POLLS OPEN TUESDAY

Congress Candidates Await Decision Of Student Body

The polls will be opened from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Frank I. Williams Center for the election of Student Congress officers, according to L. W. Hartley, president.

Eleven candidates are seeking positions as president, first vice president, second vice president, secretary and treasurer.

PRESIDENT

Vying for the position of President are Dan Broucek, a junior music major from Statesboro, and John McCormack, a junior Chemistry major from Statesboro.

Broucek is past president of Westminster Fellowship, president of Phi Mu Alpha, vice president of Alpha Gamma Pi, and a member of the Philharmonic Choir and German Club. McCormack is a member of Wesley Foundation and Alpha Gamma Pi.

The duties of the President of the Student Congress as listed in the constitution are to preside at all meetings, chair the Executive Committee, appoint all other committees, serve as spokesman for the student body and serve as executive officer of the Congress.

1st VICE PRESIDENT

Running for First Vice President are Charles Johnson, a junior math major from Waycross, and James Stapleton, a sophomore physical education major from Wrightsville.

Johnson is past president of the sophomore class and served as secretary of Alpha Gamma Pi and treasurer of Phi Mu Alpha. He is vice president of Kappa Phi Kappa and is a member of the German Club and the Cone Hall House Council.

Stapleton played on the freshman basketball team and is on the George-Anne sports staff. He is a pledge for Kappa Phi Kappa.

The First Vice President of the Student Congress is chairman of the Social Committee and is responsible for scheduling all social events of GSC. He serves during the absence of the president.

2nd VICE PRESIDENT

Keith Arnsdorff, Jackie Mullis, and Roger Jessup are candidates for the office of Second Vice President.

Arnsdorff is a junior history major from Springfield. Mullis is a sophomore physical education major from Hawkinsville.

Jessup, a junior industry major from Portal, is recording secretary of Alpha Phi Omega and is a dormitory and student assistant.

The Second Vice President is Chairman of the Committee of Campus Organizations and is in charge of setting up criteria for the Outstanding Organizations A-

50 Organizations To Compete For 'Most Outstanding'

The Committee of Campus Organizations decided Monday night the policies and procedures to be used when campus organizations are rated for Honors Day awards.

Awards will be given to the outstanding organization in each of four categories during the Honors Day ceremonies on May 10, according to Pat Blanchard, chairman of the Committee of Campus Organizations.

Approximately 50 organizations will compete in the four categories—service, professional, departmental, and interest. Eighty percent of the organizations are within the first three categories.

The fourth category, interest, was created this year to insure "fair representation for all organizations," stated Blanchard.

Organizations will be judged for awards by information sheets which will be completed at a meeting of the Committee of Campus Organizations next week.

Each organization will submit a sheet stating the name of the organization and the category (service, professional, departmental, or interest) as listed in the new college catalog.

POINT SYSTEM

A list of projects and other work done by the organization will be rated on a point system. The criteria used in judging the organizations are: purpose and objectives, 60 points; internal activities, 10 points; campus-wide activities, 15 points; attendance at organization meetings, 5 points; and outstanding publicity, 10 points.

The Committee discussed the selection of judges for the a-

Fees For Senior 'Lantern Walk' Are Due Friday

A fee of 35 cents from all seniors participating in the annual Lantern Walk Tradition will be due next Friday, according to James Rainwater, president of the senior class.

Rainwater said the traditional "final" march around campus by all the seniors will take place on May 30. The fee was established to pay for the cost of the Japanese Lanterns which will be used for the occasion.

The fee may be paid to Rainwater or Dr. Tully S. Pennington, sponsor of the senior class.

By BRYANT YOUMANS
Staff Writer

Dr. Richard L. Walker, the James F. Byrnes Professor of International Relations and Director of the Institute of International Studies at the University of South Carolina will speak this morning at 10:30 in the Marvin Pittman School auditorium.

The appearance of Dr. Walker marks the third speaker in the series of Social Science Lecturers for this year. Walker will continue his lectures tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. Walker received his Ph.D. from Yale in the field of International Relations. Later, he became assistant professor of History at that institution.

Walker has also served as Visiting Professor at the National Taiwan University in Formosa, at the University of Washington, and at the National War College in Washington.

His present assignment at the University of South Carolina was organized in 1959. This assignment included Walker's attainment of the endowed chair.

According to Dr. Jack N. Averitt, chairman of the division of social science, Walker has "lectured and traveled widely in the United States as well as abroad."

Walker was the keynote speaker for the United States delegation at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) Conference on "Countering Communist Subversion In The Philippines in 1957." In 1960, he was the United States delegate to the 25th International Congress of Orientalists in Moscow.

Furthermore, Walker has served in the capacity of educational consultant for the Standing Committee on Communism sponsored by the American Bar Association.

Walker is a leading authority on Modern China and the Far East. He is the author of five books, one is entitled "China Under Communism."

In commenting on today's lecturer, Dr. Averitt said that "Walker is not only academic in his approach and interpretation of the Far East, but he is also a dynamic and forceful lecturer."

Twelve GSC Professors Promoted

Twelve Georgia Southern faculty members received promotions in rank which were approved by the Board of Regents of the University System at last week's meeting, according to Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of the college.

Promoted to the rank of Professor were Miss Frieda Gerant, art; Carl F. Hankins, business administration; Harold T. Johnson, education; David A. Ruffin, English; Otis H. Stephens, political science; and Walter Rollin Williams, industrial education.

Four faculty members were promoted to the rank of Associate Professor. They are: Clair I. Colvin, chemistry; Robert F. Lewis, education; Thomas Mariani and Richard J. Stebbins, health and physical education.

Two members of the faculty were promoted to the rank of assistant professor. Leaving the rank of Instructor are Mrs. Mary Lucy Mikell, speech; and Arthur Sparks, mathematics.

The recent promotions bring the number of Professors at Southern to 33. Seventeen Associate Professors, 61 Assistant Professors, and 23 Instructors complete the total number of faculty members.

Dr. Henderson recommended the promotions late in March, and the Regents gave their approval last week. Henderson also stated that no faculty members would be promoted to the rank of associate professor unless they held a degree higher than Masters.

The GSC President also stated that over 20 persons have been recommended for faculty and staff positions next year.

Honors Day Plans Near Completion

Plans for the annual Honors Day Convocation will be completed within the next two weeks, according to Dr. Tully S. Pennington, chairman of the Georgia Southern Honors Committee.

The program gets underway on May 10 at 10 a.m. All third and fourth period classes will be dismissed so that all students may attend the program, stated Paul F. Carroll, academic dean.

Guest speaker for the occasion is James R. Golden, manager of the Ford Motor Company's Atlanta Regional Office of Civic and Governmental Affairs.

The Honors Committee will recognize three groups of undergraduate students during the convocation. The first group will consist of students who have maintained a 3.8 grade average for five consecutive quarters.

Seniors who have displayed outstanding leadership and unselfish service to the college will compose the second group.

The third group will consist of students who have earned medals, cups and special awards during the year for participation in college activities.

