Fitzgerald, Sanders, Kelly Give Senior Recitals March 8 and 9

Two student recitals will be presented at Georgia Teachers College on March 8 and 9, in the recital hall of the GTC music building. Jean Fitzgerald of Savannah and Billy Sanders of Fort Valley will give a joint student senior voice and piano recital on Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m., and Kitty Kelly of Statesboro will present her senior piano recital on Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

On Sunday, Miss Fitzgerald will play the following numbers: "Harpsichord Suite VIII," by Handel; "Sonata in A flat minor," Opus 34, No. 2, Chopin; "Lotus Land," by Scott; Five Miniatures for Piano, Opus 7, White; Tenore Lead (Madrigal) from "Ten Etudes for Piano" by Thomas; and "Prelude in G minor," Opus 28, No. 22 by Chopin.

Sanders Sings

Sanders will sing the following numbers:

Oratoria aria, "It is Enough" (Elizah), Mendelssohn; "Litany," by Schubert; Stundchen, Schubert; Anakreon's Grab by Wolffs; Adion in Matin by Pessard; "Apres un Reve" by Faure; "O du mein holden Abendstern" by Wagner and a number of spirituals.

Miss Fitzgerald is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Chester of Savannah. She is a member of the GTC band and president of Sigma Alpha Iota, the professional woman's music fraternity on campus. She is also active in the Music Education Club and the Organ Guild.

Sanders is the son of Mrs. John Sanders of Fort Valley. He is the organist for the Baptist Student Union and had a leading role in "The Fortune Teller" produced by the GTC Philharmonic Choir in February. Sanders is a baritone.

Parrish and Garrett Assist

On Monday evening Miss Kelly will be assisted in her recital by Mary Parrish of Jesup and Joan Garrett of Loganville. Miss Kelly will offer the following numbers in her presentation: "Allemande," French Suite No. 5, by Bach; Polonaise, French Suite No. 6 by Bach; No. 6 "Gavotte," French Suite No. 5 by Bach; and Vissi d'aret (Tosca) by Puccini. Miss Parrish will play "Phantasie" by Mozart; Miss Kelly will play "Tutti fior" (Madame Butterfly) by Puccini and Miss Parrish and Miss Garrett will play Three Preludes by Debussy.

Miss Kelly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly. She is very active in the music activities at GTC. Among them are the Music Education Club, Sigma Alpha Iota, Philharmonic Choir, Concert Band, the Dance Band, and student recitals in piano and voice. She is also a member of the Baptist Student Union and Masquers, the campus dramatic club.

Bel Conte Trio here March 10

The Bel Conte Trio, one of the Statesboro Community Concert Series, will present a program of music in McCroan Auditorium, Tuesday, March 10.

Following the concert a reception will be sponsored by the Student Council Social Committee with Lewis Hall House Council serving as hostesses in Lewis Hall.

Jerry Brown, Manchester, heads the Social Committee. Assistants are: Ed Brown, Dexter; Vivian Blizzard, Tennille; Jack Willis, Albany; Julia Ann Hendrix, Portal; Mickie Williams, Savannah; Wayne Smith, Lyons; Beth Rigdon, Douglas; Hubert Manning, Nahunta; Jerry Shealy, Ashburn.

Heading the Lewis Hall House

The Georgia Teachers College Professors will end practice drills on Friday for their third trip in four years to Kansas City and the National NAIA tournament.

The Profs, better balanced than last year's squad that lost out in the first round to eventual runner-up Western Illinois, won eight of the last 11 games, following a slow start. The overall season mark is 17-11.

Chester Curry (20.6) and Whitey Verstraete (20.0) lead the squad in scoring, but it is by no means a two-man team. Connie Lewis, the 6-5 Millen freshman has scored 321 points in 28 games for 11.5. He is only the third freshman in school history to pass the 300 mark. Others were Curry (375) and Chester Webb (338).

Eddie Owens, the 6-5 Brewton-Parker transfer, teams with Verstraete and freshman Carlton Gill as rebounding leaders.

Backcourt leaders have been senior Cary Moore, junior Denny Burau, and freshmen David Patton and Ray Hassett.

Burau doubles as a forward, and senior Walker Cook can also substitute at both positions. Freshmen Robert Hobbs and Adrian Winters have also seen considerable action this season. The outlook for next year's team will gain 6-8 Jim Long, a talented center who has been ineligible this season.

