THE OLD SCHOOL SPIRIT

Last Friday afternoon amidst the cool repose of the Callaway Gardens the State Board of Regents met to consider the application of a master's degree program for GTC. The measure was approved by an overwhelming majority.

This act is a milestone in the history of the development of GTC. The college has progressed from a relatively obscure "cow" college to become one of the finest teacher training institutions in the country.

Much has been said and written about the modern day college student. To some he is less intellectual than the student of the past, and to others he possesses a mature intellectualism that his predecessor did not. As to whether he is less intellectual or not, that is a debatable question, but he does seem to be more mature.

Academic Atmosphere

With the advent of the new graduate program the GTC campus should take on a more academic atmosphere with less emphasis on trivial matters and more emphasis on intellectual and cultural pursuits.

This generation has been termed the "no-nonsense generation" by many eminent educators. In a recent article in Time Magazine the colorful Columbia University historian, Richard Hofstadter, said, "That there is nothing much they can do about so many things like radioactive fallout. So today, college students are serious about their careers, and they feel that's about all they can do."

GTC Students Serious

Today the majority of GTC students are serious about their careers. They seem to sense the great need this country has for good teachers. Never before has our country needed competent teachers from the elementary level up through graduate school, as it does today.

One of the charges hurled at the modern college student is that he is a conformist with little school spirit. Social scientist Reuel Denney, of the University of Chicago, answers this by saying "This is about the freest generation of students in U. S. Colleges in the 20th century."

Esprit de Corps

"School spirit" can be a misused term. Too often we associate "school spirit" with the trivialities we engage in at school. For instance, the defenders of Rat Day say we must have Rat Day to maintain "school spirit."

"School spirit" should be built on a firm academic basis. Our "rah rah's" should be because we have an excellent staff and faculty who maintain high academic standards.

With the advent of a graduate program GTC should gain that esprit de corps built around a pride in our academic worth.

Master's Degree Program Is Awarded To GTC; Will Begin In Summer School

Degree Offered In Seven Fields

The State Board of Regents last Friday approved the granting of master of education degrees in seven fields for Georgia Teachers College. First candidates will begin work next summer.

The program will be confined to summer and Saturday classes in the beginning, and is designed primarily to serve teachers already in the field. It will be possible for teachers to get the extra degree in three summers by taking some work in the Saturday program.

Teaching Fields

The fifth-year program of teacher education will include the following teaching fields: elementary grades, high school English, high school science, high school social studies, high school industrial arts, music and health and physical education.

A similar program was authorized for Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville. The regents' committee on education, headed by Mr. Howard H. Callaway, approved the plan Friday morning, and then the regents authorized the plan Friday afternoon at their meeting place at the Ida Cason Callaway Gardens near Chipley.

Approval had been pending for several months. Before this, the only master of education degrees offered in the University system were those awarded at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Logical Way

Robert O. Arnold, regent chairman from Covington, said the action was taken as the logical way to serve "teachers in remote sections who are interested in improving their education."

State Senator Everett Williams of Statesboro, who is regent from the First District, hailed to move as a "very fine thing" for southeast Georgia. He said the 2,100 teachers in 23 counties surrounding Bulloch will benefit.

Press Lauds Program

Editor's Note: This editorial appeared in the Savannah Evening Press this week. We believe this is very well stated and are reprinting it here.

A decision which will prove valuable to local teachers and all teachers in middle and southeast Georgia both from an educational and economic standpoint, has been announced by the Board of Regents of the state university system.

The board has authorized graduate work on a "commuter" basis at Georgia State College for women at Milledgeville and Georgia Teachers College at Statesboro.

This program allows GSCW and GTC to award master of education degrees in seven fields each. It is designed primarily to serve teachers already in the field and will be confined to summer and Saturday classes. It will be possible for teachers to get the extra degree in three summers or three years of Saturday work.

It is estimated that 2,100 teachers in 23 counties surrounding Bulloch will benefit from the program at the Statesboro College. Between 300 and 400 teachers are expected to enroll for the first classes at the two schools.

Georgia Teachers College at Statesboro has long been one of the most valuable institutions in the First Congressional District. The new authorization by the Board of Regents increases that value, not only to teachers, but to all citizens whose children will benefit by having more fully trained teachers in the schools.

Science Group Meets Monday

The Science Club meeting last Monday night at the home of Mr. Fred Wallace was held in the form of a wiener roast. Telescopic observations were made by the group attending. After the observations, the members played table tennis and some card games.

The next Science Club will meet next Monday night in the chemistry building. There will be a member from the Georgia State Health Department as the guest speaker. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend this next meeting.

polls and selected their officers to lead them during the '57-'58 year. James Chivers of Atlanta was elected president over Herchel Carswell of Tifton. Vivian Blizzard of Tennille who ran against Yvonne Durham of Crawfordville will serve the class as vice president. The class secretary-treasurer is Mary Ann Hodges of Statesboro who defeated Glenda Rentz of Woodbine.

Phyllis Hall of Augusta and Guy Weatherly of McRae will represent the freshman class on the Student Council. The other nominees running for these positions were Jim Curry of Swainsboro and Ellen Durham of Bainbridge.

