Virginia Morrison

Scared to Death

"Ginger" Morrison Wins California Beauty Show

By JANE JACKSON

Living on the GTC campus for the past two years has been a beauty queen, unnoticed by all beauty revues and contests. This summer, however, things changed. Virginia Morrison went to California to visit her mother and sister, and while she was there a neighbor entered her in the third annual Lakewood Aquacade Beauty Contest.

Seventeen California beauties entered the contest. Virginia was the only out-of-state entry.

The Aquacade was strictly a bathing suit contest, and Ginger wore the Jantzen turtle neck in the picture above.

The contestants were judged by two women and three men and were chosen on all over beauty, their smile, poise, walk, and personality.

Our 19-year-old "Queen Ginger" said, "Man, I was scared to death! We had to walk the length of the Mayfair swimming pool, up some steps, and out on a temporary stage by ourselves. Then we came out in fours, then by ourselves again. The top six were finally chosen and at last the top three. They called third place winner first, then second place. I heard them say, 'Our Miss Aquacade is Ginger Morrison from Georgia; she attends Georgia Teachers College and has a southern accent you could cut with a knife.' I nearly fainted; I had given up all hope!"

That night, August 26, she was presented her trophy. August 30 and 31 were the nights of the Aquacade show. The top three were represented their trophies the last night.

Our Georgia Peach then wore a pink lace waltz-length dress with a plain top, and the bottom was made of pink ruffles that faded into gray. Her shoes were lucite springalators, and her stole was pink satin.

The sweetheart campus is proud of you, Queen; it was quite a summer!

Students' NEA Convention Held This Weekend

Students from high schools and colleges all over Georgia are meeting in Atlanta this weekend for the annual fall convention of the Students National Education Association.

Local students attending this meet are: Charlotte Owens, Marietta; Joyce Clark, Acworth; Mary Arrington, Roswell; Joyce Jackson, Norcross; Roberta Helpen, Statesboro; and Billy Jackson, Attapulgus, president of the club.

Accompanying the group to Atlanta are Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the education division, and Miss Betty Lane, associate professor of home economics.

According to Joyce Jackson, vice president of the group, the Thursday and Saturday meetings of the convention will be held at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel, and the Friday meetings are to be held at the Southeastern Fair grounds with the Student NEA group the guest of the fair.

Highlighting the conference will be a semi-formal dance Friday night following the traditional banquet.

Business of the convention will concern the improving of the state organization, thus improving the teaching profession.

Campaigns for the various class officers began immediately after the nominations in the class meetings last Friday. Vying for senior class presidency are James "Snappy" Brown and Mickey Wilson, with Don Thornhill and Guy Thompson in the running for the vice presidency. Running mates for the combined office of secretary and treasurer are Beverly Perkins and John Vaughn.

In competition for president of the junior class are Bobby Godwin and Henriel Middleton. The juniors will also have to choose between Ruth Odom and Clay Adamson for vice president as well as between Robert Gressette and Harriet Armstrong for secretary-treasurer.

Candidates for the presidency of the sophomore class are Franklin Pierce and Jerry Brown. Also on the slate of nominations are Ava Owens and Choyce "Doodle" Jackson for vice president, with Mary Ann Harrell and Ramona Wall running for secretary-treasurer.

Most of the campaigns have been highlighted with numerous types of posters, including many fancy and humorous ones as well as the "plain" posters. These could be seen practically all over the campus, in the dormitories, on nearly any bulletin board, and all over the walls of the "Blue Tide." The campaigning reached the highest peak of excitement late Thursday afternoon and this morning as the voting began at 10 o'clock.

Outgoing officers for the various classes are: Senior-president, Ralph Walton; vice president, Charlie Iddens; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Sikes. Junior: President, Herbert Houston; vice president, Liz Morgan; secretary, Diana Bair; treasurer, Cecile Woodard. Sophomore: President, Ric Mandes; vice president, Joyce Jackson; secretary, Mary Jo Hodges; treasurer, Sandra Wiggins.

Band Instruments Clinic to Be Held October 14; All Invited

A band instruments repair clinic will be held in the rehearsal hall of the music building on October 14 from 10:30 a. m. to 12 o'clock and from 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Ralph Morgan Jr. of Charlotte, N. C., who is Southeastern Territory Manager for Selmer, Inc. will conduct discussions on acoustics of musical instruments and the idiosyncrasies present in all instruments and a question and answer seminar on these subjects.