Special awards include the Hester Newton Award, given annually to an outstanding student in the division of social science; the Alpha Psi Omega Award, given each year to the student contributing most to the advancement of the college theatre.

'Seasons' Postpone Concert; Laryngitis Stated As Cause

By TOM KING
News Editor

The Four Seasons, who were scheduled to appear tonight at Georgia Southern College at 8:30 p.m. in the W. S. Hanner Building, have postponed their engagement due to an illness contracted by two members of the nationally recognized recording group.

"We received a phone call this morning from a doctor in Beverly Hills, California, who informed us that two members of The Four Seasons had become ill with a case of laryngitis and could not appear," stated Jimmy Hilliard, treasurer of Sigma Epsilon Chi, service fraternity that was to sponsor the appearance of the group.

According to Hilliard, Sigma Epsilon Chi has a choice of any date for the appearance of the "Seasons" after the illness has passed.

"We will know the exact date that they will appear on Saturday and will release this information as soon as it is made available," he stated.

Commenting on the problem of tickets, Hilliard stated that the holders of tickets will have their money refunded if they wish, although the same tickets will be valid for the upcoming appearance of the group.

Comprising The Four Seasons are: Frankie Valli, a native of Newark, N. J., who plays the drums. Tommy DeVito plays the guitar and is the baritone singer for the group.

Nick Massi, who plays the bass and the guitar, is a self-taught musician from Bloomfield, N. J. Bob Gaudio plays the organ and is the only member of the group who is not a native of New Jersey. Gaudio has written all the hit songs that The Four Seasons have recorded.

"This was beyond the control of Sigma Epsilon Chi and we regret it worse than anyone else," Hilliard added.

Rolling Stones

The Sig Eps are also sponsoring the appearance of the Rollingstones, the number three English group of world-wide fame, who will appear at Southern May 4, in the Hanner Building.

The 'Stones' are ranked number three behind the Beatles and the Dave Clark Five. They have appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and have performed before capacity crowds in Washington, New York and Chicago.

Three additional groups to appear along with the Rollingstones. Tentatively scheduled are The Roeman, The Revelons, and the third group yet to be announced.

Kerry Strong Selected

Miss Kerry Strong, a senior Home Economics major from Perry, has been selected as the recipient of the Georgia Nutrition Council Scholarship for graduate study in nutrition.

Miss Strong will study at the University of Tennessee in the School of Home Economics beginning in September 1965.

In addition to being active in several campus organizations, Miss Strong was elected as Second Vice President of the College Chapter of the Georgia Home Economics Association and was one of eighteen seniors elected to "Who's Who in Colleges and Universities" at Georgia Southern.

Library Science Program Sees Revisions Effective Fall Quarter

The library science program has undergone some changes which will be effective fall quarter 1965-66, according to Mary B. Ginter, instructor in library science.

The four courses in library science will be offered each year in the sequence set up in the new college catalog.

Library Science 301 and 304 are taught in the fall; library science 302 in the winter; and library science 303 in the spring.

The names of some of the courses have been changed to describe more aptly the nature of the course. Library science 304 is now Selection and Use of Books and Related Material, instead of Children and Young People's Reading.

According to Miss Ginter, library science 303 should follow library science 301 and 302.

The summer school program will continue with two courses being offered each summer quarter. Library science 301 and 304 will be taught in 1965, and library science 302 and 303 in 1966.

The courses are open to juniors and seniors only. However, Miss Ginter stated that advisement during the freshman and sophomore years will help in scheduling the undergraduate program in library science.

Henderson Will Serve On Panel

Dr. Zach Henderson, president of the Georgia Education Association, will serve on a panel at the convention of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers on April 21, at Jekyll Island.

A youth panel consisting of four youth leaders from Glynn County and the adult panel will present discussion that carry out the convention theme, "Making a Community."

THE ELECTION AND THE NEW CONGRESS

Student Congress elections will take place Tuesday, and the present Congress is expecting the largest turnout in the school's history. The George-Anne hopes the percentage of voters will be as high as anticipated because we feel that the new Congress members will have an opportunity to make student government at Southern more important that it has ever been in the past.

The Congress hopefuls have stated their platforms and purposes in other pages in this week's edition. We urge all students to read the views of the eleven candidates before casting their ballots.

The George-Anne, as usual, will not endorse any particular candidate, but we feel that certain issues concerning the role of Student Congress as a governing body need careful consideration by the new members, "lame-duck" members, and the student body as a whole.

We would like to see the Congress take some voice in the distribution of the Student Activity Fee. The George-Anne has no complaints about the way the fee has been distributed in the past, but we feel that if the Congress Finance Committee could aid in planning the use of the fee, the Congress and the students themselves would be more aware of the money needed to finance the athletic programs, the campus publications, the Campus Life Enrichment Committee's attractions, and the Student Congress affairs.

However, we do not wish to see the money appropriated to the Congress through the activity fee become used for so-called big-name entertainment. A separate fee has already been established for this purpose, and if more definite action concerning the control of this fee were taken, the Congress attempts to obtain social attractions would be greatly improved.

We feel that the Congress should use the money from the activity fee for more worthwhile purposes such as sending delegates to student government conventions and sponsoring the appearance of nationally famous personalities (other than folk groups), as well as providing for its own internal affairs.

We would also like to see the Congress take a more active part in planning such activities as orientation, Honors Day, and the selection of candidates for "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities."

The George-Anne would like to see the Congress consider new programs such as the establishment of more honorary, academic, and professional societies at Southern.

The opportunities for the new Congress to provide GSC with a more balanced social, academic, and cultural atmosphere are innumerable. However, the job of governing student affairs at Georgia Southern is no easy task.

As campus leaders and as potential future leaders, the Congress members will be called upon to make many decisions and assume leadership responsibility. Mistakes will be expected, but these mistakes should be those of the members themselves; and they should be able to profit from them. Thus, the campus leaders of today will be more adequately prepared to accept their individual roles in society when they leave the Congress and Georgia Southern College.

A FITTING TRIBUTE

Georgia Southern College, in the opinion of The George-Anne, has two head coaches who have rolled up some highly impressive records, not only in their respective athletic fields but also behind some dinner tables in which the occasions have been in their honor.

Coach J. B. Searce and Coach J. I. Clements have served GSC faithfully in the athletic world and have been honored quite frequently for the outstanding teams that have resulted from their admirable coaching abilities.

Searce, who is sometimes referred to as "Mr. Basketball of Georgia" continuously produces outstanding cage teams at Southern. This year's record of 22-5 speaks for itself. The "Kentucky Colonel" has been named Coach of the Year in Georgia four consecutive times.

The "dean of the diamond" is a term used to refer to Coach Clements. He is currently completing his 17th season as the Eagle baseball coach. Clements was named the NAIA Coach of the Year in 1963. Another honor which helped GSC baseball gain national recognition was Clements being named President of the NAIA Baseball Coaches Association in the same year.

The George-Anne appreciates the many contributions made by these two outstanding coaches and we feel the banquet given in their honor will be a fitting tribute to two "Eagle greats."

