GTC Professors Upset Georgia Tech 72-64

Philharmonic Choir to Present Concert Dec. 9

Forty-eight voices will ring out in song as the Philharmonic Choir presents its annual concert on Tuesday evening, December 9, at 8:15 in McCroan Auditorium.

"Georgia," arranged by Esther Wilburn Barnes, from Statesboro, will open the program. Other numbers on the program range from religious to popular show tunes.

Dr. Ronald J. Neil is the director of the Philharmonic Choir, and the accompanist is Mary Frances Monroe. Mr. Fred Grumley is supervisor of the trumpets and tympani.

A complete list of the remaining selections are—"With a Voice of Singing" by Shaw, "Souls of Righteous" by Noble, "Dark Water" by James, "Come Thou Holy Spirit" by Tschesnokoff, "God Is a Spirit" by Jones, and "God of Our Fathers" by Warren-Gearhart. Mary Parrish will be the soprano obligato. Her accompanist are Jack Willis, Vermelle Pierce, and Tommy Bowen, trumpeters; Jimmy Tidwell, tympanist; and Mary Frances Monroe and Betty Sue Mashburn, pianists.

A medley from "Showboat," including "Old Man River," "Can't Help Loving That Man of Mine," "Why Do I Love You," and others, will be next on the program. Following this medley from Jerome Kern, Billy Sanders will sing "Happy Wanderer" by Moller.

"A Tribute to Romberg," arranged by McLean, will contain such favorites as "Lover, Come Back to Me," "Desert Song," and "Stout-Hearted Men."

Closing out the program will

315 Students Attend Fornesics Clinic Here

A Dramatics-Forensics Clinic was held on the GTC campus Wednesday. Approximately 315 high school students and their sponsors were present.

The clinic's purpose was to show that extra-curricular speech activities offer students training equalled by few other activities. They help the student to learn to make inquiry through research, to analyze and use evidence in a reasonable way, and to deliver thoughts communicatively.

It is the purpose of this clinic to help the beginning student adjust to these purposes and to help him get started in a successful series of contests this year. It is also the purpose of the clinic to help the beginning coaches to help the beginning student.

Though the clinic is planned primarily for beginning coaches and beginning students, the experienced coach and student may be benefited, and certainly their presence may be of help to the beginners.

The program was divided into four sections—declamation, one-act play, panel, and debate.

In the section on declamation, a discussion of the art of interpretation with consideration given to the degree of directness of the interpreter as compared with that of the actor and of the public speaker, and the resultant choice of material for the declamation contest was presented.

be a selection of Christmas Carols.

The concert is free to the public, and a cordial invitation is extended by the Philharmonic Choir to all students, faculty and friends of GTC.

The use of some of the more important techniques of the art of interpretation were demonstrated.

A discussion of the principles involved in the selection of plays for contest presentation, and a discussion and demonstration of some of the techniques of play directing discovered to be most essential for successful high school production was led by Gwen Jones, a senior English major from Hazlehurst. Members of Masquers showed different stage techniques.

"Are these essential features of the Russian education system which the United States should adopt?" was the topic of the panel discussion. Members of the panel were: Dr. James Park, Mr. Tully Pennington, Dr. Samuel Tilden Habel, Dr. Donald Hackett, and Dr. Ralph Tyson. The panel discussed the features of American and Russian education, comparing the two; followed by questions from the audience.

Concluding the program was a regular length debate. The audience judged the affirmative and negative cases. A critic-judge reviewed the debate and answered questions from the audience as to why he reached his decision. Those students taking place in the debate were Lee McClesky, Samille Jones, Doris Nease, and Wylene Fendley.

Chairmen of these various sections were Austol Yeomans, Mercer McMillian, and John Carroll.

Mr. Clyde J. Faries stated that this would be a yearly event if this clinic was effective. He said that several schools have expressed a desire for this to be an annual affair.

Verstraete And Curry Set Pace For Teachers

They'll talk about it for a long, long time on the campus of Georgia Teachers College and over the coffee cups in Statesboro. The time the Professors basketball team beat the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech on Tech's home court in Alexander Memorial Coliseum in Atlanta.

And basketball fans will be justified in calling G. T. C. Coach J. B. Searce "The Giant Killer."

For it was on Monday night, December 1, that the Georgia Teachers College Professors, playing like a team possessed, upset Georgia Tech 72 to 64 Monday night in Alexander Memorial Coliseum.

Paced by co-captains Whitey Verstraete and Chester Curry, the Professors sped to an early lead. An 18-17 lead with 9:31 left in the first half was the closest the Jackets came to winning this game. G. T. C. led by 18 points at one stage.

Whitey Verstraete, a boy described by Tech Coach Whack Hyder as good enough to start on any team in the Southeastern Conference, was the Professors' backbone.