Curry and Verstraete, both of whom have won "Georgia's Most Valuable College Player" Awards this week, pace the Profs in most departments.

Curry leads in scoring (576) and field goal percentage (.427), is third in free throw percentage (.790) and second in assists (103).

Verstraete has the most rebounds (349) and assists (124), is second in points (560), second in field goal percentage (.329) and second in free throw percentage (.816).

Cary Moore leads the free throw shooters (.833) and Carlton Gill is second in rebounds (256).

A possible starting lineup includes 6-2 Verstraete and 6-5 Owens at forward, 6-5 Lewis at center, and 6-2 Curry and 6-2 Moore at guards, but a total of 12 different players have started this year for the Profs.

The team will depart Atlanta by plane at 6:35 p. m. EST Saturday, and is due in Kansas City at 10:10 p. m. CST.

The first round opponent will be known sometime Sunday. The first round in the single-elimination 32-team tournament is played on Monday and Tuesday. The defending champion is Tennessee State A & I from Nashville.

Profs Are Kansas City Bound

Student Council To Raise Funds

The Student Council's latest project is raising funds to have the National NAIA Basketball Tournament broadcast from Kansas City, Missouri, over radio Station WWNS, Statesboro. Three hundred dollars is the goal set by Station WWNS for the students of GTC.

Jerry Brown, vice president of the Student Council, was appointed to see Mr. William Dewberry, comptroller, about road conditions behind Sanford and Cone Halls.

President of the Student Council, Charles McLendon, was to see GTC's president Zach S. Henderson about fire protection in the Administration Building and about the traffic problems.

Helen Tanner, junior representative to the Student Council, was chosen to serve as treasurer in the absence of Jane Jackson who graduates this quarter.

This was the last Student Council meeting of the quarter.

Schools Perform In Music Festival

The sixth annual two-day First District Music Festival closed at Georgia Teachers College Saturday afternoon, February 28, with approximately 1,500 southeast Georgia elementary and high school students having participated.

They performed their various music feats before a panel of judges for ratings and criticism. High school individuals and groups were rated from "superior," the highest, down to "poor," the lowest. Elementary schools received comment and criticism only.

Verstraete And Curry Receive Top Honors

Georgia Teachers College's fine co-captains, Chester Curry and Whitey Verstraete, received honors this week probably never before attained by two players on the same team.

On Wednesday, the Atlanta Journal named Curry "Georgia College Player of the Year."

On Thursday, the Atlanta Tip-Off Club named Verstraete "Most Valuable Georgia College Player." Verstraete will be honored with a trophy at a banquet in Atlanta on March 25.

Coach J. B. Searce Jr. said "I cannot recall ever hearing of two players on the same team being named best at anything by responsible organizations. This is a great honor to both boys, and to our team."

In the Wednesday Atlanta Journal, Searce was quoted as saying "I feel that in Curry and Verstraete we have the best two players on one team in the South."

Curry thereby becomes the fifth GTC player in history to make a first team All-State selection. Others have been Scotty Perkins (1951), Pick Whaley (1952), Chester Webb (four years from 1953 to 1956), and Whitey Verstraete (1958).

Art Display Will Be Shown Soon

There will be a display of drawings and paintings in the Art Department on Friday, March 13 and Monday, March 16. These drawings and paintings are works of the students in Drawing 103 and Painting 309 classes.

New Officers Are Elected in ACE

On Wednesday, March 4, the Association for Childhood Education held its regular meeting at Marvin Pittman. Officers for the 1959-60 year were elected. They are as follows:

Janice Lindsey, president; Ava Owens, first vice president; Helen Dozier, second vice president; Susan Brandon, third vice president; Sylvia Arlington, secretary-treasurer; and Judy Meeks, publicity chairman.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

All students who graduate in June must have the measurements for caps and gowns made this quarter.

These measurements will be made in room 4 of the home economics department, located on the ground floor of the administration building.

Day students can have the measurements taken at 10 o'clock.

Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the education division, announced that Education 312, Methods of Studying Children, which is now scheduled for 9 p. m. spring quarter will not be offered. In its place, Education 446, Teaching of Reading is taught. Elementary majors should try to schedule the three courses, Education 410, 422, and 446 during the same quarter.

