Nine Seniors Named to 1957-58 Edition of College Who's Who

Nine Georgia Teachers College seniors have been named to the 1957-58 edition of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. They are Diana Bair, Stanley Brobston, Fred Fagnant, Britt Fayssoux, Joan Hurst, Joyce Jackson, Robert Mitchell, Elizabeth Morgan, and June Watts.

Diana Bair, English major from Pelham, has been active in the Masquers theater group since her entrance in GTC. She has been a member of various honorary organizations, including Kappa Delta Pi and Alpha Psi Omega, of which she is director this year. Diana was chosen Miss GTC of 1955, member of the May court of 1956, and Miss Reflector of 1957.

Stanley Brobston, music major from Baxley, has served as publicity chairman and vice president of the Baptist Student Union, and is at present active in the band and the Philharmonic Choir on campus. He is also a member of the Music Education Club, Art Club, Masquers, and Pi Beta Lambda.

Fred Fagnant, art major from Pembroke, has served actively in the Alpha Rho Tau, both as treasurer and vice president, and has been the deciding force behind many a decorating scheme for social events at GTC. He has served as a social committee member for the Student Council, and was a member of the T-Book staff of 1957.

Britt Fayssoux, social science major from Statesboro, has worked on the George-Anne newspaper staff in every capacity. He is present editor. Britt was awarded the Bulloch Herald Cup for outstanding journalism on the Honors Day program of 1957.

Joan Hurst, elementary education major from Savannah, has been an active member of the ACE, the dormitory house council, The George-Anne, and the social committee of the Student Council. She is an officer of the German Club and the Big Sister Club. She was also chosen to appear in the Beauty Revues of 1956 and 1957.

Joyce Jackson, English major from Norcross, is at present acting as secretary and treasurer of the Student Council and as district director of the Student NEA. She has served as secretary and social chairman of the BSU, vice president of the Student NEA, secretary of the Pi Beta Lambda, and reporter on The George-Anne.

Bob Mitchell, social science major from Smyrna, transferred to GTC at the beginning of his junior year and began work on The George-Anne staff, the Baptist Student Union, and the Student NEA. He was editor of the T-Book for 1957.

Elizabeth Morgan, general science major from Lavonia, has served on the Student Council at GTC, as an officer of the Baptist Student Union, of the German Club, of the dormitory council, of her class for two years, and on the science club roster.

June Watts, elementary education major from Cordele, was the 1957-58 recipient of the Marvin Pittman scholarship. She has served as officer in West Hall House Council, Lewis Hall House Council, Big Sister Club, and Wesley Foundation. She also received a freshman scholarship in 1955.

The following qualities governed the selection of the nine GTC seniors: The student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship; leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities; citizenship and service to the school; and promise of future usefulness to business and society.

REGENTS MEET TODAY

The State Board of Regents are meeting today at Callaway Gardens, 37 miles north of Columbus, to consider applications of Georgia Teachers College and Georgia State College for Women to begin offering the masters degree program.

Homick Attends Business Meet

Mr. Stephen Homick, head of the Business Education Department, announced that he plans to attend the Southern Business Education Association meeting. This associational meeting will be held in Louisville, Kentucky, November 27-28-29.

Dr. Harry Hoffman, instructor at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, will be one of the key speakers.

Some of the topics of discussion at the meeting will be guidance in business education, philosophies and objectives of business education, and administration and supervision of business education.

James Chivers, Atlanta, and Hershel Carswell, Tifton, were nominated for class president Monday, November 11, right after assembly in the first freshman class meeting of the year.

Vice presidential nominees are Yvonne Durham, Crawfordville, and Vivian Blizzard, Tonnille.

Ed Brown, Student Council president who presided over the meeting explained the importance of the nominations to the student government and how they effected the school. Also stressed was the fact that great care should be taken to select the right person for the job.

Vying for female representative on the Student Council are Phyllis Hall, Augusta, and Ellen Durham, Bainbridge.

Running for male Student Council representative are Jim Curry, Kite, and "Skeeter" Weatherly, McRae.

