(Editor's Note: This is a letter received from the editor of THE MEGAPHONE at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas.) Dear Editor:

A copy of your paper came in handy here a few weeks ago. We were beginning our Hungarian Relief drive, and a reprint of a resolution that your college had sent to the U.N. appeared at that time in your paper. Since it coincided quite nicely with our drive, reprinted it in THE MEGAPHONE. I mailed a copy to you, but I do not know if you received it or MISCELLANY, long awaited publication of Georgia Teachers College will be ready for distribution the latter part of next week. This is a literary magazine put out by the public rela-tions office under the direction of Roy F. Powell.

The primary purpose of this literary digest is to present the creative writings of G.T.C. students. It will also contain works from outstanding writers of the South and G.T.C. faculty members. A slight fee of 25 cents will be charged to cover the cost of printing. Serving as co-editors for this publication are Britt Fayssoux, a social science major from Statesboro, and Jane Williams, an English major from Fitzgerald, Georgia. They have spent many hours getting the magazine ready. Miscellany will be published every quarter from now on and takes it place with The George-Anne, Reflector, "T" Book, and G.T.C. Agenda as publications of our college.

Debris or Not Debris

The impression that our campus gives as a person enters the gate is not a favorable one. Beer cans, paper, and cigarette butts litter the campus. Paper is thrown on the campus, beer cans along the drive, and cigarette butts on the steps and in the halls of the ad building.

If people have to drink beer, it seems that they could find another place to deposit their empty cans. Paper that needs to be thrown away can be carried to the rooms or placed in the trash cans around the campus. Smoking stands are conveniently placed in the hall of the ad building. These should be used.

NO SMOKING signs are placed in the old gym. These are not being obeyed. Cigarette butts are being thrown on the floor of the gym. This not only damages the floor, but it ruins the appearance of the gym.

Visitors are constantly on our campus. They judge the quality of the people partly by the impression our campus gives them. If they were to judge our teaching ability by the appearance of our campus, most of us would not be able to secure a teaching position.

To make our campus one that we can be proud of we need to keep it free from all debris. Keeping the campus clean will help make a favorable impression on our visitors as well as our fellow students.

Behave Yourselves

With final tests coming up next week, our campus will be congested both day and night with both students and automobiles. The library will be filled to capacity with people trying to get just a little more out of that erference material that they wish they had read more thoroughly. Dormitory lobbies will, too, be filled with these studious people.

There will probably be a number of our students who will celebrate after the big final. Some of these will celebrate quietly in the college grill, or the drive-in restaurants nearby. Others, however will visit our local dives where they will purchase and consume alcoholic beverages. These people are dangerous.

With all this probable conjestion of both students and traffic, we must all strive to improve the situation. We should resolve to do as much studying as possible in our dormitory rooms, we should keep our on-campus automobiles parked as much of the time as possible. We should further resolve not to indulge in alcoholic beverages, for the mental depressant, called alcohol, will cause us to make more noise thus keeping other people from studying.

Test week is a trying week, for most of us and it will make it a lot easier for those of us who do have to study if those of you who do not plan to study will behave yourselves.

We Move Along

Looking back over the quarter, we are pleased with the activities that have enriched our lives on campus and with the progress that has been made. The administration and students in clubs have contributed much to the advancement of the college.

The second in a series of television programs was presented by the music education students and their instructors. This group also presented a musical, "T.C. 2020," written and directed by a student.

The Beauty Revue sponsored by the Art Club, merited the favorable comments made by those in attendance. Homecoming was most successful due to the interests of administration and Masquers did a wonderful job in their production of "Macbeth." Parts of this play were presented on television as the third program in the series.

The interest of the students has brought a successful intramural program. Also in the physical education department, one of the classes sponsored a square dance which met the students' approval.

Progress has been going on continually. The circle was widened to provide for two-way traffic and parking on either side of the street. The parking situation was also helped by making a parking area between West Hall and Marvin Pittman School.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"YOU BOYS WILL FIND IT A LITTLE EASIER TO DRAW IF YOU STEP BACK FROM THE MODEL A LITTLE."

(Editor's Note: Thank you, Dean Carroll, for explaining this to us.)

Dear Editor:

The "Why" of the National Sophomore Testing Program is explained on page 25 of the college catalog. Your article about the program in the February 15 issue of The George-Anne two weeks ago gives the correct testing time as five and onehalf hours. You may perhaps know that the one-day student aptitude testing schedule for all beginning freshmen in the University System next fall is 8:30-12:30 (for all); 2:00:5:45 (optional but chosen by many). The auditorium was chosen so that the program could be completed in one day rather than three and in order that all students would take the tests under similar and favorable conditions of ample lighting, comfortable seats, and lap boards. Alternate choice: to administer the tests on three afternoons after classes, using the five large classrooms in the administration building or disrupt classes three days instead of one. The date for administering the program is established nationally as from March 1-15. The scores are re-corded on the permanent record but are not placed on the student's transcripts. According to a report from Dr. Watson, more the tests last year arranged conresults. The purpose, as stated in the catalog, is not that students may "gain knowledge" fro mthe tests.

