SNEA Plans Big 'Shindig' Sat., October 18

Plans were made at the first meeting of the Student NEA for the new school year held last Tuesday night for a real "shindig" in the Alumni Building on Saturday night, October 18, according to Gene Scarborough, president of the local unit.

Sixty-three students attended the initial meeting and initiated plans for an active year ahead. Among other items discussed was the necessity of moving the location of the meetings to other quarters for future meetings in order to accommodate the large enrollment in the chapter. The next regular meeting will be held in McCroan Auditorium.

McLendon, Brown, Hall, Jackson Are Installed As Student Council Officers

CHARLES MCLENDON

JERRY BROWN

PHYLLIS HALL

JANE JACKSON

Monday, October 7, 1958, marked the installation of the Student Council of Georgia Teachers College for the year 1958-59. Those installed were Charles McLendon, president; Jerry Brown, vice president; Phyllis Hall, secretary; Jane Jackson, treasurer; Sandra Tindol and Carl Williams, senior representatives; and Betty Jean Bryant and Jimmy Herrington, sophomore representatives.

Charles, the new president and chairman of the executive committee, is a junior history major from Cairo, Georgia.

Jerry Brown, a junior physical education major from Manchester, Georgia, is vice president and chairman of the social committee.

Phyllis Hall, a sophomore from Augusta, Georgia, is secretary for the coming year.

Jane Jackson, who will serve as treasurer and chairman of the financial committee, is a senior elementary education major from Crawfordville, Georgia.

Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, Dean of Students, was in charge of the morning's proceedings. The program was begun by Ray Wilder, a Methodist ministerial student, who charged the Student Council and study body with a reading from the second chapter of Proverbs.

Billy Sanders rendered special music, "Roll Jordan Roll," and was accompanied by Dr. Ronald J. Neil, head of the music department, at the piano.

Council's Purpose Given

Dean Tyson then gave the purpose of the Student Council: "The purpose of this organization shall be to render maximum service in promoting the general well-being of the college community. This may be accomplished by providing authorized leadership in all functions concerning the student body other than classroom activities and problems of discipline and administration. These functions shall include, but not be limited to, such activities as:

1. Supervision of student elections.
2. Planning and executing college social activities.
3. Planning and executing, in conjunction with the college administration, such events as freshman Orientation Week, the athletic program, the artists series, and similar events."

Dr. Tyson then pointed out the fact that the average college student spends from three and one-half hours in class, and from two, to six hours in study. The remaining hours of the day are left for the student's social life.

Member's Responsibility Given

He then pointed out the responsibility of the members of the Student Council—to have courage enough to act on their own convictions and to be humble and serve the students.

Charles responded to the introduction and reminded the students that the Student Council is for their benefit, and the only way it can be successful is to have the students' cooperation and support.

Physics Course Is Now Offered On Network TV

Monday, October 6, network TV began Continental Classroom. This is the first time that a course of this magnitude, physics, has been offered on a national educational TV basis.

The course is taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, professor of physics at the University of California, Berkeley.

Behind this bold experiment is America's need for more and better qualified teachers. Thus the central theme is to furnish teachers of physics and science a better background in physics. Also playing a leading part is the growing demand that America is not meeting technical demands of the missile age.

Teachers and others who are qualified can earn college credits by registering at one of the 150 colleges taking part in this program. Those in this area can register here at GTC. The deadline is October 13, and 5 college hours are earned for each term.

Continental Classroom's physics will be divided into two courses. The first, classical physics, deals with kinematics (motion), light, electricity, magnetism, and dynamics. Here stress will be placed on the fundamentals. The second course, atomic physics, will strive to present the atomic and

Enrollment Increases 10% Over Last Fall

Parasitology Now Offered In Biology Dept.

Beginning this quarter, a new course is offered in the G.T.C. biology department — parasitology. Dr. Burton J. Bogitsh, a graduate of the University of Virginia with a major in parasitology, will teach this class. Three laboratory meetings will be held each week, and routine parasitology will be done during the first month. The students of this course will make several surveys in Bulloch County. Among the different surveys to be run are those on human beings, birds, fish, and frogs.

