Frank I. Williams Youth Center Is Nearing Completion At GTC

Social Science Division Offers Anthropology

Cultural Anthropology is a new course offered for the first time at Georgia Teachers College this quarter. It is listed as sociology 327, and is taught by Dr. Samuel T. Habel.

Cultural Anthropology is a study of man in his preliterature culture. Knowledge of this is gained by studying findings of archeologists and paleontologists. Dr. Habel says that another important method of study is that in which the anthropologist moves into an isolated culture, and becomes a part of it; learns its language, and lives as a native of the group. An isolated culture is one that has developed with no crossing or contact with other cultures, thus retaining the primitive customs and manners. Through cultural anthropology, today's man seeks to understand his own culture; how it grew, and why his customs are as they are.

Dr. Habel adds that another product of this study of man and his culture is the ability to understand other groups and to appreciate their customs and ways of life.

The course is well illustrated with several films on the subject, and a somewhat limited supply of relevant reading material in the library, the instructor reports.

Religious Emphasis Week Begins Here April 13-16

Rotary Winner Is Assembly Speaker Here

Mrs. Warren Dwyer, daughter of Dr. Samuel T. Habel of the social science division of GTC, delivered a talk on her experiences as a Rotary Fellow in assembly Monday, April 6.

Mrs. Dwyer, who now lives in Lincoln, Mass., was attending the University of North Carolina in 1954 when she received the fellowship to Geneva, Switzerland.

A political science major, Mrs. Dwyer attended the University of Geneva and the Institute of Political Affairs for her year of study abroad.

Mrs. Dwyer related many interesting accounts of situations she encountered while abroad. Of all the inquiries made about her home country, Mrs. Dwyer was mostly asked about how people felt about McCarthy and the situation in the South. She and other students on Rotary Fellowships stayed in the Rotarian homes.

A native of Virginia, Mrs. Dwyer taught at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina in Greensboro when she returned from her year abroad.

Later Mrs. Dwyer became a guide and lecturer in Public Relations work at the United Nations building in New York City.

The new Frank I. Williams Youth Center is nearing completion at a cost of between $550,000 and $600,000 at Georgia Teachers College Campus.

The new Frank I. Williams youth center is expected to be ready for a September opening says Clarence Mobley, contractor, and also Logan and Williams, architects.

The building will be called the Frank I. Williams Center because he was a longtime citizen of this community and because of the work done for the school by his son, Regent Everett Williams.

"We are really honoring Everett Williams through his father," states President Zach S. Henderson.

The greater part of the first floor of the building is taken up by the dining area, which will seat 400 or more students at one time and feed 800 or more in less than an hour. The main floor also contains a reading room, writing room, six possible conference rooms, a Student Council room, a yearbook staff room, a visitor's lounge, and a porch.

Downstairs is to be found the post office with its lobby, the book store, a snack bar, a large recreation and game room, and also an audio-visual department with offices, film storage space, and a film-viewing room.

President Henderson states that the school plans to keep the snack bar and game room areas open to students from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Meeting Set For All Prospective Teachers Wed.

All students desiring to be assigned to student teaching during the 1959-60 school year are asked to meet in the Marvin Pittman building auditorium on Wednesday, April 15 at 3:45 to receive application forms, according to Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the education division.

Under the regulations of the college, applications for student teaching must be filled in the spring preceding the year in which a student wishes to be assigned. Application forms are submitted to the student's major field advisor for approval and recommendation.

All students who student teach in any quarter during 1959-60 will be expected to observe in their local school during the opening week of the fall term. This "September Experience" permits the student to become acquainted with the problems a teacher faces during the opening of a new school year, which is the first experience a new teacher faces upon entering the profession. Information regarding the September Experience will be given at the meeting on April 15.

Student Housing Is A Growing Problem: Tyson

The problem of student housing at Georgia Teachers College is becoming an even greater problem, according to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students.

In order to relieve the strain on present housing facilities, certain changes are being made in the existing housing regulations.

A housing survey will be conducted on May 1 as an effort to determine the number of students who will return for the spring and fall quarters. Students who wish to reserve a room for the summer quarter must do so by May 16.

An expected increase in enrollment for the fall quarter may necessitate the placing of three men to a room in both Sanford and Cone Halls.

Dr. Tyson stated that with the great influx of college students arising from the 1942 war babies, who have just reached college age, the problem of inadequate facilities will become a major headache.