He wound up with 21 points, did the best defensive work, the dribbling in clutch spots, made key passes and was the most effective rebounder of the evening with 15.

The Professors cashed in on 80 per cent of their free throws.

Georgia Tech's advertised superiority in taking the basketball off both backboards failed to materialize. The Jackets wound up with 11 more rebounds but failed to get them in clutch situations.

Chester Curry was the leading scorer of the game with 23 points, getting most of them in a strong second half effort.

Coach J. B. Searce said of the game, "...this is an important victory for us...I won't say it's our greatest, but it's what we call a prestige victory. It will gain national recognition for us."

Coach Searce paid high tribute to all the boys on the G. T. C. squad. "One thing that was encouraging to us," Searce pointed out, "was the fact that although Whitey and Chester got the high scores, some of our youngsters did some scoring of their own. That's something we lacked last year."

Those other boys included Eddie Owens, Connie Lewis, George McLeod, Cary Moore, Carlton Gil, Paul Ross, Ray Hassett, Joe Waters and Walker Cook.

This was the first meeting of GTC and Georgia Tech in a regularly scheduled game, and Tech was favored by up to 15 points.

"It was a team win," Searce said. "For the first time in my coaching career, I have twelve boys I can put in the game and not weaken our attack."

In an interview with the Atlanta newspaper after the game Searce said, "My boys were scared to death before the game. Maybe they should be that way before all of 'em."

The Profs play Jacksonville U. in Jacksonville tonight and Saturday they play host to McNeese State College.

House Council Members Officially Installed at Service November 20

Approximately 75 House Council members of the five residence halls on campus were officially installed Thursday evening, November 20, in the Marvin Pittman School Auditorium.

Clyde Johns, a senior from Statesboro, gave the devotional and Joan Garrett, a senior from Loganville, sang a solo. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Fred Wallace, wife of Mr. Fred Wallace of the physical science department here on campus.

Butler and McLendon Speak

Dean Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, introduced Bobbie Butler, president of the Big Sisters Club, and Charles McLendon, president of the Student Council. Miss Butler reviewed the history of the House Council and reminded the members of their social and individual obligations as a member. Charles congratulated the members on their achievement and reminded them of their personal objectives as House Council members.

Dean Tyson spoke to the group and emphasized that the code they were to sign represented a solemn pledge to work well with fellow council members and other students in the residence hall. He reviewed the contents of the code that the members were to sign and the group read the code in unison with Jane Jackson, a senior from Crawfordville.

Roll Called by Halls

Dean Irma Morgan gave the introductory and closing remarks to the actual installation service. The president of each hall called the role for their council members. Installed members include: East Hall, president, Elaine Hartsfield; vice president, Maribon Mikell; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Crawford; Fire Marshal, Louise Dominy; social chairman, Peggy McDonald; House Monitor, Danalyn Lee and Monitors, Ruth Story, Lonnie Pritchett, Colleen Coston, Paige Dampier, Pat Murphy, Becky Boulineau, and Louise Dominy. Resident hall director of East Hall is Mrs. J. B. Johnson.

West Hall Installations Named

Members installed in West Hall include: resident Vivian Blizzard; vice president, Yvonne Durham; secretary, Ellen Durham; treasurer, Mary Ann Gignilliat; Fire Marshal, Glenda Brooks, and social chairman, Barbara Mills. Wing monitors are: Phyllis Hall, Betty Jean Bryant, Evelyn Kimbrough, Mary Rivenbark, Barbara Anderson, Rose Franklin, Nancy Dunn, and Irma Roach. Floor monitors are: Glenda Banks, Sandra Taylor, and Dorothy Stanton. Resident hall director for West Hall is Mrs. Archie Jackson.

Lewis Hall installations were: president, Jane Jackson; vice president, Helen Tanner; secretary, Miriam McClain; treasurer, Carol Blanton; fire marshal, Christine Williams; social chairman, Cathy Simmons, and house monitors, Audrey Strickland, Mickey Williams, Ann Davis and Sandra Tindol. Mrs. Mary Kate Evans is Lewis Hall resident hall director.

Sanford Installations Named

Sanford Hall installations include: president, Ray Hicks; vice president, Richard McGee; secretary-treasurer, Walter Brock and House Monitors, Bobby Teasley, Edward Brown, Robert Forester, Olin Presley, Lany Holt, and Don L. Branch. Mrs. Cleo Franklin is the resident hall director for Sanford Hall.

Cone Hall House Council Installations include: president, Charles Sheppard; vice president, Dewey Bryant; secretary-treas-

Married Students Are Asked To Complete Housing Questionnaire

THE SECOND and third floors of Anderson Hall presently house the married students on campus; however, with the completion of new dining hall facilities in the Dining Hall-Student Center by September, 1959, Anderson Hall will be demolished and there will no longer be facilities for married students. The administration is presently investigating ways to remedy this situation.

