll, vice president; and Willis Moore, secretary-treasurer.

Anyone wishing to unite with this group should contact any

OPEN LETTER ALUMNI

It pleases me to have the opportunity to pass on to you this glad note as you return to the Sweetheart Campus. Things have happened since many of you were last here. Things which make your heart happy when you note the progress which has been made.

As you return to your Alma Mater and perhaps take time out to pause and reflect on those days long past you will remember the many good times and things of which you were a part.

Some of the familiar faces will be absent. Gone will be the many friends you knew in those days. But still you will find the same friendliness, the same spirit of cooperation, the same quality of education which you knew and enjoyed while you were here.

There is something about our G.T.C. which makes it more than just an institution. In the almost silent singing of the pine trees there is that something undefined which makes the heart beat just a little faster and inside us there is that feeling that can only be found when we once again have come back home.

Welcome Home!

member. Advisor for the association is the Rev. Dan Williams of the First Methodist Church.

Besides sponsoring the revival the association holds a prayer service each night at 10 p. m. in Sanford Hall lobby for the men of Sanford and Cone Halls.

"Orientrigue," the 11th annual Beauty Revue will be presented tonight, February 8, in McCroan auditorium at 8 p. m. by Alpha Rho Tau. Twenty-two girls will vie for the title of "Miss G.T.C." against a background of oriental sets.

The revue is divided into three acts with two sets. All of the contestants and their escorts will participate in the first act with an abstract oriental garden as the background. An oriental temple will be the setting for the ten finalists in the second act, and the queen and her court will be presented in the third and final act. The crowning of the queen will be done by Mrs. Emory Clements, the former Miss Janice Mayers, "Miss T. C." of 1956.

Organ music will be furnished by Jack W. Broucek, music instructor throughout the first two acts. During the intermission between acts I and II, the Professors, the college dance band, will present music. Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Ric Mandes who will announce the winners, and give a short script written by Ellen Blizzard.

'Macbeth' Will Be Featured On Next Television Program

Highlights from Shakespeare's play "Macbeth" will be featured Friday, February 15 over WTOCTV at 3:30 p. m., as Masquers members take time out from rehearsals to give a preview of their coming production.

On Friday's show, as in the real production of February 26, Molly Williams will take the roles of Lady Macbeth, Ric Mandes will play Macbeth, and Emory Giles will act the part of a servant. Bill Sanders will serve as narrator for the TV performance.

The first scene to be shown will be Act I, scene 5, in which Lady Macbeth reads a letter prophesying that her husband will some day be king. She tells Macbeth that he is too tender-hearted to take the bloody action necessary to gain this position, but that she will give him enough of her "woman's strength" to carry out the deeds.

Broucek Speaks To Music Group

Jack W. Broucek, associate professor of music, spoke at the monthly meeting of the G.T.C. branch of the Savannah chapter of the American Guild of Organists on January 23. Speaking about proper music selections for a church service, he compared three Protestant services and pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Later in February, the Organ Guild plans to visit various churches in Savannah with this in mind and also to view some of the pipe organs there.

Act II, scene 2, follows, with Lady Macbeth on stage while Macbeth is off-stage murdering Duncan.

The final part shown will be Act III, scene 2. In this scene, there is a complete change of character on Macbeth's part, and the beginning of a change in Lady Macbeth. It is here that Macbeth says he has gone so far in murder that nothing can change the course now.

The TV appearance is scheduled as part of the monthly G.T.C.-TV program put on in WTOCTV's Savannah studio. It is the third such program held this year.

Because of You...

From behind the flurry of crepe paper floats and decorations, we salute you, alumni members, and hope your brief stop on our campus will be both enjoyable and beneficial.

We appreciate the fact that as former students of Georgia Teachers College, you have traveled this road before, and can aid our school by your recommendations and support of new improvements and by your encouragement on projects now underway. The simple fact that you are interested in our plans can be a motivating factor in our future progress.

G.T.C.'s marching band will step out in the Home-coming parade tomorrow in stately outfits that were purchased after a long "outfit-our-band" campaign sparked by an alumni meeting last year.

Many of our present students are here as a result of you former students, and the incentive you gave us to come here.

For these and many other reasons, we are glad you're back to share the weekend with us.

So That Harmony May Survive

It is apparent that we have many problems here on campus of importance to all students. These problems are not new, and the airing of student views goes on year after year with no changing the argument very much in either direction.

Right now, problems as seen from here are, the dining hall, telephones, litterbugs, student behavior at social functions, faculty partiality, traffic, student center, dormitory regulations and school spirit.

For years, G.T.C. students have been trying to solve the problems that go along with each one of these things mentioned above, with little progress being made on any of them.

Solutions can only be found in a Utopian situation, where you have full cooperation from both the student body and the administration. So long as you have only one or two people who think it not important to have harmony, there will be much unrest on campus.

There isn't much we can do toward remedying this situation 'til we get the Utopia that we all are looking for.

While waiting on this heavenly place, why not put your talents to more useful things. There are many things that occur here that are good and never get attention because we are too busy with those distasteful things to even give the niceties a glance.

Wake up, you will work all your life before you improve anyone, the best place for your talents along this line is with yourself. You are the cause of all this disharmony among men and only you, by striving to better your own lives can cure the ills that befall us.

Now that we know what is wrong with us, let's sit back, relax and watch our celebrated alumni relive the many experiences that they had on our sweetheart campus. Things that are good now only for a memory, things that have long passed into history.

