Belcher, Roach Added to Fall Newspaper Staff

The George-Anne has a new managing editor and a new copy editor for this quarter as of last Tuesday night.

Hugh Belcher, who is at present the acting sports editor, a senior from Albany, will serve as managing editor, with the job of doing the makeup for the paper and in general overseeing all of the reading material side of the George-Anne.

Irma Roach, freshman from Southeast Bulloch, will act as copy editor, checking every article turned in for grammatical errors.

Belcher has been working on the paper staff for one year and has done outstanding work in the sports department.

Irma, though a freshman, has been writing a regular column for the George-Anne, and is expected to fit in well with the work schedule.

Swicord Elected To Head Science Club This Year

The Science Club had its first regular meeting Monday night, October 14. Mr. Hanner presented the history of the club and new members were given applications for membership. Martha Cason read the Purpose and Constitution of the Club.

Officers elected for the year are President, Earl Swicord; Vice President, Liz Morgan; Secretary, Martha Cason; Treasurer, Helen Tanner; Reporter, Wallis DeWitt; Librarian, Valera Brinson; and Social Chairman, Carol Goff.

The next meeting will be on the fourth Monday night at seven o'clock in the Chemistry Building, so all new students who wish to become members, come and join the Science Club.

Masquerade Party To Be Held Oct. 30

The French and German clubs will hold a Masquerade Party at the pavillion of the Statesboro Recreation Center to kick off the year in foreign languages on October 30.

The party is open to all those who are now taking either of the two courses and to any other who may be interested. Those who are already officially members of the clubs may invite guests, but their names must be turned in to either Jane Jackson, president of the French Club, or Liz Morgan, acting president of the German Club.

Although the officers urge those attending to wear costumes, they are not necessary. The party, Halloween, will have a "wienie roast" theme.

The first business meeting of the French and German Clubs will be held the week following the social.

Remington Rand Contest

'Wall Street Wizard' Possibly on Campus

Some lucky GTC student may get to be a "Wall Street Wizard" before the semester is over.

All it takes is an entry blank for Remington Rand's "Share of America" contest, in which the winner gets stocks of his or her choice equal in value to a share of every common stock on the New York Stock Exchange. Remington Rand will pay all brokerage fees. In addition to the first prize, there are 504 other stock prizes.

If the winner has purchased a Remington Electric Shaver during the contest period, from September 30 until December 1, all prizes double. First prize then becomes equivalent to two shares of every common stock on the Exchange.

Entry blanks are at any Remington sales counter and will also be found in advertisements in Life, Look, Saturday Evening Post, Parade and in newspaper supplements and comics.

If Remington Rand had held this contest 20 years ago, when it turned out the first of its 20,000,000 shavers, financial authorities estimate that the $156,000 of prize money could have purchased stocks that would have a value today in the millions.

Any student who fancies himself or herself to be smart with the pencil, has a chance to become a tycoon the easy way.

New Fraternity Organized Here

Coach J. B. Scarse announced that Thursday night there will be a special meeting of all physical Education majors, freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior—both men and women. The purpose of this important meeting is to organize a chapter of the National Physical Education Fraternity. All Physical Education majors are urged to attend.

Giles, Sanders, Odom Have Leads Cast for Fall Play is Announced; 'Ring Round the Moon' Chosen

"Moulin Rouge" Is Theme For Starlight Ball

Alpha Rho Rau chose "Moulin Rouge" for the title of the Starlight Ball to be held November 23, according to Bob Spell, publicity director of the club. The gym will be decorated with a French sidewalk cafe motif complete with a French floor show.

Appointed at the call meeting held Monday night were the chairmen of the various committees. They are as follows:

Decorations, Carolyn Bridges and Cathy Simmons; Floor Show, Dexter Hughes; Refreshments, Martha Tinker and Charlotte Blitch; Table Reservations, Danice Hinson and Nita Freeman; Tables, Harry Cowart; Programs, Fred Fagnant and Peggy Cowart; and Waiters, Joe Brewer.

Any student interested in being a waiter or waitress for this semi-formal dance is asked to contact Joe Brewer.

Carnival To Be Sponsored By "T" Club

John "Satch" Sawyer was elected president of the "T" Club in the absence of Roy Alewine, who will be back on campus next quarter, in the first meeting of the year last Monday night, October 21.

Under the acting president's leadership, the club will sponsor the Halloween Carnival in the Old Gym October 30. The members of the club are selling tickets now for a dime each.

The Physical Education Class 422 of football will have a football game under the auspices of the "T" Club at the Statesboro stadium on Thursday, November 7.