JANICE McNORRILL

Students on a recent field trip from Georgia Southern College gazed in awe at the most impressive sight at the Reidsville State Prison—the electric chair.

The chair is a square, wooden structure painted white. It looks as though it should be sitting in a museum next to a model of a French guillotine.

McNorrill

For many criminals, the chair has been the end of a journey that might have begun in any part of the state with the enactment of any crime which carried with it the penalty of capital punishment.

It's a long journey that has led from the scene of the crime, through the courtroom, into the winding prison corridors of the penitentiary and into death row.

The use of the electric chair in carrying out executions is a controversial issue which has been constantly attacked, criticized, or defended by prison authorities, ministers, politicians, laymen and others.

What are the pros and cons of capital punishment?

Those who oppose it maintain first that no human being has the right to take another's life. Recalling the commandment that "Thou shalt not kill," they prefer to leave the most severe penalty, death, to an authority higher than themselves.

Next, the inequities which exist in our society and which are carried into the court may also be pointed out. It is a well-known fact that persons from the lower socio-economic classes are more likely to be arrested for misdemeanors and for felonies.

Likewise they are more likely to be convicted, with reasons ranging from a lack of understanding of their civil rights while they are under arrest, to a lack of funds for the securing of adequate counsel.

A third reason offered by those who wish to abolish the practice of capital punishment is that the rate of crime and method of punishment bear little correlation. It has been said that the threat of capital punishment sometimes succeeds only in increasing the risk factors to the point where the gambler finds them attractive.

The man who adamantly opposes capital punishment is R. P. Balkcom, warden at the Reidsville prison. He told Georgia Southern students that he had never witnessed an execution.

What about those who favor capital punishment? Their reasons for favoring the policy seems to center around the idea that the general welfare of all the state's citizens are affected when a crime is committed. They cite examples of criminals who are paroled and then commit another equally offensive act. The person who repeatedly poses a threat to society, they maintain, should be executed.

This Puritan from of vengeance in those who agree that a person must "pay for his crime" is poorly disguised even in the 20th century. When a seemingly senseless act is committed, public outcry demands compensation for the loss.

A study of capital punishment is presently being conducted by a state commission set up for the purpose of examining Georgia's policy of capital punishment and for making recommendations for its continued use or for its abolition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Congratulations to the brothers of APO for their courageous stand against what ever they are taking a stand against. I was not aware of any conspiracy to commit mayhem by the students of this college. It seems to me that the best thing an individual or a group can do to promote acts of violence that have not materialized is to come out against them.

Had the holier-than-thou brothers not come out, in an ad yet, against unusual conduct, the subject probably would not have even come to the attention of the student body.

As all of us remember, it was a somewhat unusual set of circumstances that set off last year's riots. I believe that if there are no unusual occurrences this year, there will be no riots.

BRYANT YOUNG

Pressure On President To End Viet Nam War

By BRYANT YOUNG

Recently much pressure has been applied upon President Johnson to halt the bombings in North Vietnam and to bring an end of the war in that country. This pressure has been exemplified in recent demonstrations in the "so called march on Washington."

YOUNG

These demonstrations are now a part of a nationwide movement for an immediate negotiation in the war-torn country of Vietnam.

FREE AND INDEPENDENT

The United States' position is that Vietnam is to become a free and independent country. Certainly this country wants peace and not war; but, can the United States retreat even before a negotiation? Some people would advocate this policy.

If the United States withdraws at this very moment, we will not only lose face, but it will risk losing all of Southeast Asia to the Communists.

The peace negotiators would counter this argument by saying that it is better to lose face than American blood. This is true, but American blood has been spilled before in order to halt Communist advancement.

The reader should not get the impression that this writer advocates war—far from that, but the point is that these agitators should realize that everything can't be settled in such idealistic terms.

MORE INFORMED

These agitators for immediate negotiation seem to indicate that they are more informed about the situation in Vietnam than either the president, the Defense Department, officials. How could it be possible that these people know more about the strategic situation in Vietnam?

A part of this movement for immediate negotiation is being supported by university and college professors. For example, a recent "open letter" was sent to President Johnson signed by 156 college professors. They condemned the action taken by the United States in the bombing of North Vietnam.

It should be noted that this agitation for negotiation really didn't get under way until the United States retaliated against North Vietnam attacks.

It seems that our position is to remain firm in that country called Vietnam until the Communists are ready to come to the peace table. To withdraw from Vietnam at this moment would be suicide because the Communists would be closer to their conquest of all Southeast Asia. To withdraw from Vietnam would only result in fighting another "Korea."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"OF COURSE I REMEMBER YOUR WARNING ABOUT HIM — SO I WORE AN OLD DRESS."

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Sit-Ins May Be Next College Fad

(ACP)—Two University of California, Berkeley, fraternities believe they have found the "real thing" in sit-ins, says the Daily Californian.

Until noon one Saturday, the Sigma Alpha Epsilons and the Alpha Kappa Lambdas were locked in a life and death struggle to see who could sit in a chair the longest.

Two chairs were built to scale and donated by a national renting agency. The rules are rigorous: the sit-in cannot lie down, stand up or lean on his elbows.

After 12 hours, beginning at midnight, the SAE gave up. But Ben Reese of AKL was heading into his 40th hour and planned to go for 100.

The stunt was a promotion for Abbey Rents, who presumably home that sit-ins will become the newest college fad.

DOG HOUSE

(ACP)—Living as a mascot in a fraternity house would be enough to drive any dog to law-breaking, says the Kansas State Collegian.

Such is the case of Brandy, one of six mascots living in fraternities at K-State.

Brandy is on $50 bond. He got in trouble with the police for violating the city leash law and now is sticking a little closer to home, the Delta Tau Delta house.

Brandy is a 190-pound St. Bernard and is reportedly still growing. The Deltas have had him for two years.

A contest was held in the house to name the pup. The St. Bernard then became Brandy, Duke of Delta Tau.

"I take care of him and appoint two pledges to feed him a week," said Steve Herbel, junior and dogkeeper.

Brandy eats 50 pounds of dog food a month and has the run of the Delta house. He has a doghouse in the back yard, but Herbel says, "It's just a fixture. He sleeps inside."

INTERNS

(ACP)—From the Oklahoma Daily, University of Oklahoma, Norman:

OU's senior class has established a new program that may turn out to be one of the best "class gifts" yet. . . no sweat-shirt or senior weekends, but an administrative internship system.

Religious Emphasis Week Meaning Is Misinterpreted

By WINFRED L. GODWIN
Director, Southern Regional Education Board

Religious Emphasis Week, now being observed at many colleges and universities throughout the South, is, like many other cherished traditions, currently under fire. In fact, it has disappeared altogether from many campuses throughout the nation.

The Reverend Malcolm Boyd, Episcopal Chaplain-at-Large to universities campuses, recently attacked the whole concept as "blasphemous," explaining that relegating religion to a specific week implied that it is irrelevant to the dynamic flux and change on the American campus today.

John E. Cantelon, Chaplain at the University of Southern California, writing in a recent issue of "The Christian Century," regards the religious emphasis period on campus as something more to be pitied than scorned.