These officers were selected by a majority vote of the freshman class on the basis of the impressions they had made on the body of students.

President Henderson Expresses Satisfaction With Program

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Georgia Teachers College, said "The news I received on last Friday concerning the college was as thrilling as any news that I have had since I started working with the college in 1927."

"It has been my privilege to see the college move from a Normal School to South Georgia Teachers College to Georgia Teachers College and now to a college offering the masters degree."

"It seems to me that we can say the college has grown up or has reached maturity and is in the best position in its history to use the money invested in it by the state. I feel that we can now be of outstanding service to the public schools of Georgia."

The program will be under the direction and supervision of the Dean of the college, Paul F. Carroll, and administered through a graduate council appointed by President Henderson.

Administrative details, such as admission to graduate study, admission to graduate status, admission to candidacy for the degree, residence requirements, and qualitative standards will be developed by the graduate council in conformity to generally accepted standards and requirements for the master of education degree program in sister institutions in Georgia.

POLIO SHOTS NOV. 26

The third in the series of polio shots is being offered Tuesday afternoon, November 26. This drive is sponsored by Kappa Phi Kappa.

The schedule for the day will be the same one that was used for the taking of club pictures. Students are urged to go to the health cottage for their shot at a time they do not have a class. This will enable those who have classes straight through to get their shots from 9:40 to 10:45 when no classes will meet.

French Violins and Fascination

Starlight Ball Is In 'Moulin Rouge'

Tomorrow night one of the biggest social events of the year climaxes weeks of hectic preparation for this night. This is the annual Starlight Ball, sponsored by the Alpha Rho Tau, the Art Club on campus.

In previous years, the themes have been varied from one night club or cafe to another. This year, the theme is the Moulin Rouge of Paris, France. The gym is to be decorated as a Parisian street, with sidewalk cafes along the way, tables underneath canopies.

Blue Parachutes

The ceiling of the gym is to be covered with blue parachutes to give the illusion of the sky, with such special effects as clouds, and hundreds of stars. Many hours of hard work went into the making of these stars, as indeed, many hours went into the making of everything concerning the ball.

Work was started on the Starlight Ball about two weeks after the quarter began, and will continue up to the last minute before the ball starts. Over $200 has been spent for properties for the ball. Programs were handmade by the Art 301 class, and other decorations were made by members of the Alpha Rho Tau.

There will be special lighting effects which will be enchantingly beautiful, and worth going to the ball just to see.

The full dance band, the Professors, will play at the ball. Also, a violinist and pianist will play.

Pierre the Waiter

The floor show will run from French violins to "fascinating" dances.

Waiters and waitresses, headed by Pierre, the head waiter, will serve grape punch ("wine") and "cocktails" made of ginger ale.

The Starlight Ball is NOT a formal dance. It is to be semi-formal, which means that the boys will wear dark suits, and the girls will wear dressy dresses. Corsages are not necessary.

The Art Club wishes to thank each and every person who has assisted them in working on the Starlight Ball. It especially extends its thanks to Masquers, who helped with the special lighting effects, and other items.

The dance will begin at 8 p. m., and will last until 11:30. Chaperones will be Miss Gernant and Miss Remley.

Space to Race

Lately, the sale of binoculars and telescopes skyrocketed to a new high as Sputniks I and II were launched by the Russian Missile experts. These items are being used to track these strange invaders of outer space around the world. Some persons, however, choose to use their binoculars and telescopes in a different fashion. They suggest that the instruments be used in watching from a distance the carelessness of the American driver. Sitting in on a legal murder they call it.

Maybe this is true, and maybe it is not. One can never tell to what extent the American driver will go with his automobile. Maybe he will drive lawfully, endangering the life of no one, but on the other hand, if provoked to the breaking point he is likely to use that wonderful American machine as a guided missile bent on destroying the lives of his peers. If he is a lawful driver, little good it will do him unless he is sure that every other driver is just as cautious as he. Still, if he is not the law abiding citizen that he would like people to think him, he can endanger the lives of many who are on the highways driving lawfully.

Anyway you look at it, the American driver is not safe on the highway. He isn't safe from himself or his fellow motorists.

Looking still further, pedestrians aren't so very safe either are they?

Taking all this into consideration, it probably would be wisest for the peace loving motorists and pedestrians of America to trade in their crash helmets for a pair of binoculars so that they may watch these fools from a distance. Who knows, maybe some day they will kill each other off and the highways will once more be safe for the law abiding American citizen.

Administration Praised

After five years of long hard work the GTC administration, along with the help of State Senator and Regent Everett Williams, has secured a masters degree program for the college. This is an accomplishment we should all be proud of.

Thousands of teachers in this area may now complete their graduate work. Students graduating from GTC can immediately begin graduate work here if they desire. In a recent George-Anne poll of students on campus the majority of those polled professed a desire to do graduate work at GTC if it were added.

The lead story on page one of this edition explains just what the program involves and what courses will be offered.