Sawyer also stated that immediately after Thanksgiving the rule stating that no jackets or sweaters with the high school letters will be worn on this campus will go into effect.

The cast for the Masquers' fall production, "Ring Round the Moon," has been announced by Miss Dorothy Few, head of the speech department. The cast consists of Joshua, a crumbling English-type butler, Emory Giles; Hugo, a young man about town, Bill Sanders and his twin brother, Fredric also played by Bill Sanders, in love with Diana Messerschmann, played by Ruth Odom, who is engaged to Fredric and secretly in love with Hugo.

Pihl In Play

Curtis Walker portrays the part of Patrice Bombelles, Messerschmann's secretive secretary, whose mistress is Lady India, Kerstin Pihl. Madame Desmorte, the aunt of Lady India, Hugo and Fredric, is played by Molly Williams and Anne Waters portrays Capulet, her rather faded companion.

Messerschmann, a melancholy millionaire, and Diana's father, is depicted by John Anderson; Ed Ward plays Romainville, a patron of the arts and of Isabelle, a ballet dancer, Diana Bair. Isabelle's mother, a teacher of the pianoforte, is played by Jean Fulford. The cast is completed with Bob McKenzie, a general, and Charles McLendon and Harris West as footman.

Frye is Playright

The involved action of "Ring Round the Moon" by Christopher Frye takes place in a Winter Garden in the Spring. The plot thickens and rapid complications that are as gay as Ring Around the Rosy, develop when Isabelle, a ballet dancer is brought in by Hugo to make Diana jealous of Fredric.

Many of these actors and actresses are seasoned players, but there are some who will be appearing for the first time here at GTC. Diana Bair played the lead role of Alma in Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" and Molly Williams played Lady MacBeth in the Winter Quarter production of "MacBeth." Bill Sanders, who this quarter is acting duo-roles of the twin brothers, Hugo and Fredric, portrayed Sakini, the Okinawan interpreter in the GTC Masquers' adaptation of the Broadway hit "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Williams and Sanders

Molly Williams and Bill Sanders have picked up a lot of additional information on acting and backstage work from their experiences in summer stock backstage work, in Salem, Virginia with a dramatic group called the "Showtimesr."

Be sure to keep a close watch on the bulletin boards around campus and in the George-Anne for further information and announcements concerning the forthcoming delightful comedy, "Ring Round the Moon," the Masquers' production for this quarter.

DR. J. D. PARK

Park Appointed Standards Head At GEA Meeting

J. D. Park, Director of Teacher Education at Georgia Teachers College has been appointed chairman of the teacher education and professional standards committee of the Georgia Education Association.

Dr. Park succeeds Dr. Ted W. Booker, Chairman of Division of Education for Valdosta State College, who recently resigned to accept the presidency of a junior college in Florida.

The committee on professional standards is a permanent committee of the teachers association concerned with rating professional standards and providing Georgia with more and better schools.

The activities of the committee for the school year 1957-58 will be directed toward improving the quality of teaching at the junior high school level.

The State Board of Education of Georgia has recently recognized this specialized area of instruction and the fact that specially trained teachers are required to adequately teach young adolescent children by passing an order for the State Department of Education to begin issuing special certificates to junior teachers of junior high school grades.

During the next year it is expected that all teacher education institutions in Georgia will revise their programs to provide more adequate training for teachers at this level.

Final Day for Annual Pictures

Members of the Student Body and Faculty who have not had their pictures made for the 1958 Reflector will be given the opportunity to do so Tuesday, October 29, from 8:00 a.m. until 5 p.m.

WWNS Announces New Program Coming

R. H. (Bob) Thompson, owner and general manager of Radio Station WWNS, announced this week that a new series of programs is being planned for the station in cooperation with officers and students at Georgia Teachers College.

The first of this new series will begin on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock when the Phi Mu Alpha, headed by president James Jones, will present the first in a full hour series that is expected to run each Sunday for the entire school year. This series will, for the most part, feature singing groups, soloists and instrumentalists from Georgia Teachers College. It will, however, have some programs made up of recordings, either in full or in part.

Thompson also stated that John Johnson, the night manager, news and program director has been conferring with Teachers College officials prior to starting this series of Sunday programs running from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m., of course including the previously mentioned Phi Mu Alpha hour at 4 p.m.

Since this amounts to about eight hours of broadcast time in one day, it will have to be made up of popular, semi-serious and serious music. Dr. Ronald Neil, and Dana King of the GTC music division are cooperating to the fullest in making the vast music department of fine music available to the radio station. You may expect to hear more about this new Snady series of programs in the next issue of the George-Anne.

