Honor Students Top Dean's List With 102 Mark

One hundred and two G.T.C. students made the dean's list winter quarter of 1957, according to Dean Paul Carroll.

Forty-eight men reached the five-point grade ratio required to make the list, and 54 women obtained the necessary grades. Thirty-four of the 102 students made all A's.

Those who made the list are as follows:

Russell Attends Meet to Speak To Boy Scouts

Dr. Fielding D. Russell, head of the department of languages, will travel to Washington, D. C. this weekend to address the annual parents' night banquet of one of the troops of the Washington Council of the Boy Scouts of America. His son, William Russell, is the assistant advisor to the Explorer unit of this troop.

He will speak Saturday night, March 30. This particular troop of Boy Scouts is sponsored by the Pilgrims Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Russell has also been the speaker for two other meetings this past week. On Monday night he was the featured speaker at the annual ladies' night banquet of the Savannah Baptist Brotherhood Association in Savannah.

On Tuesday of this week he attended the executive committee meeting of the campus Christian Life campaign for the Senate of Athens, where he made a brief ten-minute talk representing the Presbyterian men of Georgia.

SPRING QUARTER DANCE SCHEDULE

March 30, freshman class; April 6, Lewis Hall's annual "Under the Sea" dance; April 13, Masquers; April 20, Foreign Language Clubs and International Relations Club; April 27, F.B.L.A. annual Preference Ball; May 4, senior class annual May Day formal; May 11, Alpha Rho Tau; May 18, Reflector Ball; May 25, Student Council and Social Committee.

College Choir At Pittman Park Church Sunday

The G.T.C. Philharmonic Choir will perform at the Sunday evening services of the Pittman Park Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.

This appearance is the third in a series of performances scheduled for the year 1956-57 by the music department faculty.

The program for Sunday night's presentation will include Eschenekoff's "Come Thou Holy Spirit," Schubert's "Ave Maria," Gounod's "Sanctus," Gounod's "Gallia," Van de Water's "The Publican," three movements of a Fure's "Requiem," two choruses from Handel's "The Messiah," and Lutkin's benediction, "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Soloists for the program are Joyce Ryan, Billy Sanders, James Jones, and Marilyn Durrence. In the "Sanctus" movement of the "Requiem," Jo Ann Parker will play a flute obbligato. James Jones will direct one of the members.

The choir is under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil, and is accompanied by Choyce "Doodle" Jackson.

The next performance of the choir is on Sunday, April 7, during the Parents' Day program, which is to be held in the McCroan Auditorium.

Pafford Elected N.E.A. Delegate

J. A. Pafford, principal of the Marvin Pittman School on the G.T.C. campus, was elected as the delegate from the First Congressional District, to attend the National Education Association convening in Philadelphia in June.

Each district is allowed to have one delegate to the national convention, and Mr. Pafford was elected at the Georgia Education Association convention last weekend.

The Community Concert Association will present a program by the Concertmen, an all male ensemble, featuring Edmond Karlsrud, April 1, in McCroan Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

In a series of coast-to-coast concerts the Concertmen and Mr. Karlsrud have presented art songs, operatic scenes, operetta excerpts, folk songs, and spirituals arranged by Charles Touchette.

Since graduating from the University of Minnesota and the Juilliard School of Music, Mr. Karlsrud has worked in television, radio, concert, and oratorio. The bass-baritone has also appeared with the Erie Philharmonic and "Carnegie Pops" (New York Philharmonic).

This is the third in a series of Community Concerts presented in McCroan Auditorium. The first was a concert by Beverly Bowers, soprano, and the second was presented by the Longine Symphonette.

Home Ec. Club Invites Guests For Open House

The Home Economics Club will hold open house for those who will attend the G.H.E.A. meeting on April 5 and 6. Club and faculty members throughout the state will be invited to visit the Home Economics Department enroute to the meeting.

The meeting of the G.H.E.A. will be held at the General Oglethorpe Hotel in Savannah.

Open house will be held: 3 to 5 on April 4, 10 to 12 on April 5, and three to five on April 6.

Mrs. Mary Lou Parrish is chairman of the event, and Jerry Shealy is her assistant.

Members of the club will serve as hostesses for the different divisions of the department. Chairmen of the hostess committees are: Alice Brock, home management House; Sandra Martin, nursery; Kay McCormick, home economic department. These chairmen are responsible for showing the visitors the facilities and equipment in the home economics division. The guests will be served refreshments in the home management house.

Pat Colvin and Tissy Jordan are responsible for the flower arrangements in the home management house, the nursery, and the home economics department.

President Zach S. Henderson is again on the road as he journeys today to Fort Valley to speak to the Kiwanis Club there at its regular meeting.

Annual First District Science Fair To Spotlight Exhibits of Students

First Edition Of 'Miscellany' Well Received

MISCELLANY, new student literary magazine which made its debut on the campus earlier this month, has been "generously received" by students and faculty, the editors report, and plans are already underway for the next issue in May.

Britt Fayssoux, co-editor of the new publication, revealed that the magazine was "sold out" two days after its release.

"We really didn't expect MISCELLANY to sell so fast," he declared, "and we are well pleased with the comment we have received from those who have read it."

The magazine offers a publication outlet for serious student literary work, and the editors are asking for contributions of short stories, poems, essays, book reviews, and feature articles for the next issue. Preliminary plans are for publication about the middle of May. The deadline for contributions is April 26.

