At The Editor's Desk

In recent years if you were a member of a tiny hate organization which has recently reared itself in the South all one had to do was:

"Renounce any and all political allegiances" and give it to the archleader of the organization who had the "full and unrestricted right to do and undo, follow and support (the archleader) in the fight against the Jews with a fanatical Christian zeal that will make men marvel—and to use the Christian battle cry and greeting of 'Down With the Jews'."

In our southland hate groups have long kept in the background. Many of the organizations may not have had as stiff rules as the above but all have one element in common—fanaticism. Such fanaticism led to the event of October 12.

On this day some person or persons threw 40 sticks of dynamite into the Atlanta Temple, then quietly slipped away into the darkness.

Only the lowest, basest form of creature would undertake such a deed. Only the most ignorant would bring shame and dishonor to Atlanta, the city, Georgia, the state, and the Southland, our home. Patriotic as we are, the idea of these sneaks calling themselves the "Confederate Underground," infuriates us.

Some say the characters are Communist inspired. Still others state that this is just a way to bring national disfavor on the South who is at present trying to maintain her stand against integration.

Five men at present are held in Atlanta in connection with the dynamite blasting. As yet we don't know if they are guilty or innocent or if they had a part in the blasting in three other southern cities. We are sure of one fact—sooner or later—the guilty will pay.

Class Teams To Compete Soon

Freshman and sophomore teams will again compete this year on the morning of Rat Day for the trophy awarded to the class scoring the highest number of points in the events.

Eight GTC Students Among First Awarded GVT Scholarships

Among the first students to receive the Georgia Volunteer Teacher Scholarship this year were Bob Corley, a junior from Covington; Roy Mitchell, a junior from Morrow; Graham Anthony, a freshman from Columbus; and Anne Shirley, a freshman from Bowerville.

The purpose of the Georgia Volunteer Teacher Scholarship plan is to help relieve the shortage of qualified teachers in Georgia. This program is directed by a governing board consisting of five representatives of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce, two representatives from the Georgia Education Association (one of whom represents private colleges), one representative from the University System of Georgia, one representative from the State Department of Education, and one representative from the Georgia Association of School Administrators.

The Future Teachers of America Division of the Georgia State Department of Education is in charge of this program.

Pro Certification Required
Students awarded scholarships under this plan may attend any college in the state of Georgia, provided they pursue a program which leads to professional certification.

Scholarships range from $100 to $750 per year. Three methods are provided in which the scholarship may be provided—the donor may designate the student, the donor may select a student from the list compiled by the scholarship committee, and the donor may assign the power of selection to a Scholarship Committee. Eligibility requirements and criteria insure selection of outstanding prospective teachers.

Students receiving scholarships may be obligated to teach one year in the schools of Georgia from each year of scholarship received.

$800 Given Students

A total of $800 was given for students to attend GTC this year. Bob Corley received a $50 Scholarship from the Cartersville Kiwanis and a $100 scholarship from the Rome Kiwanis. Graham Anthony gained a $300 scholarship from the Columbus Kiwanis. A $300 scholarship went to Ann Shirley from the Inter-City Civitan Club of Atlanta. The Inter-City Civitan Club also presented a $150 scholarship to Roy Mitchell.

There are several other students at GTC who received scholarships other than GVTSP scholarships. Graham Anthony was the only person to receive both a GVTSP scholarship and a scholarship from the Future Teacher donors. He received $250 from the First National Bank in Atlanta.

Insurance Company Donates

Donna Long, a junior from Ranger, was presented a $600 scholarship from the Charles

Partial Rat Day Rules Released; More Later

Student Council Buys Records For Dining Hall

The GTC Student Council purchases records to play in the dining hall. A committee composed of Sandra Tindol, Phyllis Hall, and Betty Jean Bryant has been selected to buy "old favorites" and instrumental music records to be placed in the dining hall. This was one of the principal items discussed in the regular meeting of the Student Council held Tuesday, October 19.

A recommendation was made that the orientation program be played under the control of Kappa Delta Epsilon.

The Student Council asks all students or groups from the student body who wish to present an assembly program to give an outline to the Council, and they in turn, will present it to Dean Paul Carroll.

Jane Jackson, Jerry Brown, and Jimmy Herrington were named to head a committee formed for the purpose of organizing a new leadership society on campus.

The final item discussed was that there shall be no smoking in McCroan Auditorium during the Friday night movies.