Let's Accept Recommendations

Several dormitories and clubs have already voted to accept the recommendation requested by the Standards Committee that students pledge through organizations, clubs, and dormitories that they would not break in line at the dining hall.

This is evidence that many of the students on campus are in favor of stopping line-breaking. We hope all the organizations, clubs, and dormitories will follow the example set by those who have already accepted the recommendation.

There has been considerable improvement the past two weeks in this situation. Line-breaking is certainly not as bad as it was at the beginning of this quarter.

We believe that since students have taken an interest in the problem, it will be solved. We are glad to see students accept this responsibility.

We hope that the other organizations, clubs, and dormitories will accept the recommendation of the Standards Committee, and that the students who vote to accept it will abide by it. Accepting the recommendation is a big step, but a bigger step is abiding by it. This is what will determine how interested the students really are.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bible

—BECAUSE I'M SKIPPING CLASSES TODAY AN' I DON'T WANT ANY OF THESE PROFS TO RECOGNIZE ME.

Dear Editor:

Somebody's going to get hurt on this campus yet! And I mean worse than the automobile accident that took place in front of the library last year!

I am no authority on the width of two-lane highway, and I don't know too much about laws on such subjects, but I do know that I almost witnessed two wrecks Sunday afternoon last—which had quite a bit to do with the fact that cars were park on both sides of the circle, and two cars were trying to pass each other. They couldn't pass without scraping some paint, so one waited for the other to pass.

If the new widening of the streets was done in an attempt to lessen the probability of danger on front campus, it is a flop as far as I'm concerned.

Thanks,
JOYCE KIRKLAND

(This is in answer to what was written in the column, "George A. Teachas," last week, February 1).

All-I-I, right, Matey, settle down a bit, and let's look the situation over before you go off half cocked. I'm afraid what Brother Wilson said is true, only let's don't say "Nothing but" draft dodgers, just "Pertnear all."

Yeah, yeah, I know, and I'll quote you: "During the Korean conflict National Guardsmen were the first of American forces sent into battle. "Unquote. This, my friend, has nothing to do with its members either being or not being draft dodgers.

Just like the cow that knew her fat herd would be going to slaughter in a few weeks, so she slipped in with a skinny herd, and that one got the ax the next day. That's the way the proverbial ball bounces.

As a fellow Homo Sapiens and a close associate with Brother Socrates, I'll tell you what's wrong with a lot of people today. They know what's happening only they don't want to hear. It said, and if it is said, they want it to go along with their way of thinking.

Don't get me wrong. I think the National Guard is a fine outfit; my gripe is—why should a peasant like you or me cut down a man like Mr. Wilson for making a statement that's more than partly true? That man's been in that job alone—longer than you or I have been plaguing mother nature's terra firma.

Why don't you pull a Hyde and Seek and take a survey on the subject? Only ask the troops who know. I'm pretty sure you'll get a surefire service lingo answer. Try it, Matey.

Hyde and Seek

By LARRY HYDE

The following information will be of interest to those who received letters from the business office this week. It is pertaining to a new policy concerning payment of tuition, etc., that will go into effect next quarter.

I went to Mr. McDougald to find out the facts that were behind this sudden change. There were many questions that I could have asked him but I asked him only one: Why did this policy suddenly become effective when it has not been enforced in the past?

Mr. McDougald said, "Mr. James A. Blissit, treasurer of the University System, in discussion with him (McDougald) outlined the policy of the various schools in the University System regarding credit policy. It was determined that Georgia Teachers College had policies and regulations which were not in accord with the Board of Regents policies, in that payments were being made in arrears and some payments were past due. Mr. Blissit instructed school officials to change the credit regulations and require payments to be made in advance."

McDougald went on to say, "The Board of Regents have a policy that no open accounts will be carried by schools in the system. Mr. Blissit insisted that school officials take steps to immediately bring their policy into line with that of the Board of Regents."

If there are any of you that have questions pertaining to this new policy, Mr. McDougald will be glad to answer them in his office.

I received another unsigned letter in the mail, but it was addressed to "Mr. Unsigned." Last week I printed a letter which was unsigned but the contents of this week's letter will not permit me to print it.

Who do you think will be the winner tonight? Will she be a blonde, brunette or red head? All of you have probably picked out a girl that you think will win so I am going out on a limb and say that the winner of tonight's beauty revue will be a freshman. She has brown eyes, brown hair and is about 5'5" tall.

This story comes out of the industrial arts division. The winners of the beauty revue for the past two years were sponsored by the I.A. Club and this year they don't have a representative. Why? They wanted another club to have a winner for a change.

There is one advantage to letting your conscience be your guide. If you make a mistake you don't feel so badly about it later... Selah.

Erudite Journalist Moves Up

In Atlanta this week, Ed Danforth, "An Ear to the Ground" sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, retired. Danforth has been writing sports for the past forty years, and most of those years were spent with the Journal.

Both the Journal and Constitution, Atlanta's two daily newspapers, are owned by Ohioan, James Cox. Cox is also the owner of newspapers in Ohio and Miami. He will be remembered as the 1920 Democratic presidential nominee who refused to soften his loyalty to the League of Nations and to Woodrow Wilson, and was soundly defeated by the mediocre Republican candidate, Warren G. Harding.

Of the two Atlanta papers, the Journal is considered by the officials of the papers to be the top one. And so, upon Danforth's retirement, the erudite Furman Bisher, who for the past seven years has been the Constitution sports editor, was moved over to become the Journal sports editor.

