Honors Day Monday for Outstanding Students

Vaccine Issued To 567 Students

Ninety-four per cent of the G.T.C. students eligible to take the polio immunization shots came through Tuesday when they received the Salk vaccine. The drive, sponsored by the health education class 430 taught by Jess White, assistant professor of physical education, was answered by 567 out of 602 eligible students on Triple S Day.

Solon Wisham, chairman of the drive, considers the "Salk Shot Safe" campaign an almost complete success, and reminds those students who took the shot that the date for the second one in the series is on May 28.

Of the 567 students who complied with the request of the class to take the shot, 285 were girls and 282 were boys. This prompts some of the sponsors of the campaign to wonder "Which is the weaker sex?"

THE PRETTIEST GIRL ON CAMPUS does a double take here (or so it seems) as Sis Heys, Miss TC of 1957, gets kissed by Don Wallen and Micky Wilson, the two "Mr. Preferred's."

Swimming Regulations Issued Regarding Time and Pool Use

The following pool schedule and regulations have been released by Miss Margaret Stanion who is in charge of the GTC pool.

The Life Saving Class will hold a meeting Monday, May 6 from 3:30 to 5:00 p. m. So far 3 students have signed up. There will have to be 15 or more in the class if the course is to be given.

During regular physical education class and life saving class the pool will be closed to persons not in the class.

On weekends the pool will be opened as follows: Saturdays: 10-12 a. m. and 1-4 p. m. Sundays: 2-4 p. m. A sign will be up whenever the pool is to be closed for cleaning.

Miss Stanion has also released the following regulations for those students who use the pool: 1—Take a shower before entering the pool, 2—Remove chewing gum before entering water, 3—WALK, do not run, 4—NO horse play, 5—NO socializing or talking with the life guards, 6—One person on the diving board at a time, 7—Dive only when the area below the diving board is clear of swimmers, 8—NO objects of any kind are to be thrown into the pool, 9—Non-swimmers must stay between the blue and white lines and the shallow end of the pool, 10—All activities must stop when a whistle blows, 11—Life saving equipment is not to be played with, 12—Do not enter the water if you have any kind of open sore.

Please observe all of these rules and regulations and it will save embarrassment to both the student and the life guard.

TV Program at New Time

GTC's next monthly TV program has been scheduled for May 10 at 2:30 p. m. instead of the previous 3:30 p. m. set-up. The time change was a result of daylight saving time, which is effecting all the programs over Savannah's station WTOG-TV.

Next week's program will feature the Marvin Pittman

Concert Band Begins Tour

The Georgia Teachers College concert band begins its annual tour May 8. The 50-piece band is making preparation to give concert performances in Hazelhurst, Douglas, Blackshear, Valdosta, Quitman, Tifton, and Cordele.

Since the tour only lasts three days, it is going to be necessary to give more than one concert per day. The band will appear in four different places on the first day out and two appearances are scheduled for Hazelhurst. A slightly different policy is being followed this year in that there will be no featured soloists in any of the performances as there have been in the past.

BSU Travels

To Tybee Beach

BSU members make their annual trip to Savannah Beach Saturday morning, leaving the college at 8:30 a. m. on Gabriel, the BSU bus.

Director of student activities at the First Baptist Church, Miss Sue Kirby, will go along on the trip as chaperon. Joyce Jackson is chairman of the committee in charge of the food, which is distributed at fifty cents per person.

School seventh and eighth graders' excursion to Camp Labjoy. It will be the last such program sponsored by this school this year.

Other programs have brought out highlights in various departments and clubs on campus, such as the music and social studies departments, Masquers, and student activities.

Dramatic Club Admits Pledges This Quarter

Six pledges invited to join Alpha Psi Omega, the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, were Emory Cartret, Wilmath Fowler, Jennie Fay Morgan, Lynelle Bailey, Marion Porter, and Molly Williams. The purpose of the fraternity is to honor those who have contributed to the growth of dramatics on the campus of Georgia Teachers College.