According to Dana M. King, GTC band director, anyone on campus who is interested may attend. "We are trying to make sure that every band director graduating from GTC can not only train young instrumentalists, but can also be certain that every instrument is in the best possible playing condition through a knowledge of the parts of and experience in dismantling, repairing, and reassembling any musical instruments," King said.

The following will attend the clinic: Thelma Mallard, Ruth Odom, Bobby Godwin, Virginia Barrett, Beth Rigdon, David Powers, Ralph Bailey, Kitty Kelly, Randy Seay, Reggie Jackson, Amelia Brown, Guy Thompson, Vermelle Pierce,

Class Elections Held Today

MONA GRINER, a GTC graduate of Delta's Stewardess School at the Atlanta Airport, is now serving as a stewardess with Delta Air Lines. Mona came to GTC from Ocilla, Ga. She is the daughter of Aubrey Griner.

MEL SEIDEL, a '56 graduate of GTC and a native of Vidalia has made his first solo flight as a Naval aviation cadet in Pensacola, Fla. In addition to solo flights, he is being instructed in communications, navigation, engineering, athletics, aerology, and civil air regulations during basic flight training.

914 Register

Enrollment Record Is Set; Registration Officially Ends

A new enrollment record of 914 was set this week at Georgia Teachers College as fall quarter registration officially ended.

The figure represents an increase of six per cent over the 1956 fall total of 865, the previous record.

The record actually came from an increase in upperclassmen because the freshman class is down 29 from last year. One explanation for this is the new testing program which requires students to make a series of tests offered at certain central areas throughout the state. Prior to this year, many freshmen made last minute decisions to enter the college, and the earlier date of this year's tests made this impossible.

Of the total, 458 are girls and 456 boys. This is the eighth time in the last 11 years that girls have outnumbered the boys on the GTC campus.

To accommodate the increase, three women are now rooming together in each room in both Lewis and East halls. Boys dormitories are still not filled to capacity however.

Enrollment by classes, Freshmen, 264; sophomores, 224; juniors, 214; and seniors, 209. There are three special students enrolled.

Masquers Start Work on Play

Masquers' fall quarter production will be Christopher Fry's fantasy "Ring Around the Moon."

In a meeting on October 7, members discussed plans for sponsoring the weekly informal dance in the Old Gym on Saturday, October 12, and the fall production.

Among the people trying out for the play are Anne Waters, Rose Franklin, Molly Williams, Diana Bair, Jean Holmes, Ruth Odom, Harris West, Emory Giles, Curt Walker, Ellen Sumner, Bill Sanders, Charles McClendon, and Barbara Williams.

Mullis Named Drum Majorette Of GTC Band

Charlotte Mullis, Brunswick sophomore, has been named drum majorette of the GTC marching band for 1957-58.

Tessie Jones of Savannah and Amelia Brown of Statesboro join the GTC majorettes for the first time this year. The returning majorettes are as follows: Pat Fletcher, Ruth Odom, Sara Groover, and Laural Lanier.

Dana King, band director, announces that the concert band will be accompanied on all tours and in concerts by an eight to ten voice choral group.

Membership in this group is limited to GTC choir members, and will be directed by James Jones, assistant band director.

Auditions for the chorus will be held Wednesday, October 16 at 4 p. m.

BUSINESS EDUCATION HOLDS MEETING

On Tuesday, October 8, the Business Education Department held a meeting for all business education majors.

There were 30 freshmen present, 25 sophomores, 18 juniors, and 12 seniors. The purpose of the meeting was for the majors to plan their program for the remainder of their stay at Georgia Teachers College.

Mr. Homick urges all those business education majors who were not present for this meeting to come by his office and fill out some very important forms.

Editorials

Safety on Campus

Dean Paul Carroll has announced that there will be no hard and fast rules governing traffic regulations on campus this year. A joint committee of GTC students and faculty met last quarter and decided that with the coming changes in campus roads and buildings that any regulations made this year would become outmoded in the near future.

The Dean said "The only rule we ask that the students follow, besides those which include normal highway courtesy, is not to park on the yellow lines." He also said, "Thus far this year students have cooperated in obeying traffic rules and we are very pleased."

This represents an excellent start on the part of students in keeping our roads safe. There is no reason why we can't maintain this high degree of courtesy and safety on GTC roads.

The administration is to be commended for this liberal and sensible attitude. The responsibility now rests solely on the student.

Additional Activities Added

For those "lucky" students who do not have homework and those "smart" students who get their assignments in the afternoon, social activities on GTC's campus are being added.