President Henderson, Dean Carroll, and Senator Williams have been quietly plugging away in behalf of the program for the past few years. They have worked tirelessly to bring the conferring of masters degrees to GTC. These three gentlemen deserve our deepest thanks.

Georgia State College for Women also had its graduate work approved. We offer our congratulations to this fine sister institution, and may we continue to grow together.

GTC is on the march and the student body can and must play a large part in her growth.

Student Directory

Coming soon, says the FBLA, is a student directory.

Congratulations, FBLA, for too long now students have wanted a booklet of this type, and to be sure you should have no trouble at all getting any GTC student to buy one.

This directory, to include the names and home addresses of all GTC students and faculty members, will be most helpful to any person desiring to contact any of our campus family.

Students, be quick to secure one of these publications, for maybe some day you will want to contact a person whose whereabouts have slipped past your memory. The approximate publication date for this manual is December 1. Probably a limited number will be printed so each of you shall have to decide now whether to buy one or not.

Never Judge A Person By The Gossip You Hear

By IRMA ROACH

Just one mistake is all it takes—just once giving in to a temptation, no matter how trivial, how seemingly insignificant at the time. That's all it takes to lose something prized about everything else: respect—respect of our friends, and our self-respect.

Often, rather, usually — when we give in and try something "just for the heck of it," such as smoking a few cigarettes, taking that first drink, or staying out until 2 p. m., someone is around who is going to spread the news.

But somehow, it seems when it has passed several mouths, it's no longer a thing we did just once for a kick, but it's a thing, according to gossip, that we've always done, that we still always do. It's become a dark and shameful thing that only a cheap person would do. It seems we smoke a pack or so of cigarettes a day, drink like a fish, and usually come in around dawn after each date.

Not only that, but a few years ago, it seems that thus and so happened, and circumstantial evidence pointed us as this, that, and the other. All past rumors, long buried, are dug out of the chest, and dusted off to start out again. So the gossip grows and grows, and gets worse, and each time the story is told, a little spice is added here, a certainty there where it was before only a possibility.

And soon we find ourselves being shunned by our friends who don't know if these things are true or not, and it hurts. It hurts to see someone who used to be "that special friend" with a cheery word always, now just give a frosty hello and pass on.

Too many times, people unthinkingly say unkind things that sometimes warp a person's whole life. And often people intentionally drop remarks to people to hurt others.

So whenever we feel we need a kick, or thrill, let's get it from a constructive source, so gossips will have no cause to say unkind words, and we will get an even bigger thrill.

And whenever we're tempted to do some little something wrong, or against our standards, think twice. And when we're about to say something about someone, think three times. First: "Is it true?" Second: "Is it fair to all concerned?" and third: "Is it necessary?"

By LARRY HYDE

THANKSGIVING—1957. What will that day mean to you? Does it mean you will get holidays from school, a big turkey dinner, seeing your loved ones, a chance to go hunting, or to see your favorite football team in action?

Thanksgiving means all these things to me, but above all, it reminds me that I should stop and take stock of all the wonderful things that I have to be thankful for. I have a wonderful father and mother, two sisters, and a brother that mean much to me. There have been no great misfortunes in my life, and I am of sound body and mind. I am thankful to God for these things.

I hope you will stop and give thanks to God for the many wonderful things He has given you. Thanksgiving will really mean something to you if you will.

Pihl Asks Instead of Answers

By KERSTIN PIHL

(Editor's Note: Kerstin Monica Pihl, Rotary exchange student from Hagersten, Sweden, reviews Rotary weekend at GSCW.)

It is not every day that you iron your dress together with a girl from Ecuador or go to breakfast with a girl from Egypt and a boy from Argentina.

But things like that might happen once a year at GSCW when all the Rotary students meet.

It is a cosmopolitan group. In fact, this year 22 countries are represented by 42 students: Argentina, Chile, Peru, Formosa, Japan, India, Ecuador, Korea, Turkey, Egypt, Greece, England, Scotland, Germany, Holland, Estonia, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Poland and France.

One Big Happy Family

I know that all of us shall always remember this weekend because it has been such a wonderful experience. The funny thing is that we feel like one big (very big) family and as though we had known each other for years.

There is so much to talk about—not only what we think of the United States and Georgia but about different countries and customs.

All of a sudden I find myself asking all sorts of questions that I have been asked so many times myself—such as, do you have TV over there, do you drink Coca-Cola? etc. It is nice for a change to be the one who asks.

Sang Swedish Folk Songs

Yes, I'll always remember this weekend; the Korean girls dancing a fan dance in their folk dresses, the Germans singing and playing guitar, the girls from Ecuador and Chile doing the bolero, the Indian group performing a very strange song, and myself taking part in the Scandinavian group singing Swedish folk songs.

Although we came from all over the world representing so many different countries, we all at least had one thing in common, and that is our stay in Georgia.

Learn About Georgia

It is here that we get the opportunity to meet and to feel like one big family. It is here that we learn about Georgia and its people and try to give something of ourselves and our countries.

And so when the moon shines on the beautiful white houses in Milledgeville and we say goodbye to each other as the conclave is over, we understand less than ever why there must be such things as wars and Sputniks.