The requirements for entrance are: (1) a lead in a three-act play, or (2) five minor roles in three-act plays. A lead in a one-act play constitutes one minor role, and any responsible position backstage in production gives one minor role. The person must have the equivalent of ten points of backstage work and 50 points of acting or vice versa.

Initiation will be Saturday, May 4, 6:30 a. m., followed by breakfast at Dr. Fielding D. Russell, professor and chairman of division of languages.

President of Alpha Psi Omega is Diana Bair and secretary is Ellen Blizzard.

Industrial Arts Fair Convenes Here Tomorrow

The 1957 First District Industrial Arts Fair will be held in the new GTC Physical Education Building from 12:00 until 3:00 p. m. on Saturday, May 4.

Students from the following high schools will participate: Claxton, Glennville, Darien, Hinesville, Metter, Richmond Hill, Savannah, Statesboro, Savannah, Waynesboro, and Collegeboro.

Displays will also be shown of projects made by GTC students enrolled in industrial education. They will not compete with the high schools for awards.

H. C. Carmichael, district chairman and assistant professor of industrial education extends to all a cordial invitation to attend.

Annual Dance For May Queen Given Saturday

The annual May Day Dance will be held tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Old Gym. A May queen will be selected from the four senior candidates who were chosen by the senior class. A maid of honor will also be chosen to reign with the queen. The other two senior candidates will be representatives of the court.

The dance, sponsored by the seniors, will be formal and will be a "Medieval Castle Dance" with decorations originating from that theme. Music will be furnished by the complete Professors Dance Orchestra.

The climax of the night will be the crowning of the queen during the intermission at 9:30 followed by a short entertainment program.

The other three classes will have six representatives added to the queen's court. The chosen girls from the four classes are: seniors, Mary Tippins, Rose Watkins, Janis Miller, and Ruth Bennett; juniors, Diana Bair, and Uldine Shuman; sophomores, Martha Brantly and Ann Fulmer; and freshman, Sue Chance and Ramona Wall.

The queen and maid of honor have already been chosen, but will not be revealed until the dance.

Jones, Woodard Conduct Band In Next Pops

G.T.C.'s Pop Concerts return once again Monday afternoon at 6:15 p. m. on the lawn in front of the music building, according to officials in that department.

Continuing with the student conducted and arranged programs, the coming concert will feature James Jones and Cecile Woodard, both juniors from that department.

Among the pieces to be played on this after-supper concert will be selections from the Broadway hit "The King and I."

Both students are members of the special instrumental majors class which sponsors and performs the concerts.

One-Act Plays Under Student Directors Soon

Two one-act plays will be presented under the direction of students: "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" by George Bernard Shaw under the direction of Molly Williams, junior, Savannah, and "Where the Cross is Made" by Eugene O'Neill directed by Bill Sanders, junior, Atlanta.

The plays will be presented May 22 at 7 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. No admission will be charged, but reserve seats must be made.

"The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" is a satire of what might have been the life of William Shakespeare. The dark lady is to whom over half of Shakespeare's sonnets were written, but it was not Elizabeth, as most people think, but his mistress.

The cast is Elizabeth, Ann Waters; Shakespeare, Curt Walker; Beef-eater (traditional guard of Buckingham Palace), Emory Giles; and the dark lady, Mimi Saba.

"Where the Cross is Made" is a tragedy of madness of a man who waits for a ship that isn't, and of his son, whose own ambitions force him to sell his father to free himself.

Members of the cast are as follows: Nat Bartlett, Harris West; Higgins, Charles McLendon; Sue, Jeans Fulford; and Captain Bartlett, Peter O'Millian.

GSCW Pres. Guest Speaker

Fifty GTC students will be honored Monday morning in the Honors Day program featuring speaker Dr. Robert E. Lee, president of Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville.

The annual Honors Day activities held in the regular 10 a. m. assembly time will award 15 seniors for constructive leadership and unselfish service. Thirty-five students will be recognized for having achieved a five-point grade ratio for the past five quarters. Awards will be given also to the winner of the Alpha Psi Omega acting recognition and to the winner of the Leodel Coleman Cup for outstanding journalism.