According to Dean Paul F. Carroll, a housing questionnaire is being distributed to all married couples attending GTC this quarter. All married students are urged to complete this form and return it to Dean Carroll's office immediately.

With the completion of the new dining hall facilities in the Dining Hall-Student Center, Anderson Hall will be demolished and there will no longer be housing facilities for married students on campus. The school is presently investigating the possibility of obtaining a Federal Loan to meet the need.

The completed questionnaire will be studied and analyzed with the purpose of discovering the needs of married students here at GTC. The questionnaire inquires about the size of the family, the present housing situation, the anticipated needs of the couple, and a preference regarding the type of structure desired.

Dean Carroll urges both day and campus married couples to fill out the questionnaire and return it to his office as soon as possible so that a broader picture of the needs of married GTC students may be realized.

Change Name

Recently an article in the alumni bulletin of Florence State College in Alabama, stated that the name of the college had been changed from State Teachers College at Florence to Florence State College.

According to the article, a vast student movement on the campus of Florence State were in favor this past spring of omitting "Teachers" from the official name of the college, and it was climaxed by legislative action during the summer.

When the bill was introduced to change the name of the college not a single opposing vote was cast.

Changing the name of the college was supported by county representatives and senators, the president of the college, the governor of Alabama, and a state senator.

The movement was begun by an article in the campus newspaper, and immediately gained a 643-13 student vote in favor of the change.

Similar changes have been made during the past five years in the teachers colleges in Kentucky, Illinois, and Iowa.

Maybe it's time we, the students of Georgia Teachers College started thinking of such a movement.

Changing the name of the college to reflect a program other than just a teacher preparation program wouldn't weaken the education division in any way, shape, or form.

The present name restricts the scope of our institution in the mind of the potential student. Most of us want our institution to grow in size and program until it is a university. This could be a step in the right direction.

Drivers Think!

Every day more and more deaths happen because of careless or reckless driving. If you've read the newspapers or listened to the radio or television in the past few days when you've seen the headlines of the numerous deaths caused by automobile accidents.

Georgia Teachers College administrators are trying to do their part. During the Thanksgiving holidays yellow lines were drawn down the center of all roads on campus. Most noticeable is the line in the drive around the center park which up until this last year was a one-way drive. White lines were drawn signifying the facilities provided for parking and special places were reserved for visitors to our campus.

Now it is up to the students to do their part. On most campuses throughout the country cars are forbidden on campus. We, here at G. T. C., are privileged for those who have a car are allowed to keep their cars on campus and drive it at their convenience.

Accidents and fatalities may be avoided by adhering to the 15-mile-an-hour speed limit while on campus roads. Park only in the designated places and leave the reserved spaces open.

THINK—both as a driver and as a pedestrian, for the "life you save may be your own."

Teachers in 'Big Three'

Georgia basketball fans, long accustomed to talking of the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech as the "Big Two," may have to revise their estimates. The team from Georgia Teachers College at Statesboro came to the Alexander Memorial Coliseum Monday night to meet Georgia Tech in the 1958 season opened.

Almost from the outset the tall Teachers were ahead. They defeated the Engineers, 72-64, and demonstrated conclusively that they are of major league caliber. It looks as though Georgia will now have to reckon with the "Big Three."

Tech's 1958 team is regarded as one of the best in the Southeastern Conference, so the Teachers' victory is a significant one.

For months the Teachers have insisted they have a team worthy of games with Tech and the University of Georgia. Their performance at the Big Dome Monday night was an eye-opener. They have attained high position in basketball, and the schedule-makers can no longer pass them by. The Teachers are now one of the big teams. All hail to this new power in Georgia's favorite winter sport.

"Boy, he thinks he's got economy!"

ray's way...

By RAY WILSON

Are we a nation of conformists? When asked this question, most of us would say "of course not, I'm an individual."

Despite what we might say, the facts speak for themselves. Americans, influenced by mass advertising schemes, purchase generally the same type cars, televisions, clothes, furniture, and homes. Have you ever driven around your home town and looked at the new houses? Shocking isn't it when most look as if they were ordered from a Sears and Roebuck catalog. Whether ranch-style or otherwise they are all look-alikes.

We even like our appearance to be similar to that of others. When was the last time you bought a particular item of clothing just because it was the style? Chances are you liked something else better but felt compelled to purchase the style.

Even if this was not enough, our acceptance of standard things does not end here. Our thoughts and ideas also run in an acceptable pattern. We are afraid to think and act differently. It is our belief that if we do so people will ridicule us. Is there any average person who can accept the criticism that one has to endure by being an individual?

We educate our children in an environment geared to group standards. This is rational enough from the standpoint of economics and classroom space, but is it good to teach group standards and group thinking in our schools? No, it is not when individual and original thought sets the pace into the future.