To give students a break for relaxation in the middle of the week, last year the Student Council sponsored matinee dances for an hour every Wednesday night. The Student Council this year has decided to sponsor two such dances on Tuesday and Thursday nights. These dances will last for an hour and a half instead of the usual hour.

Another activity of recreation is the play night held every Wednesday night at the gym. The night provides for recreational games such as ping, pong, volleyball and many others. This gives students the chance to engage in other sports than they may or may not be taking in their physical education classes.

Intramural sports are starting soon which are of added interest to the students.

With these added activities, besides the school clubs, musical groups, and publication staff, there is no excuse for a student having that "nothing to do" feeling. This is, of course, after the class assignments of the day have been completed.

Editor Welcomes Letters

Students who may have disagreements or who wholeheartedly approve of The George-Anne's editorial policies or any articles printed in the paper are asked to submit their ideas to the editor.

The only way that The George-Anne can find out how the students feel about present issues is through individual letters. At this time we haven't received any. The only requirement governing these letters is that be of a reasonable length, and they must be signed.

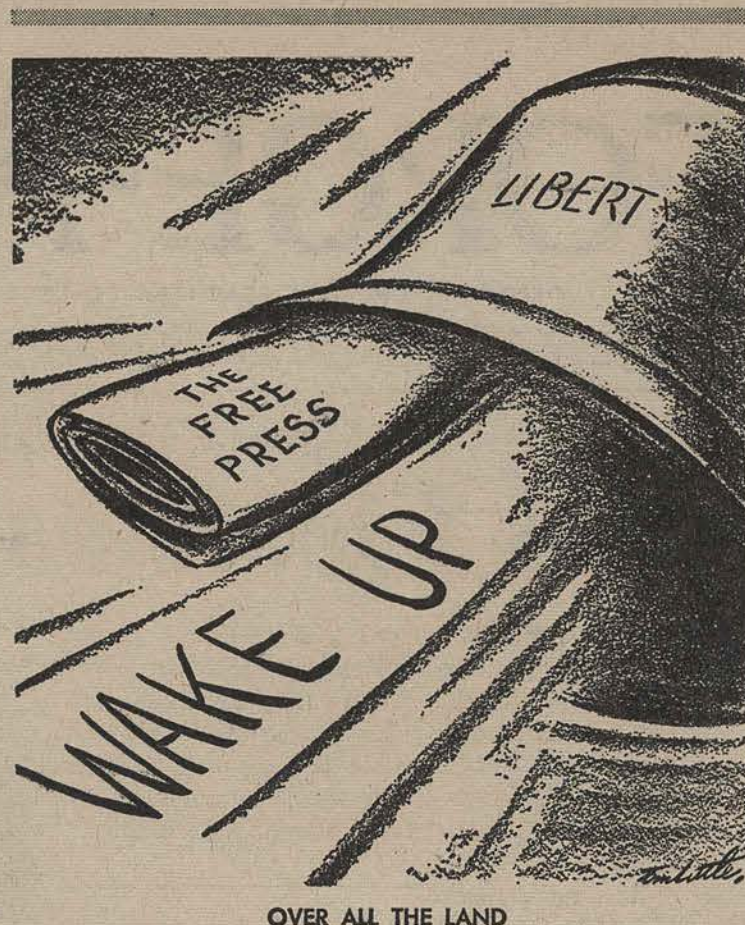

Students Should Vote

The right to vote is a right upon which free nations are founded. Voting is a right that should be exercised whether it be on a national, state, or local level.

Class elections were held here on campus today. By the time this paper hits the streets the polls will be closed. And, in all likelihood, many students did not take time to exercise their right to vote.

Before the year is out we will probably hear the complaint that some class officer is not doing his job properly. The complaint will most likely come from someone who forgot to vote.

Class officers hold a position of trust and responsibility. This is especially true on the GTC campus. Because here student affairs are to a great degree run by responsible student leaders. This is the way it should be. If student affairs are to remain in the hands of the students then we must elect responsible leaders. There will be other elections held on campus throughout the year. If you are eligible to vote then assume your share of the responsibility and do so.

PROBLEMS FACING EDUCATION TODAY

In a recent interview Dr. Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard, discussed some of the problems that are facing today's colleges and universities.

One of the major problems is a need for larger physical plants to handle the tremendous yearly increase in college enrollments. Grants from the state, individuals, and various organizations are helping to support most of the colleges in this country. Without these extra funds they would either have to raise tuition to a preposterous amount or close down.

The need for higher tuition was mentioned. We all know that tuition goes up every year, but still it covers only about half the expense of your education. Without state funds GTC could not operate.