Serving as co-editor with Fayssoux is Jane Williams, an English major at the University of Georgia. She was a student here last summer and fall quarter and was one of the handful of students with the original idea for a student literary quarterly.

The editors are naming an editorial board to assist with the reading of manuscripts and the selection of material for the next issue. Molly Williams, Savannah; Sistine Poe, Fitzgerald; and Ann Waters, Savannah, have been named board members. Two others are to be selected later, the editors pointed out.

In the meantime, the call is out for contributions for the next number, and students are urged to participate. Contributions may be turned over to Fayssoux or turned in at the office of public relations. Roy F. Powell, public relations director, is advisor.

Physics Film Steps In as Prof

Georgia Teachers College may soon have on campus a set of revolutionary film strips designed to replace hard to get physics teachers in the nation's schools, according to Ed Abercrombie, director of the State Educational Film Library.

The new set of films put out by the Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc., comprises an entire course of lectures and laboratory demonstrations in introductory physics. The course is equivalent to a complete year of high school or freshman college physics.

The movies are made in sets of 162 strips, each 30 minutes long, in color or black and white. According to Mr. Abercrombie, supplementary written material is also included in the course to aid the instructor.

Mr. Abercrombie attended a national division of Audio Visual Instruction Convention in Washington, D. C. earlier this month, as Georgia's official delegate. At this meet he viewed the introductory film from one of the sets in color. He revealed

CLUB PICTURES

Club pictures for the 1957 Reflector have been completed. Those clubs running group pictures in the annual may make payment to Sammy Powell, business manager. All checks should be made out to the 1957 Reflector and given to Sammy Powell or put in an envelope addressed to the business manager, Reflector, and turned in to the public relations office.

Some clubs have not paid their bills for last year's annual, and they are requested to do so as soon as possible.

'Teahouse' Will Be Presented By Masquers

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" will be produced under the direction of Miss Dorothy Few, assistant professor of speech, April 25 and 26. The play by Vern Sneider will be Masquers spring production.

The cast will be as follows: Sakini, Bill Sanders; Sergeant Wainwright Purdy III, Emory Gregovich; Dewayne Dutton, Col. Cartrett; Captain Fisby, Ric Mandes; old woman, Willie Fowler; old woman's daughter, Jennie Fay Morgan; Lady Astor (the goat), still looking; Ancient Man, Gail Coston; Mr. Hokaida, Charles Berger; Mr. Omura, Ed Ward; Mr. Sumata, John Anderson; Mr. Sumata's father, Marion Porter; Mr. Seiko, Harris West; Miss Higa Jiga, Lynell Bailey; Mr. Keora, Bob Spell; Mr. Oshira, Jimmy Ray Johnson; Lotus Blossom, Diana Bair; Captain McLean, Emory Giles; Ladies League for Democratic Action, Jean Holmes, Ann Waters, and Barbara Williams. The daughter's children are still not cast.

A comedy, "Teahouse," has already won fame as a Broadway hit and road show, and is currently making a third success over the nation as a movie.

Science Judges Include Experts In Many Fields

High school students from seven counties will have over 200 exhibits on display at the sixth annual First District Science Fair on the G.T.C. campus Friday and Saturday, March 29-30.

These exhibits will be open to the public from 8 a. m. until 10 p. m. on Friday and from 8 a. m. until 12 noon Saturday.

The judges of the fair will include Dr. J. J. Westfall, head of the botany department at the University of Georgia at Athens; Dr. E. H. Dixon, head of the department of physics and astronomy, also from the University; Dr. T. H. Whitehead, head of the chemistry department at Georgia; Dr. J. F. Vincent and Miss Jessie Trawick of the chemistry department of the Georgia State College for women at Milledgeville; W. S. Haner, head of the division of exact sciences at G.T.C.; Dr. J. A. Boole, associate professor of biology here; Clare R. Davis, physics department; Leon R. Luckenbach, department of mathematics; James C. Stephens, from the MacMillan Publishing Company; and Henry Houston, Row-Peterson and Company.

Best Fair Ever

Tully S. Pennington, chairman of the First District Science Teachers Association, sponsoring organization, states that "it looks like it will be the biggest and best science fair we have had in the district."

First, second, and third place medals will be awarded in eight categories in the high school division, and certificates will be awarded in the elementary division. Exhibits will be set up Thursday afternoon and will be judged that evening at 7 p. m.

The high school exhibits will be displayed in the G.T.C. biology and chemistry buildings and the elementary school exhibits in the Marvin Pittman School.

Seven of the seventeen counties in the first district have entries in the science fair, with an entry coming from each of the Bulloch County schools. The other counties entering are Candler, Chatham, Emanuel, Jenkins, Toombs, and Screven.

Planned to Spark Interest

The purpose of the fair as stated by the First District Science Teachers Association is to develop and further interest young people in science in order to meet the great demands made today for scientifically and technically trained personnel.

The fair is financed by contributions from schools, civic organizations, businesses, and individuals. Those contributing this year include: Emanuel County Medical Society, Savannah Elementary School, the Statesboro Woman's Club, Union Bag-Camp Paper Corporation, the Lions Club, Statesboro Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Bob Soffold of Vidalia.

Honors Day??

One hundred and two G.T.C. students made the dean's list last quarter. This figure constitutes more than 10 per cent of the complete student body. If a student wants to make the dean's list one quarter, all he thinks he has to do is to take about three easy subjects, and he'll have it made. This is true certainly in some cases.