Mr. Thompson noted that he received a good bit of mail from Georgia Teachers College students in regard to their preferences in music. He stated that popular music, which seems to dominate the preference list is being broadcast six days a week from seven fifteen to eight forty-five, nine o'clock to ten, eleven thirty to twelve fifteen in the morning and throughout the afternoon and evening except for a one hour period from three to four during which country and western music is presented and seven and eight at night when semi-serious or soft and sweet music is presented.

Editorials

Concerning Standards

Two very fine editorials concerning college standards appeared in last Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

One, which appeared in the regular editorial column of the paper was entitled "Athens Endorses Quality." It implied that the day is coming when students will go to the University only to get knowledge, and not to play or be a socialite.

This is being brought about by the tightening up of the probation rule and tougher admittance requirements.

The day is fast approaching when this will happen at every college and university in the country. It is already in effect here at GTC. The object of raising admission standards, is, of course, to improve scholastic standards.

In a by-lined column, executive editor, Eugene Patterson, painted a poignant picture of a potentially bright mountain boy who would like to enter college but lacks the background that the fortunate city high school graduate has and cannot meet entrance requirements.

Mr. Patterson says, "This boy may have the spirit. He needs the training. Will he get it in a college where the sensitive bud might be warmed into late opening?"

"Or will he be defeated in college admission examinations that will surely pit him against better prepared applicants, including some glibber ones, from the richer urban schools?"

Tightening entrance requirements is one answer to overcrowding. And higher standards are definitely desirable.

Both of these editorials were right. We must raise college and university standards. But we must also find a way to help those who don't have the background, but who could, once admitted to college, buckle down and make excellent students.

These cases are the exception, not the rule. But they do deserve a chance.

A Job Well Done

In the past when an editorial about the dining hall has appeared in this paper it was usually of a critical nature. We are not apologizing for these editorials. When they appeared we honestly believed they were justified.

We can say the same for this one. The GEORGE-ANNE believes that Miss Melton and Miss Allen are doing a bang-up job in feeding some 900 students. True, the meals don't compare with the Waldorf, but for the price you pay for them they are hard to beat. There is still a long line for each meal, but this cannot be remedied until the new dining hall is built.

The Job of feeding 900 ravenous students is not an easy one. But Miss Melton and Miss Allen and their staff of workers and student workers have thus far done a fine job.

A simple, "I enjoyed that meal very much" from you to the dining hall supervisors would go a long way in showing your appreciation of this service.

Sputnik—Then What

Russian scientists have surpassed American scientists by becoming the first in history to launch an earth satellite. At this very mement, the Russian "moon" is revolving around the world at a tremendous rate of speed, with scientists picking up radio waves from it, gathering information of outer space and the earth's atmosphere.

What else will this great achievement lead to? Does it mean that Russia is now the greatest power in the world, and is capable of defeating the United States in a Third World War?

The Russian scientists must be far advanced in the knowledge of nuclear power to have achieved such an accomplishment. How did they do it? By educating these scientists when they were younger, stressing the importance of the scientific knowledge, looking forward and expecting just such developments.

We should do likewise, by stressing scientific learning in this Atomic Age. How can we improve our educational systems to accomodate such learning? The solution rests with us, the youth of today. Can we, will we, find the best solution?

IMPRESSIONS OF SAN FRANCISCO

"Let us Walk through the streets of the city."

An Old Dixieland Tune

The city of San Francisco, the Mecca of the West. The streets are Mason, Eddy, Mission, and Market. They are the streets of Dimaggio, Hearst, Saroyan, and Turk Murphy. Frisco is a city with a fabulous hill called Nob. There is a hotel on top of this fabulous hill — the Top of the Mark. You can sit on top of the "Mark" and see the Fisherman's Wharf where the coffee is black and the fish are fresh out of the blue Pacific.

Sitting on the outskirts of town is a crazy palace named Cow Palace where the Republicans met last year and had a pow wow. It's a city of earth tremors and delirium tremens. Many of its once famous people sit on skid row and peddle pencils. In Frisco the dawn comes up like thunder out of the bay and the thick pea soup fog envelops Alcatraz at night.

It has a city within a city—China Town. One of the world's greatest photographers lives here amidst the labyrinth of gay and gaudy Chinese bric a brac. He is James Wong Howe of motion picture fame.

The restaurants are among the finest in the world, a gourmet's delight.

A Georgia boy named Erskine Caldwell lives perched on one of the highest streets in town. He comes down every night to walk through the streets of the city.