Perhaps we should be developing individual traits instead of saying "why can't you be like the other children?"

Should we force our children to fit into groups that we are not sure they belong in? Remember, there is a difference between wanting to be alone because of shyness, and wanting to be alone because there are things one wants to do! We would be on the right road if we develop in our children the capacity to live alone, to find in themselves the sources of mind and heart for solitude.

There are limits to the uses of conformity, and evidence suggests that we have just about reached them.

Finals are approaching. The first realization that the quarter is drawing to a close dawns upon us. Studying is now done in earnest. However, sometimes we find that it is too late for all the last minute cramming. But, where there is a will, there is a way; so, the last minute studying continues. We resolve that next quarter will be different. Caught up in this feverish whirlwind is your editor. The results are a collection of unrelated ideas.

A great man died last Tuesday. His name: Charles Kettering. To those to whom he wasn't familiar, he is credited with devising the first automobile self-starter and putting the ethyl in gasoline.

The inventive genius was the holder or co-holder of over 140 patents and acquired an estimated fortune of many millions.

This adopted son of Dayton, Ohio graduated from Ohio State University and was an active member of the board of trustees. He went on to head the research division of General Motors Corporation.

This uncontrollable curiosity of his led him to wonder why grass was green. Since 1927, a foundation named in his honor has done research in chlorophyll and photosynthesis.

His pride and joy was the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research which he founded in 1945 in New York's Memorial Center with his General Motors boss Alfred P. Sloan.

During his lifetime more than 30 degrees were bestowed upon him. Numerous medals and awards were also won by him. One citation seemed especially appropriate. A tribute to "one whose life and work will be honored for all times as exemplifying the college trained man at his noblest and best."

Have you ever stopped to think just how much work goes into the publication of this six-page paper? If you think that it isn't a job you're cordially invited to drop in on a Tuesday or a Thursday night.

This year's staff, which is a complete rearrangement from last year, has every week endeavored to put forth their utmost efforts to produce a good paper.

These people who come just because they like a newspaper atmosphere, all have that urge to write. This produces a common bond which has made a clan of us. Let's keep together and make next quarter's paper better than ever.

An unusual thing happened this week. A girl was one of the winners of the football contest. Henrielle Middleton, a senior social science major from Blakely, Ga. was the lucky winner. Lamar Tucker, a sophomore physical science major from Brunswick, and Richard Allen, a freshman from Bowersville, Ga. share in the proceeds.

Beginning with this week page four will become the basketball contest rather than the football contest. This will continue throughout the basketball season.

A word of explanation to the student that thought Dr. Farkas was collecting table tops. He was moving a table, he thought, in the Little Store, but it seems that he picked up only the top of the table.

In the last issue of the George Anne, Campus Capers struck upon a point that we would like to pursue a little farther. Do you remember the first of the quarter? Remember the little vow that you made that no one else knew about? ... well you didn't study harder and you didn't turn over a new leaf.

The end of the quarter is right before us and finals are so close that it isn't funny, already. We are making that last struggling effort to "bring up the grade" and pass for the quarter. Visitors would get the impression that we either have "slave drivers" for instructors, or that the students really are out to make good... that is, if they visited near the close of a quarter. But at the beginning and mid-quarter, there is a tendency among many students to be lax in study habits.

In a few short weeks a new quarter will be here, along with a new year. A bit of advice; don't plan to study hard next quarter, instead, just plan to study today, and before you realize it, finals will be here and gone. It is not hard to study for just one day, but if you look at the scope of the whole quarter it will frighten anyone into the desire to relax and forget it all.

It is surprising to find how fast time passes when a person is doing something, especially if the deadline is "hanging heavy over his head." It is also surprising to find the amount of time a person has free if he does his work first, and then leaves his mind without burden.

We would not be so foolish as to advocate "giving up the ship" just because our grades are low and we "can do better next time." We would, however, suggest that each of us take an objective look at his study habits and see where they can be improved.

Versatile Patterson Livens Up Campus

By MARY ANN HARRELL

Among the new faculty members here at GTC this year is a young man from Fort Worth, Texas, whose lively personality has already made him a great favorite among the students. Mr. Andy J. Patterson, assistant professor of music, is a delightfully interesting person who can make the hardest job seem like a picnic.

Mr. Patterson began his career at the early age of seven, when his parents formed a vaudeville troupe and toured for a year. As he told this he said, "I played bass-fiddle, sang, told jokes, and did anything else that needed doing." It was during this year that he decided to study music seriously. The next year the troupe again went "on the road" for a series of one-night-stands and the young chap again added to his musical experiences. When he was eleven, he toured with two dance bands and since that time has played with groups in every state of the Union.

While a student at Texas Christian University, Mr. Patterson played with a combo that played for Pat Boone while he was a student at North Texas State College in Denton, Texas.