Special research work will be done in placing the larvae stage of parasites in new born chickens. In a few weeks, the larvae will be removed from these young chicks. This will be the first time that a research of this type has been completely done.

Among the common parasites which will be studied in this class and which are found in this section of the country are the taenia saginata, the common beef tapeworm; the taenia solium, the pork tapeworm; the fasciola hepatica, the sheep liver fluke; and the endamoeba histolytica, a gastro-intestinal disease.

This course will enable students to become better acquainted with those parasites which cause disease and with those parasites which are present, but not harmful to the animal in which they live. Students will learn where these parasites are found in various animals through actual experimentation.

Another outstanding feature of this course is the fact that it has some of the newest equipment on campus. Five dissecting microscopes and a microtone machine have been purchased especially for this class.

With registration officially over Monday, October 6, the total enrollment now stands at 1,054 undergraduates.

For the fourth time in the last 12 years the boys outnumber the girls on the GTC campus. Of the total, 557 are boys and 497 are girls. To accommodate the increase, three women are now rooming together in both Lewis and East Halls, as well as on the first floor of West Hall.

For the first time 27 rooms in Cone Hall, a men's dormitory, contain three men to a room. This is also true of a few rooms in Sanford Hall.

The total enrollment is a new record, representing an increase of about 10 per cent over last fall's previous record mark of 914.

Enrollment by classes:
	Boys	Girls	Total
Freshmen	165	171	336
Sophomores	122	115	237
Junior	147	108	255
Senior	123	103	226
	557	497	1,054

There are 750 students living in dormitories, the remaining 304 are day students. There are 393 girls housed in the girls' dormitories, and 357 men in the men's dormitories.

For the first time Saturday graduate classes are being offered, the initial enrollment being 69. Adding undergraduates and graduates together, the enrollment is 1,122, an increase of 208 over last year.

Mat. Dances Will Be Given By Student Council

The Matinee Dances to be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights will be sponsored by the Student Council. Master of ceremonies will be Peggy and Harry Cowart. The dances will feature the top 25 new records of the day.

Tolerance Demands Admiration

The ability to tolerate the ideals and beliefs of others is one of the most distinguishing traits of the man who is a man. The individual who is so saturated with his own ego and so wrapped up in his own little world that he neither respects or attempts to understand those around him will soon discover that he is indeed in a world by himself. In fact, he will soon realize that others have no desire to enter his shell of egotism and would prefer that he stay within the confines of the shell himself.

Recently, on this campus, the most sacred of American freedoms was assailed, belittled, scoffed at, and made light of in general. The question of holding a nightly devotion in one hall was being discussed. The first reaction from those who opposed it was one of indignation. The question was posed as to why such a service should be held at all. The next protest was raised because of the location proposed for the devotion. It seems that the television set is located in the same place, and fifteen minutes at night would interrupt no less than twelve hours of opportunity for viewing the entertaining contraption.

Now absolutely nothing need be said against or for the stand taken by either faction concerning the devotion. Each is certainly, and by all means, entitled to its own beliefs. However, each group should wake up to the fact that there is such a thing left as individual rights and try to learn, be it a bitter dose or not, to tolerate without ridicule.

First of all both parties should have one realization in common: religion (regardless of how odious it may seem to some) is here to stay. The second fact that should be common knowledge is that there have always been agnostics, cynics (and atheists, if you please) who have badgered the religion (Christianity). They have always passed on into obscurity while the religion marches on for the ages. Certainly we as Americans, living in a country founded primarily because of an intense desire for freedom of worship, should have learned by this time to be tolerant of the beliefs of others, regardless of our own.

It's every man's desire to belong, to be respected, to be admired as a man, and toleration demands admiration.

Views on Education

According to Webster, education is "the act of developing and cultivating mentally or morally."

Robert M. Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago, defines education as "the cultivation of the intellect." He further states that education can be gained through reading the "100 great books."

John Dewey, the "father" of progressive education, explains that education is a process of development, of growth.