But what honors or recognition does the administration or the faculty offer for the few students who work hard each quarter and perhaps gain a six-point grade ratio, or almost that, every time grades are averaged?

Honors Day was originally set up to remedy this situation, but does it serve its purpose? Are the students who are marched across the stage like a "herd of cattle" really honored? Only those who have received a B-plus average for the last five quarters are recognized. What about the student who has the highest over-all average during his college career?

Seniors are selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. However, they are not to be chosen according to the number of outstanding students in that class, but according to the allotment set by a national organization which has no notion of how many G.T.C. seniors should be cited for their leadership and scholarship. One of the seniors this year who has one of the highest grade point ratios in the school was not mentioned at all in Who's Who. Nor will he receive any special recognition for his over-all average.

What incentive does a student have to come to college and try his best to have the highest grade average in his class? G.T.C. has no "cum laude" or "magna cum laude" to offer its first, second, or third honor graduate, for there is none.

G.T.C.'s method of realizing scholastic achievement must be re-examined so that students who merit recognition by administration, faculty, and students will receive it.

Here We Go Again

Progress has been made this year at Georgia Teachers College, and only because of the wonderful cooperation of the student body with school leaders either administrative or students themselves. Observations will show that with the often congested circumstances, our student body has come through nicely, giving its careful attention to each undertaking.

Something had to be done about the dining hall line, and there was. Now, there is less confusion.

Registration is something that is always tiresome for most students, and this year with the increase in the number of students there was seen a possible increase in disharmony. This was proven false, however, for there was no more confusion with the increase, than in previous years when attendance was down.

Student attendance at basketball games and dances brought about another situation marked with confusion. Toward the beginning of the year, it was doubtful that one could either sit in the student section at the games, or find dancing room at the dances. This was remedied because the students pushed just a little closer together at the games to make more room there.

Although progress has been made in the areas mentioned above, we find that there is still room for improvement both here and in other areas.

Another of these urgencies lies in the respect each student here has for his fellow students. Often a person without thinking will make a little too much noise, disturbing his neighbor. This can be improved on with more careful consideration of each other and by trying a little harder to please a larger number of people.

This year, wonderful progress has been made, but this is not the end. We have a new opportunity to surpass last quarter now, and it can be done. Thus speaks the voice of the students.

Equally important was the traffic situation, which too was plagued with the heavy congestion brought about with a record number of student cars on campus. Again our students put their shoulders against the wheel, and aided by the widening of the circle, have done a marvelous job toward easing tension and holding down confusion.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

Jane Jackson

SO TIRED TODAY I ALMOST FELL ASLEEP IN CLASS.

Dear Editor:

I feel sure that I am speaking for many of the students and personnel of Georgia Teachers College when I ask if it isn't possible for something to be done about the deplorable condition of our national flag on front campus. It is quite an eyesore on the campus as it attracts attention immediately by fluttering in the wind. It seems that enough funds could be obtained from some source to provide for a new one.

When the flag of our country is allowed to deteriorate to the extent that ours has, it begins to be a reflection on everyone. By a joint resolution of Congress, the following measure was adopted concerning the display of the United States flag. "When the flag is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

Isn't it time we found a replacement of our time-worn flag and put in its place one that commands the attention and respect of people that the flag of a great nation should?

Sincerely,
MARILYN DURRENCE

LETTER TO STUDENTS

Dear Students:

We of The George-Anne are proud to be serving you in our capacities this quarter. The George-Anne is a student newspaper, dedicated to bringing to you, the student body the news of the events in and about our campus. We can accomplish this only if you the students make the news. You can make the news if you enter into the activities on our campus and strive to make our school a better one.

Furthermore, if ever you have anything you would like to say to the student body, and you do not wish to make a public announcement in assembly, you will have an opportunity to use The George-Anne as a medium for making your statement publicly.

If there ever appears anything in The George-Anne or on campus that you do not understand or agree with, you again have an opportunity to find out more about it or air your views by using our column called "Letters to the Editor."

Regulations appear, for any letter you wish to submit must be accompanied by your signature.

Use The George-Anne, it is your paper, and if you cooperate with us, we will be more able to cooperate with you. Call on us if you need any help.

FOUL-----Foul Ball

I've been knowing him for a long time, but I've never known him like this before!

When someone mentions Robbie Howard, the first thought I have is the good ole referee all the basketball teams loved at the Central Savannah River Area Tournament in Augusta. Yes sir, Robbie could get up and down that court just as good as the next fellow, bum leg and all, and talk about calling a game! He "called 'em like he saw 'em," and most of the time the crowd "saw 'em like he called 'em too." That was the Robbie I knew. The one who refereed basketball games at the C.S.R.A. tournament and worked for Padgett Motors in Augusta.

Now, I know Robbie the umpire! All I did to know this Robbie was go to the baseball games Friday and Saturday. I had just found a seat in the bleachers and had begun to settle down to watch the game in action when I heard this yell, scream, something, that sounded like OOOOHHHH! I thought goodness, an injury already. Startled, I gazed around the field for the injured player. I saw no one who appeared to be in pain, so I watched the game some more. Well, the next pitch was pitched, it was hit, backward, and I heard that noise again! Then I heard someone say listen at ole Robbie. The mystery was solved! I knew that it was the same Robbie Howard. He wasn't blowing a referee whistle and pointing his finger and saying (in a voice slightly higher than a moderate tone), "YOU GAVE HER THE ELBOW NUMBER 15," but this time he was pronouncing his verdict of FOULBAAALLLLL on the "hit backward pitch," in such a way that it sounded like OOOOHHHHHH!