Bisher is one of the South's most prolific newsmen. In his years on the Constitution, he has not only written his daily sports column, but has also contributed outstanding articles, both on sports and subjects other than sports, to the Saturday Evening Post, Sport Magazine, and other national publications. Bisher writes a sparkling, animated, and interesting sports column. Even those who aren't interested in sports enjoy the Bisher column. A discriminating reader that I know once remarked, "I am usually not interested in Bisher's subject, but his style alone makes him worth reading."

One of Bisher's classic columns has G.T.C.'s athletic director, J. B. Searce, for the subject. And one must admit Coach Searce makes an interesting character study.

Bisher attended Furman University and received his journalism degree from the great school of journalism at the University of North Carolina, which has produced such outstanding writers as national syndicated columnist, Robert Ruark.

It is a pity that Bisher's daily comment is confined to sports, but we can take consolation in the fact that many a top-notch writer and editor of today started out as a sports writer. Ralph McGill, present editor of the Constitution; Westbrook Pegler, national syndicated columnist; and Paul Gillico, outstanding contributor to national magazines are a few shining examples.

Bisher will be a great drawing card for the Journal sports department, and many a fan who used to read his sports in the Constitution will undoubtedly switch to the Journal. This was a step up for Furman Bisher. He is young, journalistically fertile, and there is no reason to believe that he will not continue in his rise toward the top of the newspaper world.

Henderson, Carroll to Attend A.A.C.T.E. Confab in Chicago

President Zach S. Henderson and Dean Paul Carroll will represent Georgia Teachers College at the annual convention of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Chicago, Ill. on February 14-16.

Our college is one of the 290 members of this organization, which represents the outstanding teachers' colleges in the U. S., and which is dedicated to the betterment of teacher education.

The theme for this year's convention is "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward." Topics for the meet will be centered around the prevalent problems in teachers' colleges education programs, with the delegates slated to hear talks on "The U. S. Overseas Information Program in Action," "In Maintaining Academic Standards," "In Providing a Balanced Curriculum," and "In Insuring Quality of Classroom Instruction."

Some of the outstanding personalities that will be present for the occasion are Norman Cousins, editor of The Saturday Review; David D. Henry, president, University of Illinois; and vice chairman on the president's committee on education beyond the high school, and Karl W. Bigelow, professor of higher education at Columbia University Teachers College.

During the meet, the representatives will hear special music presented by the concert choir of St. Cloud Teachers College of Minnesota, and the string ensemble of Kansas State Teachers College of Kansas.

Powell Attends Programs Held At High Schools

Roy F. Powell, director of public relations for the college, is attending College Day programs at Lavonia, Elberton, Madison, Athens, and Thomson this week. This is in connection with a system of conferences set up to introduce students of various high schools to G.T.C.

Mr. Powell is holding sessions at the various schools, where he is telling about the college and answer questions that the students have about it. President Zach S. Henderson and Dean Paul Carroll have been attending similar college day programs, which are planned by a committee set up by G.E.A.

Besides the post of director of public relations, Mr. Powell is also an assistant professor of English and faculty advisor to The George-Anne.

Closed Circuit TV may come spring quarter

The possibility of having a demonstration of closed-circuit TV on campus is reported by Ed Abercrombie, manager of the film library located here. He stated that it would be in connection with a course to be taught spring quarter, audio-visual education.

Mr. Abercrombie pointed out that closed-circuit TV is a coming thing in education and said he felt that a demonstration for people on campus is necessary to introduce them to this new media. He stated that an RCA company in Atlanta has offered to put on the demonstration, which will be given in Marvin Pittman School about the middle of spring quarter if it can be arranged.

This type of thing will be an asset to education, Mr. Abercrombie states, and it would be well for Georgia's leading teacher-training institution to become acquainted with and to have a working knowledge of it.

March 5 Date For 'T.C.-2020' By Earl Smith

By WILLENE FISHER

"T.C.-2020," to be presented March 5 by the students of the music department, is a musical of three acts written by Earl "Juicy" Smith, president of M.E.C.

The story deals with the G.T.C. campus in the year 2020. There are only two people left on campus from the class of 1956, Mr. Thomas Cone, played by James Jones, and Mr. Announcer, played by Dantzil Sellers.

The first act is a scene in heaven and a faculty-alumni meeting of G.T.C. is being held. Mr. Cone's name is in the book, but he hasn't shown up. The president of the alumni calls for his most trusted angel, Dr. Russell (Bobby Godwin), to go to earth and get Mr. Cone. Mr. Cone makes a deal with Mr. Russell that he will die and go back to heaven with him if he will only let him see G.T.C. once more.

The second act consists of scenes of G.T.C. memories brought back to Mr. Cone with music.

The script is based on an original TV play by Walter Shumann, "The Angel and Mr. West."

President Guest At Various High School Meetings

President Zach S. Henderson has attended College Day programs at high schools in Warner Robbins, Columbus, Dawson, and Hawkinsville, Georgia during the past several weeks, in an effort to familiarize prospective students with G.T.C.

According to Dr. Henderson, such questions as "What are the requirements of your college?", "What should I take?", "How much does it cost?", and questions about majors and minors were the ones asked most in the discussions he conducted.

The programs are set up so that on a given day representatives from a number of colleges meet at a designated high school, where they are assigned to individual rooms to hold three one-half hour sessions a day. The students are given slips of paper listing names of the colleges and their representative present, and are allowed to indicate three choices. The sessions are then planned so that each student will have the opportunity to attend and talk with the individual from the colleges he is most interested in attending.