Education might therefore be defined as a period of growth in which one develops mentally and morally.

Today, education means different things to different people. There is traditional, "middle of the road," and progressive education. Actually, it does not matter what one's definition of education is, as long as he seeks to understand and know about education.

The Bible points out the fact that one should "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

Today, as we begin another year at GTC, we have the opportunity to become educated by study through classes, outside work, and campus activities and organizations.

Now is the time to study!

Letters Wanted

Any student who disagrees or doesn't completely approve of The George Anne's editorial policy is asked to write a letter to the editor. This, we think, is the only way the George-Anne staff can find out how the GTC students feel about present issues.

ray's way...

By RAY WILSON

Space satellites whirl in space, new speed records are being set as passenger jets make their first flights, and political parties urge reform. Even with all this change, an even greater one is taking place... our intellectual revolution.

Students today seem to have a desire to use their mind for satisfaction in intellectual thought, rather than the "mere passing grade" of the past.

What causes things to happen? This question is now asked rather frequently. Contrast this with the former acceptance of facts put forth by professors. Our libraries seem perhaps a bit more crowded. Histories are being read as if people had suddenly realized their existence. The sciences are being revised and intensified to meet new demands. Languages are looked upon in a new light. Latin, long vanished from some schools, is once again in a place of high esteem. Philosophy, formerly offered in only the larger universities, is now integrated into many a college curriculum.

One can remember when a person who devoted considerable time in academic realms was regarded only as an "egg-head." People of this caliber now are looked upon with favor and as widely sought as the "coveted" sports star.

How does this affect Georgia Teachers? Look around and see how many are meeting the demand for better qualified teachers? You will find this; more GTC students than ever before are carrying heavy academic loads and keeping up with extra-curricular activities also.

Do you believe that one should go through college in the don't care manner? Now is the time to settle down and put forth the effort to make your college career a successful one. Some say that the time spent studying and keeping up with extra-curricular activities is not worth the effort. Is this true? No it is not. There is sufficient time for both if we only make the effort.

By the utilization of time, formerly spent "goofing off," you will find that the accomplishment only dreamed of before can be yours.

The last issue of Life Magazine hit home a point which I think warrants some careful consideration—the importance of foreign language in the curriculum.

Some educators think that it is time wasted to burden young children's minds with anything as solid as a foreign language. But for the second straight year youngsters in the fourth and fifth grades in a Salt Lake City school are disproving this fact. The language they're learning is a brain-twister—Russian. This new language program was begun when parents desired more muscle in the curriculum.

A well known point has been proven by learned educators. First, we lag behind in our language program because we wait until high school or college to introduce a student to a language. At this age we find it twice as hard to learn the rudiments of a language. Recent tests have shown us just how far the U. S. lags behind other countries.

What are we doing to bring up these standards? Two thousand U. S. schools are now teaching a foreign language and many others are adding language in the elementary schools each year. TV courses, now the latest in teaching methods, are offering classes for youngsters and adults alike. For example, a TV station in Oklahoma City offers a course in Russian three times a week for grade school children.

This sounds like the U. S. will soon surpass any other country in learning foreign languages doesn't it? Yet the U. S. Department of Education proposes that we offer 10 additional years. Or in other words, children would study a language each year they are in school. We still have a long way to go.

LETTER

To One Lonely Freshman:
Dear Pal Rat,

By way of a thick grapevine and by the rise of quite a few "blue tops" I see that your note of distinction is here—the RAT HAT.

I remember this time last year so well. Girls, how does that blue hat go with your lovely new green sweater and skirt?—great, huh! For you boys, I guess it's no worse than the baseball cap that your mother was always fussing about and you wore everywhere but to bed at night.

Now dear freshman, I want to turn the page and talk to you on a buddy to buddy basis. Are you homesick? Do you sit and wonder if you have made a wise choice? Such thoughts as these are only human nature so don't concentrate on it too much. A shuffled puzzle will always fit together—our problem is collecting the parts. All will take time and loads and loads of the great trait of patience.

Experience, such as you are going through now, broaden our knowledge of individuals and too they broaden us intellectually. This is something that will be useful everyday throughout our lifetime.