Joe Dimaggio got his start here. And so did a young newspaper man named William Randolph Hearst.

Recently, a new school of Bohemian poets sprang up here. They recite against a background of cool San Francisco jazz.

And old time Frisco jazzman Turk Murphy plays here every night. Walk by his establishment any time of the night and you can usually hear the soft strains of an old favorite, "Let Us Walk Through the Streets of the City."

ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF HUNGARIAN REBELLION

This past Wednesday, October 23, was the anniversary of Hungary's rebellion against communism. Pulitzer prize winning novelist Albert Camus called the revolution one of the turning points in history. For the true character of Russian communism was laid bare for the world to see.

We are all familiar with the ferocity and barbarism displayed by the Russians in suppressing Hungary's fight for freedom. Women and children were shot down like animals.

A grim joke circulates among the few survivors of the revolution in now quiet Budapest. It goes something like this. "Have you heard that the new Hungarian calendar has only eleven months?" asks the first Hungarian. "Yes," replies the second, "Premier Kadar has eliminated October."

Premier Kadar may be able to eliminate October from the calendar but he cannot eliminate the spirit of freedom in Hungary. It still smolders beneath the ruins of a once proud and free city.

Hyde AND Seek

By LARRY HYDE

The spooks will be jumping Wednesday night in the Alumni gym as the "T" Club will sponsor their second annual Halloween Night. Vice President John Sawyer (who is acting as president in the absence of Roy Alewine) announced plans are being made for this to be the biggest ever. There will be cake walks, a horror house, and many weird things for you to have fun doing. Admission is 10 cents, one-tenth of a dollar, and everyone is invited. Festivities get underway at 7 p. m., so take off those false faces and join the fun.

November 7 is the night that football will return to the GTC campus. The "T" Club will sponsor a football game between members of the physical education 422 class. This course is offered to physical education majors and prepares them for coaching football.

The class has been evenly divided and a good game should be in the offing for the students. The marching band will be there to put on a half-time show for the fans.

President James Jones of Phi Mu Alpha, announces the first of weekly programs of Radio Station WWNS Sunday from 4 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The program will consist of music played by GTC students who are members of Phi Mu Alpha. Give a listen. You may be pleasantly surprised.

How do you like the program setup at WWNS on the nightly shows? "Chuck" McPherson would like to hear what you have to say about this. You are the people that listen so why not write him a card or letter and tell him what you think about his program.

What is the "Big Secret" in West Hall up on the third floor? It seems the "Little Green Men" have been working overtime. Some people do get their pictures taken in the craziest places!

The picture proofs that were taken last week will be collected Monday at noon and at the evening meal. Please remember this and bring your proofs.

If you failed to have your pictures made, you may call Clifton's studio before the first of November and make an appointment. You are on your own to go downtown and have your picture taken. We would like to have your picture in the 1958 Reflector.

If the other person injures you, you may forget the injury; but if you injure him you will always remember... SELAH.

Rat Squeaks

By IRMA ROACH

As we Rats shiver in terror with the fear that any morning a horde of sophomores will invade our dormitories screaming "Thith its it!", those same sophomores slink around school with those little grins of theirs to send chills down our frightened little spines.

Have you noticed those little grins? They look like the one that was on the face of the cat who stole the cream. They seem to be saying, "Guess what, you little Rat! We know what's going to happen to you. We've got our eyes on you for Rat Court, and you're going to catch it Rat Day! Oh, you poor miserable little lowly animal, you Rat!!"

So we proceed on our cautious way, ever conscious of those piercing eyes which are detecting every single solitary itty-bitty tiny booboo we pull so they can give us a hard time on Rat Day. And boy, when I say give us a hard, I do mean just presactly that!

Now We Know

Remember when we got our Rat Caps—what a laugh! Will we ever forget? Can we drive the memory from our brains? Well, when we donned them we were wondering what our coiffures would look like a few weeks later? As the old saying goes, "Now we know." No curls, no waves, no obedient little bangs. Crewcuts aren't, crew anymore, they have that "gray sickness" look.

Not only that, but the OBJECTS themselves are paling. Faded by the sun, soiled by the wear and tear, they don't do a thing, beautywise, for the wearer. As a matter of fact, some of them are getting downright sloppy.

Ready to Burn Cap

I guess many of us are ready to sneak out and burn our little headdresses, or get rid of it some way, legal or not. As a matter of fact, I contemplated leaving mine home, but these mothers that bring along the stray objects you carelessly forgot to pack! So I'm still wearing mine. It's a good thing I didn't leave it, too. I would have had to spend 93 cents for another one, and I couldn't even afford the first one!