It is felt by a committee composed of high school and college representatives working under the auspices of the G.E.A. that programs of this type reach more students and take up less time than individual featured appearances of college representatives.

In the spring when this year's programs have been completed, evaluate the College Day Programs that have occurred.

RUSSELL TO SPEAK

Dr. Fielding D. Russell, head of the language division, has been invited by the seniors of Effingham County High School at Springfield, Ga., to speak at their graduation exercises May 28.

Lewis Hall Holds Open House Welcoming Weekend Guests

All alumni attending the open house held in Lewis Hall will be welcomed by some pleasant changes in the general appearance of the senior dorm. Joan Hurst, social chairman for the dormitory, has planned with the house council the open house welcoming the guests for Homecoming weekend.

Miss Hurst will be one of those serving refreshments. Assisting her will be Vila Brown. Acting as official hostesses are Shirley Ledbetter, Julia Pryor, Beth Bannister, and Joan Lindsey. Working in the kitchen to keep things moving Saturday afternoon will be Shirley Maxwell, Sandra Austin, Joyce Walton, Frances Bell McGirt, Marcia Allen, and Patsy Page. There are many other committees which have helped and plan to help make the Lewis Hall open house a successful one.

The open house is being held in Lewis Hall because of the many changes made there during the past year. Besides adding a third girl to each room and installing extra furniture to accommodate the crowded residents, there has been a complete redecoration of the lobby and director's parlor. This year, too, for the first time, Lewis Hall has had an adequate kitchen.

The first thing that catches the eye is the paint job on the iron grillwork around the front porch. The porch furniture has also been freshened with additional coats of paint.

Upon entering the lobby, the new decor proves pleasing and restful. Now painted a soft green, all the lobby furnishings carry out the basic colors of green, brown and melon. New lime slipcovers have been purchased for some of the chairs. Other chairs have slipcovers of a print design with a beige background matching the new draperies. Five new lamps have been added; melon pillows for the sofas highlight the green and brown.

Added for the sake of convenience is a new curtain across the front door giving privacy to those inside the lobby. Also completely new to Lewis Hall is the purchase of rugs for the different areas of the lobby. Lewis Hall residents are very proud of the rugs, feeling that they add much to the general appearance of the lobby. Another of the new features is the Tole clock which now hangs in the television corner.

The members of the dormitory have purchased a group of french silk prints with green mats to hang over the piano. These pictures, plus the purchase of three new rubber plants and the rebushing of all others, give a better feeling of unity in furnishings.

Saturday, the decorations for open house will be in tune with the general colors. The table will be covered with a lime green linen cloth, the cakes and punch will also carry out the color idea.

Providing a great deal of fun for the residents and their friends are the games which have been added to the house collection. Chinese checkers are now available, along with regular checkers. The favorite pastime of any length, however, is the new "scrabble" board of the dorm, which is frequently in use providing entertainment, sometimes hilarious, for the occupants of the lobby.

The house director's parlor has also been redecorated, carrying out the general theme of the lobby. The parlor has been repainted the same soft green and draperies have been added. Again small melon pillows are found on the sofa. Here, too, there has been a change in the slipcovers and an addition of a new lamp repeating the green found in the lobby.

The pride and joy of the dorm, however, is the large kitchen provided for their use this year. A gas stove has been installed and is quite frequently used by the members of the dormitory. The kitchen, too, is done in the general colors of the lobby and parlor. To match the soft green of the walls, the house members have made curtains out of green print with large, dark green tiebacks. The house director has provided a large kitchen clock.

For the convenience of the residents, a breakfast set with six chairs has been purchased.

To equip the kitchen, the house voted to have each member pay a certain sum and appointed a buying committee to select articles for it. This committee has competently furnished the necessities for simple meal preparations.

Homick Will Act As Go-Between

Stephen Homick, head of the business education department, has been appointed to act as a liaison person between the State Certification Board of Georgia and the National Association of Business Teachers Training Institutions.

In this position, the instructor will study the certification policies in the field of business education and report his findings to a national committee.

Mr. Homick is also planning to attend a business teachers training convention in Chicago February 12-14, where he will study three areas, teacher certification, teacher recruitment, and scholastic standards.

HERE IS JANICE MAYERS, "Miss T.C. of 1956"—The pretty Georgia Peach is now married to Emory Clements, class of '56. They are now making their home in Brunswick.

Mayers Wins "Pearls of the Sea" Revue In '56

Janice Mayers was crowned as "Miss T.C. of 1956" in the Art Club's Beauty Revue over twenty other girls competing for the same title. Janice was the second freshman to win the crown consecutively. She married Emory Clements, Class of '56, and they now live in Brunswick. She represented the Industrial Arts Club.

The runners-up in the contest were: Shirley Rountree, second; class of '56, escorted by Tab Smith. Shirley is now teaching in Swainsboro, and Tab is teaching in Vidalia. They represented the Alpha Phi Omega.

Third place was taken by Martha Tinker, escorted by Bob Byrd. She represented the Art Club itself, and she will enter again this year as a candidate from the French Club. She will be escorted by Gene Ragsdale.

Cathy Holt, class of '56, placed fourth, escorted by Haywood Gnan, is now married to Phil Norton, class of '55, and Mary Tippins, class of '57, placed fifth, escorted by Bud Denham. Mary is again in the Beauty Revue this year representing Sanford Hall and is escorted by Delmar Conner.