The election will be held on Monday, November 18, so the freshmen will know who their officers are before the Thanksgiving holidays.

BEFORE—This old weather-scarred paneled building stood between the "Little Store" and the water tank just behind the Dining Hall for several years.

AFTER—Having found a permanent home, a face lifting has occurred and now our infirmary is an attractive brick veneer.

More Than Murder

Last Sunday afternoon, on the highway just west of here, there lay four victims of "those foolish years" in the aftermath of a tragic accident. Three lives, though innocent of blame, were lost because a young boy's drive for thrills ended with the violent clash of glass and metal of two automobiles. The boy, though injured, will probably live in regret the rest of his days because his careless race for attention ended with such needless tragedy.

To be sure, as the race started, neither of the "hotrodders" foresaw the results. All the glory of proving which automobile was the faster filled each boy's eyes and blinded them to the reality of the possible results. Both machines had great horsepower, but this cannot restore the lives or the conscience lost in this episode. Nothing can make this right, yet something must be done.

Manufacturers of automobiles will never reduce horsepower, therefore another solution must be found. What will it be? What can make the American youth realize that this automobile was designed presumably for safety, and not for a weapon against society. The answer is you, for only you can be responsible for what you do. Wake up "little Suzie and little Joe," stop this wholesale murder, stop this carelessness on the highway. Do away with this heedless horsepower.

Shortage of Teachers

The state director of the teacher recruitment program in Georgia, Mrs. S. C. Patterson, said recently that Georgia will need from 4,000 to 5,000 new teachers each year to replace those who retire and leave the state and to meet the increasing demand of a rapidly growing population.

At present we are not even coming close to this quota. Georgia, as well as the rest of the nation, falls dismally short of having enough teachers to meet her needs.

One of the major roadblocks is, of course, teachers' salaries. Teacher pay is like the weather: everybody talks about it, but nobody does anything about it. That is, there are no substantial raises in teachers' salaries. We have some small token raises, but certainly not enough to induce anyone to remain in the profession.

Also the general attitude of parents toward their children following the profession is not good. This can also be traced to low pay in the field.

America stands at the crossroads. In this atomic age a first class education for our children is a must.

We cannot expect a first class education for our children until teachers' salaries are raised to a substantial level, thereby inducing enough competent teachers to remain in the field.

An Important Meeting

A very important decision concerning GTC is in the making today. That is, whether or not a graduate program for GTC will be approved. State Senator Everett Williams left for Atlanta early yesterday afternoon to attend today's Board of Regents meeting and plug for the program.

The GTC administration with the backing of Regent Williams has fought long and hard for this much needed program. If approved it will be a great step forward for GTC, Bulloch County and Statesboro. This program is badly needed so that teachers in this area who need and want to complete graduate work may now do so without traveling to schools further away.

Keep your fingers crossed.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of all the members of En Melodie, I want to publicly express our congratulations to the Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity for a job well done on their Sunday afternoon radio broadcasts. Through their efforts the musical and cultural life of Georgia Teachers College is being ever broadened.

Much effort and hard work is being put into these programs, and each of us should support this project heartily. In doing this, we are not only backing a group of fine young men in a worthwhile project, but are personally endorsing the improvement of our college.

Once again let me say congratulations to all of you Sinfonians for a job well done.

Sincerely,

MARY ANN HARRELL
President, En Melodie.

Dear Editor:

Last week one of the professors of the English department was hanged in effigy because he had publicly stated his conviction about the hazing of students. It is a pity that there are so few on the faculty and in the student body of Georgia Teachers College who have the intestinal fortitude to stand up and state their convictions before their fellows without fear of ridicule and persecution, when it is supposedly true that our national constitution guarantees us the right to our own opinions. I am afraid we use the terms "democratic principles," and "Christian America," too loosely. Does this incident show one of the "democratic principles" that we are so proud of? Is it an example of the "Christian acts of grace" that we strive to accomplish? If it is, then America must have a false front. When a man believes in a thing strongly enough to stand up and unashamedly state his convictions and to stand behind them, my hat is off to him, whether I agree with him or not.