One good thing about the Rat Caps (see, we did find one good think about them): All freshmen can get to know who all the other freshmen are we stick out like sore thumbs, and we acquire a closer feeling for each other—Boy, do we feel for each other!!

Campus Column

By JOYCE JACKSON

For the information of all those who raised an eyebrow when they read my column last week (you see, I am optimistic enough to think somebody read it) there was a misprint! Dr. Tyson had an appointment and NOT an apartment uptown.

The movie "Seven Men from Now" was shown in McCroan Auditorium Friday night. It was typical Western with the beautiful girl's husband getting killed and her boyfriend riding off in the end, leaving her to face life alone.

Mrs. McCorkle Has Flu

A very real part of college life was missing at GTC this week as our house directors journeyed to Athens to attend a workshop there. It was reported to have been an enjoyable and informative trip.

The girls of Lewis Hall have missed their house director, Mrs. McCorkle who is in the hospital with the flu. We are glad to see Jerry Brown back on campus after his encounter with pneumonia. Palma Evans was taken to the hospital this week with an attack of appendicitis.

Lindsey Engaged

The smile on Joan Lindsey's face this week is probably the result of a beautiful engagement ring which she received from Joe Palmer of Vidalia. Joe is now stationed in Germany.

Julia Pryor and Newell Bodge, of Buffalo, New York, are planning a wedding in April. After the wedding the couple will reside of New York, thus Georgia loses another "Peach."

Ivy League Loafers

I have noticed quite a few "Ivy League" loafers with the buckle in the back on campus this quarter. I was told by a fashion expert that if the girls wear them buckled they are going steady and if they are unbuckled the girl is foot-loose and fancy free. So keep your eyes on the buckles, boys.

The ugly men on campus find that it really isn't so bad to be ugly after all. In fact, it will pay off in the beautiful sports coat for the ugliest man

To Provide a Guide

Marvin Pittman School to Answer Teacher's Problem with Handbook

By VIVIAN BLIZZARD

No more headaches, no more worries for the new teacher at the Marvin Pittman School. The answers to his problems are all contained in a small black book that is thrust in his hand on beginning work. This book, which looks ordinary enough, soon proves more valuable to the beginning teacher than that first pay check. The objects of A Teacher's Handbook for Employees of Marvin Pittman School are (1) to present a clear statement of the existing general policies and regulations of the school for the convenience of the staff as an aid in adjusting to the school and community, (2) to promote better understanding and co-ordination of the school's program, (3) to provide a guide in matters of report and teaching procedures, evaluations, and grading standards, and (4) to answer in advance any question of mutual concern between the staff and administration.

For the past five years, the entire staff of the school has co-operated to get this book to the stage of development it is at the dance Saturday night. Come on out and let's see who he is.

P. S. Eddie has a truck now.

in now. It is a result of many trials, of additions and deletions, and is now still in a period of testing, but each weakness is constantly being improved and steadily becoming a strong point.

Rules, Regulations

There is now a total of thirty-eight pages in the book. Rather than being in a code of rules and regulations, it is written from an instructional standpoint. It contains a history of the school and its purposes. Such details as who may attend the school, the relationship of the school to the Bulloch County School System and Georgia Teachers College, and an organized chart of authority from the state superintendent to the pupil in the classroom are presented in this book. The student teacher will find it helpful in keeping attendance records, enrolling students, filling routine jobs such as hall duty, evaluating pupils' work and even reporting to the parents. Here, too, those aspiring for a janitor's job will run across a section designed for his needs.

The Principal of the Marvin Pittman School, Mr. J. A. Pafford, has this to say about the new teacher's handbook: "I think that the faculty generally feels that the handbook is very helpful in promoting the objectives of our school. It has already proven a big help to me in the office."

Favorable Comments

This book has received favorable comments from such people as Mr. Judson C. Ward Jr., who is a past president of GTC, and is now Dean at Emory University; Elizabeth Donovan, who has served on the faculty of the Marvin Pittman School and is now a consultant with the State Department; and Mr. Thomas Whitley, Dean of South Georgia College, who plans to present it to some of their education classes.

It is the desire of the staff to have this book ready to be printed in a more formal style in the near future.

Inquiring Reporter

By YVONNE DURHAM

"What is your most vivid impression of college life as a whole?"

Do you know? Do you really know what makes a college impressive? Do you know what makes the life at Georgia Teachers College what it is? Some of you have this to say:

ANNELLE STONE (Sophomore), "Co-operation among students and help given the students by the instructors."

LEONARD MCCOOK (Junior), "People."