Last year's theme for the Beauty Revue was "Pearls of the Sea," with script written by Carlton Humphrey, class of '56. Carlton is now at the University of Arkansas with an assistantship in English. Gail Coston, who was the master of ceremonies, is now attending the University of Georgia.

This year's Beauty Revue is built around the theme of "Orientigue." Chinese padodas in red, black, and white will fill the stage except where the twenty-two contestants are to parade. This promises to be one of the most colorful contests in the history of the Alpha Rho Tau.

Band Receives New Uniforms

The G.T.C. band made its first formal appearance this past fall in new uniforms. These uniforms were purchased for about $4,500.

Last year the band and choir toured South Georgia, giving concerts in Hazlehurst, Douglas, Camilla and Albany. There will be a series of short tours this year, rather than a long one.

Many Changes Add New Look To Our Campus

By JENNY FAYE MORGAN And BETTY WATSON

Graduates who have not been on campus since last Homecoming will certainly want to take notice of the improvements that have taken place at their alma mater over the past year, and of the events that have occurred. Things have really changed.

The first change that the alumni will see is the widening of the circle. They probably thought they would never see the day when the circle would be a two-way drive.

Another thing the returning graduates will notice is an increase in students. Eight hundred and sixty-two students registered here fall quarter.

Between the end of summer school, and the beginning of fall quarter, the interior of the library was repainted and new blinds were added. Also during the past year, acoustical tile was put in the rotunda.

Lewis Hall lobby has been redecorated and it is very pretty. A new coat of paint was also added.

The band received beautiful new uniforms since last year, and the alumni will be able to see these when the band marches at the parade on Sunday afternoon.

Several new faculty members have replaced old faculty members who did not return. With the addition of these new members, several offices have been enlarged.

Construction of the new classroom building will begin as soon as the bonds are sold early in the spring. The money and the plans for the building have already been approved.

G.T.C. has received the go-ahead signal to plan a student center. The needs of the students are being studied before any plans are made.

Last March the basketball team received nation-wide recognition as they played in the N.A.I.A. Tournament in Kansas City. The Profs defeated Southeastern Oklahoma 71-78 in the first round. Resting upon their first round victory, the Profs found their road to fame roughened by Pittsburgh State College. G.T.C. was defeated by a score of 99-72.

MISCELLANY, a literary magazine being put out by the public relations office should appear at a very early date. The primary purpose of this literary digest is to present the creative writings of G.T.C. students. It will also contain works from outstanding writers of the South and G.T.C. faculty members. MISCELLANY will be published every quarter from now on and will be a fine addition to G.T.C. publications.

"RHAPSODY IN BLUE" was the name and the Music Education Club was the sponsor of the winning float in last year's Homecoming parade. Max Lockwood, president of the Alumni Association, announced the winner and presented a gold loving cup at the Homecoming game.

Music Education Club Wins Prize For "Rhapsody In Blue" In Parade

Dr. Daniel S. Hooley, G.T.C. associate professor of music, has just been granted his Ed.D. in music education from the Teachers College of Columbia University, where he has taught summer classes for a number of years.

G.T.C. has had two programs on television. The first being a get-acquainted program.

The last program was planned by the music department. "Down in the Valley," an opera by Kurt Weill, was presented.

So you see, we've been busy while you were gone!

Last year the Music Education Club won the cup for the winning float in the annual Homecoming parade.

There were fourteen floats presented in the parade by various campus organizations. Each float presented some idea or theme. The winning float was entitled Rhapsody in Blue, and including Virginia Sikes and Maxie Jo Mims dressed in evening dresses.

The decision of the judges concerning the winning float was announced at the Homecoming game on Saturday night by Max Lockwood, president of the Alumni Association. This year the announcement will again be made at the Homecoming game.

Last year was the first time gold loving cups were awarded as prizes for the floats and dormitory decorations. The cups will serve in a rotating manner but if a club wins the competition for two years, they will be allowed to keep it.

The Music Education Club will be trying hard to keep this cup and other campus organizations will also be working for the cup.

Pictured above is the new $20,000 electric water pump which was installed on the G.T.C. campus. Because of sand, the well is now being redrilled and should be completed in a few weeks.

Campus Receives Face-Lifting

Improvements of every nature have been made on campus in the past year. Many of these are immediately visible as you enter the campus.

Last spring a $20,000 electric water pump was installed behind Lewis Hall. The well is now being redrilled and should be completed within a few weeks.

The offices in the administration building have been completely remodeled and air conditioned. With new plaster, paint and wallpaper, these rooms are very attractive.

Well over $5,000 worth of renovations in Georgia Teachers College dormitories over the summer brought new improvements to the living quarters of the students. Kitchens were installed for the first time in Sanford, East and Lewis Halls. The kitchens are fully equipped, and include gas stoves that are available to the students. New dinette sets have also been supplied to the dorms.

Spacious pink and blue baths have replaced the old ones in West Hall at a cost of around $2,500. Other additions to West Hall also included new doors on the third floor to replace badly worn ones that have been there. Locks were put on every door in the dorm.

Both Lewis and East Halls were supplied with new furniture this summer to accommodate the increased enrollment. Double-decker bunks and bookcases were added to East, with Lewis getting both these items as well as chests for the rooms. Not to be outdone, the Cone Hall rooms received new paint jobs on all rooms there.

The circle drive to the college has been enlarged to permit two-way traffic and to facilitate parking. As of yet, this has not been completed. The State Highway Department is now paving this area.