There was a weekly broadcast over Station WBAP-TV. He also played in a group that backed Elvis Presley several years ago when he traveled in Texas.

This year is the seventh year Mr. Patterson has taught in college. His former experience includes two years at Texas Christian University, where he received his Bachelor of Music Degree, and four years on the teaching staff at Florida State University, where he received his Master of Music Degree and completed his work on his doctorate degree with the exception of his dissertation.

This versatile young man has had a great deal of experience playing for classical groups as well as for popular ones. He has played for Fort Worth, Dallas, Shreveport, and New Orleans Opera and Ballet Companies. He has also been a member of the Dallas, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and FSU Symphony Orchestras. He has played under such conductors as Antal Dorati, Kark Kritz, Howard Hanson, Ernest Dohnanyi, John Boda, Robert Sedore, and many more. At the present time, he is playing viola with the Savannah Symphony Orchestra.

The student assistant to each resident hall director was recognized, but not installed as House Council members. They include: East Hall, Maxine Lasky; West Hall, Ruth Fiskus; Lewis Hall, Ellen Sumner, Sanford Hall, Bobby Forester; and Cone Hall, Donald Anderson.

As well as being an excellent performer this talented musician has done quite a bit of work in the field of composition. In 1951, he won a contest sponsored by the Southwestern Composers League, for a SUITE FOR WOODWIND QUINTET. For his thesis for his Masters Degree he wrote an original tone poem for a large symphony orchestra based on the poem, AT CASTER-BRIDGE FAIR, by Thomas Hardy. In 1951 he was selected to compose original music for the world premier of the new English version of the Greek tragedy, Phaedra. In 1954, he was also selected to compose the original music for the world premier of the prize winning play CROWN OF SHADOWS by Rodolfo Usigli. Again the same year he was commissioned by the School of Fine Arts at TCU to write the music for an original ballet. The performance was given twenty-seven times on tour throughout Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, and Louisiana; it was also performed four times on television.

This young man has indeed had an interesting life and many exciting experiences. When asked how he liked GTC he replied, "I like it fine. The students here are friendlier than anywhere I have ever been." When asked what his plans for the future included, he said that he hoped to complete his dissertation (which will be a two-volume work on PRINCIPLES OF MUSIC ANALYSIS, and to continue teaching on the college level. His next choice would be to play in an opera company orchestra, which he considers the finest realm of classical music.

I hope that everyone had a wonderful vacation, even though it was rather short. I know many of you had some very exciting times, but to those who didn't, it was nice just being home, wasn't it.

Tuesday night (before we went home) the GTC band presented the first concert of the year. On behalf of the band, I want to take this opportunity to thank all of you for your support. We appreciate the large crowd that attended and ask that you plan to attend the next concert, because with your support, it will be better than any we have ever given.

I think that everyone must have gotten a good bit of Christmas spirit during the weekend. As I came in the dormitory last Sunday night, instead of hearing "rock and roll" blaring forth from all the rooms, I heard the sweet sounds of Christmas Carols. That brings to mind this important bit of news—only 19 shopping days until Christmas.

Aren't we proud of the basketball team? I've heard many of the students who went to the game say that it was great, but those of us who only listened to the game on radio were just as excited and cheered just as loud. Congratulations to the team and good luck in the games to follow. Remember—all of us are pulling for you.

Santa Claus came to Statesboro yesterday. After traveling by special train from Dover, Santa and half the kids in Statesboro went to the courthouse steps where the GTC philharmonic Choir sang Christmas Carols.

Speaking of the choir, I want to remind you of the Christmas Concert which will be given next Tuesday night, December 9, at 8:15 p. m. The concert will be under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil, and will be held in McCroan Auditorium and admission will be free.

I hope everyone has a nice weekend, but don't forget—finals are only a week away. STUDY NOW.

The Science Club will have a fall quarter social Friday night, December 5, at the Morris Cottage. The social will be in the form of a spaghetti supper for the members and their guests. All members who plan to attend are reminded that the social will begin at 6:30 p. m.

The next meeting of the Science Club will be held in the Chemistry building on Monday, December 8, at 7 p. m. All members are urged to be present as an interesting program has been planned for that time.

Mr. Pennington and Dr. Boole from the science department were among those representing the college at the Governor's Conference on Education in Atlanta. No actual plans were made at this conference concerning the state of affairs in Education in Georgia, but the citizens will be better informed as a result of this meeting. Georgia is the first state east of the Mississippi to hold a meeting of this type.

Dr. and Mrs. Boole will entertain the Genetics class with a supper at their home next Tuesday. Congratulations to that hard-working group; they deserve a reward for the persistence shown during these weeks which have been spent making slides of the salivary gland chromosomes of fruit flies, which are no longer than a pin head.