AUBURN, Ala. (I.P.)—Under the new campus traffic control system inaugurated this year at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, no one is prohibited from bringing a car on the campus as is done in many other schools.

It has been stressed that the key to the plan is cooperation. If students will park only where they are supposed to and students who may park in two zones try to use zone C as little as possible there should be plenty of space for all.

Science — Progress — Activities

I think that the demonstration we saw Wednesday morning in assembly was probably the most interesting display of science and industrial progress seen here in quite a while. It is good that industry takes the time and effort to put such a thing together for the people of our nation. It is good from the point that many of us read these things in the newspapers, but don't realize the significance until we actually see the scientific events with our own eyes.

Scientific progress is not limited to those people in big business, industry or government research, and a good example of this can be found on our own campus each year as the first district science fair convenes. This fair gives to us the works of First District students in both high schools and elementary schools in the field of science.

On March 29-30, it would be to your advantage to walk through both the halls at Marvin Pittman and the science building to behold the things which have come to us by way of our own little scientists.

Our ignorance toward industrial progress could be improved by our attention to many things that happen here in our own state. Things which add greatly to our state economy, but things which are little known to many of us.

I have the pleasure of being one of seven students here from the sovereign municipality of Attapulgus. This very small town in the deep southwest corner of our state is the home of a very large industry, an industry that is vital to both our state and federal economy. Yet, how many of you have even heard of Fuller's Earth industry.

Each of you who have ever driven an automobile or who have taken a medical tablet of any kind have come into contact with this Fuller's Earth industry, for the most economical process of refining oil is the process by which oil is forced through this non metalic mineral until it becomes crystal clear. This clay is ground so fine in its process until it will sift through mesh so fine that water will stand on it. In medical tablets, this finest of clays is used as its body. Fuller's Earth is capable of containing medical compounds without changing them.

For more information on this, consult any of the other six citizens from our wonderful town.

Now that I have done my bit for the chamber of commerce representing the city of Attapulgus, I would like to list a few things coming soon that are of vital interest to all of us. Things that we all should con-First, there is the Old South Ball sponsored by the sophomore class in the old gym Saturday night. this dance.

Next comes the final tests.

Please give the people around you a chance to study this coming week even if you don't plan to do any studying yourself.

The quarter has ended, and baseball has taken over the position basketball held throughout winter quarter in our list of campus activities: Be loyal and responsible fans. Try to see each of our home games this year.

Through just a little effort on your part, we all can see great success these remaining few days of this quarter and the few weeks of next quarter.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones is editor of the Tulsa Tribune and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Two weeks ago Mr. Jones was the principal speaker at the Georgia Press Institute in Athens. This was the twenty-ninth annual meeting of the G.P.I., and their list of previous speakers is an impressive one. On this list you find the names of such men as Claude G. Bowers, Arthur Brisbane, Hodding Carter, and Marquis Childs, all distinguished in their field.

Editor Jones gave a timely, intelligent, and thought-provoking address. His subject was not a new one. The gist of his talk was that too often newspaper editors, both professional and collegiate, become complacent "Too often," he said, "the editor slips into that complacent state of mind so common among people who have arrived at a proper position among proper people. He joins the don't-rock-the-boat club, and soon his paper shows it. It loses its soul." He called for a courageous press and editors who have the "ability to stick your neck out for what you think is right and proper and constructive."

I can think of nothing worse than a soulless or gutless newspaper.

It would be far better to have no newspaper at all than to have one that refuses to "rock-theboat" and "stick out its neck." One that doesn't is worthless.

Another interesting, and it seems to us true, statement made by Mr. Jones was, "Too many reporters of today are mere press agents for public officials."

Mr. Jones made it plain that his address was for both professional and collegiate editors. Our sentiments are with him.

As You Like 'EM

By BOB POLLAK SPORTS EDITOR

Every year around this time sportswriters and managers go out on the limb and predict the finishes for the various major league baseball clubs.

Surprisingly, most of their predictions prove to be true or come close to being true at the season's end. After years of predictions they seem to acquire the knack of correct forecasting.

I am going to attempt to make some of my own predictions on the final standings of the ball clubs. I look for the Yankees to take all the marbles again this year by knocking off the Cincinnati Redlegs in the world series.

Who's going to beat the Yanks? No one, unless one of the Junior League clubs suddenly acquire strength by trades. The New Yorker's have too much pitching, power, and fielding for the rest of the league.

In the senior circuit the Redlegs have tremendous power and will probably nose out the Dodgers and Braves in a close race for the pennant. Cincinnati could make it a runaway if they get some good pitching.

Listed are my predictions on the final finishes in Stetson Defeats both circuits.

NATIONAL — Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Milwaukee, Professors 100-79 Philadelphia, St. Louis, Pittsburg, New York, Chicago.

AMERICAN-New York, Boston Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, and Kansas City.

After talking with some of the members on the G.T.C. baseball squad I was impressed with the determination and fine spirit among the boys. Everyone the Profs 100-79 last Saturday seems anxious to get the season started.

The players believe that if the pitching comes through we will have one of the finest clubs ever at G.T.C. Our first home game is on March 22 against Erskine College. Come out and support your team.