BOBBY TEASLEY (Junior), "Getting acquainted with the entire student body."

ELLEN DURHAM (Freshman), "The friendliness of everybody and the personal independence of each student."

BETTY JEAN PITTMAN (Sophomore), "Assembly only once a week."

ANN BOWEN (Freshman), "Different from anything I've ever encountered previously, especially in High School."

JUDY SMITH (Freshman), "Co-operation of teachers and the fascinating course of Chemistry."

HARRIET ARMSTRONG (Junior), "Food is fabulous!"

FRANCES SHITH (Junior), "The friendly atmosphere."

FRANKLIN WILLIFORD (Freshman), "The entirety of the Georgia Teachers College."

TRANSFER STUDENT (Senior), "The Athletic Department."

Now you know some of the things that make a college one that can be enjoyed, appreciated and honored by every student. Now you can compare what you think about this life with what other people think. But always look for the best in any life and when you feel like depreciating your school, remember this quote from several transfer students:

"People don't know how to appreciate the food, the friendliness and fellowship of this college until they transfer from another one."

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Physical Education Department
Has Hidden Talent in Faculty

By CHARLOTTE OWENS

Hidden Talent! How many GTC students know we have a worker in modern dancing, a poet, a potential song writer, and flyer, as well as tennis, fencing, and golf champion in our midst. The suspect is none other but GTC's new physical education instructor, Miss Pat Shely.

This person of various talents hails from Lexington, Kentucky where she attended University High School. She received her AB degree from University of Kentucky and her MA degree from Columbia University.

While at the university, she did the choreography, settings lights, and costumes for many modern dance performances. She hopes that soon GTC will have a modern dance course in its curriculum.

While she was in high school she had some short stories published but her greatest achievement in the literary field is her book, "The Thorns Cut Deeply." It is a collection of poems written by Miss Shely. She is also a member of Chi Delta Pi, national literary fraternity.

She has also written a song which has been copywritted and she hopes to have it published in the near future. The song is a ballad called, "Tell Me What To Do." She is interested in music and plans to teach ballroom dancing on Playnight.

Miss Shely has served as a second Lietuenant in the Civil Air Patrol.

Miss Shely has coached fencing and in 1950 was Women's State Fencing Champion in Kentucky.

While holding an assistant professorship at State Teachers College in Troy, Alabama she was women's tennis champion in 1951 and 1952. She is also state women's tennis champion of 1956 and 1957. She has won seven of eleven golf tournaments in which she participated.

She comes to GTC from Moorhead State College where among many things she coached the men's tennis team.

Not only does she teach physical education courses but she works with women's intrumural,

"I'd love to stay, Larry, but I'm afraid Gladys has had a little too much to drink."

You've Got the Flu Boy

And your shin bones knock and your tongue is furred,
And your tonsils squeak, and your hair gets dry,
And you're dog-gone sure that you're going to die,
But you're skeered you won't and fraid you will,
Just drag to bed and have your chill
And pray the Lord to see you through,
You've got the Flu, boy, you've got the Flu.

When asked how she liked

GTC, she said, "I like it fine. I have always liked the warm climate and warm hospitality of the South."

Hugh's Who in SPORTS

By HUGH BELCHER

After speaking a few brief moments with Coach J. B. Searce and his assistant, Coach J. I. Clements, they seem to have the same viewpoint on this year's varsity basketball squad.

This year's squad is made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors and they have to get the feel of playing together as a unit. Last year's club had mostly seniors, and they had been working as a unit for three and four years.

The Georgia Teachers College Professors kick off a 24-game, two-tournament schedule against strong Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, December 6.

The Profs swing over to Stetson, now coached by former Brewton Parker Coach Glenn Wilkes, December 7, visit Mercer in Macon December 9, and return home against Pikeville, December 11. McNeese State's invitational meet, in Lake Charles Louisiana, and the NAIA tourney, place to be determined, are the tournaments on schedule.

GTC will join host McNeese, Southeastern Oklahoma, and Stephen Austin in the December 27-28 McNeese Tournament. The NAIA will be February 28 through March 1, with competing teams still to be selected.

The Professors will be expanding their traveling schedule and will play in North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana.

The "T" Club is sponsoring two big events in the next couple of weeks. They are sponsoring the Halloween Carnival October 30, and the Physical Education 422 football game to be held November 7.

The Tech-Auburn game was a real thriller. I was listening to the radio as they gave a play-by-play account and according to the announcer the score should have been 7-3 in favor of the Yellow Jackets. In my book the War-Eagles took a 3-0 victory and could be well on their way. A couple of hard games with Mississippi State and FSU could prove the point.