Oversimplifies

"By its very nature it oversimplified the relationship between faith and higher education," he says. "It was best suited to a simple gospel and is still favored by denominations that make a rather simplistic approach to evangelism."

He argues that it is a one way street, "an opportunity for the church to speak to the university but not for the university to speak to the church."

In his article, he points out that one week of religious emphasis often takes a full year of planning; it raises questions about religion with which it can't deal in such a short time; and many students recognize that their colleges use it for "good publicity."

According to his findings, campus chaplains believed that the time and resources which this week required of religious groups could be used more effectively in other endeavors throughout the year.

Needs Overhauling

J. Claude Evans, chaplain at Southern Methodist University, argues that the week needs overhauling, but not necessarily disposal. It must be revamped to bring in "the relevance of Christianity to our culture," he says.

Indications are that this is what some campuses are attempting. For example, Rod Sterling, the noted television writer, recently made a series of talks on the moral and ethical problems of influence in mass communications media during Florida State University's annual Religion-In-Life series.

Religion-In-Life week at High Point College (North Carolina), titled "The New Morality," questioned whether our morality today is based on Playboy magazine or on the Bible and featured showings of "La Dolce Vita," a parable of futility and spiritual decay in contemporary Rome.

Virtually Ignored

Barbara Ward, noted British commentator on contemporary economic and political problems, climaxed the University of Florida's Religion-In-Life week by calling on religious people to solve the enmities between nations by reaching out to the human substance in every human being.

Traditionalists may shudder at these innovations. But it is true that on many campuses this period of spiritual stock-taking for college students was being virtually ignored.

Now many institutions are finding that when the relevance of religion to daily life and where a dialogue is established between students and spiritual leaders, the period can attract the time and interest of students.

Athletic Trophies--What Meaning Do They Portray For Southern?

Students who have had an opportunity to see the inside of The George-Anne office have probably left asking themselves about the presence of eight athletic trophies which decorate the tops of the file cabinets and the bookcase.

To clarify The George-Anne's position, the present staff had nothing to do with placing the trophies in the office. How they got where they are is a complete mystery; and if anyone knows how, when, and why the trophies became stored in the college newspaper office the editorial board would appreciate the information.

Canady

The staff doesn't object to the presence of the trophies, and they aren't in the way. Last year, the editorial board voted not to take any responsibility should the trophies become damaged, and, so far, nothing has happened to them. They just sit on the bookcase and the file cabinets collecting dust.

All kidding aside, the trophies portray a part of Georgia Southern's athletic history during the 1950's. Six trophies represent the school's basketball achievements, and two honor the baseball team.

Two trophies were given to the GSC basketball team for being runners-up in the 1952 and 1953 Gator Bowl Tournaments. Three other basketball trophies honor the Eagles for winning the District 25 NAIA Tournament in 1956, '57 and '58.

A large baseball trophy proclaims the 1955 Eagles as Georgia Intercollegiate Conference Champions. Two others, one baseball and one basketball, have no markings.

All eight trophies would make handsome items for a display window, but apparently no one values the trophies enough to feel they should be displayed.

Most schools would proudly exhibit athletic trophies in display cases, coaches' offices, and other places where the general public and student body can see them. Why a college newspaper office would have this honor defies all reasoning. However, it looks as though the trophies will remain in The George-Anne office until a display case is built or until the spacious new gymnasium is constructed.

The George-Anne staff is also seeking a larger location, but it isn't because of the trophies. The staff would like to put out its weekly paper for once without everyone catching claustrophobia.

However, if The George-Anne receives a new office any time in the near future, it might not be a bad idea to reserve a special section somewhere between the editor's desk and the outside hallway where students could see the trophies plaques, and awards that other departments of the school neglected to display.

Congress Nominees State Views, Campaign Programs

The Questions

1. What does the purpose of the office you seek mean to you and if elected how do you plan to fulfill its duties?
2. What new programs would you like to see initiated by the Student Congress next year?
3. Do you think the Student Congress should have a part in planning the use of the student activity fee?
4. Do you favor a revision of the Congress policy of presenting "big-name" entertainment?
5. Do you have any other comments that you would like to make?

JOHN McCORMACK
For President

President

1. The purpose of the office means responsibility more than anything else because the holder of the office is charged with directing the student government of a rapidly growing school of 4,000 students. The idea of honor and recognition is largely overshadowed by this purpose. Fulfillment of the duties of the office must be preceded by attaining a thorough understanding of what the duties of my office and the other offices are. I will try to work cooperatively with the other Student Congress members and all faculty members and fellow students for the progress and betterment of the student life of Georgia Southern college, academically, socially, spiritually, and athletically, realizing that I represent the most outstanding institution of higher learning in Georgia.

2. New Programs: (1) To increase the number and types of concerts, lectures, etc., to provide for a more well rounded campus life. (2) Fulfillment of steps to alleviate the traffic problem created by 4,000 students. (3) More changes for students to express their opinions on important issues. (4) Formation of a specific committee or council to handle fraternity and sorority issues. (5) More weekend activities (especially dances and concerts) to help eradicate the name "suitcase college."

3. Yes. Or perhaps the student body could vote on how the money would be spent.

4. "Big-Name" entertainment is needed in a school of this size. Although fraternities have begun sponsoring "Big-names" perhaps the Student Congress could sponsor two or three concerts or concert-dances each quarter.

DANNY BROUCEK
For President

President

1. I consider the opportunity to run for president of the Student Congress a challenge to serve my fellow students in a constructive manner. If elected, I will pledge my fullest efforts to work in close conjunction with the proper authorities to meet each challenge with consideration of the needs, desires, and welfare of the students of GSC in mind. Solving each problem can be accomplished by hard work, patience and perseverance on the part of the Congress members and the leadership of the president.

2. I would like to see an increase in student representation in every area of activity that concerns itself with the most important factor of college life—the student. Participation in campus-wide activities should be promoted and a more diversified activity program should be instituted. Off-campus students should have a greater voice in planning and participating in campus matters.

3. Yes. The Student Congress is in a good position to plan student activities and has the responsibility and integrity to use the money wisely. More than any other organization the Student Congress has the interest of the whole student body in mind when they execute any activity.

4. Yes. This is a very complicated problem in respect to the activity fee and its collection in the dorms, and more research into this must be done before action can be taken. I do feel, however, that a more satisfactory solution can be found. My main objective in reference to this problem would be to insure each student that he will receive the type of entertainment that he needs and wants.

5. As a previous member of the Student Congress, I am aware of the responsibilities and problems that occur in the operation of the Congress, and I feel that through a logical approach to each situation that GSC will continue to grow in every respect.

JAMES STAPLETON
First Vice President

1st Vice President

1. To me the purpose of the first vice president is essentially what it intimates. The office should be filled by a capable person who is well informed as to the wishes of the students and the limitations placed on the faculty and administration. This person should be a representative leader for he is first and foremost a student.