I knew then we were in for a good game, or at least an enjoyable one which would be provided by the umpire if not our own "Teachers."

But, as I expected, the "Teachers" came through both games victoriously, which made the bleachers, full of people, happy. Everyone left the game (all G.T.C. students, that is) in a good humor from seeing the "Teachers" at their best and from hearing Robbie's decisions of BAAALLLL, STREEEKE, WALLLLKK, FOUL BAAALLLL, and OOOOUTTTTT!

When I talked to Robbie about this story after the game he said, "No, I don't care, go ahead and write it, I'll tell you anything you want to know."

For once I didn't want to know too much, because having known Robbie for nearly six years I had about enough information for this story. However, I did find out, that is, as Robbie puts it, "Oh, I'm getting too old for this stuff now, I've been in the official referee's and umpire's league since 1938, and I'm just getting too old."

He doesn't sound like it to me tho! How about it?

Billy Jackson

It's In the Air

With the arrival of somewhat warmer weather, and the formation of tiny green leaves on the trees around, we realize that spring has once more arrived.

Spring is expressed by many to be the favorite of all seasons during the passing years. Many seem to think that with spring there comes a new life, a new beginning. Asked about this, many of our own students expressed the opinion that spring is the season when their personal burden is lifted. This burden according to one is all the pressures brought about by school work, and the gloom often brought on in cold or rainy weather. So we see that spring has a right to be our favorite season.

And so, to spring, who gives to us the many beautiful changes in our plant world, the radiant sunshine, the beaming wonderfulness on the faces of those about us, we dedicate this issue of The George-Anne.

We do have this, a new quarter before us, and we have a new chance. The slate has been cleared once more, and now begins a new and possibly greater quarter than ever before. This is also, however, a chance that we will not make any more out of this quarter than those previous ones. All of this is left up to us, and it seems just a little better for ourselves and our fellow students. Think how nice it would be if we could do something each day to make someone else's life a little easier for him. All this simply applies the Golden Rule.

As we begin to set up our individual calendars for this quarter, we should be sure to check first with the school calendar to make sure we do not omit anything. This quarter we have many things that are scheduled to carry out the type of activity that has added greatly to the building and maintenance of our overall program here. Here are some of these things.

Baseball has too long been a minor spot in our campus life, and many of us haven't stopped to realize that actually baseball is not a sideline, but a sister sport to basketball. Probably if the facts were known, you would find that as a team our professors are regarded as highly and maybe even better on the baseball field, than on the hardwood. Yet, how many of us have been guilty of not seeing even one of the baseball games before we formed our opinion that we didn't like it. This season finds twenty-five games scheduled, with seventeen of them on our home diamond.

Why don't you get the lead out, and come on down to the field, maybe you will be watching a champion.

Parents' day, the Saturday night dances, the matinee dances, the spring concerts, under the trees featuring the college band, the Student Council elections, the F.B.L.A.-sponsored Preference Party, Honors Day, the Reflector ball, and graduation are only a few of the events facing us this quarter. Let's get behind them and make a banner year for our school.

Each of these have been planned for you, so why not try them.

Science Profs Cite Pennington

Tully S. Pennington, associate professor of biology here at G.T.C., and also chairman of the First District Science Teachers Association was honored at a group luncheon meeting in Atlanta on March 23. Mr. Pennington was cited by the Georgia Science Teachers

Association for special recognition and commendation for his "efforts in advancement of science."

His latest effort at advancing science in this district is along the line of the First District Science Fair being held on the G.T.C. campus this weekend. He expresses his hope that the college students will support his newest attempt at making science the interest of all young people in the state.

Parents Day To Be April 7

President Zach S. Henderson states that Parents' Day for the year 1957 will be held on Campus Sunday, April 7.

Letters have been sent to the parents of every student enrolled at G.T.C., telling them something of the program and urging them to attend the every-other-year meeting held here.

The program for the day will consist of performances by the Professors' band and the Philharmonic Choir in the McCroan Auditorium, and a tour of the campus which will explain some of the activities as students here.

Dr. Henderson states that the program should be a successful one this year since there was not one held last year because of some students' parents who might get bored with an annual schedule of this kind.

Hooley Works In New York This Quarter

Dr. Daniel S. Hooley, associate professor of music at G.T.C., left for New York City last Tuesday night where he is working on a research problem.

Dr. Hooley's leave will extend until the end of this quarter, although he will come back to Statesboro for a few visits during that length of time.

The nature of his research work will not be released yet, according to Dr. Ronald J. Neil, head of the music department here at G.T.C.

First District Literary Meets Here in April

High school literary students from all over the First Congressional District will gather on the G.T.C. campus next week as their respective schools vie for the positions as first place winners of the two literary meets to be held here.

The first contest of this type, to be held on April 2, will include entries from the Region AA schools of the district—Blackshear, Dublin, Effingham, Sandersville, Screven County High (Sylvania), Statesboro, and Swainsboro.

Friday, April 5, is the date of the second contest which will include all the district schools, divided into A, B, and C sections.