The Georgia Bulldogs almost gave Navy a surprise they couldn't forget by coming back with 14 points in the second half. They put up a good fight, but fell short on a 26-14 victory.

Intramural Games Gets Fast Start And Enthusiasm Builds Up High

Leopards 31 — Tigers 0

The Leopards trounced the ill-fated Tigers 31 to 0. Griffin made five TD passes, tops so far this season in one game. The passes were completed to Roy Pierce, Maynor Dykes, Paul Bailey, Jones and Ben Benton for the first five TD's. Griffin made the only PAT with a left end run.

Cougars 20 — Bears 18

The fine passing of Curt Browning set up and later accounted for the Cougar's first TD with an 18-yard pass to Don Avery in the first quarter against the very well organized Bears.

In the second quarter the Bears scored on a pass from Wayne Parrish to Bill Brooks, who lateraled to Mickey Wilson, the man that hustled across for the TD.

Again in the third quarter Wayne Parrish caught Kermit Elliott's 22-yard pass for the TD.

In the fourth quarter the Bears scored on Elliott's 22-yard pass to Wayne Parrish.

The Cougars seemed to come alive in the fourth quarter to score on Browning's pass to Tom Wommack, a 62-yard pass, too! Browning passed to Jim Curry for the PAT. This made it 18-12 against the hard trying Cougars.

Only a short time later the Cougars picked up the winning touchdown. It was a 68-yard pass of Browning's to Wommack. The game ended 20-18 for the Cougars.

Lions 12 — Wildcats 7

The Lions scored on their first down when Fred Chance threw a pass to John Brantly, who raced 65 yards for the TD.

That was all the scoring for both teams until the third quarter. Dan Williams threw 53 yards to Sam Crawford for the Wildcats' only score. Williams then threw to Gene Baston for the PAT.

The Wildcats held this 7-6 lead until the last 50 seconds when Fred Chance passed to John Vaughn for the Lions' winning TD. The Lions won 12-7.

Leopards 30 — Panthers 6

"Skeeter" Griffin threw four touchdown passes as the Leopards won 30 to 6 over the Panthers. Bob Pollak, Gene Ragsdale, Roy Pierce, and James Walker were the four re-

PHI MU ALPHA SPONSORS PROGRAM

Phi Mu Alpha, men's music fraternity, will sponsor a musical program every Sunday from 4:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. on WVNS radio.

James Jones, president of the Phi Mu Alpha, will be in charge of the program which will feature music on record and live performances.

Musicians from GTC an from outside the college will perform on these shows.

Although Georgia Teachers College does not have an inter-collegiate football team, we, the students at GTC have ample opportunity to see plenty of football. I had the privilege of observing Coach J. I. Clements' physical education 422 football class last Tuesday morning. The teams are very evenly divided. Fred Chance and Phillip Clark are coaching and playing for the white team with Coach Clements and Lynford Wood handling the gold team. The white team looked good on defense with fine tackling by Young, Sawyer, and Chance. Their offense looks shaky in a few spots and should be tough once they begin clicking with good play by Solon Wisham at center, "Creeper" Pierce and Lavan Kennedy at ends. The gold team was very rugged on defense allowing the white team a gain of 12 yards in 14 plays. Eight of these yards were on a pass play. Their offense has an edge over the whites with some fine running by Wood, Elliott, Wommack, and Smithwick. The teams have about two more weeks of practice before their game on November 7. This game will be sponsored by the "T" Club and tickets are now on sale for 25 cents. Students should purchase their tickets before going to the game.

After talking with Coach Clements about the comparison of last year's club with this year's club he stated that this club is better coached, better prepared, and was divided quicker than last year's club.

VET'S CORNER

By TOM BRYSON

The trend, for the past quarter century, of government in the United States has been one of ever increasing federal encroachment upon the powers of the several states. This is particularly noticeable in the policy of the Democratic Party in the era of the New Deal. This trend in federal policy and particularly in the Democratic Party is progressive, for originally the ideal of the Jeffersonian Republican Party, the father of the present Democratic Party, was one of strict construction. That is to say, that all powers shall be retained by the several states, except those specifically enumerated and designed to the federal government. However, this policy has been radically changed, and federal policy is now being dictated by a group of legislators who feel that the federal prerogative should be extended to include powers which were, according to the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, to be retained by the states, as they were not specifically designated to the federal government. In political circles, this group is known as a radical element and consists primarily of the Northern radicals of both the Republican and Democratic Parties. Recently, this intervention has been extended to the racial problem, which by law and tradition, has long been in the sphere of the states. Moreover, this element represents a majority of the electoral college, and this situation, in effect, amounts to a tyranny of the few by the many, for the southern element is definitely in the minority.