Seen above are: John Adams, Horace Giddens, Ruth Odom, Alexandra, his daughter; and Jane Dotson, Birdie Hubbard, Horace's sister-in-law. In this scene Birdie confesses her past to the invalid Horace and the amazed Alexandra.

K. C. Here We Come!

Kansas City here come the Profs! The GTC basketball squadron is representing Georgia and Florida in the National NAIA Basketball Tournament for the second straight year. Access to this tournament, came with sparkling victories over Mercer University, 80-66, Stetson University, 72-69, and the District NAIA crown.

Those jump-shooting juniors, Chester Curry and Whitey Verstraete, led the Profs to victory. Curry was outstanding on offense; Verstraete handled rebounds and defense. Freshman Connie Lewis looked good as he ripped the nets for 20 points in Saturday's game against the Stetson Hatters.

Senior Cary Moore was sharp time after time as he set up plans and stymied the Hatters with his playmaking. Eddie Owens, junior transfer from Brewton Parker, was hot on rebounds and defense throughout the tournament.

As the Profs leave for Kansas City, we wish them the best of luck and hope they can come back with more honors for GTC. We certainly hope that win or lose they will be Georgia's ambassador of good will to the 32 teams that will compete in the tournament.

Congratulations are extended to the whole team and the little man with the big voice as they again represent District 25 in the National NAIA Basketball Tournament.

GOOD LUCK PROFS!

Funds Solicited

The Student Council is currently seeking the necessary funds to allow the students of GTC to be able to follow the Profs in the National NAIA Basketball Tournament at Kansas City, Missouri, March 9-14.

Radio Station WWNS, Statesboro, has offered to broadcast the second game of the tournament free if the students will help raise funds for presenting the first game. The amount needed is $300.

During assembly Monday, the student body rose unanimously to pledge 50 cents per person for making this broadcast possible. The Student Council is giving this project their full support. They and house officers of the dormitories are soliciting funds on an individual and room-to-room basis.

Each person who stood during assembly is asked to keep his promise and give his donation to the Student Council representative who calls on him.

We would like to congratulate and thank the Student Council, the Dean of Students' office, radio station WWNS, and anyone else connected with making this broadcast available to the school.

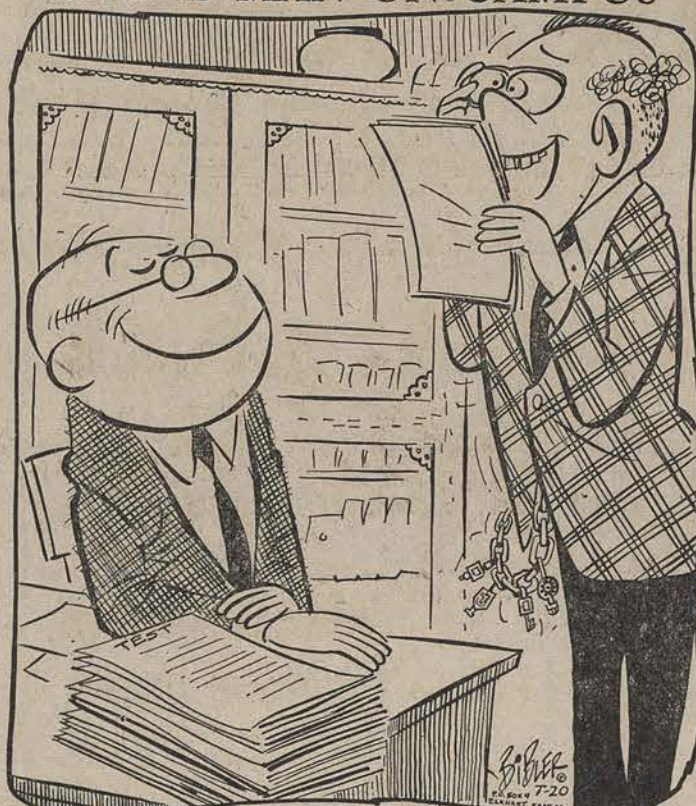

Improvements Needed

It has always been the policy of the George-Anne to advocate for needed physical improvements on the campus of GTC. Much has been done in the last few years to improve the physical plant here at GTC. Evidence of growth and development is apparent everywhere on the campus. Every student at GTC is proud of these new buildings, etc. and are looking forward with much anticipation to the day when they will be ready for occupancy.