All these improvements have given the campus a new outlook on life.

PROUD WE ARE of our Professor baseballers, shown here. These men shared in taking their second straight conference title with a very good record of eight wins and no losses. Led by Don Wallen, Jimmy Ford and Ralph Berryhill at the plate, and being excellently represented on the mound by such aces as Roy Alewine, Jimmy White, Billy Lowe, and John Sawyer. The coming season is just around the corner, and from here it looks like another prosperous season in the making. Coach J. I. Clements lost only two regulars from last year's squad, and with the coming in of several top freshmen prospects as well as some top transfers, he seems to be well satisfied with the situation.

BETTY HORNE, being crowned by Diana Bair, Miss T.C. of 1955, became May Queen in a coronation last spring held in the May Day formal in the old gym. Betty, along with five other girls, was chosen in a class meeting last week to run for the crown. The whole student body was allowed to vote in the election. The selection of the queen and her court was not disclosed until the night of the dance. Betty's maid of honor was Alta Dawson, with her princesses, Margaret Ann Dekle, Lois Hammond, Dale Warnock, Cathy Holt, Ruth Bennett, Mary Tippins, Joan Hurst, Nancy Stephens, Anne Kennedy, and Janice Mayers.

Outstanding Students Honored

Last spring quarter on Honor's Day, many outstanding students received recognition for their excellence in scholastic work as well as for participation in dramatics and journalism.

Those students who maintained a grade point ration of 5.0 for the past five quarters were recognized. Scholarships were awarded to worthy students. Clarence A. Miller was the recipient of the Marvin S. Pittman Scholarship.

The Alpha Psi Omega Award went to Shirley Roundtree for her outstanding work in the field of dramatics.

Leodel Coleman, editor of the Bulloch Herald, presented the first annual Bulloch Herald Award to Carlton Humphrey, associate editor of The George-Anne for spring quarter. Humphrey received the award for last year's outstanding journalistic contribution to The George-Anne.

Cecil Usher received the James Allen Bunce Georgia History Award for an essay on Georgia History. The Statesboro Music Club Award went to Mel Seidel. Lucy Melton received the Kappa Delta Pi freshman award.

Guest speaker for the Honor's Day program was A. L. Feldman. He is president of the Puritan Chemical Company and chairman of the board of the Puritan Sales Company, both of Atlanta.

A.F. FELDMAN, guest speaker of the recent Honors Day program here, admires a silver tray presented to Shirley Roundtree as an Alpha Psi Omega award for her outstanding work in the field of dramatics. On the extreme left is Clarence Miller, another outstanding student, who was awarded the Marvin S. Pittman Scholarship award. Standing on the far right is G.T.C.'s President Zach S. Henderson, who also took part on the program.

Aunt Sophie Retires After 23-Year Career As Housemother To Men

Termed 'A Bird' By 'Her Boys'

Aunt Sophie, beloved house mother of G.T.C. men for twenty-three years, retired last spring, with a special chapel program held in her honor. Tully Pennington, one of Aunt Sophie's "boys," delivered a speech in her honor, in which he listed some of her most outstanding qualities, and told of some of the humorous experiences he had with her.

A biology instructor, Mr. Pennington could not resist the temptation to make a biological analysis, so he opened his speech with the words, "If there are those among you so erudite as to think there must be a title to such a speech as this, we will call it, 'Aunt Sophie is a Bird,' and I shall attempt to show you why I think so."

Beginning with his initial chargin over having a woman house director, Mr. Pennington went on to tell how Aunt Sophie's motherly concern over her charges and her delight in entertaining them in her apartment soon won him over. She was regarded as a "wise old owl," he says, because she always seemed to know just what to do in any event—social, academic, recreational, or medical.

Along a different line, Mr. Pennington said, "At social functions our bird was quickly recognized as one with brilliant plumage and the exercise of exquisite taste. It was always fun to see what "rig" she used for each occasion—jewelry—glamorous and glittering; hats—plain and fancy, picture to beanie, straw to velvet. Whatever the dress—simple, yet beautiful in line, exhibiting good taste and the latest fashion."

Turning to her literary side, Mr. Pennington mentioned the notes Aunt Sophie used to write to Cone Hall men. (These came in the form of little verses composed when their "feathered friend" found rooms unkept, or some other job that needed doing.

The speaker told how Aunt Sophie would feed "her adopted brood a varied diet." At one time, he revealed, she had a habit of making chocolate fudge "which was allowed to cool in a well-buttered bathtub."

At the close of the speech, Mr. Pennington presented Aunt Sophie with a gift as a token of the faculty's appreciation of her.

Rat Reviews Rat Day Activities

Were they man or beast? At any rate their looks were undecipherable. You couldn't tell whether they were going forward or coming backward. Some bright sophomore made the drastic decision and called them "Rats." A good name—Well—that's the way they were treated.

At 5:30 on the dark and dreary morning of November 13, the male Rats were driven around the circle by their masters. At 6 o'clock the female Rats marched to the administration building and were made to kneel down on the cold wet ground until each one had been assigned to her master. The "Rats" worked their fingers to the bone, East and Sanford literally shown, they were so clean. The Rats were then allowed to eat breakfast even tho' their table manners would have made Emily Post have heart failure.

What a Deal

Hour after the hour the Rats were made to do everything from proposing to professors, to calling pigs. By the way, if you see smiles lying all over the ground, don't be alarmed, it's just those few thousand Rats wiped off their faces that day. Being such low-down creatures, naturally they wiped them on the ground.