Our college like all other colleges in Georgia is growing each year. More students are realizing the importance of a college education, therefore, school facilities must grow as the enrollment grows. Along with eliminating the problem of teachers, classrooms and equipment comes the elimination of housing problems. Before new additions can be made the old accommodations could be improved.

The occupants, realizing that improvements are being made, offer suggestions through their answers to this question:

"If you were authorized and equipped to make a change in your dormitory life what would it be?"

Mary Ann Hodges—If it was at all possible I would rid our dormitory of all mice.

Betty Thaggard—There is a need for more space, and later Sunday night hours.

Patricia Redding—Perhaps a telephone on each floor, or at least a private line for the dormitory.

Ann Lamb—I would extend the womens' curfew on Sunday night from 11 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

Sharon Ward — Rooms and storage facilities should be enlarged. Rooms should have better lighting.

Miriam McClain—Class bells turned off on weekends.

Mickey Williams — Improve the floors in East and West Halls, and repaint the rooms.

Martha Brantley — New mirrors put up with new furniture.

Ann Manry—I'd like to have the men get through working on the buildings so I can sleep in the mornings.

MAGAZINES WILL BE SENT TO BINDERY

According to Helen Legette, Serials Librarian, many of the current magazine will be sent to the National Bindery to be bound on Monday, December 2. Anyone desiring to use the magazines in the library should use them before this date.

Language Clubs Led by Bryson and McClendon

Tom Bryson and Charles McClendon were elected to head the Foreign Language Clubs for the year in their joint meeting after the fall quarter masquerade party.

Tom, heading the French Club, will be backed by James Johnston as vice president and Sandra Tindol as secretary-treasurer.

Serving with Charles on the German Club staff will be Valera Brinson, vice president, and Billy Daniel, secretary-treasurer.

Outgoing president of the French Club, Jane Jackson, presided at the joint meeting, which served as a renewing agent for the German Club, inactive for a year.

Business Club Plans Directory

The FBLA Club announces that they plan to satisfy the longing request of many students for a "student directory of faculty and students." The student directory will consist of an alphabetical index of the names and home addresses of all students who are enrolled here at GTC. The names of the faculty members and their home addresses will also be included.

The student directory will sell for 25 cents a copy and will be ready for sale approximately on December 1. It is the desire of the club to get the student directory in the hands of the students before Christmas so that they will be able to send Christmas cards, presents, anonymous gifts, time bombs, and what have you to their friends, faculty members and enemies.

DANCING TO CONCEAL from their boss Messerschmann the fact that they know each other, other than business-wise, Patrice Bombelles (Curt Walker) and Lady India (Kerstin Pihl) do a tango that would be the envy of an Arthur Murray. Miss Pat Shely of the physical education department was the choreographer for the dance, one of those seen in Masquers' fall production, "Ring Round the Moon."

Paris is Setting for Masquers' First Production of the Year

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

Paris was the setting of Masquers' first success of the year.

As the curtain opened on the winter garden in spring Wednesday night, it disclosed an intricate, elaborate, and well constructed set for which the "Ring Round the Moon" stage crew is to be congratulated.

The funniest portrayal of character in the play was given by Jeans Fulford as a Poor, but sizeable, piano teacher, masquerading as a genteel, "soft-handed" countess. Though the role did not carry the main plot, Jeans held the comedy throughout her performance.

Dual Personality

Bill Sanders, playing doubles, gave a quite believable interpretation to the almost opposite characters of Hugo and Frederick—one quite merciless and "archane," the other sweet, kind, and considerate. Though switching personalities would appear literally impossible to the layman, the problem seemed not to phase Bill, a veteran of summer stock.

Sustaining the chief comic element was Molly Williams, also of summer stock vintage. She handed in her customary excellence as Madame Desmorte, the wheel-chair, string-pulling, elderly aunt who knows all and doesn't hide it, but enjoys a spicy store and abhors a sad ending.

Harder Not to Act

Isabelle, the complication which always brings comedy, believed by some to be mistress to a millionaire and by most to be an angel in disguise, was Diana Bair's fall quarter masterpiece. She says, however, that "being myself on stage is much harder than really challenging dramatic roles."

Dropping h's and adding various other British sounds to his voice as well as affecting the mannerisms of a phlegmatic Briton butler, complete with snobbish attitude, was the task of Emory Giles. "Nothing serious, I 'ope, sir."

Valentino Surprised

The tango, done Bombelles-India style, was far from the dramatic, exotic Valentino pride as it was introduced in the United States. Curt Walker, as the puppet private secretary of the richest man involved in "Ring Round the Moon," and Kerstin Pihl, as the provocative mistress of the same millionaire, do a most convincing job.

Money Brings Ulcers

Diana Messerschmann, daughter of the millionaire, played by Ruth Sutton Odom, finds that her father's money cannot get the man she wants, but not before Ruth gets an opportunity to reveal the littleness and cruelty of Diana's ego.

Ann Waters, as Capulet, Madam Desmorte's fluttery companion, Ed Ward, as reputation-minded Romainville, and John Anderson as the ulcerated Messerschmann, add the finishing touches and are to be applauded for their fine work.