But there is one aspect of our physical plant which has lagged behind while others have progressed—and it is none other than the roads and parking areas of the college. True, some improvement was made, under the leadership of Student Council, when the circle road was widened and marked as were the parking areas. But these improvements are not enough. Much of the surface on the circle road is broken and unlevel with large holes prevalent everywhere. This makes it not only difficult to control an automobile at normal speeds, but it also increases the chance of damaging the car—such as cracking a tire or destroying the alignment of the wheels.

The administration of the college is trying desperately to improve these conditions. The Student Council also is trying to help. With these two groups working at the problem, something worthwhile should result. But until then . . . !

By RAY WILSON

Are you the happy, carefree optimist type person? Just what part does optimism play in your life?

Some are inclined to say that this is the correct way to be. Take everything in stride, be happy, don't worry. The world is turning and tomorrow's another day. Doubtless to say the optimist seems to be the happy and free one. But is this always true? Sometimes this may be just a "cover-up" for emotional, social, and academic problems.

Some use the mode of optimist outlook because they do not have the courage to face up to the facts of life confronting them. Then the problems keep piling up. Suddenly all confronts at once. When this happens a person may have a hard time getting things back on an understandable basis. Often-times help is needed. Then there may still be danger because some still refuse to recognize the cause. Wouldn't it be much better to face up to life in each and every situation on an honest basis. Recognize your inadequacies and failures. It is no moral sin. Then once one realizes this an effort can be made to do something about the problem. But first one has to become aware of the problem. This cannot be done by saying to yourself, "everything's just fine," when it isn't.

Perhaps even some of America's chaos today has been caused by this very attitude. For years now we have advocated that we have the best of everything—the best automobiles, more telephones, the best economic, political, and social system. This may be all true but many seem to think all is not well. In fact we are being told that America now is facing the biggest crisis in economic and educational policy ever to face a nation.

The fate of the world seems to hang on whether we can solve the shrinking dollar and inadequate school system. If Americans had not said year-after-year "all's well" we might not be in the perilous situation we are in today.

Now we must face reality and assume individual responsibility for our education and economic situation or perish.

Last night the Veteran's Club sponsored their second annual Talent Review. For those of you that didn't attend—you missed a treat. Laughs came free—a barrell a dozen.

Jim Fields and Albert Burke were masters of ceremonies. Be- Fields' crooning and Burke's ad-libbing the show was more amusing than ever.

Participation was good and the acts gave enough variety not to bore the audience.

Don Lanier, a short crew-cut lad from Statesboro, captured first place with his imitations of Donald Duck. If you had closed your eyes you'd have declared that this was the voice of the Walt Disney character.

The Sanford Miscords, a rock and roll trio from Sanford Hall, received second place. James Fennell, the vocalist, was backed by Mitch Ray and Bob Sills.

"Bugler's Holiday," rendered by Mary Ann Harrell, Tommy Singletary, and Tommy Rogers landed third place for GTC's "Trumpet Trio."

The other acts, though not winners, were entertaining. We'd have to tip our hats to Ed Bailey and the other Vets who worked to make this another successful talent show.

Students are reminded that the Par-Tee Queen carpet golf course is located on south 301 about a half mile from the college. Jack Anderson, a student here manages the golf course. He urges everyone to come out and enjoy themselves. To students who complain about the limited recreation around here, this is the answer.

Origin of Psychotic Disturbance Found

By IRMA ROACH

I guess about the best thing to have to live with in a dormitory is a roommate...I guess.

Take my roommate for instance—take her for free even. Anyhow, for the past three quarters I've tried to figure out just how it all happened, but I must have been asleep or hypnotized when I said yes. But however the catastrophe fell upon my head, I must face the fact that she's mine. She's even planning to live with me for the rest of college. Ah, what a fate. Fate? Fate? That's a DOOM.

Why just the other day I was calm yworking away, and the dolt asked me what I was doing, when any two-year-old child could tell I was cleaning the cracks in the floor with my eyebrow tweezers. It's little things like that that make me believe my roommate's lacking in something: BRAINS.

For the past several weeks I had noticed books lying around, like: "How to Shrink a Human Head," "Living Alone and Liking It," "99 Ways to Kill a Roommate," "Voodooism—Do-It Yourself," but I thought nothing of it, till I kept seeing little dolls that looked like me lying around with pins stuck in them, broken backs, pinched-off heads, one even boiled in oil. But last night—ouch! those pains in my head—when I walked in, there right across from Roomie's side of the desk was a big 8 x 10 photo of me. I felt real good then, that is, till I noticed the darts.