Are American universities and colleges doing the job they should do in teaching science? Dr. Pusey says yes.

Asked why do you educate, Dr. Pusey said, "To recruit more people into the activity of the mind." In other words, to produce more intellectuals.

The public must also come to recognize the importance of teachers, according to Dr. Pusey. It seems to me a raise in salary commensurate with a teacher's education would be first step in this direction.

One of Dr. Pusey's most important answers came on the question of academic freedom. He made it plain that academic freedom did not mean that professors should have a special license to preach the violent overthrow of the government, but that a teacher should be critical. He should have a probing mind and always be searching for defects in our society and ways to help correct these defects.

One of GTC's biggest problems is the lack of dormitory and classroom space, but we know that plans are already in effect to remedy this situation. From this point on, GTC will continue to grow and the building of the faculty and the physical plant will have to be a continuous process.

Student Paper Starts Unrest Behind Curtain

Hyde AND Seek

By LARRY HYDE

The honor of buying the first Rat Hat goes to one Mike Anderson of Roswell. This young freshman was at the Blue Tide when the doors opened Monday morning. Right behind Mike was the first girl, Amelia Brown of Statesboro. She said that she really didn't have to wear a Rat Hat because she was a second quarter freshman, but she didn't want anyone getting mad at her for not wearing a cap. I thought this was real sporting of her.

With over 400 male students on this campus, you would think a girl would not have to join a Lonely Hearts Club to get a boyfriend. This young lady, who hails from Cordele, made application last week but has not received confirmation at this writing. Watch this column for the latest report on how this fair maiden "makes out."

It seems that we have a little of everything on this campus. Three doors down from me in Cone Hall live two gentlemen who have embarked on a new career. George Rahn and John Piechocinski are now promising song writers. I would like to go out on a limb and predict that their first song, "No, No, I Couldn't Say No." will be a number one seller in Bulloch, Chatham, Effingham, and surrounding counties. Watch for this song to hit the music stand!

"Spit on the Floor, pull down the shades, come on you gents, let's promenade." That is just one of the calls that you will be hearing come Monday night in the old gym. The "Unofficial" Health and Physical Education Club will sponsor a square dance, beginning at 7:30 and lasting until 10 p. m. Everyone is invited.

Leave it to Lewis Hall to make the biggest news of the week. There is a young lady in this dormitory that loves to take a shower in a chair. Don't ask me how I know, but you might try asking the girl with red scuffs and a navy blue duster.

Question of the Week: What professor made this remark after computing the total amount of children man is able to produce between the ages of 16 to 80? You know, it would be an interesting study to figure up the exact number—why, it would run into thousands! I believe I'll try that someday.

There is one thing about those freshmen girls, they sure make themselves at home when they go to the library. I guess some people can study better with their shoes OFF... Selah.

Rat Squeaks

By IRMA ROACH

Two weeks of getting adjusted and settling down to our laborious classes had passed by if slowly, and we were really beginning to enjoy the prospects lites. "Po Proster," the student newspaper of the Warsaw Polytechnic School had recently criticized the Polish Communist regime.

The paper was immediately suppressed. The uprising was a direct result of this suppression. Censorship of the paper by the government had been relaxed to appease the grumbling students. Student editors immediately took advantage of this and leveled sharp attacks on the regime.

And once again it should be plain for the world to see that just a little freedom is too much for Communism.

Regents Table GTC Graduate School Request

The Board of Regents Wednesday approved granting of nine more degrees by Georgia State College of Business Administration, effective in the fall quarter of 1958.

Effective next year the school will offer degrees of Bachelor of Science with majors in the fields of chemistry, physics, the biological science and mathematics, and Master of Business Administration degrees in the fields of accounting management, marketing insurance, and economics-finance.

Closer to home, a request of Georgia Teachers College and Georgia State College for Women to offer graduate programs was deferred until the November meeting.

In other business the Regents denied a request of Georgia Southwestern College for authorization to offer four-year programs in teacher education leading to the degree of B. S. in education. A committee reported the college does not have proper facilities at present.

of college life. Friday afternoon most of us (that is, everyone that could get away; beg, borrow, or stow-away) and cut it out for home as soon as we could escape—er, get out of classes.

When we got back to school on Sunday afternoon, there was nothing about the calm, tranquil campus, the friendly sophomores, the quiet air about the dormitories, not even in the dining hall to forewarn us of the looming catastrophe that was to strike us the next morning at breakfast. Rumors had been creeping around Sunday night about the news, but Monday morning the sentence was sealed with the fatal announcement in the dining hall: "Attention all R-A-T-S..." and then those horrible phrases that followed!