These literary meets are devised to interest high school students in the pursuit of knowledge along the lines of

New Journalists Added to Staff Of George-Anne

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

Seventeen bewildered students appeared in The George-Anne office last Tuesday night offering their assistance in anything that could be called working on the school newspaper.

However, there was one small disadvantage in being a member of that group. Not a one of them could do most of the assignments handed them by the George-Anne staff members.

These students comprise the spring quarter journalism class taught only once a year by Roy F. Powell, faculty advisor for The George-Anne and Miscellany, and director of public relations at G.T.C.

During the course of this quarter each of the members of that class will have worked on the paper at least one night out of each week.

Four of the class members have had experience on The George-Anne, and at least three of them hold staff positions, but they weren't too much help to the harassed news editor when the other thirteen invaded the office begging for assignments for the quarter.

However, after they have learned the essentials of writing a news story and counting headlines, they will become an invaluable help to the ever-pressed editor and his staff.

The new recruits will have rewards unnumbered when The George-Anne begins its annual social life, which it usually saves until spring quarter.

This course, English 104, is the only course in journalism offered at G.T.C., and many a graduate has stated the value of having the knowledge offered here.

Faculty members who are confronted with blank, questioning faces during the next few weeks are asked by the news editor to answer all questions, both disorganized and otherwise, as though they belonged to seasoned reporters.

Such may be the case at the end of spring quarter!

McELVEEN ATTENDS MEET

Hassie McElveen, librarian here at G.T.C., attended a dinner meeting of a group of librarians held in Savannah last Wednesday night.

The librarians will make plans for the Georgia Library Conference to be held in Savannah next November.

Miss McElveen has been very active in this group of librarians during the last year.

'Big Ed' Prints Miscellany Late Into the Night

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

"Here comes that agenda again!"

The voice of Ed McLeskey, one of the student assistants in the industrial arts department, was becoming his fate of another Monday afternoon.

Ed's job, as defined in the terms of his contract with the school, is that of printer's assistant in the industrial arts department. That may be true, but nobody ever said anything about all the extra hours he puts in "above and beyond the call of duty." The lights have burned many nights past the West Hall bed time of 1 a. m.

Ed McLeskey entered G.T.C. last fall quarter as a freshman major in industrial arts. That quarter he made the dean's list and began work down at the printing press.

At first there were only occasional printing jobs which couldn't interfere at all with Ed's schedule of eating, sleeping, and studying. These little jobs included such things as the program for "Orientrique," Masquers' production of "Summer and Smoke," and various church bulletins.

Then the public relations office came up with the bright idea to print the G.T.C. Agenda once a week. This idea was fine to all the members of the faculty who would receive and benefit by such a publication, but it only added work to Ed's load, and almost completely filled his Monday afternoons—especially when the "old printing press" wasn't in the best humor.

However, Ed's grumblings were confined to himself and his machine, and occasionally the carrier of the Agenda copy.

Who thought of the next catastrophe, he'll never know, but that's just about what he considered it—a catastrophe. The powers that be decided that the new literary quarterly could successfully be printed at the industrial arts department by the little printing press which Ed had learned to operate so skillfully.

The publication which is now known as Miscellany was to have 60 pages in its original form, and it was to be printed on the metal plate press. But this appeared to be almost to gigantic a proposition, so the litho press came back into the picture as the probable implement.

The "little job," which was scheduled to take about two weeks, ran on into months. Although Ed was getting a little bored with the same old stuff day after day, week after week, things were kept lively by the errors made by the typist and the 350 times he had to bend his neck in order to read the Miscellany.

The last weekend before winter quarter was over, authorities stated that the quarterly must be finished by the end of the quarter. Ed worked late into the night every night that week, and finally on the last Sunday refused to eat anything until he had finished. Having had no breakfast, dinner, or supper, he worked straight through until 6:30, but Miscellany was finally finished. Everyone who has read the magazine agrees that it was a great job of printing work, too.

Although his job is getting bigger by the day, however, Ed can think of no better job on campus that he'd rather have. Asked about it, he says, "Well, this is my major, and I'm learning more about it every day." He doesn't mind the late hours he has to spend on his work, and he doesn't seem to be suffering too much either.

Ed does not know that this story is being written, therefore he could say nothing about its

Teasley Elected Sprink Prexy

Three members of the G.T.C. chapter of the F.B.L.A. have been selected to represent it in the competition for "Mr. Business Executive," Miss "Business Executive," and "College Vice President."

These representatives are Powell Collins, Shirley Jones, and Mary Jo Hodges, respectively. The competition will be held at the F.B.L.A. state convention on April 5-6 at Rock Eagle State Park at Eatonton, Ga.

This quarter's F.B.L.A. officers have also been chosen, with only one change since last quarter. The officers now are as follows: president, Bobby Teasley; vice presidents, Bobby Schell and Merinda Barbee; secretaries, Berry Moore and Pokey Marriott; and treasurer, Mary Jo Hodges.

Miss Jane Martin, the advisor for the organization has announced that the Civil Service exam will be given on Saturday, April 13. The title of the exam is "Stenographer—Typist" and is open to anyone in the student body. The exam will be administered by a representative from the Civil Service Commission in the business building.

Any students interested in taking the exam should stop by the business department and procure a card from Miss Martin. This should be done as soon as possible as the cards must be sent to Atlanta.

Methodist Group Elects Officers For Next Year

The Wesley Foundation of the Pittman Park Methodist Church has elected officers for the school year of 1957-58.