Although the schedule for Rat Day is not completed, the sophomores would like to let the freshmen know about the clothes and equipment at this time. Schedule of activities and date of Rat Day will be printed later.

Freshmen must learn the Alma Mater and the Rat poem. They must be able to sing or recite them upon the request of any sophomore.

I am a lowly freshman,
I have no poise or grace,
I must respect the sophomores,
To show I know my place.

My place is very low indeed,
I am an humble soul,
I crawl around like a centipede
When I should crawl in a hole.

I am a lowly freshman,
I have no sense of knowledge
To learn respect and discipline,
Is why I came to college.

"ALMA MATER"

Down among the murmuring
pine trees
Where old nature smiles,
GTC holds up a standard
Known for miles and miles.

Chorus

Lift the chorus. Speed it onward,
Ne'er her standard fail,
Hail to thee our Alma Mater,
GTC All Hail.

From the blue and broad
Atlantic,
Balmy breezes blow,
Wafting for GTC's spirit
May she ever grow.

"BURSTING AT SEAMS"

"Vigorous Growth Pressing GTC" According to Atlanta Journal

By HOMER MEADERS

Atlanta Journal Staff Writer

Bursting at the seams with a record 1,122 enrollment, Georgia Teachers College has launched a $2,247,000 building program in an effort to keep up with the demand.

Already under construction are a $600,000 classroom and science building and the Frank I. Williams Building, a dining hall-student center to cost $500,000.

A 169-student girls dormitory building, to cost an estimated $500,000, has been requested from an agency of the Federal Housing Authority. Final approval is expected soon.

CONTRACTS probably will be let January 1 for a $450,000 art and industrial arts building. Now in the budget request stage, the building is described as one of the finest industrial arts centers in the nation.

Along with a record student enrollment, the college this year added 20 new faculty members for a record total of 101.

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, school president, has asked students to bear up under the burden of living three to a room. In two of the three women's dormitories, and both men's dormitories, three in a room is common.

To take care of the demand for graduate work, Saturday classes have been inaugurated this quarter. So far, 69 graduate students have enrolled.

Suggestions for Parking

Our biggest problem on GTC campus this year is that of insufficient parking space. To help combat this menace the Student Council met September 29, 1958, in an official meeting and discussed the situation. A committee consisting of Helen Tanner, Betty Jean Bryant, and Ed McLesky was chosen. They collected information pertaining to this problem and made recommendations for consideration of the entire Student Council on October 6.

They are:

1. That there be one-way traffic from the road at the end of West Hall to the road between Sanford Hall and the library.
2. That a full-time policeman be hired.
3. That stickers be given out and there be designated parking places for day students, dormitory residents, and faculty members.
4. Parking on one side of the street only.
5. That a center line be drawn in the center of the streets.
6. That speed breakers be put in the main drive.
7. That there be "one-side parking only" on the street to the back entrance also.
8. That speed limit signs be put up.
9. That there be a parking lot behind West Hall on the ball field with regular parking lanes marked off.
10. That yellow lines be marked in front of the Ad. Building, reserving two lanes for visitors.

This problem of parking space has faced us since the beginning of this school term; however, it really came to a head about three weeks ago when two of our students had a head-on collision in front of the library.

Steps have been taken and we hope to soon have our problem conquered and one can park without fear of having a fender or etc., removed. Until then we ask everyone to cooperate, and obey every safety rule.

Age of Criticism

That we live in an age full of criticism, there can be no doubt. Everytime we pick up a newspaper or turn on a radio, we come in contact with someone or something being criticized. Whatever it might be doesn't matter, the fact is that criticism does exist.

But isn't this a good situation? Isn't it quite natural to have criticism in a democracy? In a land where people have freedom to do things, won't there always be criticism? If someone never does anything, he will never be criticized for doing it. It is only when someone does something that criticism will arise.

There are at least two kinds of criticism—that which is helpful to the individual criticized; and that which may harm the criticized person. The former kind of criticism is called construction; the latter, destructive.

We, as human beings, need constructive criticism. We are subject to errors and mistakes that oftentimes we don't even know we make. We also have feelings and compassions. Oftentimes we are prejudiced and realize it; but even worse, we are prejudiced and don't realize it. It is an easy matter for those feelings, compassions, and prejudices of ours to take hold of our reasoning; and, before we realize it, we have done or said something that we regret. But to regret something, one must be conscious that he has erred. Oftentimes we do regrettable things without knowing it. When this happens, it is time for someone to apply a little constructive criticism towards the person who has erred.