REV. SHIRAH

Earleen Sizemore's name was erroneously omitted from the Dean's List story in last week's George-Anne.

Honors Day Committee Selected From Faculty and Administration

Masquers Will Give 'A Phoenix Too Frequent'

Masquers will present Christopher Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent" in McCroan Auditorium on May 20 and 21 at 8 p. m. Director Dorothy F. Lee stated that the play will be presented in "arena style" which has not been used at Georgia Teachers College since 1954.

The scene takes place in a tomb located in ancient Rome, where we find Dynamene, a fair lady of Rome's "upper" society, who is mourning the death of her husband, and is planning to perish herself in the tomb because she feels there is nothing left to live for. Doto, a devoted servant to Dynamene, loves all men, but does not trust any of them.

Tegeus, an educated soldier, is guarding the bodies of six dead men which hung outside the tomb. He discovers the women and his belief in goodness is renewed by Dynamene's faith in her husband.

Dynamene falls in love with the soldier and this presents problems.

The play is filled with a combination of poetry and delightful humor for which Christopher Fry is so noted.

In presenting a play "in the round" or "arena style" the audience completely surrounds the acting area.

The cast will consist of: Jeanne Fulford as Dynamene, Ann Waters as Doto and Emory Giles plays Tegeus.

Alton Slater and Claude Astin are light technicians.

Science Profs Judge At Fair In Savannah

Mr. Pennington, Dr. Boole, Dr. Bogitsh, Mr. Wallace, and Miss Virginia Parker were judges at the First District Science Fair in Savannah at the Coastal Empire fair grounds on Thursday, April 2.

Exhibits being displayed in 10 areas of science were given medals for first, second, and third place winners. On April 2-4 the fair was open to the public.

The winners of the district can participate in the state Science Fair to be held in Athens later this month.

For the last three years the district Science Fair was held here at Georgia Teachers College.

MPS Students Enter 10 Projects In Fair

Convention To Be In Atlanta April 10 and 11

The Georgia Home Economics Association holds its annual convention in Atlanta Friday and Saturday, April 10-11 at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

According to Miss Betty Lane, chairman of the home economics department, Amanda Tanner and Rose Franklin are running for state office. Amanda, a candidate for reporter, and Rose, who is a candidate for state secretary, are GTC's candidates in the convention race. Amanda is from Commerce and Rose is from Statesboro.

Other members attending are: Nan Price, Carolyn Dasher, Paige Dasher, Fannie Mae Findley, and Mary McNorill.

Alice Ann Crawford, St. Mary's, and Mary McNorill, Waynesboro, will judge the Home Economics Club Dress Review Wednesday, April 8. Participants will be from the Middleground Home Economics Club. Their leader is Mrs.

Marvin Pittman High School students entered 10 projects in the annual First District Science Fair held in Savannah April 2-4. Science Teacher at Marvin Pittman is Miss Virginia Parker.

Five members of the Georgia Teachers College science division faculty helped in judging the fair. They were Dr. John Allen Boole, Dr. Burton J. Bogitsh, Mr. Fred Wallace, Mr. Tully S. Pennington, and Miss Parker.

Marvin Pittman students and their projects were: Gene Cartee, Development of Chick Embryo; Elbert Deal and Lloyd Hollingsworth, Relation Between Sunspots and Tree Rings; Bobby Ray Deloach and Darrell Ranew, Wind Tunnel; Charles Anderson and Milton Haney, Grass Incubator; Denny Rushing, Cycloid - Quickest Distance Between Two Points; Raenell Laircey and Janet Casey, Tropisms; Willie Mae Martin and Amy Jean Waters, Desalting the Air; William Brannen and Jack Deal, Metric vs. English System of Measurements; Johnny Kirby, Cross Section of Teeth; Eunice Edwards and Mickey Creech, Products From Trees.

Gertrude Gear, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Davis, the mother of home economics majors on campus here.

According to President Zach S. Henderson, the following people have been asked to serve on the Honors Committee: Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, chairman; Miss Viola Perry, Dr. Jack N. Averitt, Mr. Jess White, Miss Hassie McElveen, Mr. John Lindsey, Dr. Walter B. Mathews, and Mr. Jack Broucek.

Three types of honors will be conferred on students. Special awards include the following: James Allen Bunce Award, Alpha Psi Omega Award, Home Economics Award, Kappa Pi Award, Bulloch Herald Journalism Award, Statesboro Music Club Award, Sigma Alpha Iota Award, and the Marvin S. Pittman Scholarship Award.