The new officers who were elected March 10, were installed in an impressive ceremony last Sunday night in the Pittman Park Church.

Joyce Martin is serving as president of the organization, with Ellen Sumner assisting as vice president to help with the problems which will confront them during the coming year.

The other officers who will take over their positions right away are as follows:

Wanda Brooms, secretary; Jan Epps, treasurer; Franklin Pierce and Verla Garrett, co-chairmen of the publicity committee; Enid Jackson, chairman of the social committee; Judy Jones and Ruth Sutton Odom, co-chairmen of the World Christian Community committee; Buddy Rainey and Carolyn Davis, co-chairmen of the projects committee; June Watts, chairman of the music committee; and Louise Westbrook, chairman of the recreation committee.

Billy Jackson, who is retiring as president for the year 1956-57, states that as this term was the first year spent in the new Pittman Park Church, the organization has made great headway in its actual constitution. Membership for the Wesley Foundation has picked up considerably as compared with the year before since moving to the new location.

Concerning the new year, Jackson says, "We expect next year to be even more successful because of the fine leadership we have and because of the assistance and cooperation shown by various church members in the local church."

being printed. If he had, he probably would not have allowed it to go in.

Now that he hasn't, he will either boycott the paper, or will leave me with his characteristic remark:

"That's okay, Joyce, I still like you."

The George-Anne, Behind the Scenes

JENNIE FAYE MORGAN, Wilma Ricketson, Bob Mitchell and Betty Watson pictured above have plenty to smile about, for they think they have finished the paper for this week. Morgan and Watson were winter quarter editors, Mitchell was news editor, and Ricketson was copy editor.

WYLENE FOWLER, Sammy Powell, and Bob Spell shown here are involved in serious business as Sammy, who is business manager, is trying to explain his procedure to his assistant, Wylene, and our winter quarter feature editor, Bob.

Campus News Views, Reviews

Featured on this page are some of the students who served as the administrative staff of the George-Anne last quarter. These are the people that were responsible for seeing that the news was gotten, ads sold, and the paper put together and published.

Each staff member has some specifically delegated job, but final editions are the result of the combined teamwork of all staffers, with most of them doing at least a little work on every phase of production.

Some of the major jobs include the editor's chair, which was shared last quarter by Jennie Fay Morgan and Betty Watson. Their job consisted mainly of work on make-up, writing editorials and selecting the news. Serving as associate editor in an advisory capacity was Britt Fayssoux, who also wrote a column and covered special assignments.

Next on the list, managing editor, was Billy Jackson, who assisted with make-up and was in charge of copy. The job included being at the printers most of Friday morning to help in reading proofs and making any necessary changes that came up. Assisting him in this job was Jo Ann Parker.

A Nose For News

Bob Mitchell took charge of seeing that the campus was covered news-wise last quarter in his position as news editor. His job was to put out the weekly assignment sheet, and check all news stories brought in by other reporters. His assistant in this position was Joyce Kirkland.

One job that keeps the paper going is that of business manager. It is his job to sell ads to supplement the money put up by the school to cover publication costs. Sammy Powell held down this position. Wylene Fowler served in the job of assistant business manager, with the George-Anne mailing list as her main responsibility. Although not on the official staff, Carmen Roach and Nan Stephens lent a welcome hand in this latter project.

Taking charge of features and featured news stories last quarter was Bob Spell, who worked with Jane Jackson, his assistant in this job.

A Real Sport

The paper's sports page was kept in shape last quarter by Bob Pollack, who was responsible for seeing that both men's and women's activities were covered. Intramurals as well as intercollegiate games were reviewed and predicted on by Bob Pollack along with his assistant, Frank Turner.

Keeping up with fashions, frolics, and many behind-the-scenes points of interest this quarter was Joyce Jackson, who wrote "Campus Column."

Of a somewhat different nature, but still designed to bring out interesting sidelines was Larry Hyde's column, "Hyde and Seek." Other columns appearing included "The Inquiring Reporter," with Dillard Maxwell as "Mr. Inquirer"; "Tops 'n Pops," by columnist Kenny Giddens; and the "Vet's Column," written by various veterans on campus from time to time, but with Tom Bryson doing most of last quarter's writing.

Names Behind the News

Wilma Ricketson held the position of copy editor this quarter, with Charlie Harper and Ben Norton as typists. Cartoonists were Charles Williams and Bob Belton.

Reporters last quarter included Loretta Edge, Chip Culpepper, Wylene Fisher, Anne Waters, Betty Rahn, Dillard Maxwell, Kenny Giddens, Ellen Blizzard, Marilyn Durrence, Huih Belcher, Larry Hyde and Hubert Manning.

ELLEN BLIZZARD, fall editor, Joyce Kirkland, winter assistant news editor, and Britt Fayssoux, associate editor, are discussing makeup. The makeup department is one of our most vital departments since it is here that stories are picked for publication according to their importance.

ROUNDING OUT our winter quarter staff are Jo Ann Parker, assistant managing editor, Billy Jackson, managing editor, and sports editor Bob Pollak. The three are shown here looking over the finished product to see how it turned out and to get ideas for next week's edition.

Georgia Review Publishes Work Of Former Co-Ed

Jane Williams, who is co-editor of the literary quarterly, Miscellany, and is now a student at the University of Georgia, has had a story accepted by the Georgia Review.