I would like to compliment the staff of The George-Anne upon the stand that they have taken concerning the matter; I think it was a very wise choice. Keep up the good work!

Respectfully yours,
WILLIS H. MOORE.

The Heritage of Henry Grady

If I die, I die serving the South, the land I love so well. Father fell in battle for it. I am proud to die talking for it."

Henry W. Grady

South and moderation concerning the Negro question. His fame has yet to reach the magnitude of Grady's, but he is one of the most respected journalists in the country.

Harry Ashmore

More recently, especially since the advent of the Little Rock Crisis, another outstanding Southern editor has come to the forefront as a clear voice of the New South and a disciple of Henry W. Grady. He is Harry Scott Ashmore, editor of the Arkansas Gazette and a native of South Carolina. Like Henry Grady Mr. Ashmore's roots run deep in the South. Both of his grandfathers served in the Confederate Army and most of his life has been spent in the South. This literate South Carolinian worked on papers both in South and North Carolina before going to the "Gazette."

His thesis concerning the South is essentially the same as Grady's—industrial development for the South, moderation and common sense concerning the Negro problem and added to this his conception that the South must find its place in the atomic age.

Contrary to the attacks by many of his critics, he does not advocate social mixing of the races.

Mr. Ashmore has yet to gain the position that Henry Grady held in the South and the nation, but regardless of how one may feel about his views he will remain a strong voice in this country for the New South for many years to come. He is carrying on in the true tradition of Henry W. Grady.

FAYSSOUX

The New South

His conception of the New South meant the development of manufacturing to supplement the once almost exclusively agrarian economy of the South and in his own words "a logical adjustment of the Negro question." Grady did not preach integration or social mixing of the races. "To liberty and enfranchisement is as far as law can carry the Negro. The rest must be left to conscience and common sense." These were Grady's own words.

In recent years the mantle of Henry Grady has lain draped about the shoulders of Ralph McGill, the present editor of the Constitution. Mr. McGill has continued Grady's cry for industrial development of the Student Interests Aired Within

Items of interest on our last year are no longer available as network programs have taken the time.

In a few weeks varsity basketball will make its debut for the 1957-58 season with twelve home games, twelve road games, and two tournaments on schedule. The tournaments being the McNease State tournament and the district NAIA tournament. The latter will again be played on our campus.

Basketball will add to and in many ways complete the GTC schedule of activities for fall and winter quarters. It will also give each student a chance to express his individual opinion concerning our scheduled activities by his attendance at the games.

For those persons having had two polio shots already, the third which is in the form of a booster will be available soon. Students who haven't begun the series will have an opportunity to go through the series of three shots very soon.

Masquers' production of "Ring Around the Moon" is coming our way next Wednesday and Thursday. Indications are that this will be another of the local theater greats on campus.

The veterans are sponsoring a talent review Tuesday week with prizes going to the outstanding performers participating. The Canterbury Club each year sponsors a talent review each spring, and with the addition of this one by the Vets, our campus will have an opportunity to keep in touch with the show business potentials of GTC.

Many students have commented on the TV programs sponsored by GTC last year, and some of them are wondering why they were not continued this year. This answer comes from the fact that the programs as scheduled by the TV station

Dr. Robert Pace Speaks to Local Zeta Omicron

At the regular meeting of the Zeta Omicron chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity on November 6, the guest speaker was Dr. Robert Pace, member of the faculty at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Dr. Pace, who is a past New York province governor of Phi Mu Alpha, spoke concerning the meaning of membership in the fraternity and what each member can contribute and gain through association.

Dr. Pace attended Columbia University and the Juilliard School of Music. He has conducted his own private school in New York. At present Dr. Pace is head of piano instruction at the Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Inquiring Reporter

By YVONNE DURHAM

A very well-planned and detailed program was made available for the freshmen at Georgia Teachers College by the faculty and upperclassmen. This program was for the benefit and advantage of all new students at GTC, however, as no plan is perfect a look at this one from a freshman's viewpoint might be helpful.