Students qualifying for scholarship honors have to maintain a 3.6 average for five consecutive quarters here at GTC.

Senior men and women who have exhibited constructive leadership or rendered unselfish service during their college career are eligible for nomination by the faculty and administration for the leadership-service honor.

The Honors Committee defines as seniors those students who completed requirements for graduation in December, 1958 or March, 1959, or who will complete graduation requirements in June or August of 1959.

GTC Is Host To Ladies Auxiliary

Georgia Teachers College was host to the ladies auxiliary of the Southeast Dental Association on Thursday, April 9 when nearly fifty wives of Georgia dentists were meeting in Statesboro. The ladies met in Marvin Pittman School and heard Dr. Georgia Watson describe the educational programs leading to certification of teachers and later toured the campus.

Dr. Zach Henderson, president of the college, welcomed the group at the morning session preceding their tour of the campus. Following the general session, the ladies visited in Lewis Hall, the film library, the nursery school, the physical education building and many other points of interest on the campus.

Following the tour, the auxiliary met for lunch at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen where they heard an address by Dr. J. D. Park, director of professional education.

Profs Attend Music Meeting

Mr. Fred Grumley, Dr. Dan Hooley, and Mr. Jack Broucek are attending the Southern Music Educators Association being held in Roanoke, Virginia, this week. Dr. Hooley and Mr. Broucek are to take parts on the program.

Our band and chorus groups are entertaining the representatives of the various Women's Clubs of Georgia as they hold their state convention here April 8 and 9.

On April 15, Mr. Broucek will go to Florida State University to play in the Gershwin Festival while Dr. Ronald Neil journeys to Macon to judge the vocal events in the State Literary Meet.

This Bit

By JIM BRANDON

Maybe it's because spring is here. Maybe it's because everyone was too broke to go elsewhere. At any rate, it was great to see so many people at the dance Saturday night. I think that most of us will agree, that the dances are more worthwhile when they are well attended. Not only do you "hump into" more friends, but the band has greater incentive to do a better job. Our dance band and combo are like any other people; they work harder when more appreciation is shown. What better way to show appreciation than to come listen to them play and to dance to their noise.

The combo, which plays at most of the dances, other than the record hops, is made up of five GTC students.

Jack Willis, on trumpet, plays first cornet in the college band. He is a major from Albany, Ga. He is the leader of the group.

Kitty Kelly, at piano, is a senior music major from Statesboro. This quarter, she is practicing teaching at Portal.

Dickie Baker, a social science major from Cordele plays clarinet and sings with the group.

Jimmy Tidwell, a music major from Panama City, Fla. plays drums. He traveled professionally for a year before entering college.

On string bass is David Powers, a music major from Tifton. He is in the college band, and plays tuba and string bass in the Savannah Symphony Orchestra.

All for now, see you at the next dance.

--- Moore Or Less

By WILLIS MOORE

Recently an announcement was made that several students were interested in skin-diving; interested enough to form a skin-divers club. This brought to mind the thought that there are many different and varied fields of interest right here at GTC. It would not be a completely false generalization that there are as many different types of interest as there are students here.

At one time or another during a quarter we all have some spare time. If we don't we make some, especially at the beginning of the quarter. We are just beginning a new quarter, and lest time be idly wasted, we would drop a suggestion or two.

Since there are so many different interests among students, you may want to broaden your knowledge of your hobby. The Rosenwald Library has about any amount of material on almost any topic that you can think of. This sounds like a very naive statement; but many students seem to have the idea that about all the library is for, is to look up some classroom assignment in a reference book. Then they leave the library about as fast as a priest would leave a poker game.

We are about to suggest a dangerous venture. Do not read just part of this or you may become misled. We suggest that you just kill some time. Take this time to walk through the stack room upstairs in the library with no thought of one particular book in mind. Just skim over the titles of books on the shelves. You will begin to see much potential for pleasure reading, reading in a quest for knowledge, reading to inform, and just plain research. Now, after you have done this and no inspiration has hit you, go to the card catalogue or Readers Guide and look under a pet heading or topic and just look for something that sparks a note of curiosity; then you will have added pleasure and knowledge that your time was not wasted.

Wesley Foundation Elects New Officers

The Wesley Foundation, taking the places of the old officers who are: president, Ellen Sumner; vice president, Gene Scarborough; secretary, Martha Burgess; treasurer, Dianne Brannen.