Mattox and Anderson Selected As GTC Cheerleaders for 1957-58

By CHARLOTTE OWENS

"Yea Blue." Yea White!" was the start, "And now for the big news!" was the end of the event which selected the new cheerleaders for 1957-58. The tryouts resulted in Marsha Maddox and Patricia Anderson being selected as cheerleaders. The first alternate selected was Vivian Blizzard and the second alternate is Marianne DeLoach.

The program started with the old cheerleaders, Diana Bair, Martha Brantley, Dexter Hughes, Charlotte Owens and Martha Tinker leading the audience in the two yells which were used for try-out, "More Score" and "Yea Blue."

Charlotte Owens acting as master of ceremonies then called each girl by number onto the stage to do one of the yells. Each girl was dressed in dark bermudas with white long-sleeved blouses. They each wore a number on their shoulder.

After the individual yells, the girls came back in groups to do a yell to be judged for group participation.

Other points which they were judged on were voice, technique, coordination, timing, pep, appearance, posture and personality.

Marsha Maddox, as transfer from Truett-McConnell, when asked how she felt said, "Oh, I was so happy! I didn't realize I would cry if I did get it." Marsha is a physical education major from East Point.

In the midst of big tears from her pretty brown eyes, Pat Anderson was "Thrilled to death and at the same time very honored." Pat is an elementary education major from Swainsboro where she was a cheerleader in high school.

Vivian Blizzard, first alternate, is a freshman from Tennell and Marianne DeLoach is also a freshman from Statesboro.

Judges for the tryouts were Miss Few, dramatics; Miss Remley, art; Mr. King, music; Miss Bell, Mr. White, Mr. Clements, and Mr. Scarse, all of the physical education department, and two members of the basketball team.

The girls who did not make the squad this year, Judy Rittenhouse, Mickie Williams, Jo Ann LeWallen, Ann Gowen, Phyllis Hall and Eleanor Ackerage, will form the organization of a pep club on campus.

According to Miss Pat Shely, cheerleader advisor, "The judging was all very close. All have worked hard and I know the girls who do not get it will have a better chance next year. I think the tryouts went well and I am very satisfied with the results."

Education Conference To Discuss New Look

WASHINGTON, D. C.—“Higher education: Strengthening Quality in the Satellite Age” will be the theme of the thirteenth annual conference on Higher Education planned for March 2-5, 1958, in Chicago.

Paul Bulger, president of the Association for Higher Education, said the conference will follow through on last year's “Bold New Look at the Not Too Distant Future” with a series of 28 discussion groups. They will seek ways to better the quality of education in today's exploding era.

In announcing plans for the conference, G. Kerry Smith, association executive secretary, said, “At this moment we are not ready to meet the urgent demand for more teachers at the college level. The dramatic impact of the Soviet satellites symbolizes how important trained manpower is to our national survival today. This applies to all fields of knowledge, makes education for increasing numbers more necessary than ever, and makes imperative the highest possible quality of instruction.”

Chairman of the conference planning committee is George F. Budd, president of St. Cloud, Minnesota, State College. Larry Dennis, vice chairman for academic affairs, Pennsylvania State University, will serve as chairman of the conference resolutions committee. More than one thousand leaders in higher education are expected to attend.

A new feature of the 1958 conference will be an exhibit of significant books in the field of higher education. Chairman of the committee planning the exhibit is Lewis B. Mayhew, office of evaluation services, Michigan State, and director of research, Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri.

Campus Column

By JOYCE JACKSON

One of the greatest single events of the history of the college took place last week when the Board of Regents passed on a graduate program in education for GTC. We are very proud of this move and feel that it is just a step toward greater things for our school. Although it will only function during summer sessions and Saturday classes at first it is an excellent opportunity for local teachers and we come in as they should have and he urges everyone to grab a camera and take a lot of photos.

There are three main categories pertaining to college life. They are sports, campus life, and humorous snaps. The sports division included intramurals, physical education classes, basketball games, just any kind of athletics.

Campus life includes scenes in the dormitories, classrooms, on campus, parades, dances, and Rat Day.

Anything humorous may be entered as long as it pertains to college life at GTC.

Gift certificates will be awarded so “grab a camera and get a snap.”

are sure the program will expand.

Several GTC students attended the Opera “La Traviata” in Savannah Sunday. It was reported to have been a very enjoyable trip.

Masquers have done it again! The set was magnificent, the acting was superb and the play was hilarious. The Masquers have done something to be proud of.

Tickets are on sale at the Blue Tide for the “Talent Revief” to be presented next Tuesday by the Veterans Club. Hope you will make your plans to attend.

Tuesday is the day for sore arms. But I'm sure you will agree that a sore arm for a day is a small price to pay compared to a crippled body for the rest of your life. The Salk Vaccine will be given at the health cottage from 8:30 to 1:30.

It doesn't take an exchange student long to catch on to American ways. When someone told her he missed her in class that day she replied, “Thank you, but I was asleep.”