We should go to that individual with whom we disagree and discuss the issue. We should go to that individual who has erred and tactfully inform the person of the error. In short, we should constructively rather than destructively criticize the individual.

We enjoy many freedoms as American, one of which is the freedom to criticize constructively. Let's use this freedom, not abuse it.

RAT SQUEAKS...

By MIDGE LASKY and PAT JEFFCOAT

Now that cold winter is here, everyone is turning to woolies to keep warm. Every morning at 2 o'clock the rhythmic sound of the radiator clanging awakens the tenants of the different dorms on campus. We know for a fact that many persons rise long enough to give the radiator a "good talking to." It's quite different from home and hard to get accustomed to.

The elections for House Council were held in East Hall last Monday night and from our sources we hear that the competition was stiff. The girls had positive ideas as to whom they wanted to be officers to lead them. For a week in advance, campaigning was being carried on in the dorm and many a girl trudged the area of all three floors politicking for votes! Those election jingles were original if nothing else!

Many of us have completed our last aptitude test which consisted of an hour's listening test. Boy, are we delighted! I bet Dean Morgan and Dean Tyson are happy also. Hmmm??? Now, all that's left is for the results of the tests to hit the campus. These should be fascinating!

Some of the nice sounds which come from East Hall parlor sound very professional. Many a boy and girl have spent a number of good times gathered around the piano just singing! If that piano gets as much use year after year as it has already received, it just may not survive!

Soon, and we're looking forward to the day—RATS will be RATS no longer and with that title (?) taken away, there'll be no need for "Squeaks." Until that glorious day we'll continue to give, as well as to receive, from the upperclassmen.

The sophomores have asked us to caution all freshmen again to wear their rat hats faithfully and to keep in good graces with all sophomores. We have been told that there will be two rat courts on Rat Day this year. The first will be held in the afternoon and will deal with those rats who have been in-subordinate to their superiors.

PLAY NIGHT

Play night is held each Wednesday night from 6:30-8:00. All students are invited to attend. Such activities as table tennis, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, badminton and volley ball are offered for your enjoyment. Remember to bring a friend next Wednesday night to the new gym for Play Nite.

--- Moore Or Less

By WILLIS MOORE

It is reported that a sophomore filled out one of the blanks on the "Dean of Students" card in the following manner: Q. Do you have any brothers or sisters who were in the past or are now students at Georgia Teachers College? A: No, but I have several friends here.

Beginning with the time of our graduation from high school, we have constantly heard terms like these—"You are about to take over our nation... soon the controls of this country will be in your hands... you are our future business leaders, doctors, lawyers, etc..." On every side we are told of the responsibility that will soon be ours.

Someone suggests, "how can the leaders of today expect us to untangle the mess they have gotten us into." This gives reason for us to ask ourselves the question—"How am I preparing myself to do my life's work?" No one person will ever completely change the world. There is an old adage, "A chain is only as strong as its weakest link." Let it not be said of us that we are that weak link.

Did anyone hear the announcement that "students are now registering for the fall siesta."

Someone has said, "The reason that God made woman last was that He did not want any advice while creating man."

A statement was made recently to this effect: "More learning takes place outside the classroom, than inside." One can understand how this may be true. There are many different contacts made on campus in various fields—in our conversation, the material we read, radio and television. All this goes into making up an education and even a personality. However, there are times when we find ourselves going around campus with our mind's eyes closed to wisdom, art, and humor; much of which is original.

In this mad rush for—well, just this mad rush, the "roses" of life may be seen and the "violets," which may be seen only by observing closely, are not seen. A good example is in the post office. Have you ever stopped long enough to read those "juicy" bits of philosophy on the wall beside the "green window"? The next time you go in the Blue Tide, take an extra moment and read those "notices"... they are rich!

A wise one once said, "After all is said and done, more is usually said!"

Our word for the weak—in the form of a daffynishun: Pedestrian—man who thought there were still a couple of gallons of gas left in the tank.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Jack Rudolph was chosen as the United Press International Lineman of the Week for his excellent play against Auburn last week. Fred Braselton was chosen on the Backfield of the Week by UPI. Both are members of the Georgia Tech football squad.

ray's way...

By RAY WILSON

Today's world is a place of strife and confusion. In all this, man strives to become its master and achieve the success that determines him as man.

What is it that gives man this power to become great over tremendous events and odds that are beyond comprehension? One thing, and this alone, is responsible for the success of men. Their goals are achieved because of strong feelings of inferiority.