"The Middle Road" The topic for Dr. Lee's speech will be "The Middle Road," after which the awards will be distributed. Dr. Lee is a World War II veteran and taught at North Carolina State College, the University of Florida, and Berry College in Rome before accepting his present position in July of 1956. He received his A.B. degree at Washington and Lee University, his Masters at Vanderbilt University, and his Doctor's at the University of Florida.

Those students to be honored for constructive leadership and unselfish service are Bob Allen, Ellen Blizzard, Bob Byrd, Doug Corry, Dewayne Dutton, Britt Fayssoux, John Ell Hendley, Frances Bell McGirt, Gene Meadows, Clarence Miller, Janis Miller, Virginia Sikes, Martha Tinker, Rose Watkins, and Star Woodard.

Scholars Cited For excellent scholarship the following will be recognized:

Bob Allen, Diana Bair, Charlie Bennett, Charlotte Blitch, Ellen Blizzard, June P. Brown, Ann Cason, Janell Cobb, Iva Mae Dinkins, Rena Dixon, Dewayne Dutton, John Ell Hendley, Ina Jones, Evelyn Jones, Mary Ann Kemp, Lucy Melton, Jackie Mikell.

Also Clarence Miller, Maxie Jo Mimbs, Berry Moore, Jane Morris, Albert Norman, Carmen R. Powell, Sylvia Powell, William Smith, Ellen Sumner, Claudia Tinker, Sandra Tindol, Mary Tippins, Cecil Usher, Ralph Walton, June Watts, Lila Weatherly, Sandra Wiggins and Barbara Wisenbaker.

Fathers and mothers of the honorees will be present for the program at the invitation of the dean of the college and President Zach S. Henderson, who will make the actual awards.

Watson to Lead Re-evaluations On Claxton High

Dr. Georgia Watson, professor of education will act as chairman of a visiting committee to re-evaluate the Claxton County High School May 2-3 in Claxton. The other GTC professors will also serve on the re-evaluation committee. They are: Dr. Donald Hackett, professor and chairman of Division of Arts and Shelby Monroe, associate professor of education. Jimmy Gooden of the State Department of Education will be present for the re-evaluation.

A Note of Thanks

During the past four weeks the health education 430 class has worked diligently on the campaign for administering the polio shots to students of G.T.C.

The sincere thanks of the class are extended to all the members of the student body who helped and participated in the drive to immunize themselves against poliomyelitis.

Special recognition for service is also given to the following persons and organizations who helped make the program a success.

They are: Jess White, instructor of the class, President Zach S. Henderson, Dean Paul Carroll, editor and members of the George-Anne staff, Radio Station WWNS, student workers in the dining hall, Dr. Hugh King, director of the Bulloch County Health Department, and many others too numerous to mention in this column.

My personal gratitude and thanks goes to the members of the class who put in effort "above and beyond the call of duty" to make this campaign possible.

However, although only 94 per cent of the eligible students responded to the drive and received the polio shots, the immunization campaign is not complete yet. The second shot offered in the Triple S Drive will be given on May 28 under the same circumstances. The doors of the health cottage will be open to the 567 students who took the first shot Tuesday.

Vote—Vote—Vote

With the coming Student Council and class officers, there arises the need of stressing to the student body the importance of voting.

We are lucky here in that we have a student government that is more than a puppet organization. The same holds true for the class organizations also. In many schools, some even in our own state, the student government has no duties other than handing down the rulings and wishes of the administration and faculty.

So many times, people neglect to vote because they think the election is unimportant, or they think that the sure winner is unqualified in some way. To combat such feeling, it should be known that all elections held on this campus are important, or they would never be held. Furthermore, it is known that the only sure way to keep unqualified persons out of office is to vote them out. As far as anyone being a sure winner, there is no such thing on this campus for in the past few years, there has been no landslide margins, rather the difference in votes for each candidate has been as a rule very small. In many instances, as last year, a hot run-off campaign is necessary to capture the office.