"How do you feel about your orientation class?"

Sue Moore—It is wonderful. Gives an opportunity to meet faculty and campus.

June Stevens—I think it is a grand idea but should not last over three weeks.

Samila Jones—Fine for meeting people, but much too long. Interesting but tiring.

Robert Hobbs—Very good for getting to know freshmen, faculty and GTC functions.

Luther Shead—Good, but what they put over could be accomplished in a shorter time.

Connie Bevans—I think it helps acquaint the student with the school.

Tommy O'Neal—Fine, but too long and sometimes not very interesting.

Lane Hartley—Very helpful, but rather tiring after several weeks.

Gordon Hill—I like them, but they are much too long. I think the classes should have a scheduled speaker or program.

Barbara Thomas—It helps very much but we could have accomplished just as much in a shorter time.

Morris Given Football Prize

O'Brien Morris, a senior physical education major from Screven, fooled all the odds makers this week as he chose correctly eight of the eleven football games played last week. With thirty-two entries, there was a noticeable difference in choosing games. Too numerous to name, were the many persons who missed five, six, and seven games out of the eleven. West Virginia, William and Mary, Vanderbilt, and Cincinnati led to the embarrassment of our best student authorities as they won by the upset route.

This week's contest could be another close one with favored teams about half way expecting the worse from their underdog opponents.

Games to watch closely, are: Duke-Clemson, Ohio State-Iowa, Florida State-Mississippi Southern, South Carolina-Virginia, and S.M.U.-Arkansas.

These are the classified ads, they have been purchased by students of GTC for the purpose of advertising for something that they wanted. These ads will appear each week, if there are enough interested advertisers on campus. The cost is relatively small, and we can assure you that your ad will be read by the majority of our students. We pride ourselves in having a student newspaper with even the ads being read by all our readers.

Taylor Joins Business Faculty; Came Here From Steed College

By CHARLOTTE OWENS

A Tennessean comes to Georgia Teachers College as a member of the faculty in the business department. Miss Helen Taylor, after being raised in Johnson City, Tennessee and teaching there, is the newest addition to this department.

Miss Taylor received her BS and MA degree from East Tennessee State College, Johnson City. After receiving her BS degree Miss Taylor decided that a little practical experience would help her in her field. This "little experience" in an insurance and travel agency turned into a four-year job. It was then that Miss Taylor started her teaching career. She taught commercial subjects for two years in high school and taught at Steed College for four years.

Miss Taylor is interested in music. While in college she played bazon in the college band. She was also a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

She also has served as director of Religious Education in Tennessee.

Prior to coming to GTC Miss Taylor finished her graduate work at East Tennessee State College.

Over high school work, she definitely prefers teaching on the college level. "The students are more mature, assume a greater responsibility, and have a goal which they are striving for. In other words the attitude and atmosphere is different in college," remarked Miss Taylor.

When asked how she liked GTC, she said, "Everyone is so friendly. The atmosphere among students and faculty is wonderful." It seems Miss Taylor is satisfied at having come south.

Faculty Group Attends Meet

Several GTC faculty members were in the spotlight at last week's First District GEA meeting in Savannah.

Mrs. Gladys DeLoach, local GEA president, was a platform guest. She also presided at the Children and Young People's Library section.

J. A. Pafford, principal of Marvin Pittman, made a report in the general meeting on the NEA convention which was held in Philadelphia.

Edgar Godfrey presided at the Georgia Industrial Arts Association.

Tully Pennington presided at the science division.

Miss Marjorie Crouch was selected reporter for First District. She has served for the past two years as chairman of the First District Social Studies Teachers. She is also state director for the Georgia Council for Social Studies, and was recently selected as editor of the Bulletin of the Association for Student Teaching of the southeastern states.

Miss Joyce Jackson, GTC student, presided at the FTA group meeting.

Signs Add Spice To Dorm Life

By CHARLOTTE OWENS

The things you read in the strangest places!!! I am referring to different signs found on doors in the women's dormitories. Being a girl, I can only refer to these doors.