"Hi youall"

Do you have an announcement to make? Are you having a club meeting you want people to attend? Would you like to advertise some program? You can. WWNS will start making announcements over the radio next Monday night. If you have one, see Joe Axelson, he'll be glad to give you a helping hand.

Have to tip my hat to Dr. Bogitsh and Miss Ela Johnson. They knew that irregardless wasn't a word.

In case you haven't noticed, we now have two bulletin boards in the Administration Building. The big one is for the students to use. The other is for official announcements by the administration. Also all announcements in assembly will now be made by the president of the Student Council.

My thanks to the Student Council. They bought some new records for the dining hall.

Look around and you'll see some changes have been made on the campus. A couple of boys in the Maintenance Department must have been drinking some or my weak coffee this past weekend. If you don't believe me, look at that line down the front drive. And before I forget, did you see our signs in front of the Ad Building? No parking on one side and No Parking on the other. Miss Ela, I didn't do it.

Oh yes! My thanks to the Profs for that 72 to 64 victory over Georgia Tech. If you want to know why, ask me.

Incidentally, there will not be a faculty formal this quarter. But don't worry, you'll still have something to do that Friday night. You can go to the basketball game and see GTC play Rollins.

"That's all, youall."

Hicks' Highlights

By GARLAND and RAY HICKS

(This is the last series of basketball introductions.)

Eddie Owens, a 6-5, 193-pounder is a junior and claims New Albany, Indiana as home. Eddie transferred from Brewton-Parker Junior College where he was named by the Atlanta Journal as the best all-round player in last year's junior college all-state and all-region teams last season .

Next is Connie Lewis, 6-5, 175 pounds from Millen, Georgia. Connie was a star athlete for Jenkins County High School. His ambition is to become a doctor.

Our third profile is Carlton Gill, 6-5, 180 pounds, from Richmond Hill, Georgia. Gill was co-captain of the South team in the annual Georgia all-star game last August. Carlton is a freshman.

Next is Paul Ross, a 6-0, 160-pound freshman from Ashland, Kentucky. Ross, 19 years old, plays guard on this year's varsity squad. Paul played high school ball for Coach Fred Anson.

Our fifth profile is Ray Hassett, a 5-11, 175-pounder from Harrisburg, Illinois. Hassett, a freshman, is considered to be an excellent defensive man on this year's squad. He also plans to tryout for the baseball team.

Our last profile is Benjie Anderson, a 6-2 freshman from Midville, Georgia. Benjie was named the most valuable player in last year's Augusta Chronicle-Herald Central Savannah River Area tournament.

Intramural Roundup

BEARS VS. LIONS

The Bears showed a lot of class in downing the Lions 14-0. Thirteen of the points were accounted for by LaVann Kennedy. Kennedy's first touchdown covered 60 yards with "Shaky" Shivers throwing to him. Shivers ran the point after. The second Kennedy score came on a 30-yard pass from Shivers. The point after came on another Shivers to Kennedy pass.

PANTHERS VS LEOPARDS

The Panthers and Leopards fought each other like wildfire before the Panthers won 13-7.

The Panthers points were all accounted for by Richard Smith to Dan Snipes passes. A Jones to Luther Shead pass accounted for the TD. Jones to Buck Cravey pass got the point after.

DECEMBER 2 TIGERS CRUSH PANTHERS

The Tigers, led by Gordon Stallings, Ty Adams, and Luther Whelus, stomped the Panthers 32-13. Stallings tossed two touchdown passes to Ty and two to Wheelus. Stallings made a dazzling 35-yard run for the other tally. The Panthers scored on passes from Richard Smith to Buzzy McMillen and David Webb. It was the Tigers' game all the way.

WILDCATS SLIP BY LIONS

The Wildcats slipped by the Lions with a 15-14 victory. The Lions points were made by Oats, Adams, and Kitchens. Glen Clower passed to Oats and Adams for touchdowns and kicked both extra points. For the Wildcats, Morales passed to Howard and Reinhardt for the touchdowns and to Alexander for the lone extra point. The other two points came when Glen Clower intercepted a pass in the end zone and tried to run it out but was touched by Art Lamb.

Dolphins Drop Profs

Last night in Jacksonville, Fla., the Professors went down in defeat. The Dolphins of Jacksonville University set the Profs down with 60 points while they managed to hit for 65.

In the first half Chester Curry tied the GTC free throwing record by dropping his thirty-first foul shot in a row. Chester had a chance to break the record but missed it by inches.

Jacksonville led at the half by a score of 35 to 33. The Profs were never able to close the gap and remained behind until the final whistle blew.

Leading scorers for the Profs was "Whitey" Verstraete with 15 points.

Freshmen Defeat Armstrong 71-58

The Georgia Teachers College Freshmen, following their big brothers' example, opened their 1958-59 basketball season by beating Armstrong of Savannah 71-58.