Do your bit for the school for democracy. Vote for the man of your choice whether or not you think him the likely winner. After all, you never know anything until it has been tried and proven. Ask the Democrats, they predicted victory in '52 and '56.

Honors Day . . .

Monday, May 6, Georgia Teachers College will observe its annual Honors Day program. This day is set aside each year to give recognition to outstanding students of our school.

There will be a good number of students recognized for constructive leadership, unselfish service to the school, excellent scholarship and some will receive additional recognition for participation in different organizations and school functions.

It is indeed proper that a day of this type be set aside each year to honor those students that have contributed so much and achieved certain standards while attending G.T.C. Sometimes we tend to forget just how much certain students do to help make our school what it is. This day we are able to show our appreciation to those students by letting them know we are thankful for what they have done.

One man has said that "Society cannot rise above the level of the men that make it up." This is certainly true of our college. GTC has a great many fine and distinguished students and they are the ones that make the school what it is to us and to others. Congratulations to those to be honored on Monday.

PENN STATE SETS HOME PHYSICALS

University Park, Pa. (IP)—Effective with the opening of the fall semester, 1957, students admitted to the Pennsylvania State University will have physical examinations performed by their local home physicians rather than at the university.

In the past, students were given physical examinations during the orientation week that precedes the opening of classes. With larger enrollments of new students planned, it is no longer considered practical to complete the physical examination during orientation week, unless the orientation week is extended.

Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the University Health Service, explains that the University will continue to provide 7-rays, certain laboratory tests, and dental examinations during orientation week and these need not be included in the examination by the home physician.

Under the new plan, the health service will mail to each student admitted a physical examination form. The parents will complete the medical history section and the family physician will complete the remainder of the form.

While physical examinations are required for all students, the examination is not given until after the student has been ad-

Having suffered through freshman week at GTC, and knowing well the feeling homesick freshmen have, I would like to encourage the upper classmen on campus, especially the girls, to think back on the way they felt as they left home for college and try next September to help some "lonely" freshman feel at home.

The best way I know for the girls to help in this worthwhile campaign is to join the Big Sisters Club. Big sisters began the year I entered GTC. I'll never forget how much good it did me, when "Dot" came around and helped me get my books, introduced me to a lot of people, and made me feel that once again I belonged somewhere.

The Big Sister Club is growing now, and its activities are increasing, but it still needs more members who really want to help others.

Again I ask you to think back on how you felt when you were a freshman, and then resolve that next year you will do your best to help someone feel at home at GTC, and learn to love it as you have.

Sincerely,
Jane Jackson

The young men and women that make up the Health Education class are to be commended for the splendid effort put forth by them in bringing the Salk Polio Vaccine to the students of Georgia Teachers College.

Solon Wisham, originator and chairman of the drive, stated that a total of 567 students took the vaccine. This figure by itself shows that "Triple S Day" was a big success.

The scorekeeper for the girls' intramural softball league need adding machines in place of score books.

Two teams from East Hall hooked up in an inter-dorm battle last week. When the dust had cleared away, third floor was the victor over second floor by a score of 37 to 31. Sounds like a basketball score to me.

"What is the matter with the male students at Georgia Teachers College? They never ask us for dates."

This I have heard more than once from the opposite sex. Last week, the girls had the opportunity to ask the boy of their choice to spend the evening with them.

What happens? Some 50 or 60 girls out of 400 feminine students cooperate with FBLA and make a preference.

The answer should be printed in this paragraph, but since I am a male, I don't really know the answer. Do you?

Now that spring is here and we have the outdoor concerts, it would be an excellent time to put the amphitheater, behind the old gym, into use.

A note of thanks goes out to the music majors for the wonderful programs presented. Keep up the good work.

The baseball team returns to the local diamond Tuesday for the final home game of the season. Plans are underway to honor the seniors on the squad.

I don't think there could be a bigger honor than to have the bleachers overflowing with GTC students. Come on down and show your appreciation. They represent YOU...

