

10-12-2004

Under Regents policy, "Georgia Southern grants leave with pay for research and study using criteria announced by the Faculty Development Committee in advance of each funding cycle.

Steven Damelin
Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/faculty-senate-index>

 Part of the Higher Education Administration Commons

Recommended Citation

Damelin, Steven, "Under Regents policy, "Georgia Southern grants leave with pay for research and study using criteria announced by the Faculty Development Committee in advance of each funding cycle." (2004). Faculty Senate Index. 400.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/faculty-senate-index/400>

This request for information is brought to you for free and open access by the Faculty Senate Documents at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Faculty Senate Index by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

Under Regents policy, "Georgia Southern grants leave with pay for research and study using criteria announced by the Faculty Development Committee in advance of each funding cycle.

Submitted by Steven Damelin

10/12/2004

Question:

Under Regents policy, "Georgia Southern grants leave with pay for research and study using criteria announced by the Faculty Development Committee in advance of each funding cycle. A limited number of year long leaves at half salary or semester leaves at full salary are available."

Question 1: As Georgia Southern University moves towards a Teacher-Scholar model, wouldn't it be more beneficial to administer and grant such leave based on models currently used at UGA and Georgia Tech? UGA: "Based on departmental needs and programmatic development, a head or director may recommend that a faculty member be given a leave of absence with pay."

Rationale:

The objective of study leave is to give faculty the opportunity to take time off from normal university duties to advance their research interests so that they may return to their duties with renewed energy, perspective and insight. The study leave program currently in place at Georgia Southern is a competitive and limited program.

It seems more reasonable that study leave be awarded to faculty at the department level, to assume research responsibilities on a full-time basis which are in the best interests of the department.

UGA: "Leaves of absence with pay are earned and are not entitlement. They are to be recommended by the department head [or director] only when the proposed reassignment of responsibilities is of programmatic benefit to the institution."

Response:

11-18-2004: This matter was presented to the Provost who concurs that in light of the numerous changes that have occurred at Georgia Southern since the inception of our faculty leave program it is appropriate to reevaluate this and a committee is being put together to do just that.

11-8-2004: Rice Jenkins notified the committee that the Request for Information of Steve Damelin (COST) was being considered by the Provost, who would advise in the near future on the course of action to be taken.

The RFI came from Steven Damelin from COST, which sought information on the benefit to Georgia Southern faculty of adopting a faculty professional leave program similar to those in place at Georgia Tech and UGA, particularly in light of the increasing focus on faculty as teachers and scholars. This matter was presented to the Provost who concurred that, in light of the numerous changes that have occurred at Georgia Southern since the inception of our faculty leave program, it was appropriate to reevaluate this and a committee is being put together to do just that.