With best wishes for a great year in mind and keeping my fingers crossed for you, I am,

Your friend,
A Sophomore

RAT SQUEAKS...

By MIDGE LASKY and PAT JEFFCOAT

The time has come for all good "Rats" to wear their rat caps, by decree of the sophomore class! Wednesday evening at supper an announcement came over the loudspeaker in the cafeteria that all "Rats" are now able to purchase their rat caps at the Blue Tide. So as good little "Rats" should we set out on that demanded journey.

Classes began Friday, September 25, and now we can truly believe that the term Freshman not only entails fun and independence but work, work, and more work. It is interesting to note how very different these college classes are from those of high school.

On Tuesday, September 30 the churches of Statesboro sponsored picnic suppers to welcome all the new freshmen to their congregations. The hula hoop contests were riotously funny and the winners were mighty proud of their grand prizes—giant, all-day lollipops! The relay races and guessing games completely tested our skills and helped to digest the delicious and abundant food we ate.

Now that we've been in college for nearly three weeks everything seems to be swinging along and we're getting to be real veterans at budgeting our time and money.

We know for a fact that the girls' rooms in East Hall are beginning to take on the appearance of home; since all the new accessories such as bedspreads, rugs, and curtains have been added. As for the boys' dorms we have no way of knowing!

All freshmen are facing another new ordeal on Tuesday, October 7. This will be the day for the first of nine meetings which are called orientation. We have only an inkling of what lies ahead.

Each week "Rat Squeaks" will try to give you an insight into the minds of 336 freshmen at GTC.

Vet's Corner

By JIM WALDEN

The Veterans Club extends a sincere welcome to all freshmen, transfer students, and new faculty members. To those of you who are now here at Georgia Teachers College, this column is primarily of special interest to veterans and is directly connected with the Veterans Club on campus. This organization is for all veterans and exists to provide a means of social and recreational activity and to integrate the veterans as a group, with the other activities on campus. All new veterans are cordially invited to attend the next meeting which will be held at 6:30 p. m., November 3, in the Administration Building.

Our first meeting was held last Monday night at which time we elected officers for the coming year. They are: Ed Bailey, president; Garland Hicks, vice president; Robert McKenzie, secretary-treasurer; Ray Hicks and John Holland, masters-at-arms.

Our speaker for the evening was Ben Hodges, Veterans Administration co-ordinator for Bulloch County. He urged all veterans to join the American Legion and asked us to drop by his office in the courthouse if we have any problems.

Plans for the Ugly Man's Ball were discussed and November 1 was the date set for this gala event. One restriction was made about who may enter the contest. Each candidate must be sponsored by a club. So get on the ball, fellows, the prizes in this contest will be well worth your time, and who knows, maybe you'll be the lucky winner.

KDE Assists With Orientation

Members of Kappa Delta Epsilon will be assisting Kappa Phi Kappa and faculty members with freshman orientation classes this year.

Ruth Sutton Odum is president of the Kappa Delta Epsilon Sorority. Assisting her in her leadership are Ellen Sumner, secretary, Barbara Faulk, treasurer, and Martha Brantley Bacon, historian.

An impressive pledge ceremony was held last Thursday night introducing new pledges into the sorority. They include Frankie Booth, Wanda Broome, Bobbie Butler, Betty Sue Mashburn, Miriam McClain, Jan Powell, Linda Sikes, and Barbara Williams. Following the meeting refreshments were served by Linda Hardie and Sara Miller.

Kappa Delta Epsilon is a professional education sorority to help promote the cause of education by fostering a spirit of fellowship, high standards of scholastic attainment, and professional ideals among its members.

Miss Helen Taylor is the sponsor of the organization.

New Hungarian Stamp Issue Now at P.O.

The Collegeboro post office is selling the newest issue of stamps which is very dear to one member of the GTC faculty. The faculty member is Dr. Zoltan J. Farkas, a native Hungarian. The newest issue of the "Champion of Liberty" stamps pictures Jajos Kossuth (1802-1894).