He should be able to work in close harmony with the other Student Congress members and flexible enough to "step into the President's shoes" at any time. Above all, his primary interest is the college itself and the advancement of education. Loyalty to this task and the understanding of the office and its duties is of utmost importance.

If I am elected I will try my best to be as representative of the students as possible. I will always place the interests of the student body above my personal ones, and strive to be as cooperative and flexible as I can. I will try to do the job with all the knowledge, experience, and critical rational thinking I possess.

2. I would like to see more mat dances scheduled throughout the school year. One of the worst of all bad feelings is loneliness. Mat dances help provide interaction of the students as a basis for harmony and friendships. Also, serious attention should be devoted to promoting good student centered activities to change the image of GSC from a "suitcase college" to a college where one can partake of experiences that provide for good mental, physical, emotional, and aesthetical growth.

3. I definitely think the Student Congress should plan the use of the student activity fee along avenues approved by advisors. After all, who dishes out the "green stuff" in the first place? The customer expects to get that for which he has paid. Furthermore, we as college students deserve the right to be treated as adults. However, I realize that the advisors know best over the long haul.

4. "Big-name" entertainment is very good. It is fine, but I believe that the Student Congress should seek and promote individual or group talent. The students at GSC are as good or better than students at other leading universities and colleges. Originality in this area might turn up a few surprise packages.

5. I believe it is an honor to serve as a Student Congress officer. Since it is an honor, an officer should conduct himself in the light of humility. No one wants to hear the buttons pop!

The offices require responsible people who know what to do, when to do, and how to do. This election should be typical of the student body in character and leadership, not popularity. Student Congress is entirely responsible for the administrative efforts of the stu-

CHARLES JOHNSON
First Vice President

1st Vice President

1. Being first vice president of the Student Congress in a tremendous responsibility. The first vice president is head of the social committee and is a coordinator between the various organizations on campus.

As head of the social committee the first vice president has to keep in touch with the campus organizations in order to plan the social calendar. This committee also gets the "big-name" groups for campus entertainment.

These duties are very important in helping to fulfill the responsibility of being first vice president. If I were elected, I would try to work closely with all the campus organizations and help plan the social calendar with as few conflicts as possible.

I would also try to obtain "big-name" entertainment that the college students would enjoy and appreciate. I would also work to the best of my ability to fulfill any other duties that are a part of this office.

2. I would like to see some type of program established so there could be closer cooperation between the Student Congress and the campus organizations. In this way GSC would have a closer unity on campus. I would also like to see each dormitory represented by its president at the Student Congress meetings. I feel that the Student Congress would then have a better representation than it now has.

Perhaps a method to determine what "big-name" groups the student body wants would be a good idea for the Student Congress to work on.

3. Yes, I think the Student Congress should have a part in planning the use of the student activity fee. To provide the entertainment and activities the college students desire, it is necessary to have financial backing. By having a part in planning the use of the activity fee, it is possible to have the finances to provide for these activities, and I think this policy is a good one.

4. The present method of presenting "big-name" groups by the Student Congress is a good method. The only revision I would make would be to sell tickets to these groups several weeks in advance so that enough money could be made to finance the backing of other groups. Maybe two "big-name" groups a quarter would bring in enough money so that the students would not have to pay a fee at the beginning of every quarter.

5. If elected to this office, I would try to provide the college students with good entertainment and I would try to work with the campus organizations so that the college could have better activities.

JACKIE MULLIS
Second Vice President

2nd Vice President

1. The main purpose of this office is to head the Committee of Campus Organizations. Although this committee is rarely heard of, it is a vital part of the Student Congress. This committee approves or disapproves new organizations on campus. Also this committee serves as one of the best means of communication between organizations.

There will be the task of working toward better cohesion of campus organizations. Also I plan to keep Student Congress informed of the actions of this committee so as to help them formulate their policies in the area of campus organizations.

An evaluation of all policies will be conducted. There are two reasons for this: to help inform me of what has taken place before this year, and to find out the problems that should be emphasized and worked with.

2. I'm sure Student Congress has several programs they want emphasized that I'm not familiar with. Yet, there are two programs I'd like to see Student Congress pick up. One is the "honor system" that was initiated during my freshman year. With the backing of the Student Congress and the help of the administration, I believe a successful system can be put in effect.

I'd also like to see Student Congress back the Chapel of all Faiths. Religion is an important phase of campus life that the Congress often tends to overlook.

3. Yes. The student activity fee is to be used for the benefit of the student. Since the Student Congress is the representative for the student body, it should definitely have a part in planning the use of this fee.

4. I was informed by President L. W. Hartley that the purpose of initiating the "big-name" entertainment policy by the Student Congress was to get other organizations interested and started in sponsoring "big-name" groups. Now if this purpose has been fulfilled, it's possible that the money for said entertainers could be put to other interest benefiting Georgia Southern Students.

5. I'd like to address this statement to the students. The Student Congress is your representative body. It's your liaison between the administration and yourself. It's your responsibility to elect the individuals who will be the most faithful to the job, the ones who will put ideas to work, and the ones with a clear perception of a truth. So for your sake, vote and elect your candidate on April 27.

KEITH ARNSDORFF
Second Vice President

2nd Vice President

1. The second vice president, as the chairman of the Committee on Campus Organizations is presented with an excellent opportunity to achieve a sense of harmony and cooperation between the many organizations and clubs on campus. I believe through close contact with these organizations the chairman can help these clubs towards their stated purposes and achieve a sense of coordination.

2. The lunch line problem has been a persistent one for a long time, and I think that this should be handled by the representatives of the students, the Student Congress. It could be coordinated by the Congress with the help of the students.

3. The Student Congress, as the elected representative of the students, is the appropriate body to handle these funds. They are in close contact with their fellow students and know their wishes.

4. The policy of presenting "big-name" entertainment for the students has been a most welcomed activity. It should be continued and possibly expanded.

5. One of the big complaints of many students is the wide discrepancy in the grading scales used by the different departments. At some points there is a ten point difference for the same letter grade. I believe that all grading scales should be standardized, and I further believe that the Student Congress should make a study of this problem and make suggestions toward a solution.

Blimp Davis

For
Treasurer

1. The purpose of the office of treasurer is to keep the money straight and to keep the Congress informed of its financial situation. If elected, I plan to do this to the best of my ability.

2. The Congress needs to strengthen some of the programs it now has underway. The dining room and parking situations need work. The Congress should seek a better relationship with the faculty and administration.

3. Definitely! The money comes from the students and is used for the students; the students should help decide how it is to be used.

4. The policy of bringing a "big-name" group to the campus each quarter is a good one. I believe that the Congress should continue to do this when there is a need. A better way to bring these groups would be to offer assistance to some other organization. This would relieve the Congress of many of the time-consuming problems created by bringing these groups and would allow them more time to work on problems that could not be solved by these other organizations.

5. Let's All Vote!

Second Vice Presidents, Secretaries, and Treasurers

Secretary

1. The purpose of the secretary of the Student Congress is to keep an accurate record of all Congress proceedings and to file a copy if these records with the advisor. The secretary must be an active and enthusiastic member of the Congress and help to promote its activities. If elected I will do my best to fulfill these duties and to play my part in furthering the development of GSC through the Student Congress.