Robert Hobbs was the game's leading scorer with 21 points. Hobbs hit 9 out of 10 field goals and one free throw to collect 19 of his 21 points the first half. Jimmy Hendrix and Paul Ross were next on the scoring list with 11 and 10 points respectively.

The Freshmen first home game will be against South Ga. Trade School on Dec. 6.

Badminton Starts Thursday Night

By MARILYN LANCASTER

The first round of the badminton tournament for men and women will begin Thursday night, December 5, at 6:30 p. m. the tournament bracket will be drawn at this time. You must be present in order to enter in this activity. Each girl is to select a boy as her partner before time for the drawing if she desires to play.

The girl's intramural tennis tournament is finished through the fourth round. The girls who have won so far are the following: Bond, Smith, Thrift, Glisson, Barrow, Lovett, Crawford, and Brannen.

Girl's intramural speed ball has had some bad luck but the two games which were to be played last Monday and Tuesday, 24 and 25, will be played at a later date. The girls played December 1: Yellow Jackets and Falcons against Rebels and Cardinals was forfeited to the Yellow Jackets and Falcons. Girls please try to get out and

WHAT THEY SAID THE DAY AFTER —

(United Press International)

They're off and running on the hardwood now that football season is over. Georgia Teachers College of Statesboro, traditionally one of the best basketball teams in the state, walloped Georgia Tech in Atlanta last night, 72 to 64 . . .

The Georgia Tech basketball team re-learned an old lesson last night . . . appropriately enough from the Georgia Teachers College: never underestimate an opponent. The Teachers, supposed to be a first game breather, instead led all the way to win 72-64 in Atlanta.

High scoring holdovers Chester Curry, a guard, and Whitey Verstraete, a forward, picked up where they left off last year with 23 and 21 points respectively. With two minutes left in the game, Teachers had an 18-point lead, and sent in its scrubs before 2,500 humiliated Tech fans.

(Associated Press)

The Georgia Teachers College Professors, playing like a team possessed, upset Georgia Tech 72-64 Monday night in Alexander Memorial Coliseum.

A sparse opening-night crowd saw Yellow Jacket Coach Whack Hyder use every defensive formation he could muster—man-to-man, zone, back to man-to-man and finally, a full court press. None could stop the Professors attack.

"It was a team win. For the first time in my coaching career, I have 12 boys I can put in the game and not weaken our attack," said Coach J. B. Searce after the victory.

play for your team and make the girl's intramural sports successful.

There will be a field hockey clinic for the girls Wednesday and Thursday, December 10 and 11, in the afternoon from 4 to 5.

Music Potpourri

by KITTY KELLY

Hi, Here's hoping I manage to reach you unscathed. The last couple of columns before the holidays got a bit fouled up—forgive me please!

And I suppose, you are all well rested and well-stuffed from your Thanksgiving respite! Well, two weeks and two columns or so, and the festivities begin all over again—three weeks of mad activity or inactivity—as you prefer.

The music calendar is bulging with the All-Star Concert at Savannah's Municipal Auditorium this evening. The featured group will be the Melachro Strings—Mood Music Extraordinaire! Incidentally, in case any of you ticket-holders will be unable to attend, your tickets are in demand. If you would like to buy or sell a ticket, see David Powers at the Music Building.

Another event of note is the Reading Clinic for instrumental and vocal music to be held on campus at the University of Georgia this Saturday. Your music department will be well represented with the majority of the Music Education Club to attend. You many be interested to know that the officers of MEC are this year's state officers of the Student Members of Music Educator's National Conference.

And for those of you who enjoy good choral music, the Philharmonic Choir will be presented in concert on Tuesday evening, Dec. 9 (that's this next Tuesday) in McCroan Auditorium. Featured on that program will be a special arrangement of the well known hymn, "God of Our Fathers" with soprano obligato by Mary Parrish (You old-timers at GTC may remember her illustrious brother, George, a well known former student here!) and a trumpet trio accompanied by Vermelle Pierce, Jack Willis, and Tommy Bowen. Other highlights of the evening will be selections from the music of Romberg and "Showboat." Don't miss this.

Speaking of the choir—some of you may have heard the group serenade Santa Claus, and his young fans after their exciting train trip from the "City of Dover" to Statesboro last Wednesday afternoon. Some fun, huh!

Wasn't the band concert terrific? The audience which included many out-of-town visitors was the largest I've seen in McCroan Auditorium since the Boston Pops Orchestra performed here five or six years ago! From the applause and compliments lavished on the band's various members, I venture to say that it was a tremendous success. Congratulations band—and Mr. Grumley—for the featured performers—Bobby Godwin of clarinet; and Mary Ann Harrell, Tommy Singletary, and Tom Rogers on trumpet.