This is not the exception but the rule. No one succeeds without an inferiority complex. One succeeds in spite of an inferiority complex. Everyone who does, does so because of his inferiority complex. Fortunately everyone has this feeling of inferiority.

One of the most outstanding examples of this highly evasive factor is a man who was out of place in his home, in Congress, on the speaker's platform, and at the bar of justice. His birth was very low and his background somewhat shadowed. All his life he remained acutely aware of this and his social shortcomings.

No person could have started lower and achieved more than Abraham Lincoln who became president of the United States.

How was it possible for a man with this kind of background to achieve so much?

The answer is that all his life the feeling of inferiority was consciously felt. He replaced each minus factor with a plus by using great qualities of mind and heart to rise above them. In only one respect was direct compensation made—education. And in this area he worked very hard to overcome an initial handicap.

Beethoven is another startling example. Afflicted from birth with an organic hearing deficiency, by the time he was twenty-eight he was quite deaf. Four years later he could hardly hear a full orchestra playing. But in that year the "Second Symphony" was composed. This later was surpassed when his deafness became complete, by his "Eroica."

Suppose that we are now aware that everyone has an inferior feeling. What is next? What should be done about it? One solution would be a down-to-earth analysis and the correcting of defects.

But we must remember that just this alone is not enough to attain success. Success comes only when we are prepared to put all our drive and effort behind our assets.

Even with all this effort our goals may not be reached because they were set beyond the limit of our capacity.

FBLA Installs

New Officers

The Future Business Leaders of America Club held its first meeting of the year, Wednesday, October 8, in the Cone Hall recreation room.

Highlighting the program was the installation of officers for the coming year. Ed Drawdy, president, and Bobbie Butler, first vice president, are supported by Buddy Rabitsch, second vice president; Miriam McClain, secretary; and Robert Jarrell, treasurer.

Following the installation ceremonies, the new president welcomed the new faculty members of the business department and the students who compose the membership of the club.

For the remainder of the evening, a variety of entertainment was provided by Billy Sanders, Irma Roach, and Alvin DeWitt. A "hoala" hoop contest and a balloon bursting contest added action to the meeting.

Campus Capers

By MARY ANN HARRELL

I hope everyone is all set for a big weekend. Whether you are going home or staying here on campus, have a good time.

We had several old students visiting over the past weekend. Patricia Redding, Amelia Brown and Cecile Woodard. It is always nice having old friends back for a visit.

We have a brilliant pair of composers on campus. If you here any "real crazy sounds" from the direction of the Music Building, don't be alarmed. Prof. Andy Patterson and Ralph Bailey have joined forces to produce the very finest hill-billy music ever written. If you ever hear a song called the "P and B Special," you will know it originated right here at GTC.

I overheard a conversation in the hall of the Administration Building. Several contestants in the "Ugly Man Contest" were having a heated argument about just which one of them was the ugliest. All I have to say is "May the ugliest man win."

Intramural sports have begun and everyone seems to be having a good time. If any of you haven't been supporting just remember this type of activity is included when anyone your team as well as you might, mentions those words "school spirit." Go out and support your team; even if you can't play, you can lend moral support. I know the team captians and the physical education instructors will appreciate your spirit.

I heard that a certain female clarinet player was "stood-up" by a certain male clarinet player. I won't mention any names, but if the young man doesn't behave himself, his yellow Plymouth convertible will be grounded for a week.

Also, more gossip! Several weeks ago, I told you that Vermelle Pierce and Ralph Bailey were engaged. This is true, but—this isn't the first time. Last year Ralph presented Vermelle a beautiful, genuine, synthetic, dime-store ring. It looked so real Vermelle thought it was the real thing. I wish you could have seen the look on Ralph's face when she accepted it. It was one of those "what do I do now" looks?

The dance last Saturday was sponsored by the Student NEA. The theme was School Daze. The

Sanford Elects Hicks President

Wednesday night, October 15, Sanford Hall elected officers for the coming year. Ray Hicks, sophomore from Griffin, will serve as president, having defeated Olin Presley, a freshman from Covington.

Officers include Richard McGee, a sophomore from Augusta, vice president; and Walter Brock, a sophomore from Lavonia, secretary-treasurer.