Best Wishes To a Friend

William B. Moye, whose friendly smile and dry wit have almost become an institution on this campus, has taken a few days out of class for a rest under doctor's orders. This is (as well as we can determine), the first time in his 20-year teaching career here that he has missed a class because of health reasons.

Sometimes it's easy to take a person for granted when he's always around and always gets the job done. Now is a chance for GTC students to let him know we appreciate him and want him to come back soon.

All correspondence should be sent to Mr. William B. Moye, the New Macon Hospital, Macon, Georgia.

Democracy... A Plus

Diana Bair has just this week been appointed as GTC's student representative on the committee that puts the final O.K. on the community concerts held here each year.

Dewayne Dutton, president of the Student Council, made the appointment, stating that Diana was selected because of her knowledge of music and her wide interests among campus activities. She is a member of the Philharmonic choir, president of Masquers, chairman of the Standards Committee, and manages to help out with various projects all over campus, while still holding an A average.

The choice is a good one, and is one step towards allowing the students to see how their activities money is spent. This should lead to more student interest and support of the programs.

Your Privilege

G.T.C. students have a chance to sit in on an enjoyable and interesting program Monday, as Dr. R. E. Lee talks to the college on "The Middle Road." His speech will be in line with a whole chapel program designed to honor students for work well done and to inspire others to follow suit.

It's an impressive thing to see the awards presented, and the speaker chosen for the event helps give it more meaning. Last year, however, some students didn't see it that way, and an estimated 75 to 100 students had the audacity to get up and walk out just as the speaker stood to give his address.

Since these people did not give the man time to say anything, it is assumed that their thoughtless action had nothing to do with their opinion of the speaker, but rather that they just got tired of the program. The program lasts about an hour to an hour-and-a-half and is a privilege to attend. However, I feel that any student who doesn't feel that he is able to sit still that long should just stay away and let those who can appreciate it go. In this way, some students might miss a memorable experience, but at least the whole school will not be branded as a group of barbarians.

Pop Concerts Spring Up Again

The second pop concert presented by the GTC instrumental majors is set for next Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. on the lawn in front of the music building.

This program will be under the direction of student conductors James Jones and Stanley Brobston, both juniors. James is director of an elementary band in Metter, and is a member of the concert band, choir, and the Professors dance band. Brobston is also a member of the band and choir, and is director of the Marvin Pittman School band.

The group's last program was most enjoyable, and this next one promises to be every bit as good. Among the pieces to be played will be selections from the Richard Rogers hit, "The King and I."

The music's fine and the air is just right, so come on out and enjoy the fun.

Campus Column

By JOYCE JACKSON

Congratulations are extended to the two most popular men on campus, Don Wallen and Mickey Wilson. It only goes to prove that G.T.C. has more than one man that is in demand.

This week no one could say that he had no place to go. Movies were shown Monday and Tuesday nights in the audio-visual room. Wednesday was set aside for the mat dance and play night and Thursday night we had a wonderful preview of next year's cinema movies.

The library seems to be quite a popular place now-a-days. I don't know whether it is because it is a good place to see people, the air-conditioning that feels so good on these hot days or the awakening to the fact that this quarter is nearing an end. All three maybe.

Several declarations of the arrival of summer were made this week. One was the opening of the swimming pool. The physical education classes began swimming Tuesday. It is open to the public when there are no classes in the pool.

The red noses, bleached hair, brown arms and peeling backs give hits that many students have been enjoying the fresh air and the warmth of "old Sol" lately.

And the boys and Bermudas! I remember last year when Mickey Webb in her column almost begged the boys to bring this "fashion" to the campus

Dutton Heads Honors List, Student Gov't.

By JO ANN PARKER

Dewayne Dutton, president of GTC's Student Council, is guiding that group into an important position of leadership on this campus. His present position seems to be the pinnacle of his role as a student leader during his college career.