Most of the signs refer to visitors which may drop in. Of course some signs refer to visitors who just stand outside, such as "Please listen distinctly" or "Please do not disturb."

"Why make it difficult when with a little more effort, you can make it impossible," is great encouragement when girls are homesick or have the "blues." Or if you have a day when nothing goes right just read, "You don't have to be crazy to work here but it helps!"

About the best cartoon seen was that of a teacher writing on the board a thousand times, "I love teaching." A janitor turns and asks, "Giving yourself a pep talk, Miss Hinkleley?"

Another interesting note was, "Please remain seated while room is in motion," and a helpful reminder is the sign saying, "Have you signed in?"

Probably the most noticed signs in East and West Halls read, "Do not go downstairs unless fully dressed. Men are working dormitory."

Most of the signs are words from the "wise to the—" Two which can be applied to all students are, "Keep your temper. Nobody else wants it." and "Be sure brain is engaged before putting mouth in gear."

On Tuesday evening, November 26, 1957, at 8 p. m. the Veterans Club will sponsor its first Talent and Variety Revue. The show which will be held in McCroan Auditorium, is under the direction of Jim Fields and John Anderson.

This show gives promise of being very entertaining, for in addition to several skits and a sprinkling of jokes, there will be a wide variety of talent, from bagpipe music to a presentation by the Sporters. Price of admission is 25 cents.

The contestants will be competing for cash prizes of $15 for first place, $10 for second place, and $5 for third place. The acts will be judged by Bob Thompson of Radio Station WWNS and Dr. Ronald Neil, head of the music department.

Anyone interested in entering the Revue should contact Jim Fields, John Anderson, or some member of the Veterans Club, anyone of whom will be happy to arrange for an audition prior to the show. The Revue is not confined to members of the college, and as such, if any member of the student body wishes, he may enter persons from Statesboro or the surrounding area. All entries must be in prior to Friday, November 22, 1957.

The Home Economics Club formally initiated the new members and installed the new officers on October 21 at the regular club meeting. The purposes, motto, and emblem were explained to the new members before taking their oaths.

Having completely the requirements, the Home Economics Club is affiliated with the American Home Economics Association.

After the meeting, refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?

GTC HOST TO NAIA

Georgia Teachers College will again host the District 25 N.A.I.A. basketball tournament this year, according to an announcement today by District Chairman Brady Cowell of Stetson University. Dates for the tournament are Feb. 28-March 1. Tournament manager will be J. I. Clements Jr. District 25 includes Georgia and Florida. The four-team tournament field will be selected by taking the four top-rates college teams according to the Dunkel ratings on February 17. The tournament winner will then represent District 25 at the national tournament at Kansas City March 10-15.

Campus Column

By JOYCE JACKSON

It was inevitable that the weather would get freezing cold this week. Just as it never fails to rain during orientation week, it never fails to be 10 degrees below when pictures are scheduled to be made. But in spite of the temperature the members of the clubs responded very well and came out to have their beauties struck.

The freshman class met Monday to nominate candidates to run for class officers and student council representatives. The election will be held Monday with the polls opening at 10:30 a. m. and closing at 12:30 p. m. Freshmen are urged to vote since these people are the ones who will represent the class this year and will greatly determine the effectiveness of it.

The veterans Club launched a clean-up campaign in assembly Monday which should serve as a worthwhile project. As Ed Bailey said, remember to use the trash cans for trash and Ed's car for empty bottles.

The Salk vaccine campaign was again launched, being sponsored by the Kappa Phi Kappa this year instead of the physical education class. We hope you will realize the importance of this shot and will make plans to get it.

Hammering, sawing, painting, and sewing are going on backstage now and it seems that things are shaping up for the presentation of "Ring Round the Moon" on November 21 and 22.

The girls of Lewis Hall entertained Gaye Hobgood in a miscellaneous shower last Thursday night. Gaye and Phil Clark will be married this month and will reside in Statesboro.