So Monday found all of us poor Rats trekking down to the "Little Store" to make a small purchase: RAT CAPS!!!

So with bewildering thoughts about our stiff little crewcuts and our orderly little curls, and what they will look like a few weeks from now, we donned the little things, and bought some Double Danderine, Louse-Killer-Diller, and Antiseptic-Disinfectant - bug - silverfish - flies-roaches (Hey, that's ME) killer, and set out on our little journey down Rat Trail.

The freshmen think that the little RAT CAPS are... censored... and not only that, but... censored... and furthermore... censored... and that the sophomores... censored... besides which... censored... and, in conclusion... censored... Of course, we'll probably get tired of them later on, and might even get to feeling as if we didn't like them. Right now, our feelings are mild.

And have you heard about all things that the sophomores are going to do to us? Drag us out of bed at 4 a. m. make us sing nursery rhymes before the ad building, feed us "wains," starch our coiffures, and all the other torture they are planning to put us through!

But wait till next year! Ha! Ha! Ha! Revenge, sweet, sweet revenge!!!

Masquers to Showtimers Sanders and Williams at Roanoke College in Summer Stock Theater

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

Molly Williams, senior, Savannah, and Bill Sanders, junior, Atlanta, spent twelve weeks in Salem, Va., this summer working with a dramatic group who called themselves the "Showtimers."

Both Molly and Bill have been interested in drama and speech during their careers at GTC, having played various roles in the Masquers' productions for the last two years.

In describing their work this summer and the background of the little theatre, Molly says, "I learned a lot technically."

Their responsibility to the "Showtimers" lay with lights, sound, administrative setup, box office, and other backstage responsibilities.

Small Theatre

The "Showtimers" operate a little, intimate theatre on the campus at Roanoke College, and consist of about 50 actors who also do set decoration. The theatre itself is very well equipped, enabling Bill's sets and Molly's ideas to extend from French Provincial interiors to ultra-modern ones. However, the stage is quite small compared to that in McCroan Auditorium. Bill said in connection with this fact, "We were more than happy to see our big stage."

Six Plays

Six plays were produced by the little theatre group while Molly and Bill were in Salem. They were "Bus Stop," "Angel Street," (of which Molly was assistant director), "The Great Sebastian," "Heaven Can Wait," "The Winslow Boy," and "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Both Molly and Bill had roles in "The Man Who came to Dinner"; Bill provided the romantic interest, and Molly played a comic character part.

Each of the six plays ran on alternate weeks, four nights a week. The directors, according to Molly, were from all over the country. Two of them had graduated from drama school, one was a teacher at Roanoke College, and three studied directing in a single course, such as the one offered here at GTC in the spring quarter.

15-Hour Day

Besides set decoration, Molly's and Bill's duties were concerned with the workshop, makeup, and costumes. The hours they kept were busy ones, lasting from 8 a. m. until after rehearsals each night at 11 p. m. six days a week.

On Sunday, their only day off, the two drama enthusiasts visited the nearby Barter Theater in Abingdon, Va. One of the memorable plays they saw there was "Teahouse of the August Moon," which was presented by Masquers last spring quarter, and in which Bill played the lead.

Although Molly calls her mood one of perpetual misery, she volunteered that in Virginia, there's some "right purty country."

Molly's father having been an alumnus of Roanoke College, she found out about the little theater and wrote for admittance into the "Showtimers" last summer, and Bill followed her a week later just in time for tryouts for the second play.

Work in Masquers

Bill and Molly have played an essential part in the Masquers' productions here at GTC since they have been students enrolled here.

Bill has played in two Shakespearean plays, as Launcelot Gobbo in "The Merchant of Venice" and as Macduff in "Macbeth." In Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke," he acted the part of Dr. Buchanan Sr., and last spring quarter he served as the lead character in "Teahouse of the August Moon," and he values his role as Sakini very highly.

Molly also acted in Shakespeare's "Macbeth" as Lady Macbeth, and as Mrs. Wine-miller in Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Both drama students have been active in backstage work in every play that has been produced at GTC since their entrance here.

Future Plans

Bill's future plans include teaching dramatics and English in a small junior college, but in the words of a true thespian, he "wouldn't turn down try-outs for a Broadway play." He is also very much interested in directing the production.

Molly's ideas fall along the same lines as his. Teaching history of the theatre and phonetics in a small non-state-supported institution appeals to her. However, she says, "Pursuing a career in professional acting wouldn't upset me."