From all appearances and comments, Student Council this year has been one of the most well organized and cooperative groups ever to fill this position. In recognition of his work in that area and because of his outstanding scholastic and social record, Duke University has awarded him a $1,660 teaching assistantship for this coming year. The grant is made for advanced work in the field of graduate work in Modern European history.

A native of Glennville, Dutton is majoring in social science, with the equivalent of minors in music, German, and sociology.

Since coming to G.T.C., he has served as president of IRC during his sophomore year, veep of that club during his junior and senior years, president of the German Club his junior and senior years, parliamentarian for the Masquers his senior year, and of course, this year's president of Student Council. He has also been a member of the Music Education Club and a member of the GTC choir for four years. This year found him also an exofficio member of the standards committee. He was also named to "Who's Who in American Colleges" this year.

Because of his varied interests he first came to GTC uncertain of a major. Since he was inclined towards music, he spent his freshman year as a music major, but changed to social studies the next year because, "after I came to GTC, I discovered that my interest was not as all important as I once thought." He had always been interested in history, and decided that with his high school preparation in that field, he would do well to go into it. According to him, the choice between music and history was a simple matter of deciding what was to be a career and what was to be a hobby. "And," he said, "I have never regretted my decision."

Turning to hobbies, Dutton likes reading, especially books on German and east European history, however, his reading list includes a wide range of other topics, too. Movies are another attraction, and then, there's his work in Masquers. Besides this, he's a avid basketball fan, and did not miss a single home game, to his knowledge, during his first three years here.

For the benefit of those who have chanced to hear the magnificence of his piano performances, Dutton, the musician, is planning to keep up his music, and might possibly do some research into music history. While here, he played in a number of programs both on and off campus and last year appeared as special piano soloist with the philharmonic choir on that group's spring tour.

According to the senior, the German club and the IRC have played an important part in his college career because of their relationship to his major. Dutton helped lead the IRC into a study of the cultural side of foreign countries. The idea of culture also came out in the German Club, in which he served as M.C. and organizer of two Mozart Bi-Centennial programs.

After finishing his graduate work, he is planning to teach history in a college and to continue his research in that field.

In speaking of this school, he said, "I consider myself the luckiest character in the world to have found a school so perfectly suited to my personal desires these past four years." He also spoke of how much his teacher and student friends had meant to him here.

His name will be remembered in many phases of GTC's life for a long time.

'Mr. Preferred' Title Split By Athletes Wallen, Wilson

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

"I would congratulate you, but I didn't think you'd get it." This statement, made upon the surprising announcement of two Mr. Preferred's, was, however, only the opinion of a few.

Don Wallen, a senior physical education major here on campus, and Mickey Wilson, a transfer from Truett-McConnell Junior College, accepted twin crowns last Saturday night as the FBFA sponsored its third annual Preference Ball.

A tie in the number of girls the two young men in question, with no way in which to break the tie, the FBFA committee contented itself with establishing a non-precedented situation as a solution to this knotty problem.

Neither of the young men had been at all expectant of receiving the honor bestowed on them. As a matter of fact, a witness states that there had been a lot of kidding between the two during the day Saturday as to which of them would win the title of Mr. Preferred.

Sis Heys, Miss TC of 1957, presented the two lucky guys with their crowns, but seemed rather nonplussed in doing so—particularly when she made a mistake in names. Her famous last words were: "Don Wallen and Mickey Webb!"

Don and Mickey themselves could only grin with uneasiness and accept all the remarks extended by those present at the dance.

The presentation of the crowns was made after a live show depicting the various sequences in the life of Mr. Preferred from babyhood to his present-day college curriculum. Bob Pollak served as Master of Ceremonies, with Pokey Marriott, Ouida Newby, Billy Sanders, Herbert Houston, Virginia Smith, Gail Coston, Bobbie Butler, Ted Woods, and Bobby Schell helping to round out the program.

Miss Ela Johnson, assistant professor of English, gave her customary introductory talk before Mr. Preferred himself was brought on in a new automobile, accompanied and approved by Mose Bass.

The dance itself was again held on the tennis courts with music furnished by two combos which proved quite satisfactory to the dancers.