2. It's hard to specify exactly what innovations the Student Congress should work on for next year, for as the student body grows, new and unforeseen needs arise. However, I do feel that the Student Congress should try to do something about the way that registration is handled at GSC. In our present system of registering there is such a push-and-shove situation that the strong survive and the weak take electives. As the college grows this condition will become increasingly worse.

3. Yes, the Student Congress should have some part in planning the use of the student activity fee, but the Student Congress should not have sole power of decision. Consultation of faculty and administration and a vote of the student body as a whole should be influences and guides for the Student Congress to use in deciding this issue.

4. I'm in favor of doing what the majority of the students want. If the student body desires a revision of the policy of Student Congress in regard to "big-name" entertainment, then it should be revised. If the present policy is satisfactory to most of the students then it can remain as it is. This, too, should be determined by a vote of, or a questionnaire to, the students.

Secretary

1. As secretary of the Student Congress one would keep an accurate record of the procedures and business of Student Congress in addition to handling the correspondence of the organization. If elected, I would fulfill the above requirements of the office of secretary to the best of my ability. Being a part of the Student Congress and sharing in its governing actions would be a valuable experience.

GASSETT
Treasurer

2. No comment.

3. In the planning of the use of the Student Activity fee, I think the Student Congress should have an active part. Even though there are students on the Campus Life Enrichment Committee, the Student Congress represents the student body as a whole and would be able to contribute to the selection of events to be presented to the students.

4. I think the Congress' policy of collecting the activity fee at the beginning of each quarter and bringing a "big-name" group per quarter is very good. All the students thoroughly enjoy this activity.

Jimmy Walea

For
Treasurer

1. The purpose of the office of treasurer means that I would have the responsibility of all the funds of the Student Congress, and I would have the responsibility to see that they were used wisely. Also the treasurer should inform the students as to the amount appropriated to the Student Congress and what it is used for.

2. I believe that the Student Congress should have the privilege, not only in selecting, but in voting "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities." I also believe that a program should be looked into where graduating seniors can be exempted from finals if they have a "C" average or better. Of course this would have to be discussed with the Academic Advisory Council.

3. Yes. Even though the Student Congress does receive a portion of this student activity fee, none is delegated to the social committee. A large portion of this fee goes toward athletics. This is as it should be; no less should be done. But, a larger amount needs to be allotted to the Student Congress so that the social committee could bring in more "big-time" entertainment for the students.

4. Yes. During the past school year Congress brought only two "big-name" groups to the campus. The social committee has no funds to depend on, therefore it cannot take a loss. More funds should be provided, and the students should be able to vote for the type of entertainment they want.

5. I think that the "dorm" fee should be cut out. The amount received from this could be added to the student activity fee.

I think that the library should be open for a while on Sunday nights for those students who need to use it.

I think that a "late-minute" policy should be discussed with the dean. This would be set up for all coeds on campus, giving them 15 minutes per quarter that they can be late without receiving a call-down.

Out Of Bounds

By RON MAYHEW, Sports Editor

Many buildings on the Georgia Southern campus are named after former teachers and faculty members who achieved prominence before the arrival of the present student body. Included in this list is Mr. W. S. Hanner, for whom the W. S. Hanner Gymnasium is named.

The stage must be set by running the calendar back six years.

The date of December 14, 1959. The George-Anne hits the college bearing the six column headline, "Board Of Regents Authorizes Georgia Southern College As New School Name."

This name change ushered in a new era for the school that we now know as GSC. The event marked the fourth naming of the school since its founding in 1908.

The next issue of the George-Anne, January 15, 1960, carried a six column headline halfway down the page, "Eagles' Chosen As New Nickname For Georgia Southern College Athletic Teams."

The top of the page carried an eight column banner headline. It read, "Physical Education Building Named For W. S. Hanner." Under the headline were the sad words, "William S. Hanner of GSC faculty succumbed unexpectedly Dec. 17."

Who was Mr. Hanner? What did he do for Georgia Southern College? Why was the gymnasium named for him?

William S. Hanner joined the college faculty in 1930. He had graduated from Union University of Tennessee, where he received his bachelor's degree. He obtained his master's degree from Peabody College. Mr. Hanner was both chairman of the division of exact sciences and faculty athletic chairman until his death at 63.

His chief interest was in youth of America. He was quoted as once having said, "It is most gratifying to think that perhaps I have made some meager contribution to young men and women who have come into my department during my years at GSC."

After joining the college staff, Mr. Hanner was backfield coach of the football team before its discontinuance in 1942. He and Dr. Fielding D. Russell, present head of the department of languages, organized and coached the tennis team for six years prior to World War I.

In appreciation of his many contributions and his sincere interest in athletics at the college, the State Board of Regents unanimously authorized the naming of the then new physical education plant as the W. S. Hanner Building.

In a tribute to Mr. Hanner, R. L. Winburn, retired comptroller of the college, who died in 1964, wrote, "To those of us who knew him the longest and who knew him the best, the thing that made him the trusted friend of so many students was no secret to us. It was not so much his knowledge as his attitude of mind in relating this knowledge to the world of actual experience."

"To know the answers to questions on points of fact may be highly profitable, but not nearly as valuable in terms of everyday living as being immediately able to feel as one ought and act as one should in the situation that arises..."

"His activity of thought, too was a challenge — not only to the student, but to all who knew him, for his mind was actively interested, and with much intensity it was constantly attentive. His mind was excited by the nature of things, and he was curious as to their being — a vigorous mind — a mind that wanted to know."

Richard J. Mandes, public relations director of Georgia Southern College, was a GSC student at the time of Mr. Hanner's death.

Mr. Mandes wrote a beautiful editorial tribute to Mr. Hanner that was also published in the first 1960 George-Anne issue. Its concluding paragraph read:

"W. S. Hanner, whose warmth could be felt in his handshake, whose face was wrinkled with years of wonderful smiles, and whose mind housed a reverence for learning, will be seen as the winds whisper to the pines, when the basketball crowd roars to its feet, as students settle into the new Herty Building for learning, and he will walk with us in everlasting memories."

GSC Catcher Allen Payne Tags Out Pembroke Runner
Payne Was Injured On Play And Left Ballgame Afterward

Southern Splits Two Game Series Against Pembroke

By RON MAYHEW
Sports Editor

Georgia Southern split their series with Pembroke State College last week, winning the opener, 4-3, and losing Saturday's dual, 3-6.

The first game saw the Eagles trail most of the contest with their only runs coming on a two run single in the third by Stan Sumner that drove in Bobby Butler and Jerry Stephens. Stephens was courtesy running for Allen Payne. A single by Lehman Stanley drove Stan Sumner across in the eighth.

Pembroke's runs came as they scored one run each in the third, fourth, and fifth innings.

A shoestring catch in the top of the ninth by left fielder Larry Groce closed out Pembroke's game with the score tied, 3-3.