With the World Series and college football dominating the sports news, the old and time-honored round ball will attempt to edge its way onto the scene this week—at least on the Georgia Teachers College campus anyway.

Coach J. B. Searce, the littlest Professor if you will, has issued the annual call for candidates. All cage aspirants are to report to the gymnasium on Monday, October 14, to draw equipment, be measured, weighed, and all other things attendant to getting ready to start the practice season.

Official practice sessions will start on Tuesday, October 15, the day designated by the governing NCAA. The season opens with the Profs on the road at Rollins College, Dec. 6.

Announce En Melodie Meeting

En Melodie holds its next meeting Monday, October 14, in the music recital hall. This organization is going to petition the national honorary fraternity, Sigma Alpha Iota, for a charter. To petition the fraternity, money has been obtained by selling stationery, Christmas cards, and different items. There will be a party for all new members in the next two weeks. Membership is by invitation only. The officers for 57-58 are as follows; Mary Ann Harrell, president; Joyce Ryan, vice president; Joann Hamilton, secretary; Vermelle Pierce, treasurer; and Virginia Barrett, social chairman. Campus Column

By JOYCE JACKSON

Could it possibly have been over three months since we last slept in class, stood in line at the dining hall, daydreamed over a history book, and stared brokenheartedly at an empty post office box? These things are a real part of college and we who have learned the art of slipping into class a few minutes late and looking very interested in the lecture while asleep in class, welcome you freshmen and transfers to our campus. We hope that if you don't already, you will soon feel that it is "your" campus too.

Many activities took place the first week of school and most of us were running around to so many different things that we really didn't know what we were doing. Sometimes I think I'm still running around in circles.

Friday night the movie "The Burning Hills" was shown in McCroan auditorium. Seeing the movie without getting sea-sick from the ripples in the moving curtains really seems nice. The new cinemascope screen is just the most.

I'd been wondering where everyone has been going for the past three nights. I know all the activities are explained by the tryouts in McCroan auditorium for the Masquers' fall quarter production "Ring Around the Moon."

Campus Looks Bare

You know the campus looks rather bare with so many of the GTC students in bed and in the infirmary with the flu and colds. What just about amounts to delegations have been haunting the Statesboro doctors' offices—all awaiting a penicillin shot.

Several of the clubs have already held meetings and are getting organized. It is always good to keep an eye on the bulletin board to remind you of meeting dates. Freshmen and transfers are urged to join and take an active part in the clubs related to their interests and major fields.

Last Saturday night a dance was sponsored in the old gym at 8 p. m. by the Student NEA which is better known as the Future Teachers Club. "The World Series" was the theme of the dance. Against a background of red and white streamers on the scorer's table stood several objects familiar to a ball player such as bats, balls, hats, and gloves. Beneath this display the World Series standings were displayed with a playing roster of each club to the side. To the left at home plate was the refreshment table and to the right above the combo was the sign displaying a hit. Outside the entrance of the gym was a sign reading Baseball Stadium. Sure was glad so many folks came to the dance. Everyone really seemed to enjoy it. The combo furnished the music and they were just great.

Summer Marriages

Many of our students took the big step of marriage during the summer. Among those are: Charles Head and Patsy Page; Ernie Borders and Enid Jackson; Ruth Bennett and Dave Esmonde; Curt Walker and June Johnson; Maxie Jo Mimbs and Norman Johnson; Sonny Bridges and Carolyn Wilson; Lynette Tanner and Albert Cornelson; Ludelle Langham and Sonny Wheeler; Larry Aultman and Alice Brock.

Among the engagements are Martha Cason and Marion Whitworth; Joan Hurst and Marvin Vanover; Margaret Brown and Reuben Neely; Jane Kight and Tommy Lovett; June Kight and Doug Corry; Jane Durham and Rodney Fain; Sandra Austin and Gene Withrow.

All this just goes to prove that Georgia Teachers College is still the "Sweetheart Campus" or the state.

Father of GTC Student Killed in Automobile Wreck

Jesup Police Chief Clarence E. Sizemore and a New Jersey couple were killed Wednesday afternoon in a three-car smashup on U. S. 301 about six miles south of Claxton. Chief Sizemore's wife, Mrs. Thelma Sizemore, was critically injured in the wreck which took place about 4:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Sizemore are the parents of Georgia Teachers College student Preston Sizemore, a junior history major. Preston is a member of the GTC baseball team, having won two varsity letters. He is married to the former Ann Alston of Augusta.