Surprisingly, both of the two girls who got their first choice among males had no idea that they had so chosen. Pat Fletcher, who dated Don Wallen, and Jan Powell, dating Mickey Wilson, registered as much astonishment as the two young men.

Music Group Holds Festivities

The Zeta Omicron Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a national music fraternity, will celebrate "Chapter Day" on May 15.

The celebration will be brought to a climax by a serenade of the girls' dormitories and a stag party afterwards.

The occasion being recognized is the day on which the local chapter at G.T.C. was admitted into the national fraternity in 1953.

All chapter members and alumni members will be invited to the day's activities.

Just Frank About SPORTS

By FRANK TURNER
SPORTS EDITOR

A note of correction: Due to errors in this column last week, VIC WERTZ, the name of the Cleveland Indians' first baseman, was misspelled beyond recognition. The name was used in referring to athletes who could become inflicted with Polio if they haven't had the immunization shots, in that they needn't think they can "pull another VIC WERTZ" because Wertz was luckier than they probably could be.

Savannah's crumby T-V coverage as usual didn't carry the Wednesday night fights which had the middle-weight championship bout this week. Incidentally this corner had Fullmer picked for a knockout of Robinson within nine rounds.

Savannah's sports fans ought to raise cane like Augusta's did. Augusta carried the fights and I don't see why Savannah can't get a sponsor.

Speaking of boxing, if Archie Moore doesn't run up on some miracle reducing aid, he's not going to be able to make the 175 pound light-heavy limit by June 7, the date of his next title defense. He weighs 211 now and this means he has to lose 36 pounds in five weeks in order to fight Tony Anthony in Detroit. Moore says he can lose the weight in a few weeks, and he's right.

He's got only a few weeks.

Robin Roberts, ace right-hander of the Phillies, is having his troubles, too, losing his first three starts this season. But I don't quite agree with one sports writer who says Roberts is having trouble with his control, having walked five in 27 and one-third innings.

If he keeps up this same rate he'll have 55 walks at the season's end, if he pitches 300 innings this season, which would be less than two per game.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Pitcher Vondall Hall, outfielder Dave Esmonde, and shortstop Tom Wommack are this week's Players of the week.

Hall limited Presbyterian to two runs on eight hits, while Esmonde and Wommack got three hits each. Esmonde drove in three runs and Wommack two.

The PC game was the only one played since the last issue of the George-Anne.

NORMAN "SKEETER" GRIFFIN, GTC second baseman is currently leading the team with a respectable .333 batting average. He has hit safely 25 of the 75 times he has come to bat. His best remembered hit is his first college home run against Stetson University of Deland, Florida.

"Skeeter," at 5 ft. and 160 lbs. is probably the finest fielding second baseman in the history of the school.

"Skeeter," whose home is Augusta, Georgia, is a junior medical student. He plans to enroll at Augusta Medical College after leaving GTC to become a doctor.

The Professors will play host to the Bears from Mercer University Tuesday afternoon for the final game of the home season. The Professor-Bear rivalry is one of the oldest in the history of our school, and much excitement is promised in this game.

Having lost many key players, Mercer is not as strong this year as they were last year when they beat the Professors three times in three attempts.

The Mercer line-up will probably look like this. Jack Ford will probably lead off and play left field, Bill Lee will bat second and play second base, Melvin Kinslow will bat third and catch for the Bears, Jim Hannah will be in the clean-up position and will play third base. Hitting fifth will be shortstop, Sammy Letson, hitting next will be first baseman Doug Harris. Then will come center fielder Larry Painter, rightfielder Dean Crane and the probable starting pitcher is figured to be Frank Worthy, who has a season's record of four wins and three defeats.

Professor coach, J. I. Clements will go along with the same line-up in the last game with the exception of either Sizemore or Morrell in left field.

Lucky girl!

Next time one of her dates bring up the Schleswig-Holstein question, she'll really be ready for him. Ready for that test tomorrow, too . . . if that bottle of Coke keeps her as alert tonight as it does other people.