The story, "Tragic Thing," will appear in the March 15 issue of the magazine.

Jane transferred to the University from M.G.T.C. at the end of last quarter and is a junior English major. One of her stories, "Mud Castles," appeared in last quarter's issue of Miscellany.

Roy F. Powell, director of public relations at G.T.C., has also had stories printed in the Georgia Review—his most recent being "Home for Uncle Benny."

This being the first issue of The George-Anne this quarter, I would like to take the opportunity to welcome the new students to our campus. As you know this is known both as the sweetheart and the friendly campus. We hope you will give us a chance to prove that our reputation is true and we hope you will soon feel as one of us. We are also glad to see the students who did practice teaching last quarter.

We are very proud of our baseball team and their winnings over Erskine last Friday and Saturday. Try to keep up with the game schedule in order to attend them and support the team.

The student workers were amused Tuesday night as they saw an imitation of themselves and the other students coming through the dining hall line as given by Bobby Forrester at the Pi Beta Lambda meeting.

Students enjoyed the speech made by Jim Cherry, superintendent of DeKalb County schools, at the assembly program Monday. He urged the students to "think big" and to support the American philosophy of education.

A second presentation of "T.C. 2020" was given Wednesday night by En Melodie and Phi Mu Alpha. The musical was warmly received as before and added much to the school spirit.

I notice that some of the boys are making good use of the "Marchand." Everywhere I look I see new heads bobbing.

Lack of Hustle Main Problem, Said Cherry

The present critical problems in education are not the fault of the country's philosophy of education, but the result of "not doing enough" to support our philosophy, Georgia Teachers College students were told Monday in assembly.

Speaking was Jim Cherry, a G.T.C. graduate of 1936, who has taught in Douglas, Waycross, and Albany and is now superintendent of DeKalb County schools. He was the only student in G.T.C.'s history to serve two consecutive terms as president of the Student Council.

"Thinking big is absolutely necessary," the educator declared, "but we simply don't think big enough. We set our goals, but by the time we attain them, they are three years behind."

He declared that the American philosophy of education grew out of the Hamilton-Jefferson debates on philosophy of government and is based upon the belief of the individual and does not limit that individual.

He gave statistics on how many Georgia schools had adequate programs of high school education, and stated that in other countries where such conditions prevailed, there was a selective education program.

He implored G.T.C. students to do everything possible to help provide an adequate educational opportunity for each individual.

Just Frank About SPORTS

By FRANK TURNER
SPORTS EDITOR

With spring quarter just begun, we have brand new sports coming up in our intercollegiate baseball and our intramural softball programs. So let's all get out and support our fine baseball team and also utilize our abilities, if any, at softball.

Speaking of baseball there's plenty going on in the Grapefruit League in Florida and in the Cactus League in Arizona in preparation for the fast approaching major league openers on April 16.

There are quite a few interesting personalities on these scenes including the Pittsburg Pirates' rookie sensation, Dick Stuart, who last year clubbed 66 homers (one 610-foot wallop), drove in 158 runs, but struck out 171 times, for Lincoln, Nebraska of the class A Western League. He's pretty cocky, as he says if he doesn't stick, it's their (the Pirate brass') fault, his 158 R.B.I.'s were about as much as the combined total of last year's Buc outfield, that he won't stop at Ted Williams' salary when he starts making big money, and that if he has any fault, it's fielding. Dick has been hitting homers and striking out all spring.

Another headline maker is Granville Hamner, the Phillies' converted shortstop, doing some pretty good country pitching including a one-hit, three-inning stint against the Yankees. Granny, thrice the N.L. all-star shortstop, now relies on an almost "uncatchable" knuckler to keep him in the big show. He had to make the move because of a stiff left shoulder resulting from an injury last year.

Mickey Mantle has his name on the injury list as well as the slugging list as usual with bruised thumbs, sprained ankle, and homers galore.

What's this about an ex-cricket player playing baseball? That's right, 23-year-old, Andre Rogers, an ex-cricketeer from Bahama, is now bashing the apple around with the New York Giants. He socked two homers in one game against the Baltimore Orioles not long ago and he has had only three years of minor league experience.

That was a tough break for the Giants but a worse break for Bill Sarni when the catcher had a heart attack the other day and had to call it quits to his baseball career.

How about Red Sox G. M. Joe Cronin's reported offer of a million dollars to Cleveland G.M. Hank Greenberg for star southpaw Herb Score? When asked about it, Herb said, "No ball player is worth a million dollars," I agree, but if Williams and Musial were a little younger I wouldn't. Maybe Mantle is. Who knows?

Eagles Get Intramural Lead

Which unit will be the all-intramural champions? This question will be answered at the end of this quarter when the scores for the entire year are compiled for each unit.

Mims Pitches, Womack Hits As Profs Win

Ray Mims, a freshman from Augusta, came on to quell a Newberry fire in the eighth inning Thursday and thus preserved a 6-5 Prof victory. With runners on first and second and three runs in, Mims struck out two batters retiring the side.

In the ninth, he struck out two of the three men to face him.

The Prof stick leaders were Preston Sizemore with three singles in three trips, Tom Womack with two triples and a single in four trips, and Ralph Berryhill with two singles in four trips to the plate. Sizemore and Berryhill had two R.B.I.'s each, and Womack collected one. Norman Griffin had one single in four trips while collecting the only other R.B.I.