A lot of effort and work have gone into the plans for the Starlight Ball so don't miss the “rendezvous” Saturday night at the old gym.

Upset Woes Remain on Campus As Football Favorites Goof Again

By BILLY JACKSON

As football time came around last Saturday afternoon, little was thought of the possibility of Notre Dame defeating Oklahoma, of Mississippi defeating Tennessee, or of Kansas State defeating Missouri, but it did happen. The sad but true tale came disappointingly to all but four of our campus football contestants as forty of our students bit the dust on all three of the above mentioned games as well as some of the others.

Patsy Browning, George McLeod, Roy Pierce, and Dave Esmonde led local pickers this week as they failed on but two of the eleven contests. For these four contestants, the Oklahoma Notre Dame, and Mississippi-Tennessee games were the barriers on the most part. Each of these contests will receive one dollar and twenty-five cents for their winning efforts.

Through these four won the prizes, there were forty other students in the contest with nine persons missing three games, seventeen persons missing four games, eight persons missing five games, and six persons missing on six out of the eleven games.

Please note that contest forms for next week's games must be placed in the hands of contest manager Billy Jackson, or put into the box at the public relations office by Wednesday noon to be accepted. This early deadline is due to the Thanksgiving holidays that begin on Wednesday of next week.

In next week's games, you will note that the trend of upsets throughout can still stand true as most of the games are interstate clashes such as Georgia Tech and Georgia, Mississippi and Mississippi State, Tulane and LSU and Tennessee and Vanderbilt. Anything can happen, so be careful.

Hugh's Who in SPORTS

By HUGH BELCHER

This is the second in a series of articles to introduce to you the students at GTC the members of the 1957-58 Professors basketball squad.

Our first profile is Joe Waters, 6-6, 180-pounder and a sophomore who hails from Statesboro, Georgia. He is a physical education major and was a member of last year's freshman team. Joe played four years of high school basketball (center), football (end), and track (high jump and broad jump). Joe's nick name is J. P. and his hobbies are basketball and track.

Next is Bill Criscillis, also a sophomore from Loyall, Kentucky. He is 6-1, weighs 192 pounds, and is majoring in physical education. Bill played basketball (guard, center), baseball (pitcher, outfield), and football (end), four years at Loyall High. His hobbies are basketball and football. He is playing guard on this year's club.

Our third profile is Don Verstraete, already known to the students as "Whitey." He is 6-3, weighs 195 pounds, a sophomore, and comes from Moline, Illinois. Whitey played three years of high school basketball and baseball. He received honors for making the third team all-state '54, first team all-state '55, and the Converse High School all-America team third string '55. He is a physical education major, is married and has a son, Jeffrey Allen. He is working at the forward position.

The last profile is George McLeod, a 6-3, 211-pounder from Reidsville, Georgia. He is a senior and is majoring in physical education. George is a transfer from South Georgia College where he played basketball and football in 1951-53. He played four years of high school basketball at Reidsville High. George is married and has a girl named Nancy. He plans to coach upon graduation.

Captain — Coach

CAPTAIN RONNIE RUSH AND COACH J. B. SCEARCE

Captain Elect Rush pictured here with Coach J. B. Searce will begin his third season with the Professors as they take on the "Tars" of Rollins College in Rollins on December 6.

Professors Work Hard In Closing Practices

The Georgia Teachers College Professors will hold their 32nd practice session of the 1957-58 basketball season this afternoon and by now several things are evident:

1. The reserve situation is critical.
2. The first five will be as good as, or better than an average GTC team.
3. The outside shooting of Chester Curry, Cary Moore, and Whitney Verstraete could turn out to be the best in school history.
4. The schedule will be the toughest a GTC team has ever played, and the record could drop alarmingly from last year's fine 18-7.

The team opens the season on the road, visiting Rollins on December 6, Stetson on December 7, and Mercer December 9. The locals pry the lid off the home season on Wednesday, December 11 against Pikeville College, a team coached by a 1950 GTC graduate, John Renfro.

If Coach J. B. Searce was starting the season tonight, he'd start Whitey Verstraete and Bob Belton at forwards, captain-elect Ronnie Rush at the center, and Gary Moore and Chester Curry at the guards.

Front line reserves include Walker Cook and George McLeod at forwards, Joe Waters at center, and Bill Criscillis and LeWayne Anderson at guards.

Also in the picture are John Akins and Carl Peaster, both of whom have shown well against the starters in scrimmage sessions.

Squad Plays In Two Tourneys

The Georgia Teachers College Professors' basketball team will make its debut for the 1957-58 campaign in just a few weeks. The Profs have twelve home games, twelve road games, and two tournaments on their schedule. These tournaments are the District NAIA tournament and the McNease State tournament. The NAIA tournament will be played here at GTC again this year. The members of the varsity have been working rather regularly and putting in a lot of practice on their own in order to be ready for their opening game against Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla. on December 6. The Professors will be missing last year's leading scorer, Don Wallen, with 386 points.

Coach J. B. Searce Jr. has won 200 games, lost 65 in 10 seasons as head coach at GTC. Assistant Coach J. I. Clements is in his 9th year and has been head baseball coach for a number of seasons.