Until 1918, Hungary was a member of the Austrian-Hungarian Empire but the Austrian emperors did not respect the rights of the freedom loving Hungarians. Many Hungarian patriots lost their liberty as well as their lives. Kossuth was such a Hungarian champion of liberty. He was imprisoned in his thirties, and he used the years to learn English. Since his favorite author was Shakespeare, he was the only living person known who spoke with a Shakespearean accent.

Kossuth went into exile first in Turkey, and then he came to the United States of America in order to ask for military help for the cause of Hungary's liberty. He departed on April 27, 1852, in Boston, Mass. and was welcomed with full military honors. He went on a tour of the USA, made several speeches and spoke in Congress. A couple of his speeches were published in American textbooks, and he has two statues in this country one in New York and one in Cleveland, Ohio. But he could not receive the desired military help for his cause.

The Kossuth stamps were issued on September 19, 1958, with very interesting formalities in the presence of Postmaster General Summerfield, a representative of the Secretary of State, several senators and representatives and members of the American-Hungarian Association. The Kossuth stamps have received a particular actuality by the sad fact that the latest Hungarian bid for freedom was brutally put down by the Communist Russian Army just two years ago. The freedom loving Hungarian nation suffers the most cruel and bloody tyranny. Hungarians on either side of the Iron Curtain pray that Kossuth's spirit may bring the long desired liberty for Hungary.

Campus Capers

By MARY ANN HARRELL

Since this is the first appearance of "Campus Capers" this year, I'd like to explain that this is where you will find all the campus news and gossip. We will be chatting together each Friday afternoon and hope you enjoy it just as I shall.

Isn't it great to be at GTC? Everyone seems happy to be back with their old friends, and we are all happy to welcome our new faculty members, transfer students, and freshmen, who, I might add, are lending a delightful shade of blue to the campus with their jaunty "rat hats." I know that with our faculty and wonderful student body we can look forward to the best year ever.

You all know the old saying "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love," but I'm beginning to doubt the truth of those words. It seems to me that with the appearance of all the engagement rings and wedding bands, a young man's fancy may turn to love in the spring, but it's in the fall that his head really begins buzzing with the thoughts of rings and such. During the summer many of our students became "Mr. and Mrs." Martha and Albert Bacon, Nona Gene and Harold Evans, Ava and Randy Seay, Kay and Doug Ellis, Betty and Henry Crumley, are but a few of the happy couples.

Some engaged couples are: Carol Blanton and Gilbert Alridge, JoAnn Hamilton and Delbert Wilson, Mary Ann Moya and Ronnie Strickland, Kitty Kelly and Joe Walters, Vermelle Pierce and Ralph Bailey, Jane Jackson and Aubry Highsmith, Virginia Barret and Bobby Godwin, Sharon Ward and Roger Lord, Joan Garret and Bill Heflin.

Dr. Bill Weaver, professor of education, entered Chandler Hospital in Savannah on Tuesday. I'm sure all his students and friends join me in sending best wishes and hopes that he will be feeling much better soon.

Here's one I thought you might enjoy—last week the chairman of the music division received a letter addressed as follows: Dr. Ronald J. Neil, c/o Georgia PEACHES College.

Huff Enjoys Reading And Gardening Here

By SHIRLEY BUTLER

A new face in the English Division of Georgia Teachers College is Dr. Lawrence Huff. Dr. Huff came to us from Vanderbilt University where he received his Ph.D. in June of this year. He is a native of Madison County, Georgia, attended high school at Danielsville and then went to the University of Georgia where he received his A.B. degree.

Dr. Huff taught in high school for one year. Then he served his country in the Army for three years and three months. His service experience took him to North Africa, Italy, France and Germany. Upon his discharge, he re-entered the University of Georgia, earned his Masters, and taught there in the spring of 1956. Dr. Huff resigned from the University and became assistant professor of English at Georgia State College in Atlanta.

During his study at Vanderbilt, Dr. Huff was associated with the noted Professor Randall Stewart, who is an authority of Hawthorne.