After a hurried lunch, the Rats cleaned the G.T.C. campus thorough in their cleaning that to perfection. They were so thorough in their cleaning that they even picked up the dirty pieces of sand. (That's why G.T.C.'s been looking so bare lately.)

Then at 3 o'clock came that everlasting two and one-half mile parade. Statesboro's streets were crawling with Rats. The strange thing about these Rats was they walked on two feet and carried signs with "I love sophomores" printed on them

One or two rats were feeling kinda low and carried signs with "Mama I'm Sick" and "This is Fun!" on them.

Rat Court

After the parade the masters became tired, (thank goodness) and let the poor Rats rest until 7 o'clock. Then to show their appreciation for all the Rats had done for them that day, the masters held "Rat Court" and rewarded them ("Rats") by providing a huge block of ice for them to sit on if they acted ungrateful. "Rat" after "Rat" was tried and proved "Guilty" by a jury of sophomores. (It's strange all the Rats were guilty—But I'm sure the jury wasn't prejudiced because this is a democratic country.) After serving their sentences the Rats were set free. Now G.T.C. is free from those pesty Rats, or at least they aren't distinguishable. It could be that those Rats finally became FRESHMEN.

As You Like 'EM

By BOB POLLAK
SPORTS EDITOR

Every year the college cage season is highlighted by the selection of an all-American basketball team. The people who do the selecting are exceptionally well qualified and their opinions usually coincide with the opinion of John Q. Public.

I have decided to throw my hat in the ring and present my own predictions for this year's all-American team. Don't get me wrong, I don't profess to be an expert on this matter, I'm merely giving my own humble opinion.

My first selection, who is probably everybody else's first, is Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain. The giant Negro center is only a sophomore this year at the University of Kansas. He scored 2,252 points at Overbrook High School in Philadelphia. In last year's freshman varsity game at Kansas, Wilt dumped in 42 points and grabbed off 29 rebounds in the 81-71 freshman victory. Chamberlain is 7 feet tall and weighs 230 pounds.

Big 6-8 Charley Tyra of Louisville University is my second choice for all-American honors. Tyra won A.A. honors last year as a junior for the Kentucky Cardinals. He was Most Valuable Player in last year's National Invitational Tournament. Big Charlie averaged 23 points per game last season and grabbed 645 rebounds, the latter being No. 1 across the land.

High scoring Lennie Rosenbluth is a 6-5 forward for the University of North Carolina. The talented star averaged 26.7 points per game for Frank McGuire's Tarheels last season. Lennie possesses just about every shot in the book and makes about 45 per cent of his tries.

Rodney (Hot Rod) Hundley of Yest Virginia U. is my fourth choice as all-American. Hundley averaged 26.6 points per game last season as he was a second string selection last season on four of the leading picks. He is currently pacing the W.V.U. offensive attack which is No. 1 in the country.

Frank Nimmo, 6-2 Cincinnati guard, is my fifth and final choice. Although he only averaged 11.6 points per game last season, he set up many scores with his excellent passing and playmaking. Nimmo can be classified as a dark horse candidate for this year's bonafide A-A team.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Because of their outstanding performances in the last few games, three players are tied for this week's Player of the Week. They are 6-7 Jimmy Long, 6-2 Chester Curry and 5-11 Don Wallen.

Long earned his selection for outstanding performances against Gibbs and Spring Hill. Jimmy's rebounding and hustling was the best it has been this year.

Chester Curry earned a tie because of his 29 points against Presbyterian. Chester missed six minutes of the game because of personal fouls.

Don Wallen is back again for his third appearance as Player of the Week. Don starred in the Profs triumph over Spring Hill as he scored 27 points.

Hot Profs Play Cool Ball Game To Snow Fleet

Doug Corry hit for 20 and Chester Curry bagged 16 to lead the Professors to a lopsided win over Erskine College of Due West, S. C.

Corry scored the first eight points to move the Profs out to an 8-2 lead with only three minutes gone in the contest. Little Eddie Rice of the visitors tried to keep the visitors in the game as he hit for 18, most of them on outside shots.

The victory was sweet revenge for the Profs as Erskine had walloped them in South Carolina by the score of 79-61. This was the home team's 15th victory as against only six defeats.

The outcome of tonight's contest was never in doubt as the Profs built up their lead to as much as 20 points. Coach J. B. Searce cleared the bench with four minutes left to give the reserves valuable experience.

Rollins College of Winter Park, Florida, will provide a tough hurdle for the Profs tomorrow night before a jam-packed Home-coming crowd in the campus gym. Rollins beat the Professors 77-75 earlier this season in Orlando, Fla.

The visitors' under the tutelage of Dan Nymitz, are anxious to prove that their victory over G.T.C. was no fluke. Personal fouls made the difference in the first contest as G.T.C. committed 21 to the Tars 9. The Profs actually outscored their opponents from the field, netting 31 field goals to 28 for Rollins.

The man to watch in the Rollins offensive machine is center Dick Bezmer. Bezmer fired in 27 points in the first match. Another man who will give the Professors fits is speedster Boyd Coffie. He netted 17, hitting mostly on long outside push shots.

Barring further injuries, Bo Warren will be ready to go full speed against the Tars. Bo was injured in the previous game and played only two minutes. If Warren does not start, Chester Curry will be moved to guard and Jim Long will take over at forward.