Chico Jones led off in the bottom of the ninth, blasting a single to right field, giving him three hits for four trips to bat. Jackie Hammond was hit by a pitched ball and went to first.

At this point Pembroke Coach Ray Pennington decided that Robert Hughes had pitched enough for the day and put in Joe McMenamin, a six foot three right hander.

Bobby Butler, the first batter to face McMenamin, blasted a ground shot through the pitcher's glove, and hustled down to first on the error.

Catcher Allen Payne then came to the plate and blasted a line shot that bounced off the left field fence, scoring Jones for the winning run.

Allen Simmons took the win for GSC and Robert Hughes of Pembroke was charged with the loss.

When asked about the game coach Clements remarked, "We're just not hitting well enough. It was good though that we did hit when we had to."

A scoring spree in Saturday's first inning netted four runs for Pembroke and proved to be the decisive victory margin for the Braves as they rolled to a 6-3 win over the Eagles.

Wayne Nunn was the winner for Pembroke while Bobby Pierce took the loss for Georgia Southern. Jimmy Dobson relieved Pierce in the second and gave the Braves only two additional runs.

Southern's biggest scoring was in the second inning. Allen

Payne led off with a double followed by Stan Sumner who grounded out. Bobby Butler singled but Payne was thrown out trying to reach third. Lehman Stanley doubled scoring Butler. Royce Exley then popped a single to score Stanley.

A lone fourth inning run came when Larry Groce sacrificed Jimmy Dobson across the plate.

Southern hits the road this week, to play Wake Forest in Winston Salem, N. C. on Thursday, and Davidson in Davidson N. C. on Friday and Saturday.

The Eagles' next home game will be Tuesday, April 27, against Jacksonville University.

North Paces Victory As GSC Linksman Romp Past Valdosta

Georgia Southern's golf team got back into winning stride last Friday, defeating Valdosta State College, 16½-1½.

Bouncing back after the previous week's loss to Mercer, the Eagles turned on a scoring spree that completely overturned the Valdosta Rebels.

Leading the six man team was Wright North, who shot a 72 to win his match and give the Eagles three points.

Andy Pennington was next in line with 77, also adding three points to the Georgia Southern total.

Hank Lehwald shot 79 but tied his Valdosta opponent in one of three scoring divisions, netting two and one-half points.

Harold Varn rounded out the winning team, shooting an 85, also scoring a division tie and compiling two and one-half Eagle points.

In team play Andy Pennington and Hank Lehwald won their match with one division tie, scoring two and one-half points.

Team two, composed of Wright North and Harold Varn, swept all divisions in their match for the remaining three points.

The Eagles' next match will be against Erskine in Statesboro, Tuesday, April 27. The Erskine Flying Fleet is expected to be strong in both team depth and individual play, making the match a nip and tuck dual through the last hole.

Appreciation Day Planned As Local Interest Soars

The J. B. Searce and J. E. Clements Appreciation Day has attracted widespread interest from both Statesboro citizens and Georgia Southern students.

The dinner honoring the two coaches is planned for Tuesday, April 27, at 8 p.m. A large crowd is expected, comprising students, faculty, friends, and well known former GSC athletic stars.

Among the names of invited guests are: Chester Webb, holder of many GSC basketball records; Scotty Perkins, basketball coach at South Georgia College, and who is said to have been one of the greatest all around basketball players that ever attended Georgia Southern; Fran Florian, who was well known for his high scoring on the 1963-64 GSC cage team and who scored 60 points in a game against Jacksonville University; and Hollis Ray Powell, who, in the opinion of many, would have easily made the major league baseball ranks if he had not suffered an injury.

The outstanding records compiled by Searce and Clements are well known to GSC athletic fans. All students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend the banquet to pay homage to these two great coaches.

Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, Dean of Students, has offered his assistance in the ticket sales with the aid of professional and ser-vise fraternities at Georgia Southern.

The Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce together with many local businesses is handling the sale of tickets in Statesboro.

Joe Axelson, former GSC director of public relations, will be master of ceremonies for the evening. Mr. Axelson is presently assistant executive secretary of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Armenio Rolls New High Game

Tuesday night's bowling action saw several unexpected upsets of the league's losing teams.

The Gutenkeglers continue to dominate first spot in team standings with a 24-8 record but they lost six games Tuesday, greatly lessening their lead over the league.

Second, third, and fourth spots are occupied by the Kingpinners, 22-10; Oddballs, 18-14; and the Uh-Oh's, 18-14.

Rounding out the league positions this week are: The Hornets, 18-14; the Untouchables, 14-18; the Alley Cats, 14-18; the Pin Clappers, 14-18; and Pen-Pushers 12-20; and the Strikers, 6-26.

High averages are held by Bob Lackey and Babs Brown with 171 and 160, respectively; however Bob Armenio is challenging Lackey's 171 with his own 170.

Armenio also established a new high game for the league with a 224, while Babs Brown had women's high game with 157.

The Kingpinners continue to dominate high team standings with 657 and high team series with 1824.

On this week's honor roll are: Jimmy Williamson, 563; Bob Armenio, 539; George Lumpkin, 517; and Bob Lackey, 508.

Eagle Net Team Defeated Twice

The Eagle tennis team dropped both their matches last week to the Citadel and Appalachian State Teacher's College, 1-8, and 3-6.

A top ranked Citadel team swept eight of nine matches from the determined but outclassed Eagle netters.

The lone winner for Southern was Alec Caswell, who defeated Denny Walker of the Citadel, 6-3 and 6-4.

Although faring slightly better, the net team also fell to Appalachian State opponents, each team having to play a full three set match to do so.

Mack Poss was the lone singles winner for GSC as he defeated Boyles of the Citadel, 6-1, 6-8, and 6-1.

The Eagles go to Valdosta State this afternoon to meet the Rebels then return to Statesboro tomorrow to play host to the Erskine Flying Fleet.

Organizations To Compete . . .

wards. A motion that Georgia Southern faculty members and outstanding Statesboro businessmen serve as judges was defeated.

In its place, a motion that the Committee itself rate the various organizations was passed.

Blanchard explained that the Committee will be divided into several smaller committees of three members each. Members will not be allowed to rate organizations in the same category as the organizations to which they belong.

FAIRNESS

For example, a member of one service fraternity would not be allowed to rate another service fraternity.

Two groups will rate each organization. Blanchard stated that this is done "in order to insure fairness to all organizations."

Activities eligible for inclusion on the rating sheets may date from last year's Honors day, which was held on May 11.

This was concluded after a discussion by the Committee about whether the organization or the administration of the organization was being judged.

It was decided that a change-over of officers did not affect the execution of the organization's purposes, and that the organization itself was being rated.

'RIOTS'

The Committee of Campus Organizations also discussed last year's campus "riots" at the Monday night meeting.

Jimmy Hilliard, representing Sigma Epsilon Chi, recommended that the Committee support Alpha Phi Omega's stand against a recurrence of similar acts.

The Committee agreed to work out a plan of action to be used should any incidents occur this quarter. The plans will be discussed more fully at next week's meeting.