Dr. Huff, his wife, and two small girls are now residing in Statesboro. His children, ages 10 and six, are attending the Marvin Pittman School.

Dr. Huff tells us that his hobbies consist of gardening and reading, and in the short time he has been at GTC his students have learned to admire him very much. We find him to be a rather quiet and refined person with a mild and intriguing personality. Dr. Huff states that he likes it here at GTC and is sure his stay will be very enjoyable.

ATTENTION RATS AND SOPHOMORES!

Rat hats must be worn in the following manner:

Girls: Rat hats may be turned under only in cases where girls have ponytails.

Boys: Rat hats must be squared away on top of head. They must not be worn on the back of the head.

Rat hats must be worn at all times with the exception of church on Sunday. They must be put on immediately following church. The bill of the cap will not be turned up at any time. All first quarter freshmen will find it advisable to wear this headgear and comply with the above rules at all times. With the close of Rat Day and the removal of the Rat Caps, you will officially be "one of us."

Sophomores are reminded by Charles McLendon, president of the Student Council, of several basic considerations that should be kept in mind by all students regarding "ratting activities."

1. Only sophomores who were "ratted" as GTC freshmen may "rat."

2. Ratting activities are recommended jointly by the sophomore Student Committee on "ratting" and the Student Council.

3. "Rat Day" is the official day set aside for "ratting" activities.

4. While freshmen participation in "Rat Day" is traditional, it is to be remembered that no student is forced to participate.

5. "Hazing" of any student is not in keeping with the best tradition of Georgia Teachers College.

Hicks' Highlights

By GARLAND and RAY HICKS

"I feel that quantitatively we have more basketball talent on the GTC campus than any time before, but qualitatively I doubt it." These were the words of Coach J. B. Searce. He went on to state that the reason he felt this way was because there aren't any Chester Webbs around and that the boys don't have the experience of playing together.

There have already been 30 boys who have indicated that they will be out for practice when Coach Searce calls for the first session.

There are nine men that are returning from last year's team. They are as follows: Chester Curry, Whitey Verstraete, Cary Moore, John Akins, Joe Waters, Walter Cook, Joe Brannen, and Charles Hutcheson. George McLeod, who also played on last year's team, will be back for the first quarter but will be ineligible after then.

Coach Searce stated that he believed there were a few transfer students who could possibly help this year's team. Some of the boys he mentioned were Eddie Owens, Ronnie Ross and Donald Lord who are transfers from Brewton Parker; David Webb from Middle Georgia, and LaVan Kennedy from Abraham Baldwin were also mentioned in this group. Dennis Barau is another transfer coming from Arizona but he will have to set out the first part of the season being ineligible until January 24.

This year there will be a freshman as well as a varsity team, but this doesn't necessarily mean that a freshman will have to play on the freshman team. Coach Searce said, "If a boy is good enough, he will play on the varsity regardless of whether he is a freshman or not."

There isn't a complete list available yet of all the freshmen but those that have already indicated that they will be out for basketball are as follows: Paul Ross, Mike Jones, Davd Patten, Connie Lewis, Carlton Gill, Stanley McCallar, Benjie Anderson, Jimmy Hendrix, Shelly Booth, Donald Booth, and Clyde Miller, who are local Georgia boys. Some of the freshmen boys are a long way from home. In this group we have Ray Hassett, Harrisburg, Ill.; Don Luckett, Hitsonville, Ill.; Larry Stamm, Jasper, Ind.; and Mike Collins, Denver, Colorado.

Lots of people are probably wondering who will be the starting five, but Coach Searce wouldn't favor anyone and went on to say there might even be some boy or boys not mentioned to be among the honored five.

I couldn't get any inside information on the probable starters so I asked him the next logical question and that was what kind of season would he predict. This is Coach Searce's prediction and I quote, "Basing on last year's record and opponents we should have 20 wins and six losses, but taking into consideration that we play away from home more than at home in this year's schedule I predict 17 wins and nine losses."

Intramurals Begin Monday

By GARLAND HICKS

The Intramural Council has been organized for this year and play will begin Monday, October 13. Each student has been placed on a team whether they are regular students or day students.