Calhoun's Theory

In the early part of the nineteenth century, a group of legislators from the New England area, claimed that the Jeffersonian Party constituted a majority, and that this majority was using its numerical superiority in a tyrannical fashion. John C. Calhoun, senator from South Carolina, replied that in a Democracy, the minority has nothing to fear, as it will be represented by democratic processes. Years later, the shoe was on the other foot, and the Southern states represented a minority in the Congress. In this case the South was being subjected to legislation which was the desire of the many, but prejudicial to the few. This, in effect, was clearly a tyranny of the few by the many, for the minority had ceased to be represented through its lack of numbers. As a remedy, Calhoun suggested the use of the concurrent majority, whereby the passage of legislation depended upon a majority of both the minority and majority parties. Had this plan been adopted, the minority would have been able to bargain with majority, and thus obtain a remedy for the wrongs, however, this failed.

Third Party

This situation exists today in our government, but there is an answer, and that is a third party. At present, there is a move in the South for the formation of a new conservative party, based upon the principles of the Democratic Party in the days prior to the New Deal. In fact, Senator Richard Russell of this state is being considered to head this new party's ticket. In the election of 1960, this new party could command enough electoral votes from the Southern States to deny Democratic and Republican candidates the requisite number of votes necessary to win, thereby throwing the election into the House of Representatives. In such an event, each state would have one vote, and it would be necessary to have 25 votes or a majority to win. Although the third party candidate would not in all probability win, the vote could be stalemated, thus necessitating some giving and taking on the part of the three parties. In this event, the Southern party would be able to bargain with the majority and thus gain an immediate remedy to the federal policy which is now intolerable to Southern people.

"THAT'S A RIDICULOUS RUMOR, DEAN, I RUN HERE A VERY DEMOCRATIC CLASSROOM."

Ugly Man Contest Results Given Saturday Night at Vets' Shindig

By ANN MANRY

The Ugly Man Contest, one of GTC's big dances sponsored by the Veteran's Club, just got underway. If a boy comes up to you begging pennies he probably isn't broke—he just wants you to cast your vote for him. A penny equals one vote and there is no limit on your voting. Votes can be cast until 8 p.m. Saturday night, October 26.

Many more men than usual have announced their candidacy this year. In the running are the following: Leonard McCook, Dick Ragsdale, Harry Brannan, James Walker, Ronnie Cook, Jack Willis, Charles Harris, Joe Harry Roland, and Billy Jackson. Although these are the candidates there is always a possibility of a dark horse winning. Also, anyone else who desires to enter the contest should feel free to do so.

Last year Larry Hyde won the Ugly Man title and received a sport jacket as first prize. With so many candidates it's anybody's guess as to who will win. So save up your pennies and cast your vote for your favorite candidate. Notice to all GTC males—remember this is a popularity contest and is not one to be taken lightly.

BSU Travels To Rock Eagle

The Baptist Student Union will have its annual state convention at Rock Eagle 4-H Camp near Eatonton on November 1-3, with 26 colleges throughout the state represented.

The BSU students who plan to go to this convention are asked to have in their reservation fees of one dollar each by October 26, so that reservations can be made in the camp.

Field Is Parasitology

Besides The Testubes Science gets Bogitsh

A new addition to the Science Department, and far more important than the added testubes and slides, is Burton J. Bogitsh of New York.

Dr. Bogitsh received his BA degree from NYU, his MA degree from Baylor University and has just received his Doctorate from University of Virginia.

His special field is Parasitology and he hopes to teach a course in this field in the next year. He plans to do research in this field in the coming year.

He has spent two years in the army where he was an instructor in clinical parasitology.

He is a member of the American Society of Parasitologists, Helminthological Association of Washington and the Society of Sigma Xi, the national honorary society for scientist.

All of his efforts have not been in the science field. While in college, he lettered in both track and football.

This New Yorker married a southern girl from Texas, a Biology major from Baylor. He is the proud father of two boys and a girl.

Dr. Bogitsh has had five publications in the Scientific Journal.

He is teaching several science courses on our campus but he says, "I am mainly interested in Biology, Zoology in particular, to teachers so they can properly teach it in the classroom."

History Class

Tours Churches

Students of Dr. Rogers' advanced history 308 class are visiting the different churches which were in existence during the Renaissance. They are doing this on a voluntary basis. Nine of the students attended the Catholic Church last Sunday. Plans are not definite as to which church will be attended next.