North Carolina Takes Win As Eagles' Hitting Slumps

Displaying some powerful hitting, the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina defeated Georgia Southern, 10-5, in their game April 15.

Although North Carolina dominated the game both offensively and defensively, Southern opened the fireworks in the second inning, scoring the first run. Allen Payne singled and moved to second on a sacrifice by Stan Sumner. Barry Peavey struck out, but Lehman Stanley came through with a single to score Payne.

The Tar Heels bounced back in the third inning, scoring five big runs on three hits and three GSC errors. Black led off with a single and moved to second on Bill Danneman's walk. Fleming hit a sacrifice fly and Hume walked to load the bases. Prindle reached base on an error followed by Talboth, who walked, and Shaw, who hit into a fielder's choice. Bonzek and Woodward followed with back to back singles.

After the second inning Southern was held in check until the sixth when four runs were pushed across the plate, however this scoring was not sufficient to overcome the North Carolina lead.

Bill Dannemann was credited with the win for North Carolina, while the loss was charged to Jerry Stephens of Georgia Southern. Stephens was relieved in the seventh inning by Ronnie McLemore.

Eagles Hit Road For Three Games

The Eagle baseballers take to the road this week to play three games against two North Carolina teams, then return to Statesboro to face Jacksonville University on Tuesday, April 27.

After Tuesday's Jacksonville game, the Eagles journey to Macon on Wednesday to take on Claude Smith's Mercer Bears.

In the first road game the Eagles play Wake Forest in Winston-Salem on Thursday, April 22. The Demon Deacons of Wake Forest, coached by Jack Stallings, are famed for outstanding playing in past years but Coach Clements remarked that they are somewhat weaker this year.

Friday and Saturday Georgia Southern will be in Davidson, N. C. playing the Wildcats of Davidson College. Southern defeated Davidson in both games of their series played in Statesboro in March 29 and 30, by scores of 13-0, and 4-1.

The strength of the Jacksonville lineup is somewhat of a mystery to speculators. It is agreed, however, that they will not be easy to beat.

Going into the road series the top batter for Georgia Southern is Tommy Jones, who should prove trouble for opposing pitching with his .373 average.

Bobby Butler is the Eagles' number two hitter, currently at the .339 mark. Butler also leads in runs scored with 22, and bases on balls with 19.

Yellow Jackets Take First Lead In Girl's Intramural Athletics

The second night's action of the girls' volleyball tournament, played Wednesday, April 14, saw the Yellow Jackets defeat the Termites, 14-8, in the first game and 15-11 in the second.

The match between the Pythons and the Tigers ended with the Pythons winning the best two out of three games. The Pythons took the first game, 15-12, behind the serving of Nancy Connel and the fine net play of Brenda Scruggs and Phyllis Grimes.

The Tigers came back to take the second game, 15-9, however the Pythons capped the match with a 15-10 victory behind Brenda Scruggs' serving.

The Yellow Jackets took three games to send the Pythons to the loser's bracket. The Yellow Jackets, behind a determined squad and Mary Beth Strickland's serving, defeated the Pythons 15-6 in the first game only to have the Pythons come back taking the second win, 15-7. The Yellow Jackets then held off several strong rallies to take the third game in a close 15-12.

In the final game the Termites eliminated the Tigers from the tournament by scores of 15-3 and 15-9. Brenda Butler's serving and Pat Vedder's all around play sparked the winning Termites.

At the end of the second night of play there were four teams left in the tournament: the undefeated Yellow Jackets, followed by the Termites, Mustangs, and Pythons who have lost one each.

SEMI-FINALS

The tournament semi-finals were held Monday night, April 19.

In the night's first match the Termites eliminated the Mustangs, but required three games to do so. Opening action saw the Mustangs win, 17-15, after having trailed, 7-14. The Termites came back to take the next two games, 15-7 and 15-8. Caroline Russell made several outstanding plays in the Mustangs' losing effort. The Termites were led to victory by Pat Vedder and LaVerne McDonald.

The Pythons defeated the Termites in another three game dual. The Termites scored a 15-8 victory in the first game, but the Pythons took the next two, 15-7 and 15-13.

Phyllis Grimes and Cheryl Theus led the Pythons to qualify for the finals of the tournament.

Inquiring Reporter

By JULIA EASON

Due to the upcoming Student Congress election, grade requirements of Student Congress members have been discussed. The Inquiring Reporter asked this question: Should a Student Congress member be required to have a 2.5 average? Why or why not?

Joanna Hamilton, Ft. Gaines- Yes. Those students who are elected to serve as our leaders should be interested in their academic work.

L. W. Hartley, Savannah- Yes. A 2.5 average isn't so far above a student's head that he cannot attain this. Student Congress members are campus leaders, they should be leaders academically as well.

Glenda Heath, Girard- Yes. If a person is a leader he should be able to maintain his academic average.

Ralph Dean, Jacksonville, Fla. Yes. People who are representing the student body should be required to have a C-plus average. This will eliminate those who cannot take part in extracurricular activities and keep their grades up.

Diana New, Harrison - I suppose so. Although, a person can be a good leader without having extremely high grades.

Paul Smith, Hazlehurst - Yes. Anyone who is representing the student body should have a C-plus average or higher.

Paula Moore, Pinehurst - Yes. If they are smart enough to be campus leaders, they should be smart enough to make a 2.5

average!

Dave Lockridge, Atlanta- Yes. At least. Though I may never make it, I'll feel much better, represented by those who do.

Pat Kelly, Sylvania - Yes. Academic work should come first, then if his average is maintained a person should be able to participate in extracurricular activities.

Andy Duffy, Macon - Yes. A member of the Student Congress should be responsible enough to keep his grades up.

Mary Ann Davis, Soperton- Yes. If a person is interested enough to take part in student government, he should maintain his academic average.

Penn Smith, Savannah - Yes. Grades are not the only, or best way to evaluate a person, but they indicate his abilities to some degree.

Beverly Maddox, Savannah - Yes, or even higher. A student leader must be well informed in all matters. In order to be well informed, he must have advanced study. It stands to reason that if he has this advanced study, his grade average is going to be well above a C-plus.

House Council Sets Sunbathing Rules For Hendricks Hall Area

The Hendricks Hall House Council has decided on a list of regulations concerning the sunbathing area located behind Hendricks Hall.

The regulations were formed by a committee of students and received approval from the Office of Student Personnel, according to Ann Perry, secretary of the House Council.

The sunbathing area begins at the west side of the dormitory and extends to the end of that side. Smoking is permitted while sunbathing, but women are urged to use caution because of a fire hazard.

Women must wear raincoats and other appropriate clothing (excluding towels and beach coats) to the sunbathing area from dormitories other than Hendricks. Women are not permitted to wear their hair rolled up when outside their respective dormitories.

Women must use vending machines, toilets, water fountains, and other facilities provided in their own dormitories. No one may sunbathe alone.

Sunbathing on Sunday is permitted only after noon. No male visitors may accompany women at the sunbathing area, and men are prohibited beyond the front entrance of Hendricks.

Failure to comply with these rules will result in revoking the privilege of sunbathing.