Old reliable, Doug Corry, will be at the other forward and co-captain Don Wallen will handle the other guard spot. Ronnie Rush, who turned in a fine performance against Spring Hill, will be the starting center.

Coach Searce will have valuable reserve Don Avery, to help in case the going gets tough. "Arab" has developed into one of the best clutch players on the team. His shooting has improved tremendously to go with his fine passing and rebounding.

Game time for tomorrow night's encounter is 8:15.

A fine Gibbs A.A.U. team defeated our Profs 86-62 last Saturday behind the magnificent rebounding of ex-Prof Scotty Perkins and the formidable shooting of Ed Doherty. Perkins picked off 21 rebounds while scoring 19 points. Doherty, the game's scoring leader, sank 28 points with 10 field goals in 14 attempts for a percentage of .714. Perkins, an old G.T.C. star, won the acclaim of almost everyone with his superb team play.

This marked the first time G.T.C. has been beaten on the home hardwood this season and it also broke a ten-game home-winning streak for the Profs.

But the way things started off it looked like "all G.T.C.," as Curry sank the game's first field goal followed by two more 2-pointers by Jim Long. Then Doherty initiated the Vikings scoring with a field goal, but G.T.C.'s Rush and Wallen dropped in two "quickies," making the score 10-2, G.T.C.'s favor. The score then jumped up to 15-6, then 15-11, and then 17-17 up. After Doherty dropped in 4 more points, the Vikings were ahead to stay with the score reaching 42-25 at one point. Then a rally led by Wallen brought it up to a 45-36 count at the half.

Just after Doherty began the second half with a field goal, it started to look like the start of the first half with our Profs closing in to a 42-47 deficit. But this did not remain the case as Doherty, Perkins, and Thompson rallied together to make it 61-45 at one stage. This margin changed very little until the latter part of the fourth quarter when the Vikings added icing to the cake by stealing the whole show with 7 straight points two different times. Bob Belton of G.T.C. dropped in the last point of the game to make the final score read 86-62. Gibbs got 56 rebounds to the Profs' 52. The Vikings also out shot G.T.C. with a percentage of .465, while the Profs shot .390.

Individual rebounding leaders were Long with 14 for G.T.C. and Perkins with 21 for the Vikings.

The other high scorer for the winners besides Doherty and Perkins was Mel Thompson with 19. For G.T.C., Corry led with 21 followed by Long's 13 and Wallen's 12.

The G.T.C. Professors defeated a great Springhill Badgers team by the score of 88-81, led by Don Wallen's 27 points and Doug Corry's 16 rebounds and 17 points.

This game was perhaps the best of the home season so far. The fans were thrilled all the way through as it was a nip and tuck affair most of the time. Spring Hill jumped off to a 6-1 first period lead before Corry with 2 goals and Wallen with one 2 pointer tied it up 6-6. Then the Badgers jumped off again to a 13-8 lead. This lasted until Lonk dropped in the goal that knotted the count at 19-19. The game tied again at 23-23. But the Badgers jumped off again at 32-25 and increased their markin to 44.35 just before the Profs' Wallen and Warren chipped off 4 points of this and made the half-time score 44-39.

G.T.C. got their guns out in the first part of the third quarter and went ahead 49-48. After that it was nip and tuck with the score being tied 5 times during the second half. It remained close until G.T.C. scored 10 straight points to catch up and go ahead 75-69. A little later with the score 81-75, Rodriguez and Coyle gave the home folks a scare as they added 2 points to make it 81-79. The G.T.C. rooters breathe easier, however, after Rush, Wallen, Warren and Corry outscored Coyle 7-2 to make the outcome 88-81.

Besides Wallen and Corry, the other high scorer was Chester Curry with 16. High scorers for Spring Hill were Tibbets with 21 and Coyle with 20. Tibbets rang 11 of 12 free shots and Coyle sank 8 of 11 field goal attempts. Barnes had 12 for the badgers.

The Profs out-rebounded the Badgers 68-41, but the visitors out-shot our boys on percentage .418-.348. Next to Corry's 16 rebounds were Long's 12 and Rush's 11.

"The Banana Boat Song" was voted No. 1 this week according to the television "Hit Parade" and Pat Boone's "Don't Forbid Me" was in second place.

This week's popular music artist is Pat Boone. I would like to thank Miss Mary Alice Smith, president of the Pat Boone Fan Club, Providence Forge, Virginia, who supplied all of the information on Pat Boone's life story.

Pat, whose real name is Charles Eugene Boone, has just reached the age of twenty-two. He was born in Jacksonville, Florida, and was raised in Nashville, Tennessee where he began his singing career at the age of ten at the Belle Meade Happiness Club. At the age of seventeen he had his own radio show and continued to do radio and TV work over radio stations WSIX and WSM. From Nashville Pat went on to New York to appear on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour, where he won three times, qualifying for the finals in Madison Square Garden. The next year found him back in New York winning the semi-finals on the Ted Mack show and winning the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts show.

The pioneerman Daniel Boone is Pat's great, great, great, great grandfather. Pat attended high school in Nashville, was president of the student body, and was the most popular student for two years. He sang in the church choir, lettered in baseball, basketball, tennis and is credited with making all A's in college.

Pat is married to Shirley Foley, daughter of the famous country and western star, Red Foley. They have three daughters, Linda, Cheryl and the latest addition to the family is Deborah.

Pat will co-star with Terry Moore in his first film, "Bernadine," which he has just left for Hollywood to begin. He signed a million dollar contract with "20th Century Fox" to make seven pictures.