The name of each team and its members will be posted in each dormitory, the Administration Building and the new gym. If any student finds that his name is missing he is urged to contact Mr. Jess White, Talmadge Riner or Garland Hicks immediately.

As stated previously, the IM program will begin Monday with the weather permitting. Each student is urged to check the bulletin boards for his name and to participate with that particular unit.

The Famous Five To Be Reunited

"The Famous Five" considered by many the best basketball team ever produced at Georgia Teachers College, will be reunited for the first time at a home basketball game against Rollins College on January 13, 1959.

This team, during the years 1954-1955 and 1955-1956, won 41 and lost only 11 games. It was the first GTC team to reach the national tournament at Kansas City, and in 1955-1956, they averaged more than 95 points per game to finish second nationally.

The same five boys started virtually every one of the 52 games played during those two years. They were: Two-time All-American Chester Webb of Elberton; Doug Corry of Union Point; Don Wallen of Wheelwright, Ky.; Howard "Bo" Warren of Ludowici; and the late Garland Campbell of Windfall, Indiana. Campbell was killed in an airplane crash on Thanksgiving Day, 1956.

Wallen, now head basketball coach in his home town of Wheelwright, Ky., will bring his high school team down to GTC to play the preliminary game against Nahunta, (Ga.) High on Jan. 13. It should provide an interesting comparison of two styles of basketball.

Faculty, Student Golf Course Is Now Underway

A golf course is now under construction by the maintenance department on the front northeast part of the campus. Work got underway this week on the greens. No date for the opening of the course is set at present, but it is expected to open sometime this spring. The use of this course during this first spring is to be limited.

It will be open to the students and faculty of GTC free of charge.

The course will contain nine holes with a par of 30 for all the holes. There will be seven par three holes, one par five hole, and one par four hole. We should all look forward with appreciation to this new facility at GTC.

Science In The News

By WALLIS DeWITT

Mr. Pennington attended a meeting of the Georgia Ornithological Society in Milledgeville, October 4 and 5.

Dr. J. A. Boole Jr. and Dr. B. J. Bogitsh attended the ninth annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences held at the University of Indiana at Bloomington, Indiana. They attended the symposium on the structure and multiplication of plant viruses, also the Jordan House of Biology which houses the laboratory of the famous Nobel Prize-winning geneticist H. J. Muller.

The Science Club meets Monday night at 7 o'clock in the chemistry building. The Science Club is an organization not only for science majors and minors, but for anyone who is interested in science. The purpose of the Science Club is to develop leadership and initiative among students interested in science. Usually the Science Club meets on Monday nights at 7 o'clock twice a month. The program consists of outside speakers and members of the club participating. A social is planned for each quarter and the spring social will be a beach party at Savannah Beach. Among the events that the Science Club takes part in during the year is the Homecoming parade, beauty revue, and science fair. For the past two years the Science Club's float has won first and second in the parade.

Through the Science Club you will keep abreast with the advances made in science in our highly scientific world. You will have opportunity to meet outstanding figures in science. I am sure that you will want to become a member of a fine organization like the Science Club, so if you are interested in science come to the chemistry building Monday night at 7 o'clock.

Music Potpourri

by KITTY KELLY

Hi Again!

The doings in the music department are under full swing. Membership in both the Philharmonic Choir and the Concert Band has been set up and rehearsals have been underway for a week now. However, Mr. Grumley has announced that students interested in band may still make an appointment with him before October 17. The clarinet and French horn sections are a tad smaller than he'd like, so persons playing these instruments will be given special consideration. In addition to presenting concerts and playing ball games, parades, etc., the band makes an annual five-day tour (which is a gas!) throughout our fair state of Georgia. Need we say more?

Mr. Grumley has further announced that there is a band concert scheduled for the evening of Nov. 25, '58, in McCroan Auditorium. So keep this date in mind. The band planning board for the year 1958-59 is as follows: Ruth Odum, president; Charlie Griffin, vice president; Carol Blanton, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Bailey, Sr. representative; Mary Ann Harrell, Jr. representative; sophomore representative, Beth Rigdon; and freshman representative, Tommy Bowen.