Sputniks Forced Rise In Science; Hanner

By ROBERTA HALPERN

"The successful launching of Sputnik by the Russians last year was a new experience for us in America which is causing us to reevaluate our curriculum from the first grade through graduate school, our methods of teaching, the requirements for graduation from high school, the practice of mass social promotion and the time devoted to extra curricular activities," stated Mr. W. S. Hanner, chairman of the division of exact sciences, at GTC.

When asked recently what effect the launching of the Russian satellite had upon the field of science here in the United States, he said, "As a result of this event, there has been an increase both in the quality and quantity of students majoring in science here at GTC during the past year. We are expanding our facilities and staff as rapidly as possible to meet this added demand," Mr. Hanner added.

Mr. Hanner believes that the department will probably "out-grow" the new classroom and science building, now under construction, before they are able to become established in it. The basement of the building will be devoted to storage rooms and experimental laboratories. Exact sciences will also occupy the second floor of the building.

The department has recently added the courses of genetics, parasitology, biological micro-techniques, and modern physics to its curriculum. For the future Mr. Hanner anticipates the addition of physical chemistry, biochemistry, and physiological chemistry. Other possible additions may include the offering of a major in chemistry and the establishment of a geology department.

"We are not totally behind the Russians," Mr. Hanner declared, "in many respects we are ahead of them." Mr. Hanner believes that we can remedy the present situation in education if we emphasize the need for more sound basic math, science and history courses; however, not minimizing the many other subjects that help produce rounded citizens. Mass social promotion, Mr. Hanner holds, is a serious detriment to the educational system.

Mr. Hanner concluded that the recent Sputnik scares have definitely created an increased interest in science across the nation, which in turn is better preparing our young people to compete in today's changing world of science.

KDE will be selecting new pledges to join their sorority this quarter. The girls selected must be either junior or seniors and maintain a four-point average or above. Qualities of leadership, character and scholastic achievement are main points on which the new members will be selected.

Seven pledges were formally initiated into the organization Monday night at a special initiation service. They included Bobbie Butler, Linda Sikes, Jan Powell, Barbara Williams, Betty Sue Mashburn, Wanda Broome, Frankie Booth and Miriam McClain.

Kappa Delta Epsilon will sponsor one of the Saturday night dances jointly with their brother organization, Kappa Phi Kappa, in the near future.

At present KDE along with KPK are assisting with freshman orientation classes which are held each Tuesday and Thursday at 10 o'clock. Other members assisting with these activities include Ruth S. Odum, Martha Brantley Bacon, Barbara Faulk, Ellen Sumner, Sara Miller, and Linda Hardie.

Miss Taylor from the business department is director of club activities this year.

Walker speaks of Africa To Wesley Found.

The Wesley Foundation met last Sunday evening with the MYF in room 8 of the Marvin Pittman High School.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Dave Walker, lay missionary of the Belgian Congo. Mr. Walker spoke about the educational system and marriage customs of the Belgium Congo.

Further plans were made to attend the Methodist Student Movement Conference. Following this discussion, the group adjourned until the next meeting.

Hartsfield Heads House Council For East Hall

The election of the House Council of East Hall was held Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Before the election began Dean Irma Morgan gave a short, informative speech on "The Choice of House Officials" and "What Makes a Good House Officer."

Louise Dominy presided as representative of the nominating committee. The officers of East Hall House Council are as follows: president, Elaine Hartsfield; vice president, Mariben Mikell; and secretary-treasurer, Margaret Crawford.

The hall monitors are Pat Murphy, second floor, A wing; Coleen Coston, second floor, B wing; Page Dampier, second floor, C wing; Becky Boulineau, third floor, A wing; Patsy Hart, third floor, B wing; and Louise Dominy, third floor, C wing.

Danayn Lee was named home management chairman and Peggy McDonald, social chairman.

God's Message

By FRANKLIN PIERCE

This is the second devotional in a series of four on "The Four Things God Wants You to Know." The first article or devotional was "You Need to be Saved." This week we want to think along with the scriptures proving to us that "YOU CAN NOT SAVE YOURSELF." John 14:6, "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

Not too long ago I visited Washington, D. C. and as I walked along the streets of that great metropolis I could see signs reading "Bomb Shelter." As I saw these signs my mind began to think of those people who have shelters in their lives... shelter where they think that they can hide from reality and from God. Some seek their shelter by consuming beverages that make them think that their life is worthwhile. To those people I ask, "To which is your life most worthwhile—to your children, to the church, or to God.

