$56,000 Institute in progress here

The U.S. Office of Education, with funds provided by the National Defense Education Act, has awarded the history department of Georgia Southern College a $56,000 summer institute for the study of history. The summer program, dealing with "conflicting idealogies," is one of four such programs to be offered in the United States during the current summer. Dr. Jack N. Averitt, GSC history department chairman, has been named director of the institute.

The six-week program will operate from July 12 through August 20. This institute will offer two courses to sixty history teachers to bring their formal training up to date. It will also include studies of the philosophy of political theory of totalitarian communism and the history of American political philosophy and tradition. The prolecturers, seminars, required readings, and field trips.

Working in the institute will be Dr. Otis Stephens and Dr. Elsworth Wu of the department. Visiting lecturers from Georgia State College will include Dr. Melvin Ecke, dean of graduate studies, who will also serve as associate director of this summer program, and Dr. Principals Association. Jack Blicksilver, professor of