Jimmy White, veteran right-hander, was effective until the eighth inning when he needed help from Mims. While taking the win in seven and one-third innings, White struck out five batters, walked five, and surrendered three earned runs.

Losing pitcher Russ Stoudemire, walked two batters and struck out four before giving up the mound in the sixth frame.

Professors Beat Erskine's Fleet Twice; 6-4, 8-6

The Profs of G.T.C. got off to a fast start in baseball last Friday, beating Erskine College 6-4 in the season opener played on the home diamond. They followed up the first victory with a second game victory on Saturday by an 8-6 score for a sweep of the home series.

In the first game right-hander Roy Alewine of Augusta went all the way giving up 10 hits while allowing 4 earned runs, striking out 2, and walking 2. Alewine also led the Profs hitting with 2 singles in 4 trips. Left-fielder Preston Sizemore, also of Augusta, had 2 singles in 5 at bats, and catcher Ralph Berryhill of Lakeland, Georgia hit the game's only homer, a 2-run shot in the fifth.

Leading hitters for Erskine were shortstop Carrol Taylor with 2 singles in 5 trips, second baseman Bob Johnston with a double and a single in 4 trips, and first baseman Bob Rankin with 2 singles in 4 trips. Jimmy Miller was the losing pitcher.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Ralph Berryhill, catcher; Tom Womack, short stop; and Ray Mims, pitcher, are our players of the week. Berryhill has five hits in eleven at bats with one home run, and five R.B.I.'s. Womack had two triples and a single in four trips to the plate against Newberry, and Mims with his dazzling relief work against the Newberry Indians struck out four of the five batters to face him.

The Professors are scheduled to play American International College of Springfield, Massachusetts today and tomorrow afternoon. Going against the boys from Massachusetts today will probably be Bill Lowe, and tomorrow's starter is figured to be Roy Alewine. Lowe, a steady southpaw from last year's team has shown good control and a sharp fastball so far this season.

Alewine, the little right-handed fireballer from Augusta has already made his debut this season posting the team's first victory with a 6-4 win over the Flying Fleet from Erskine College. Alewine mixes a fast ball with a variety of other pitches to fool opposing batters. Alewine is also hitting at a .650 clip and posting three R.B.I.'s.

Monday, the Profs will encounter a strong team from Ithaca College of Ithaca, New York. John Sawyer, big right-hander from last year's squad will start against the boys from New York.

Smith's Comedy T.C.-2020, Given Second Time

T.C. 2020 was produced for the second time last Wednesday night for the benefit of those faculty members and students who were prevented from attending the maiden performance of the musical comedy.

Earl "Juicy" Smith both produced and directed the comedy, in addition to having written the script.

The show offered a combination of comedy, music, nonsense, and lampoonery which was "worth seeing and enjoying."

Bobby Godwin and his role of an angel held the audience enthralled for the most part of the show, and the other performers acted with their usual candor.

'Talent Revue' Will be April 4

College performers will be given a chance to appear on stage at the annual "Talent Revue," sponsored by the Canterbury Club, and directed by Ralph Bailey, to be held in the McCroan Auditorium next Thursday night, April 4, at 8 p. m.

Claudia Tinker, president of the club states that contestants should contact Ralph Bailey.

Prizes of $10, $5, and $2.50 will be awarded by the club treasurer, Joe Brewer. Emcee for the show will be Peter O'Millian; Bill Sanders is stage manager.

Although many of the contestants are college students, the revue is not confined to any one group. Price for admission to the show is 25 cents.

Hyde Speaks Before Council On Programs

Student-sponsored chapel programs were the main topic of discussion at last Monday's Student Council meeting. Larry Hyde talked to the group, presenting some ideas about the type program preferred by most of the student body. He also gave some suggestions on how to improve them and some opinions on the length and number of chapels needed each month.

In connection with the discussion, Dewayne Dutton, president of Student Council, is selecting a committee to study the ideas and try to work out plans for instituting improvements in the future.

The complete committee will be announced later, but will include Dianna Bair, chairman of the Standards Committee; Dewayne Dutton, Ralph Walton, Larry Hyde and two other students at large, and Dean Paul F. Carroll, as faculty advisor.

DR. THOMAS B. ALEXANDER, head of the social science division here at G.T.C., has been granted a year's leave of absence beginning next September. He will accept the position as visiting associate professor at the University of Alabama. Jack N. Averitt will act as head of the department in his absence.

films will be $25,000. A black and white series will also be offered. This latter type will include color where necessary for clarity and will market for $13,000. According to Mr. Abercrombie, it is believed that a set would pay for itself in teachers' salary within a few years. He also brought out the fact that most educational films cost around $100, while individual films in black and white set average only $80.25. Films in the color set will average slightly over $150 per strip.

According to the producing company, the film is believed to be the first complete course in the American curriculum to be made available on film. The course was designed after a survey of leading physics textbooks and laboratory work books over the nation was made, and is designed to fit into the operations of school systems using the majority of these text.

Mr. Abercrombie expects the state of Georgia to purchase some ten sets by next year if a workable plan of distribution can be worked out for the schools here. He stated that such a plan would probably mean that one school would work with films on one phase of physics, while another school was studying another section, with the schools involved swapping sets at the end of their periods. Topics included in the course will be: mechanics, properties of matter, heat, special lessons, light, electricity and magnetism, atomic physics, electronics, quantum epics, nuclear physics.