The quicker we all wake up to the fact that there is no shelter from God, then christianity will have conquered one of its greatest battles. If you want your life to be a full, happy life, then take this advice: He who takes and never gives, exists long but never lives.

Let's pray this coming week for those who are hiding from God, for those who are sick, and for those who need to know that Jesus is the way, the truth and life.

Trinity Church Welcomes All To Services

Trinity Episcopal Church, Statesboro, welcomes all Episcopalians and all those interested to attend services either at 11:30 a. m. or 8:30 p. m. on Sunday, and to join Rector John Wooley on Sunday evening for a meeting of the "Inquirers' Class."

The discussions that take place in the "Inquirers' Class" deal with various doctrines of the church, and one is given an opportunity to learn more about religion.

"What impresses you most about college life?"

Gene Grayson—The thing that impresses me most is the friendliness of the students. If you don't make the best of grades, I'll at least make some friends.

Joey Holley—I like college life, but I don't like the classes. I love the food and the "moonlight swims," and the girls.

Juanda Newborn — I don't think anything has really impressed me, but I like college life. I enjoy being on my own for the first time, and mixing with people of all types.

Rick Osburn—Dormitory life is something entirely different. Being able to come and go at our own discretion is perhaps the outstanding feature of college life, also the friendliness of the students makes you feel as if this has been your home all your life.

Janet Lodesky—I like being on my own and coming and going as I like, going home is my last thought. I love the food.

Jerry Bennett — The friendly people that I meet everyday, and the informal atmosphere that surrounds the campus is what impresses me most at G. T. C.

Peggy Parks—It's amazing to know that Georgia has so many towns I didn't even know existed; everyone is from a different place.

Judy Mock—I think the teachers are very cooperative and understanding in their relationship with the students.

Alva Edenfield—I like dorm life and the new found freedom I have, and meeting so many different people from so many different places.

Jim Brandon — I like the friendly atmosphere of the campus, the food, the people, and trying to remember everybody's name. It's great sport!

FRENCH CLUB WIENER ROAST

The French Club in connection with the German Club will start this year's activities off with a wiener roast Wednesday, October 29, 1958, at the Statesboro Community Center at 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

All students who took French summer quarter are eligible for French Club membership. All students interested in languages are invited.

Pat Shely Wins Golf Tourney

Miss Pat Shely, assistant professor of physical education, won the second annual Forest Heights Ladies Invitation Tournament Wednesday with a three-over-par 79.

Miss Shely defeated her nearest opponent, Mary Thompson, all-Marine champion from Parris Island by 15 strokes.

The three-time winner of the Lexington, Kentucky city championship shot a 39 on the front nine and used 40 strokes on the back nine. The entire match was played in a hard rain storm.

Carnival Will Be Sponsored By the 'T' Club

The "T" Club will sponsor the annual Halloween Carnival Wednesday, October 29, at the new gym. The big event of the evening will feature "Tiger" Mock who will "grapple" with a few select contenders. The Horror House, which features "Bull" Berryhill should prove very exciting. Other activities include the cake walk, rock and roll show, Coke bottles stand, penny throwing and a few more.

Officers for this year's club

Profs Begin Practice Searce's 12th Year

The Georgia Teachers College Professors should be tougher on the hardwood this, if returning lettermen and promising freshmen mean anything.

Veteran coach J. B. Searce Jr., beginning his twelfth year at the Professor helm, last year experienced his first losing season since coming to GTC in September, 1947. His 1957-58 team won 12 and lost 17, but won eight of their last 12 starts.

Seven lettermen return, reserve forward Bobby Belton and reserve guard LaWayne (Porky) Anderson graduated. The leading scorers, Chester Curry and Don (Whitey) Verstraete will both return and have been named co-captains.

Curry, a 6-2 junior from Wheelwright, Ky., scored 511 points last year to lead the team in scoring. Verstraete, a 6-3 junior from Moline, Ill., was next with 496 and took off 346 rebounds to lead in that department. Verstraete made the Atlanta Journal all-state team, and, along with Curry, was selected on several all-opponent teams.

Forward George McLeod, a 6-4 senior from Reidsville, will be able to play only the first eight games before his eligibility expires. A junior transfer from Arizona State, a 6-4 forward Denny Burau from Moline, will become eligible on January 24.

Other lettermen returning for the GTC varsity, and four yearlings have clinched varsity squad berths off their performance during the first two weeks of practice. Paul Ross, a 6-1 guard, Ashley, Ky.; 5-11 guard Ray Hassett, Harrisburg, Ill.; 6-4 forward Danny Luckett, Hutsonville, Ill.; and 6-5 center Carlton Gill, Richmond Hill, all looked exceptionally good.