LIBRARY ANNOUNCEMENT

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

CHARLOTTE OWENS

MEN'S PLAY

It seems that a number of men have lost interest in intramurals since volleyball has begun. These same men made a special effort to participate in touch football. If we played nothing but football in the intramural program the game would soon become monotonous and we lose interest. The intramural program has been organized by a very capable person, Mr. Jess White, with this thought in mind—to give variation.

Even though we do not enjoy certain games we should think of our team and the other participating men. The team needs the support of its men to win games and points for the all-intramural championship title. We should be considerate of the other men who play our favorite or our best game by participating in their most enjoyable game. If all males who join in these various games had kept these two things in mind about volleyball, the four forfeits in the past two weeks would not have occurred. Both the Bobcats and Leopards have lost all of their entry points (30) because of these forfeits. The fighting team spirit of the teams is lower because of these forfeits. Some men may consider this a "sissy" game but I ask you men to play it before you make up your opinion of the game. If you do, the season may still be successful.

The Wildcats (2-1) and the Leopards (3-0, played a very good game, probably the best one yet, Monday; the Leopards won 2-1. The first game went to the Leopards 16-14, but with the aid of the wind the Wildcats won the second game 15-1. The Leopards won the third game by the same score with this advantage. The victory broke a first place tie with Wildcats for the Leopards.

Contests in shuffle board, table tennis, and paddle tennis were begun this past week for couples of the same unit in the intramural program.

WOMAN'S PLAY

The second round of girls' volleyball has started this week with games in the afternoon and night. The games have been moved inside to the old gym and new gym due to the weather.

In the first games Monday afternoon, the Tigers defeated the iLons 46-26. Ann Massey lead the scoring with 12 points and Jane Jones made 9 points.

The Leopards in a close game Monday nights beat the Wildcats 35-34. High point servers were Carolyn Davis 9, Ann Gowen 9, and Betty Jean Pittman 8. In the other game of the night, the Bears were defeated by the Cougars 42-19. Barbara Faulk was high points werver with 12 points.

Tuesday, the Bobcats dropped their second game of the year to the Panthers 31-23. Lane Hartly led the scoring with 10 points. Sara Dobson scored 8 points.

For their second win in this round the Cougars defeated the Lions 33-30. High points servers were Kay Lovett 14 and Shirley Hodges 9.

The second round has started with much enthusiasm and will determine the girl's volleyball championship.

Girl's tennis intramurals are now into the quarter finals for the singles season. The results of this round must be in by next Monday.

In the top bracket Marsha Maddox will meet Kay Jones. Marsha plays for the Cougars and Kay represents the Bobcats. The other game of this round between Judy McCloy and John Rahn of the Leopards has already been played with Judy giving the Tigers two more points for the win.

The lower brackets shows Millie Jo Bond to play Alice Henry of the Leopards. Millie Jo is assistant manager for the Bobcats. Billie eJan Barrow of the iLons is to play Betty Thaggard of the Tigers.

Entrees show that the Leopards and the Tigers still have two representatives in the tournament. Also the Bobcats have two entrees. The Cougars and the iLons are the only other teams still represented.

Each match consists of two out of three sets. The girls may play their matches at any convenient time with their opponent. Thus far the matches have been played very prompt and in two weeks the Tennis Singles Champion will be decided.

ORGAN GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS

The Georgia Teachers College student chapter of the American Guild of Organists held its first meeting on November 19. The purpose of the meeting was the election of officers and planning various projects for the year. Ruth Odom was elected president of the chapter and Jean Fitzgerald was elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. Robert Buckner is the faculty advisor for the group.

The purpose of the Organ Guild is to become more familiar with church music, both organ and choral. During the year, the members of the Organ Guild plan to visit some of the larger churches in Savannah and see the different types of organs used.

The student chapter here at GTC is affiliated with the Savannah chapter.

The opera was performed by the NBC Opera Company.

Those attending the opera agreed that it was a superb performance. Dolores Wilson, one of opera's most versatile sopranos, thrilled the audience as Violetta. John Alexander, who has triumphed as the star of NBC-TV operas, portrayed Violetta's lover, Alfredo. The magnificent settings, costumes, and lighting contributed to the audience's enjoyment of the opera.

This is the first in the all-star Concert Series. The next will be a concert by the Savannah Symphony Concert on December 4. William Totenburg, an outstanding violinist, will be the guest artist.

VET'S CORNER

By TOM BRYSON

Two weeks ago the Vets Club kicked off a cleanup campaign in an effort to create a responsibility on the part of students of keeping a cleaner campus. Since that time, cans have been placed around the Tide in an effort to provide more accessible means of trash disposal. This area shows a big improvement and it is hoped that all will continue to cooperate. In cooperation with the Vets, the Art Club has contributed posters as reminders of our obligation to maintain a clean campus.