Dr. Dan Hooley, associate professor of music; and Mr. Fred Grumley, instrumental instructor; together with Jimmy Tidwell and Ruth Odum observed the music department of Lyons High School one afternoon a couple of weeks ago.

The Phi Mu Alpha brothers put their pledges through informal initiation ceremonies on Tuesday night, Nov. 25, til around 6 a. m. the next morning (I hear!) At any rate, they were a pooped group Wednesday morning. Me thinks the aforesaid company spent their holidays in bed, resting up!

Well, that about covers it for another week, people. Be a good group and look in again next week. See you then?

PLAY NIGHT

Play night is held each Wednesday night from 6:30-8:00. All students are invited to attend. Such activities as table tennis, shuffleboard, paddle tennis, badminton and volleyball are offered for your enjoyment. Fun is in store for everyone who attends. So be sure to attend and get in on the fun.

Inquiring Reporter

By FRAN DIXON

If you've ever had the nerve to cross the street, you've more than likely dodged a few oncoming cars and arrived at the other side shaking! Everyone agrees GTC has a traffic problem! So—from one pedestrian to another, I asked for help and got a lot of fine answers to the question, "What can be done to improve GTC's traffic problem?"

Ramrod Simpson — One-way traffic around the circle would help.

Jane Jackson—I think we should have a parking lot for each dormitory and the students should be allowed to park only in their dormitory lots.

Barbara Williams — Make a new road coming from Highway 301 to the Marvin Pittman School. This would eliminate a lot of traffic around the circle.

Dan Williams — Speaking as hot rod—I think a student traffic court with student policemen, etc, would be a good idea.

Pete Hallman—We ought to have specific parking lots. Students shouldn't be allowed to park anywhere they take a notion.

Jim Walden—The bad curves in the streets should be straightened out. We also should return to one-way traffic around the circle and set up a speed limit that would be strictly enforced.

RAY HICKS — Putting up speed breakers would help the situation.

Joy Rahn—We should have straight yellow lines if we're going to have them. The ones we have now are hard to follow.

Dot Knight—One thing is—don't have two-way traffic—someone's going to get killed!

Grumley Is Director Of the Concert Band

By RUTH ODOM

When GTC students came back to school this past September they found many additions to the faculty. One person who is new on our campus this year is Mr. Fred Grumley, a member of the music faculty and director of the Georgia Teachers College Band.

Before coming to GTC Mr. Grumley was at Florida State University but he is originally from Columbus, Ohio. In Columbus Mr. Grumley attended Columbus High School and was a member of the high school band. During his high school years he was trumpet soloist with the park concert band of the Columbus Federation of Music. Mr. Grumley attended Capital University in Columbus. After graduation from the University his first teaching position was with the Anna Local High School near Dayton, Ohio. Through consolation Mr. Grumley became music supervisor of the entire school system which included several schools.

During the summer of 1957 before going to Florida State, Mr. Grumley was assistant tour leader of a music and art study tour sponsored by Capital University. This tour included eight European countries. The group visited many interesting places while on tour. Some of the highlights of their trip were the Wagner Festival in Germany, the Holland Festival of Music and a trip to Salzburg. They had opportunities to see and hear many famous orchestras perform. In Rome they witnessed a spectacular presentation of Aida in which live animals, elephants and horses were brought onto the stage of the amphitheater.

One of the outstanding events was seeing the performance of Shakespearean dramas at Strat-

Aptitude Test Given on Sat.

The aptitude test, one of the required graduate record examinations, will be given at GTC on Saturday, April 25, 1959 and on Saturday, July 11, 1959 according to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, director of testing.

Every graduate school candidate is required to file a formal application with Educational Testing Service and an examination fee of $8.00. An application blank is attached in the booklet "National Program for Graduate School Selection." These booklets can be obtained from the dean of the college's office or the office of the dean of students.

The Miller Analogies Test will be given on May 2 and July 18, 1959 at 9 a. m. Pre-registration ($1.00) may be completed in the office of dean of students by mail or in person.

Student NEA To Plan Evaluation Of Ga. Teachers

Student NEA met Tuesday night, November 23, at 6:30 in room 33 of the administration building.

Among other topics, the professional standards of teachers was discussed. Plans were formulated to evaluate the educational standing of high school teachers in Georgia. This program will be carried out by sending mimeographed forms to all high school principals. Each will be asked to give this evaluation sheet to each teacher. They will list their rating and what they think should be done to improve teachers standards.

Betty Biggers was elected Historian by unanimous decision and Ray Wilson chosen reporter by the Publicity Committee.

Refreshments were served consisting of punch and cookies.

year by making many additions and some changes the band has reached a proper size and instrumentation. This year the entire band will play at the basketball games rather than a smaller group as has been the practice in the past.

Members of the band feel sure that this will be a good year for the band under Mr. Grumley's very capable direction.