Trooper Ronnie Waters of the Reidsville State Patrol station said Chief Sizemore, 51, and a former Augusta police officer, was driving south behind Mrs. Gertrude Billington of Miami, Fla., when Mrs. Billington slowed down for a truck ahead of her.

Chief Sizemore applied his brakes, Waters continued, and his car went into a skid, struck the Billington car and swerved head-on into a vehicle driven by Marshall Nettles of Carteret, N. J.

Mrs. Sizemore, 47, was taken to the Bulloch County hospital, where her condition Friday morning was regarded as critical.

The cars driven by Nettles and Sizemore were demolished, Waters said. No charges were placed against Mrs. Billington.

Chief Sizemore had assumed his duties as head of the Jesup police force on October 15.

World-Wide Award Directory Announced by Placement Institute

To answer the needs of educators. The advancement and Placement Institute announces publication of their first annual World-Wide Graduate Award Directory. This new Directory has been prepared as an aid for American teachers, administrators, scientists, and social scientists who wish to subsidize the continuation of their education to obtain their master's or doctorate degrees or to do post-doctorate or independent research.

The award guide includes information about the field of study, the duration of the awards, the amount of stipends, the number available, where the awards are tenable, the specific conditions and to whom and when to apply.

Over 350 Universities and foundations in 45 states and 30 foreign countries have co-operated by submitting information about their awards which are in amount from $150 to $10,000.

The directory covers a very wide geographical range from research in the Arctic to study in Ceylon. It includes new types of educational programs, such as educational internships and student deanships, as well as assistantships, graduate scholarships and fellowships.

The Directory includes awards in the arts, business, education, child development, English, health and physical education, Home economics, industrial arts, the languages, library service, mathematics, psychology, recreation, the field of special education, speech, social casework and group work, vocational education as well as all the various fields of teacher education and the sciences.

The Graduate Award Directory will be the first guide devoted entirely to advanced graduate opportunities available to educators of the United States. It fills a specific need for an up-to-date central reference source of graduate awards.

This directory is the result of several years of research by the staff of The Advancement and Placement Institute, a non-commercial professional information and advisory service for the field of education since 1952.

Copies may be examined at graduate schools, university placement or dean's offices, public and college libraries, or may be ordered from The Institute at Box 99E, Greenpoint Station, Brooklyn 22, New York for $2.00 a copy.

Hugh's Who in SPORTS

By HUGH BELCHER

With fall quarter just begun, we have new spirits coming up in our intramural program. The women will begin with volleyball, tennis singles, and badminton.

As for the men, touch football will lead the field, then comes tennis singles, paddle tennis, and the cross-country race. As has been exhibited by quite a few, one doesn't have to be a great athlete, but just a GTC student for whom this program is designed.

In the football world we find that Oklahoma is still the number one team in the nation as they defeated Iowa State for their 42nd consecutive win. Looks as if this will be another great season for Bud Wilkinson and the Sooners.

Navy dropped from undefeated rank as the North Carolina Tar Heels upset the Middies 13-7.

The University of Georgia Bulldogs have yet to win a game. Some people say they played Michigan last Saturday. One couldn't tell it was a game, judging by the score.

The Houston Buffs became the first Texas League Club in 32 years to defend a Dixie title successfully when they defeated the Atlanta Crackers 3-1. Umpire Walter Welaj, a six-year veteran of the Southern Association, chisled his name on a cold slab of Atlanta baseball history with just one signal of his right arm in Sunday's game. He signaled that Ruben Amaro's shot over the left field fence was a fair ball. This controversial call gave the Buffs a 3-1 victory and the 1957 Dixie Series as they won the best of six games 4-2.

Coach J. B. Searce announces that varsity basketball equipment will be issued Monday with practice beginning Tuesday afternoon.

Phil Clark On Road to Fame

A Georgia Teachers College student may be the next relief pitching star of the National League.

He's Phil Clark, a big, strapping 6-4 junior from Albany, Georgia, who reported to school last Monday after helping to pitch the Houston Buffs to a Dixie Series championship over the Atlanta Crackers.

The current Sporting News (baseball's definitive work) had this to say about Clark: "Phil Clark, ace Houston reliever, compiled one of the finest fireman records in history this season."

The right-hander, who observed his twenty-sixth birthday on October 3, worked in 63 games during the regular Texas League season and wound up with 16 victories against six losses.