Hearty Appreciation
The Vets Club extends a hearty appreciation for this generous work to the following members: Joyce Nesmith, Sandra Wiggins, Betty Shealy, Betty J. Pittman, John Garrett, June Kite, Nita Flathmann, Virginia Rushin, Jeannette Pittman, and Niniviso Croft. This is a very fine example of one club aiding another in its projects, and with such a fine spirit of cooperation, the various clubs on campus acting in concert, can help to make GTC a better college.

On Saturday evening, November 23, the Art Club is sponsoring its annual Starlight Ball. Based on observation of last year's ball and on the amount of effort put out this year, this should be one of the better dances on campus this year. The theme of the dance will be that of a French cafe and should provide a very enjoyable atmosphere for dancing. Music will be furnished by the combo.

Variety Revue
Last week it was mentioned that the Vets Club Talent and Variety Revue would be held on Tuesday, November 26. However, it has been necessary to change this date to Monday, November 25, same time, same place. Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from any member of the Vets Club. In addition to Dr. Ronald Neil, head of the music department and Mr. Bob Thompson of WWNS, the following have been secured as additional judges: Miss Elizabeth Sorrier, librarian of Statesboro High School, Mr. John Johnson, WWNS, and Mr. Faries, member of GTC faculty. Anyone desiring to compete, please contact some member of the Vets Club prior to Friday, November 22, as this is the last date on which auditions can be arranged. In addition to talent from GTC, additional talent has been obtained from outside for what promises to be a very entertaining show.

Yale Professor Warns Against Curve Grading

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (IP)—Speaking about standards of excellence by which students, citizens or nations may judge themselves, the Rev. Browne Barr of the Yale University Divinity School recently warned against values set by comparison with others which he equated with grading examinations on a "curve."

Quoting from the 12th chapter of I Corinthians, "...and yet show I unto you a more excellent way," he stressed his theme of attempting to live by a higher standard of excellence than merely doing slightly better than others.

If "scholars, prize-winners, honors-graduates, VIP's on campus, judge yourselves by the curve, compare yourselves to your fellows... you will be insufferable strutting egotists," he said. "If the only vision you have this day is a ranch house with a two-car garage and security in your old age, you are grading on the curve," he continued, "and that curve is always eventually downward."

Living "on the curve" should be replaced with the humility of working for "the unattainable standard" through the ethics of love and aspiration, he concluded. "...it is not a matter of one's worthiness but one's willingness to give himself, the only true gift he has, to something or someone quite beyond himself."

George-Anne's Are Now Bound And Found in Massive Volumes

By ANN MANRY

Did you know that you could read a George-Anne published as far back as 1932? That wish came true down in the public relations office. It was in 1932 when the George-Anne began to come out regularly, or monthly in fact. Before that the paper had been printed but very irregularly. George-Anne's in 1932 were saved and have continued to be saved over the years. In 1936 the first bound book of them came out. Now we have five bound books which can be used by anyone desiring to do reference work.

Have you wondered where we acquired the name George-Anne? For a long time a name was sought to call the paper by. Blue and White, Times, and High Flier were some of the suggestions made. None of these seemed to suit everyone. Then someone came up with the idea that since we were practically all from Georgia, why not divide the words Georgians. Divided it became George-Anne, George for the male population and for the female population, Anne. The name seems to have stuck because we still go by it.

CLASSIFIED ADS

These are the classified ads, they have been purchased by students of GTC for the purpose of advertising for something that they wanted. These ads will appear each week, if there are enough interested advertisers on campus. The cost is relatively small, and we can assure you that your ad will be read by the majority of our students. We pride ourselves in having a student newspaper with even the ads being read by all our readers. See Billy Jackson about your next ad.

Thru the Years

By LARRY HYDE

The following are short news items that appeared in the October 1932 George-Anne.

Increased number of boys for fall term this year is considered remarkable. With an increase of 154 students over last fall the total enrollment at the college at this time is 448, by far the largest fall enrollment in the history of South Georgia Teachers College.

The first issue of The George-Anne for this year brings us a printed paper. During the last two years the school paper has been printed occasionally. It is planned for The George-Anne to be published every other week for the remainder of the year. By co-operating with the staff it will be possible to give S.G.T.C. a first class college paper. (By Dean Zach S. Henderson.)

In a picturesque and poetic nutshell here is the career of Richard Halliburton, the romantic, literary adventurer, who appeared here last Thursday evening before a large audience.

The seniors presented as their chapel program last Wednesday morning the farce comedy, "That Rascal Pat." The blunderings of the Irishman, Pat, brought many laughs from the student body.

Work was begun last week on the 1933 REFLECTOR, the college yearbook. Miss Elizabeth Edenfield of Vidalia, has been elected to the editor-in-chiefship of this year's book, and Mr. Eugene Kinney of Temple, business manager.

One of the features of Friday's game was the newly organized Teachers College Band. With sixteen men under the direction of Shelby Monroe the new band has made a remarkable showing. The band was organized here early in October and on the 14th of October made a trip to Milledgeville for the GMC game and one week later paraded at the Norman Park game in Statesboro, giving a concert up town preceding the game.

We, the Geography Class of SGTC are studying geography without any maps. We have to turn in a verbatim notebook, however, which evidently serves the purpose.