Hicks' Highlights

By GARLAND and RAY HICKS

Writing a sports column without any GTC football heroes to praise, has placed the sportswriters of the George-Anne at a disadvantage during the present season. The usual chore for the college sports page is to see that the boys got plenty of praise and encouragement. This not only helps the team, but gives the writers plenty of material for their weekly column. At the present we do have football on the campus but it is a physical education course, and the only game the boys will play will be against each other.

Looking over the list of boys that are taking the class I noticed that there are quite a few that have seen action on the gridiron before. The junior colleges around the state are well represented in this group. Buck Cravey, Pete Henderson and Talmadge Rimer played at Middle Georgia College. Travis Davis and Bill Green saw action at Georgia Military College, with Davis going on to play at Austin Peay State Teachers College (Tenn.) one year. Floyd Smith played at South Georgia.

Ralph Turner and Garland Hicks are assisting Coach Clements with the class. Turner played at Florida State University before receiving an injury. Hicks saw action at the University of Florida and with the Norfolk Navy Tars before receiving a knee injury.

Well, it happened again. John "Sonny" Holland won the football contest for the second straight week. I wonder if anyone else entered.

Music Potpourri

by KITTY KELLY

Hi! First of all, I'd like to correct a typographical error made by some mischievous elf in last week's column: the Women's Music Fraternity on this campus is Sigma Alpha Iota (SAI) not SAS! And you can depend on the accuracy of the above statement as the writer of this epistle is a minor officer and active member of above said fraternity.

This weekend will be numbered among the most outstanding of the year on SAI's calendar: for it marks the annual visit of Gamma Theta's Lian Sandbloom WilderSndence Province president, Mrs. Lillian Sandbloom Wilder. Gamma Theta is located in Lambda Province which includes Alabama and Florida, as well as Georgia. (And may I add here that your campus and mine boasts one of the four chapters in Georgia, the other three being on the campuses of the University of Georgia, GSCW, and Agnes Scott. So there!)

This weekend visit is for the purpose of setting up the year's agenda of activities in SAI on campus. Highlighting the weekend schedule is a musicale featuring the girls of Gamma Theta, and a banquet to be held at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen.

But forsooth! There are those of our members who are taking themselves afield to perform. The Sweetheart campus will be represented in the Savannah Symphony this season by Joe Waters—of the brass section, on trombone; and David Powers, also of the brass section, on tubs. How's that?

Mr. Patterson, instructor in woodwinds and strings will take two groups (one brass and one woodwind) to Portal High School this week. The groups are composed of: Jack Willis, Denzil Sellers, David Powers, and Charlie Griffen, brass; Barry White, Reggie Jackson, Bobby Godwin, and Ruth Odom, woodwinds, will demonstrate their instruments as a part of a campaign to promote interest in a beginning music (band) program in the Portal public schools.

Dr. Hooley is regional piano chairman for MENC this year, and in that capacity attended a meeting of the planning board of the Southern Region at Athens, October 17-19. At the meeting, the board planned the activities for the regional meeting slated for April 2-7 in Roanoke, Virginia.

Actually, there's much more news in the making, but this is about all I'm gonna let you in on this week. So tune in again next week—Channel KK!

Hope you attended the student recital last Wednesday night.

000 has already been completed to house all the operation and maintenance supplies for the college.

Within the past few years the college has added a second boys dormitory, Cone Hall. And for one of the few times in history, boys outnumber girls by about 60 students. The boys total 556, the girls 497, with 750 of the total living in campus dormitories.

In just four years, the college has increased its enrollment by nearly 100 per cent.

The nearly even boy-girl enrollment may influence the unofficial nickname GTC now possesses — "The Sweetheart campus." The September issue of the school alumni quarterly listed 42 marriages or engagements between students or recent graduates.

 WHILE NEW construction is underway, a new room is being installed on the school gymnasium and the Post Office-Little Store, favorite campus meeting spot, is being moved to a new location to make room for a classroom building.

Summer enrollments, when the campus is teeming with teachers come back to work toward higher degrees, has been more than 1,000 before. But this is the first year the regular fall quarter has seen more than 1,000 year-round students knocking at GTC doors.

Still in the future "dream" stage, are a fifth woman's dormitory and a third one for men. If enrollment continues to rise at the present rate, both will be needed within a very few years.