Phelps Heads Baptist Group

A new organization, the Baptist Ministerial Association, has been formed on the GTC campus and has for its first president Jim Phelps, junior from Attapulgus.

The organization, having once been a part of the Interdenominational Ministerial Association, pulled out at the beginning of the quarter and organized anew. It now has become a unit organization of the Baptist Student Union and will come under its constitution.

Prizes Awarded for the Best Snapshots for the Reflector

The snapshot contest, which is being sponsored by the Reflector staff, is to begin immediately and will terminate December 4.

The contest will be divided into three categories pertaining to college activities. These three divisions are sports, campus life and humorous snaps.

In the division of sports, snapshots may be made of intramural games, physical education classes, basketball games, and any other kind of athletics.

Campus life includes dormitory scenes, classroom activity, campus activity, parades and Rat Day.

In the humorous category, any type of snapshot may be entered as long as it pertains to college life at GTC.

Three gift certificates will be awarded to the winner in each of these categories. Honorable mention will be given to the next two winners in each division.

Mount the snapshot on standard size printing paper.

Label it with your names, address at GTC, the category in which you wish to enter and a caption if so desired. Drop your entry in the box on the door of the Public Relations Office. All pictures will become the property of the Reflector.

Judges will be three faculty members, so every student is eligible to enter. Larry Hyde, editor of the Reflector, urges everyone to "grab a camera and take lots and lots of pictures to enter."

These snapshots will be used in the 1958 Reflector.

Lions Surprise Leopard Eleven With Decisive Victory in Finale

By ALBERT BURKE

The Lions won the intramural championship in football last Wednesday, November 6, by beating the highly favored Leopards 12-6; thus ending the football season. With the help of all the participants, managers, and Mr. White, the season was successful. There was not a single forfeit during the season; proving many persons took an interest in their team standings. During the season twenty-nine contests were played, including the play-off. Only one overtime game was played and this was between the Bobcats and Cougars, who won 19-13. The Lions (7-1) were first with the Leopards (6-2) second, Bobcats (5-2) third, and the Cougars (4-3) fourth. The Panthers (3-4) Bears (2-5), Tigers (1-6), and Wildcats (0-7) followed in that order.

The third place Bobcats won their first five games to lead the league; but lost the next two games, the first loss was to the Leopards and the second to the Cougars.

Cross-Country Race Scheduled For Male Intramural Participants

By ALBERT BURKE

The date for the cross-country race has been set for November 21, at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The course for this race will start at the new gymnasium, go toward the back gate; turn left and down the edge of the highway. This course will turn left at the trees, cross the outside of the baseball diamond, and up the bank to the back of Sanford Hall. From here the course will go around the dormitory and back down onto the field behind the gymnasium with the finishing line not determined yet. Everybody intending to enter this race should begin to get in shape. Another thing, candidates for this race should run the course at least three times. The winner of the race will receive a three-layer, nine-inch cake and the other four place winners will be presented a similar eight-inch cake. Any team may enter as many contestants as they want to, but will receive three points per man up to 15 points. The team winners will be the one with the smallest sum of points. This sum is found by adding the position number of the first three men (if the team has three men entered) as they finished the race. A team can win a possible twenty-six points and this amount of points will help in determining the all-intramural champion.

Elliot's Charges Defeat Redskins

By HUGH BELCHER

The Rebels, under the able leadership of co-captains Kermit Elliot and Gene Ragsdale, defeated the Redskins 20-0 in the annual physical education 422 football class game.

The game opened with the Rebels in charge at their own 30. The Rebels made 31 yards in three plays. A 22-yard pass from Elliot to fullback Lynford Wood was good. The Redskins took over at their own 18 and made first down in two plays.

Fred Chance, Redskin quarterback, punted 28 yards to the Rebel 34. Rebels lost two yards on first play. On the next play Chance intercepted a Bobby Smithwick pass on the Rebel 48. A Redskin fumble was annulled because of offside penalty against the Rebels. The Redskins gained eight for a first down on a fine run by halfback Richard Young. A pass from Chance to Dick Ragsdale was good for five. With fourth and 18 to go Chance punted 32 yards to the Rebel eight.