Wesley Foundation officers are elected each spring quarter and serve through winter quarter of the next year.

New officers will be installed in a Sunday night church service very soon.

Well, the National League is plaguing the Yankees again this year, but don't give up Yankee fans, the Yanks are still Yanks. Ask Dr. Henderson or Tom Coffey. They will tell you so.

Together with this warm spring weather and a promising baseball schedule, GTC students are in for some fine entertainment. GTC may not play major league ball, but you will see a fine college performance of baseball play on our diamond. With the two wins over American International, our record now stands at five wins and two losses, with seven more home games left to play in the season. Why don't you come down and join us?

Speaking of baseball, here is a story sent out this week by the National NAIA office at Kansas City, the following quote: "Georgia Teachers College of Statesboro, winner of two games in the NAIA basketball championship this year likes to start a season with a big upset. In the basketball season the Professors defeated Georgia Tech in an opener and now has started the baseball season with a victory over the University of Kentucky."

There has been quite a bit of action on the tennis courts since the warm weather has arrived. Many students have asked me how we might get some new courts installed. To this question Dr. Henderson informed me that a $10,000 appropriation would be necessary for these courts. Does anyone have a suggestion as to how I might start?

Don't forget to check your intramural schedule. These programs are for your enjoyment. Why not take advantage of them?

Several Profs looked good in the GTC "B" team's 8-6 loss to Brewton Parker Wednesday. Bill Criscillis looks like he has made the transition from pitcher to outfielder with success, and the little Wayne Smith showed he can catch as well as hit.

Intramural Roundup

By LANI SCHEWE

TENNIS

Tennis doubles will start next week for both men and women. Anyone wishing to participate must have his name in to the intramural office by Friday.

Co-recreational tennis will be held this quarter according to coach Jess White, head of intramurals. Although no definite date has been set, plans are underway.

SOFTBALL

Softball games are played at 3:45 and 5:45 behind the new gym. To find out when you play, contact your manager.

PLAY NIGHT

During this quarter play night will start at 7 p. m. instead of at the usual 6:00 p. m. time. This is due to the lateness that the softball games will be played.

Bill Mallard Is Tops At Third

Who would you say is the best fielding third baseman at GTC since World War II? According to Coach J. I. Clements it is Bill Mallard, our present third sacker. Mallard now has six putouts, 17 assists, and two errors to his credit, for a .920 average, a pretty fair country average.

"Bill is a good ball player," states Coach Clements. "He is a hustler, has a good arm, and is very good with a glove. He is a better hitter than his average now shows."

Bill is a junior business major from Sardis, Georgia, a brother of a former GTC student and baseball player, Johnny Mallard.

Profs Take Two From American Internat'l

By MIKE POOLE

The Profs took both games of a two-game series with American International College of Springfield, Mass. by the scores of 14-12 here last Friday and Saturday.

In the first of the two contests the Profs came from behind to take the win. The Profs had their big inning in the seventh when they scored 10 runs off two hits and nine big walks. Buzzy McMillian and "Red" Robinson accounted for the two hits.

Fran Maloney started AIC but was relieved by Otto Welker. In the seventh AIC had to use three hurlers before stopping the Prof walkathon. Welker started the seventh, but was relieved by Edwin Keefe, who was also pulled in favor of Russell Venditte. Venditte went the rest of the way.

Ray Mims started for the Profs but was pulled in the first frame because of a stiff shoulder. Larry Moore took the hill for GTC and picked up the win with the relief help of Clyde Miller who came on in the top of the ninth and finished up.

AIC out hit the Profs 11 hits to the Profs eight. The Profs committed eight miscues to AIC's four. Billy "Red" Robinson and Miller Findley were the big men at the plate for GTC with each getting two for five. Bo Altman, freshmen right hander from Waycross, started the second game and went all the way to pick up his second win of the season as the Profs downed AIC four to one.

The Profs picked up three tallies in the first inning on a walk to Buzzy McMillian, a single by Miller Findley, a ground rule double by Donald Lord and a single by Ralph "Bull" Berryhill. The Profs added one more tally in the fifth to wrap it up. Shortstop Donald Lord was the leading hitter of the day with two hits for three times at bat for GTC, while Dick Nadolny was hot for AIC with four for four.

The Teachers were outdone at the plate by the Mass. boys as AIC got nine hits to the Profs seven, but AIC committed six errors to the Profs three.