In the playoffs he was even more of an iron man, appearing in 11 of the Buffs' 14 games over a 19-day span. The performance gave Clark an overall record for the year of participating in 74 contests. In 144 innings, he yielded just 97 hits and had a 1.75 ERA to earn another trial with the parent Cardinals this spring."

The Intramural Council has been organized for this year and play will begin Monday afternoon at 3:45. Each student has been placed on a team whether they are regular students or day students. There will be eight teams for boys and eight teams for girls with corresponding names. This was done with the idea that the girls will support the boys and vice versa.

Mr. Jess White, director of intramurals, announced that the name of each team and its members are posted in each dormitory, the administration building and the new gym. If any student finds that their name is missing they are urged to contact Mr. White, Solon Wisham, or Hugh Belcher immediately.

As stated previously, the IM program will begin Monday with the weather permitting. Each student is urged to check the bulletin boards for their names and to participate with that particular unit.

Baseball coach J. I. Clements Jr. gave the obvious answer when asked if he'd like to have Clark on his staff next spring. "I surely would, but if I can get him to spend some time with our staff before he reports to the Cardinals, maybe that will be the next best thing."

Last year's Professor squad won 18 and lost seven, and were chosen to be at the at-large team in the District 3 NCAA playoffs. They finished third in the event.

VET'S CORNER

By TOM BRYSON

The Veterans Club extends a sincere welcome to all freshmen, transfer students, and new faculty members. To those of you who are new here at Georgia Teachers College, this column is primarily of special interest to veterans and is directly connected with the Veterans Club on campus. This organization is for all veterans, and exists to provide a means of social and recreational activity and to integrate the veterans, as a group, with the other activities on campus. All new veterans are cordially invited to attend the next meeting which will be held at 6:30 p. m., October 21, in the Administration Building.

Last Monday evening the club held its first meeting of the quarter. Ed Bailey, president of the club, introduced new members and a discussion followed in which several problems were brought to light. The most vital issue discussed was the problem which veterans have in making payments on their college fees. Under the new policy, as established by the Board of Regents at the beginning of last spring quarter, all students are required, at the beginning of each quarter, to pay at least half of the fee for the quarter, the balance being due in two equal payments at the beginning of the following months of the period. In view of the fact that veterans' checks are not received until the twentieth day of the month following a period of enrollment, the problem becomes quite obvious. It was also brought out that many colleges have funds set aside in order that needy students may avail themselves of funds on a loan basis. Last year this problem was discussed in this paper, and it was pointed out that banks make small loans to students for this purpose. The qualifications for these loans vary from bank to bank.

Jerry Brown, manager of last years veterans basketball team pointed out that the team was very successful, having won the city title. He issued a call for all vets interested in forming a ball team for the coming year.

Plans were also discussed for the annual dance sponsored by the club. After this the meeting adjourned.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By DICK BISHOP

Screening Program Begins At Madison Early Next Month

HARRISONBURG, Va. (I.P.)— The Screening Program to be initiated at Madison College early next month will be a help rather than a hindrance for students here declares Dr. Raymond J. Poindexter, director of student teaching.

He brings into focus that the purpose of the program is to raise the level of the teaching profession and to help students, principally in their sophomore year, to decide whether or not they are suited for the profession of teaching. Dr. Poindexter feels that it is not fair to the student to wait until his senior year to learn that he might be better suited to some other profession or line of work.

The screening process was set up by a committee of five educators throughout the state, appointed by the State Board of Education to make a study of student teaching in all colleges in the state and to make needed recommendations in regard to student certification for teaching. After the committee had drawn up a basic outline, representatives from all the colleges of Virginia met and together drew up the standards now proposed by the screening committee.

The basis of the process is to determine the academic background of the student, his social and moral habits and his physical fitness.

Hanner Feels New Buildings Will Help Science Division

By LAURI WILLIS

As a new freshman student at GTC, naturally I have been impressed by my new surroundings. Some of my impressions are favorable, but some of my impressions, can certainly use a great deal of improvement.

Our science department is the most outstanding example of the latter group. The head of the science department, Mr. Hanner, feels that with the addition of the building, which the science department will share with the home economics and business departments, the situation will be much improved. All divisions of the science department will be in the same building, with adequate space for all. More modern equipment will be added, which will attract more students to this field of study.

Along with these things, Mr. Hanner feels that we must also increase the staff in this department in order to teach the additional courses which will be offered.

With all the improvements mentioned above, GTC should have no trouble attracting both new instructors and students who are interested in this field.

We who are students at GTC now, as well as future students, hope that we will soon have a new, complete modern science department which is so essential to the future development of our whole world.