This Week's Bookniks

By HASSIE McELVEEN

"The Story of the Olympic Games" Revised Edition, by John Kieran and Arthur Daley.

This useful book will delight sports enthusiasts. It is a history of the Olympic Games from the Greek games in 776 B. C. to the 1956 games in Melbourne. It contains a complete record of Olympic champions in all events from 1896 to 1956 and of the countries which these champions represent.

The story of the winners of these Olympic games is one of drama, humor, and clarity in detail. It is written with perspective and with authority. The broad and vital human interest in the story makes it a delightful book.

"Georgia Birds"

By Thomas D. Burleigh

The primary objective of this book has been to make available what is known directly about the bird life of Georgia. The author felt it necessary to give detailed descriptions of the species included in the book since that material can be obtained elsewhere, and only outstanding field characteristics, those most readily apparent to the observer, are mentioned.

Mr. George Miksch Sutton, one of the outstanding bird artists of the country, painted the color plates which are excellent. In the 35 plates he has included the most characteristic and distinctive birds found in Georgia. Mr. Sutton spent a great deal of time at Sherwood plantation near Thomasville, Georgia, where he was able to study the birds and do most of his painting.

"Why Teach"

D. Louise Sharp, ed.

Dr. Sharp feels that "criticism and controversy over education and the drawbacks of the teaching profession" have been given entirely too much attention in recent years. She is very concerned about the shortage of good teachers and asked outstanding men and women in the professions, industry, religions, politics, etc. to submit articles concerning their views on the influence of teachers on their own lives or the satisfaction to be derived from teaching as a profession—the result is this book. It consists of about 120 short essays by such people as Helen Keller, Mary Ellen Chase, Francis Parkinson Keys, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Chester Huntley and many others. "Why Teach" might help convince those people who are undecided vocationally that their place is in the classroom.

Glenn Clower Attains Enviably Past Record

By ANN MANRY

Georgia's 6,000 Future Teachers discovered an able-bodied leader this year. He is Glenn Clower, a junior physical education major at GTC, having recently transferred here from South Georgia College.

Glenn is from southwest Georgia, Morgan to be exact. Even when I knew him in high school he was already disproving the statement "all brawn, no brains." In sports and studies alike he left his mark.

Glenn was elected to head the Georgia Student National Education Association this year after having served as vice president of the organization the preceding year.

An enviable record was set by him the past two years at South Georgia. He was vice president of the Student Council, vice president of the Footlight Club which is the dramatic club, captain of the baseball team, photographer for the annual and paper staff—to name a few. Some of the titles he racked up were "Boy of the Month,"

Glenn, a sports fan, plans to go out for the baseball team.

He had an enjoyable time in Cleveland, Ohio this past summer, June 21-July 4. Mrs. S. C. Patterson, the state FTA advisor accompanied him. Among the notables he heard were Doug Edwards, Margaret Meads, Drew Pearson, and Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida.

When I asked him his pet peeve I immediately received the answer, "Grouchy people."

His leisure time includes singing, water skiing, and photography. And I might add, going to see a certain girl at Douglas every chance he gets. "Most Talented Sophomore" (he sings too), "Best Personality Boy," "Mr. Friendly College" and to climax his last year at

Vet's Corner

By JIM WALDEN

"Hi, youall!"

Driving around the campus the other day, I ran into a problem that most students on this campus eventually face, a problem that will increase as the enrollment at our school increases, a problem that shows lack of foresight and planning. Did you ever try to find a parking place at 9:30 or at 11:15? I did. Really, it's a nerve-wracking experience.

You drive to the place you are going, and then you look and search for a place to park. And all the time, you're further and further away from where you wanted to go. Finally, you give up in disgust and try one of our parking lots. We have four of these. One is between West Hall and the Alumni Building, another is between Anderson Hall and East Hall, a third is the Marvin Pittman playground, the fourth is between Sanford and Cone Hall. But if you really need a parking place you can use the fifth (behind the library.) Now then, if you come right down to it, it all seems kinda silly. Why don't we realize that we're going to have problems like this and eliminate them in advance. Maybe that's because we've already made our mistake. But wait, can't we profit by our mistakes? I've heard a rumor that there are about 400 acres in the GTC campus. Yet all the buildings are located in one small area. Why don't we take our problems into consideration when we build new buildings and provide ample parking space as part of our plans. Wouldn't that solve many of our problems?