The next Prof varsity home game is this Thursday when the Profs met Amherst College of Mass.

Campus Capers

By MARY ANN HARRELL

Another day, another week and farther behind in all classes. That is the way things go, isn't it?

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love. If that statement is not true, GTC certainly is not the place to prove it. Just listen to this—Tony Adams and Sue Colvin (a former GTC student) have announced their plans to be married in August. I also hear that Glenn Clower and Nancy Rogers (a student at South Georgia) will be married in June. I also hear it rumored that Harry Clark is secretly engaged. Who is it Harry?

Have you heard about Dickie Baker and Charlie Griffin? They were overheard talking the other day? Dickie said, "Charlie, meet me at the P. O. tomorrow morning at 7:30. If you get there first I'll draw a blue line and if you get there first you erase it." Have you noticed all the peroxided heads lately? Looks like it might become a fad. All the fellows have become "blondes."

I hear that the students of Tech have an idea for a new category for the Academy Awards. The person most likely to attract attention outside the theatres. They even nominated winners for this category, Eddie, Debbie, and Liz. Speaking of them, how did you like the winners of the Academy Awards. Seems like "Gigi," must have been a mighty good movie.

Last night the GTC band performed for the GFWC in McCroan Auditorium. Betty Sue Mashburn, who was a featured soloist with the band, gave an excellent performance on the piano.

MISS DOROTHY THOMAS

Dorothy Thomas Accepts Position In Music Dept.

By MARY ANN HARRELL

The newest addition to the Georgia Teachers College faculty has already endeared herself to her students with her warm, friendly personality. Miss Dorothy Thomas, who is an assistant professor in the division of music, is a native of Milwaukee, Wisconsin where she had lived all her life until coming to Georgia this past March.

She attended DePaul University in Greencastle, Ind., where she earned both the Bachelor of Music and the Master of Music degrees. Miss Thomas says that she only decided to major in music after she was told she could not work in enough courses to minor in it, but she assures everyone that she has never regretted her decision for one moment.

An excellent musician, she has had much experience performing with musical organizations, having been a member of bands and orchestras throughout her school career. While in college she was a member of the American Guild of Organists, Phi Mu Honorary Music Sorority and other honorary educational associations.

Her teaching experience includes two years in the Milwaukee public schools, where she taught junior high school instrumental music, general music and private and class lessons.

Her plans for the future include more teaching and possibly graduate school, where she will work on the doctorate degree.

When asked her impression of GTC and Georgia, Miss Thomas smiled and replied, "I hate to use the trite expression 'hospitality' that people from the North always use about the South, but I certainly have been impressed by the warmth of the college students and the people of the community." She also said that she was certainly enjoying the Georgia spring, particularly since Milwaukee weather is well below freezing and is threatened by floods.

The classes taught by this charming young woman are interesting and informative; her students all agree that she is an extremely good teacher. Miss Thomas is an extremely friendly person and would enjoy meeting all the GTC students. If you have a minute, drop by and see her. You will enjoy your visit with such a talented and interesting person.

"Where the Crowds Go"

Inquiring Reporter

By TONY ADAMS

As the speed problem on the campus has caused so much confusion lately, we were wondering just how the problem could be solved. To hit upon a solution, we asked this question: "Do you think speedbreakers would help solve the speeding problem on the campus?" Some answers are as follows:

Ann Finn—Oh yes! It would benefit all the students by helping to eliminate the ever present speedster.

Bobby Webb—You know it would! It would stop them one way or the other.

Miriam Strickland — Yes, it would prevent most accidents that do occur here on campus.

Dexter Hughes—No, it would only slow them down for the moment.

Tommy Hall—It might, but who'd be on time for classes?

Mose Bass—Uh huh! It would slow them down before someone gets killed.

Harry Clark—If I knew what a speedbreaker was, I could answer the question with some authority; otherwise, I'll make no statement.

Dahl McDermitt—Theoretically speaking, it would definitely get the job done. I've experienced its use at other campuses.

Jo Dasher—I don't know. I've never thought about it.

Nann Crosby—Yes, if they would patch these holes!

Jim Fields—Naturally it would help. They would have to slow down or tear up their tires.

Susan Brandon—Gosh! I know it would help... you just can't go over them too fast.

Glenn Clower — Surely it would help a lot, but the only thing that would solve the problem is the GTC students.

Pat Hiers — There's enough speedbreakers on campus already, if you ask me!