--- Moore Or Less

By WILLIS MOORE

"Girls who dress to kill usually cook that way too." "The subject we always try to discuss...Us."

"When you say you know a person like a book, you mean the unexpurgated edition."

Most of us remember the tragic fire that raged through a church school in Chicago several weeks ago. We read newspaper accounts or saw TV broadcasts of the tragedy. At any rate, we all shared similar feelings of sympathy; we thought of the homes that had vacant places in the family circle; the small party that filed out of the cemetery as the last dirt was shoveled over a small grave.

When our thoughts travel toward the scene of the fire many questions enter our mind. Among them are; how did the fire start? How was it discovered? Why was the building not emptied sooner? Many of these questions will remain unanswered.

Occasionally we ask ourselves what we would do in case of a fire. Recently we held fire drills on campus. Generally the feeling expressed was to take such drills lightly, or completely ignore them. They are looked on, by many, as unnecessary or bothersome. They should not be pushed aside so recklessly. These drills are learning experiences, to help us keep a cool head just in case we should have a fire.

Some people go even farther than criticizing these drills. They take the responsibility of pulling a fire alarm at their own discretion. As a matter of fact, the sounding of a fire alarm, in some places on campus, receives no more than an oath from sleeping students. After which they cover their heads and continue sleeping. These joksters who think they are so funny to pull a fire alarm do not realize that there might one day be a real fire. Then people would read about death at GTC, as they did the church school in Chicago.

An immature mind can lead a person to do strange things. There just remains a hope that these people will grow up and and this dangerous, foolish, horseplay. It has been said at one time; "There are too many children in college with adults."

We students want to protect ourselves. It would not be a bad idea for us to look into the situation and do a bit of serious thinking. We may come up with a good solution.

Patton to Join Professors For 1959-60 Season

Ronnie Patton, a 6-2 senior forward at Atlanta's Smith high school has signed a basketball grant-in-aid at Georgia Teachers College.

In making the announcement, GTC athletic director and basketball coach J. B. Searce Jr. said, "We feel that Ronnie is one of the best two or three college prospects in Atlanta this year. He didn't receive the individual attention that some others did, mainly because his team had a losing record."

Patton's high school coach is Shirley Watkins. He rates him as one "of the best players I ever coached." Patton will probable be switched to guard at GTC next year, according to Searce.

Patton is believed to be the first player from the city of Atlanta to ever sign a grant-in-aid at GTC.

Profs Defeat Hatters; Represent District 25

By DOUG EVERETT

The Profs defeated Stetson University 72-69 Saturday night and earned the right to represent Georgia and Florida in the National NAIA Tournament at Kansas City, Missouri.

Chester Curry scored 27 points, 20 of them in the first half, to give the Profs their third District 25 NAIA championship in the past four years.

It was a team win, however. Connie Lewis scored 20 points, 18 of them coming in the second half. Eddie Owens contributed 12 points and led the Profs with 13 rebounds.

Carey Moore picked up nine points and was the hero of a GTC freeze, time after time driving around the defenders and either scoring or feeding a basket. Whitey Verstraete was held to four points, the lowest total of his GTC career, but took nine rebounds, led the Profs with five assists, and was used as a decoy by Coach J. B. Searce.

Stetson was led by the red hot shooting of Gene Wells with 31 points. The guard, Joel Hancock, added 14.

The game was hotly contested throughout with Stetson leading in rebounds, 50-41.

Curry hit 12 out of 21 shots from the floor and his 55-point performance in the two-game tournament was called by Coach Searce, "Chester's finest performance at GTC."

This was the fourth straight year that Stetson and GTC have met in the District 25 finals. The two teams had previously split two decisions this year. GTC's season record is now 17 and 11.

Professors Trip Mercer Bears In First Round

By DOUG EVERETT

The Profs had to fight hard to knock the Mercer Bears from the opening round of the District 25 NAIA Tournament, 80-66, at the Porter Gym, Macon, Friday night.

It was just a matter of better rebounding and a terrific field percentage of .531 on the part of the Profs that tripped the Mercer Bears. The Bruins started the game off at a fiery pace and leaped ahead in the first half. However, the margin was lost quickly as the Profs banged the nets with deadly accuracy.