Rebels took over with Smithwick picking up a first down. Elliot moved the Rebels to the 25 in four plays. Elliot lost eight, Wood gained 12 and Benton nine.

Alpha Rho Tau Sponsors Annual Starlight Ball, French Cafe Style

By BOB SPELL

Each year Alpha Rho Tau, the Art Club, sponsors the Starlight Club Ball. For the benefit of new students the club would like to explain a few things about it.

First, when the club started this dance, it was simply called the Starlight Club and centered around a nightclub with stars as its main decoration. Soon the theme began to wear out and the club "opened under new management" and evolved to the Starlight Club Ball with a different type of night club each year. Two years ago it was a rooftop nightclub, and last year an abstract club-of-the-future was given.

This year an entirely new slant is on the dance. The gym will be decorated with a French sidewalk cafe theme and is called the "Moulin Rouge" cafe. The club does not wish to disclose the main features of decorations, but guarantees a different and beautiful setting for the dance.

The Starlight Club Ball is semi-formal in the sense that young men usually wear dark suits and the young ladies "dressy" dresses. Flowers for the occasion are optional since this is not a formal dance.

Another feature of the ball is the tables. Reservations for a table can be made prior to the dance through a booth that will be set up in the administration building. Notices will be placed on the bulletin boards announcing when reservations may be made. They will be sold on a first come-first served basis and no student, Art Club member or not, may purchase tickets except when the boots is open. There will be approximately fifty tables at the dance and around 200 students will be able to buy reservations.

The Art Club wishes to stress that you do not have to have a table to attend this dance and that the student body is cordially invited.

Music will be furnished by the Professors, the college dance band, and a special floor show will be presented around 9:30 p. m. Make your plans now to take a trip to Paris, France, November 23.

Frosh Elections Aired by Council

The Student Council held its regular meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night in Lewis Hall.

Freshmen elections were discussed at the meeting and it was decided that the polls would be open on Monday, November 18 from 10:30 a. m. through 12 noon, since the majority of the freshmen will be able to vote immediately after chapel.

Results from the elections will be posted after 3:30 Monday afternoon.

EN MELODIE DANCE

caught Elliot's pass for 47 yards and a touchdown. Extra point was also an Elliot-Potts combination.

The Redskins got the ball on their own 30. Chance hit Ed Brown for 16 yards and a first down. An attempted pass from Chance to Dick Ragsdale fell short. Lavan Kennedy made a good eight-yard run making it third and two. The first half ended.

The second half found the Rebels taking the ball at their own 30. They gained six in three plays. Wood punted 28 yards to Redskins' 32. Richard Young ran 18 yards, but a clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 32. Kennedy got eight on the next play. A pass from Chance to Dick Ragsdale was good for nine. Fourth and 12 found Chance falling short on an end run.

The ball went to the Rebels at the midfield stripe. An Elliot to Potts pass went for six. Again Elliot fired to Wood for nine.

Wood later took left and for a second touchdown with 35 seconds remaining in the third period.

The Redskins lost the ball on the 12 by a fumble. Ray Davis, Redskin guard, threw Rebel quarterback Elliot for a six-yard

IM Honors For Football

If the outstanding player in men's intramural football were named, the nod would probably go to Fred Chance, senior physical education major from Augusta. Fred, an outstanding high school athlete at Richmond Academy, came to GTC in 1955 following a four-year tour of duty with the Air Force.

This fall in intramural play, Fred led the Lions to the championship as he quarterbacked that grid iron crew to a seven win and one loss season. Winning this title was quite a feat for the Lions, as they had to bounce back from an opening game loss to win seven straight.

Fred was also the quarterback and assistant coach of the losing "Redskins" in the physical education 422 class game last week.

loss. Wood punted 37 yards to the Redskin 48.

On the first play Elliot intercepted a Chance pass and carried it to the Redskin 28. Wood made the final Rebel touchdown. The conversion was no good as Wood dropped the ball in the end zone.