This group has the responsibility for making plans for the various appearances of the band.

The Philharmonic Choir under the direction of Dr. Neil has elected its planning board as well. This group is making plans for concert appearances in various towns and cities for the year. This group includes: Billy Sanders, Don Anderson, Dickie Baker, Betty Sue Mashburn, Virginia Barrett, and Mary Ann Harrell.

The Professors combo has been functioning unofficially thus far, having played the first two on-campus dances. However, by the time this week's George-Anne is distributed the official roster for the 1958-59 Professors will have been posted. Thereafter, the student body will have a group they can be proud of—we trust.

Before I put this to bed may I again mention the All-Star Concert Series. Tickets this year include five concerts: Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo; Savannah Symphony with Dorothy Wareskjold; Melanchrino Strings; Leonard Pennario, pianist; and Minneapolis Symphony. Think of it—all this for $11 (non-music majors) and $10 (for music majors)! But the deadline date is midnight, October 15, that's this Wednesday, October 15—so hurry. See David Powers or Charlie Griffen immediately.

See you next week?

Lindsey Speaks To Student NEA

Prof. John Lindsey, the newly-arrived coordinator of off-campus student teaching, addressed the Student NEA at its first meeting of the year on Tuesday night, October 7.

Dwelling on the importance of the profession, Mr. Lindsey pointed out that the world's freedom and continued welfare depends upon producing teachers who are good enough and in numbers large enough to meet the critical problems of this generation.

Other features of the program included reports by members of the local chapter who attended the state convention of the Student NEA in Atlanta during the past week. Glenn Clower, a transfer student on the campus of Georgia Teachers College, assumed office as state president of the Student NEA.

Home Ec. Club Members Will Attend Workshop

On October 17 and 18 there will be a fall workshop for the club division of the Georgia Home Economics Association at Berry College. Delegates from Georgia Teachers College Home Economics Club will be Bea Gay Davis, Carolyn Dasher, Audrey Strickland, and Rose Franklin. Miss Betty Lane will accompany the delegates as club advisor. The theme for the workshop will be "Golden Year of Opportunities," since this is the fiftieth anniversary of the Georgia and American Home Economics Association. The local club will be responsible for

Bice Finds GTC Students Conscientious, Friendly

By GAIL WYNN

Pet peeves,* hobbies, and opinions—Yes, our Dr. Herbert Bice is full of them all. This new addition to the GTC math staff has acquired quite a high opinion of the student body in such a short time. He says the students are friendly and conscientious and have helped him enjoy his work. Let's keep this opinion high by not committing any of his pet peeves such as being late to class or absent without a "legal" excuse. Another is the mispronunciation of his name.

Dr. Bice received his Ed. D. in 1955 from the University of Georgia. He has held positions such as principal, coach and also math teacher in a number of schools and colleges. Mrs. Bice has been a teacher also in many of the schools where Dr. Bice has been employed. He says, "She is one of the best, in my opinion." Their son, Billy, is interested in sports, hunting and fishing just as his father is.

It seems Dr. Bice was brought up not to be afraid of work. He had two older and younger brothers. When his mother had work to be done, she would say, "Either you three older boys do the work or you three younger boys do the work." Since Dr. Bice was the middle boy he got "hooked" every time. Dr. Bice is very interested in hunting and fishing and it seems that he hasn't found any hunting grounds around here. If you have a class, or intend to have a class with him, this might be your chance. We do have one little bit of advice to you. Make sure there are no sandspurs or mosquitoes around as they seem to annoy him. (He doesn't mind admitting it either.)

the program covers for the workshop.

Officers for the Home Economics Club for this year are as follows: president, Rose Franklin; first vice president, Carolyn Hill; second vice president, Kay Proctor; secretary, Carolyn Joyner; treasurer, Annette Mills; parliamentarian, Madge Edwards; reporter, Betty Rahn.

In spite of the mosquitoes and tardies Dr. Bice enjoys GTC and from the way we see it now he will help improve our college.