Mercer never could halt the continuous rebounding of the Profs, which played a large part in the final score. Chester Curry led the Teachers' scoring with 28 big tallies. Close on his heels was Connie Lewis with 20. Forward Whitey Verstraete added 15 points.

Mercer's scoring was spearheaded by Norman Carter with 20 points. Tommy Johnson and sub Doug Harris followed with 12 points each.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Inquiring Reporter

By VIRGINIA KIRKLAND

Somebody on campus last week made the remark that "...that's the first article I look at when I pick up a George-Anne." This set the Inquiring Reporter to wondering just which articles the students like best and which ones they "turn to first."

That's why this week's question is: "Which article or column in the George-Anne do you like best and why?"

Tony Adams — Sports page. Being a PE major, that is all I am qualified to read!

Travis Doss — Editor's Desk. It's interesting and it shows a variety of things.

Pete Hallman — I like "More or Less" because it is downright "more" than anything else.

Gene Scarborough — Willis Moore's column, because it brings out some of our petty things that we do and that we don't think of as thought-provoking at all.

Mason Adams — I don't read it, because I thought it was a Communist paper.

Alex Mura — Ann Manry's column. She manages to give every side when she covers every subject.

James Ellison — I like Irma's column because there is nobody as "wacky" as I am but her.

Steve Bailey — Inquiring Reporter. It expresses so many different opinions all at one time.

Jimmy King — Ray's Way. Because he expresses his views and not someone else's—in other words, his own personal opinion.

Bill Gresham — Sports page, I guess. My main interest is in sports.

Ray Wilder — Willis Moore's column is pretty good. Usually I like the humor.

Kenny Giddens — First, the sports and from there to the letters to the editor and Inquiring Reporter. I think that these articles say more about the students as a whole than all the others put together.

Graham Anthony — I usually read the sports page first and then I read front page news and sometimes get around to all of it.

Adrian Winters — Inquiring Reporter. Because I think it is interesting. It expresses lots of different viewpoints about subjects brought up.

Doug Everett — I like the Little Man on Campus."

SEATED AT THE PIANO in East Hall is Betty Smith, GTC's co-ed of the week. Betty is a transfer student from Reinhardt College; she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Smith, Thomson. Among her hobbies are basketball, tennis, all other sports, and playing the piano. Upon graduation, this lovely young miss plans to teach school—either the first or second grade.

"Observations on the Seasonal Occurrence of a Pseudophyllidean Tapeworm Infecting the Ailmentary Tract of LEPOMIS MACROCHIRUS MACROCHIRUS Raf. in Albemarle County, Virginia." Sound like Greek to you? Well, it does to me. But to Dr. Burton Bogitsh's zoology class I'm sure it doesn't, because that's the title of an article by Dr. Bogitsh in the current issue of the AMERICAN MIDLAND NATURALIST found on the shelf of the periodical department. I'm sure those of his students who haven't already read it surely will want to do so soon. The AMERICAN MIDLAND NATURALIST is another new addition to our shelves and contains a wide selection of papers on botany, paleontology and zoology. Articles are concerned almost entirely with species found in the United States. Occasionally there are signed book reviews in the publication.

One group of students that I see frequently in the Periodical Department is from the Speech department and, you folk will be interested in a new addition to our collection, TODAY'S SPEECH, published quarterly by the Speech Association of the Eastern States. The February issue features an article on page 30 that particularly interested me, "Speech in the Senate." Two Kansas State Speech professors team up to present a survey of what speaking ability mean to the United States Senators. One question asked was, "Who is the most effective speaker in the Senate today?" Read the article in TODAY'S SPEECH and find out who 33 senators picked. Interesting? Yes?

Alpha Rho Tau To Give Awards On Honors Day

Continuing the policy of using profits from the Beauty Revue for scholarships, Alpha Rho Tau will make two $175 awards on Honors Day.

The recipients must meet these qualifications:

1. Have an academic average of C or above.
2. Have at least three more quarters in residence before graduation.
3. Active member of Alpha Rho Tau during the current school year.

Any student in the college who meets the above requirements may apply. The membership of Alpha Rho Tau cuts across all college divisions. However, all things being equal, art majors will be given preference.

Application blanks may be secured from Miss Stephens in the office of the president. They should be returned to her before April 1.
