Maguire Appointed Permanent Dean of Men

Vacant Position Filled by High School Principal

Harold Maguire, principal of Warren County High School, will become the new Dean of Men at the college in June, according to Ralph K. Tyson, Dean of Students.

He will permanently fill the position made vacant in July 1965. Since that time the responsibilities of the Dean of Men's office have been under the administration of Dean Tyson, Larry Davis, Administrative assistant to the Dean of Men and Jesse Quattlebaum, Acting Dean of Men since Winter Quarter.

In an exclusive telephone interview Maguire stated, "My main concern as Dean of Men will be a sense of fairness — fairness first to the individual students of the college and secondly to the institution." Maguire, the man who has been selected to represent the male students, will assume his duties in June.

He has held the position of Principal of Warren County High for the last four years after teaching at Robert E. Lee Institute in Thomaston, Georgia and serving as instructor and basketball coach at Blue Ridge.

Maguire made his home as a boy in Athens. He attended Athens High School and graduated from the University of Georgia with a B.B.A. degree in 1948. He returned to the University later that year and in 1950 he was awarded his Masters degree. Maguire also has to his credit a six year certificate in the field of educational administration. He served three years

Spring Swing Week Scheduled

The second annual sophomore Spring Swing week is scheduled May 9-15, according to Robin Olmstead, president of the sophomore class.

Academic and athletic contests will be held throughout the week with a concert May 9 launching the week's festivities.

Other activities include a talent show May 10 and a barbecue and street dance May 11. May 12's agenda will consist of a scavenger hunt with the housing units competing.

There will be a dance at the armory Friday night and a tug-of-war Saturday. Another concert Saturday and a worship service Sunday morning will end the week of celebration.

Groups under consideration for the three performances are Major Lance, The Lettermen, The New Christy Minstrels, Wilson Pickett, Gene Pittney and Little Anthony.

EAGLE'S DON ADLER ACCEPTS TROPHY

GSC Senior and captain receives the NAIA Tournament second place trophy from President Zach Henderson at ceremonies in the Hanner Gymnasium honoring the team for their fine showing in Kansas City. An enthusiastic crowd of Eagle supporters showed up for the ceremonies which honored the team for winning four out of five tournament games to capture the runner-up spot.

SPECIAL REFERENDUM SET

Students To Vote Next Week In Frank I. Williams Center

A special referendum will be held during the latter part of next week in the Frank I. Williams Center for students to vote on proposed amendments for the Student Congress constitution, according to Danny Broucek, Student Congress president.

Broucek explained that all students are eligible to vote and that the ballot box will be located in the lobby of the Student Center and in the dormitories.

Proposed amendments to be voted upon are (1) To amend the agenda to Section 1 to read "Members are allowed to miss only one meeting per quarter unless excused." The phrase to be voted upon is "per quarter".

(2) To amend Article X of Section 2 to read, "Elections shall be decided by secret ballot one week after nominations have been approved." The amendment will change the wording from "two weeks after nominations have been made."

(3) To amend Article X of Section 5 to read "All class officers shall be nominated during the third week of fall quarter." The amendment would change the wording: "Freshmen officers shall be nominated during the second week of the fall quarter. Sophomore, junior and senior class officers shall be nominated during the second week of fall quarter."

(4) To amend Article XI to read, "To become effective, amendments must be ratified by two-thirds of the students voting."

The amendment would strike out the phrase: "provided 51 per cent of the on-campus students vote."

Completion of New Structure Scheduled for January of 1968

An athletic complex boasting a 6,000 capacity gymnasium, an indoor olympic-sized swimming pool and specially designed room for gymnastics, tumbling and wrestling will be ready for use by January 1968, according to President Zach S. Henderson.

The preliminary plans for the one-and one-half million dollar structure were approved at the March 9 meeting of the Board of Regents, reported Henderson.

The two-story physical center will be constructed on a ground level and an upper main floor. The lower section will feature a 50x94 foot basketball court and 1,444 square feet of space in the wrestling room.

Adjoining the playing court will be a 20x20 foot training room for the ballplayers and separate shower facilities for the freshman and varsity cagers. Each would be constructed on a 22x20 foot floor plan, he added.

Beginning on the ground floor and stretching upward for two stories will be the pool area with 9,915 square feet of space. This will accommodate a large deck area, one and three meter diving boards and an extensive filter system.

The apparatus and tumbling room will have the same type of high ceilings. This will provide adequate overhead space for still rings, ropes and high-flying gymnasts.

The main or upper floor will be dedicated primarily to classrooms. The largest of these is 27x46 feet with two slightly smaller ones.

Upstairs offices will be both plush and practical, Henderson said. The building will provide the physical education staff with four double offices and numerous singles with a director's area featuring a conference room, record room and office.

The lower section will be the dressing area for physical education classes. A men's dressing room will provide space for 231 lockers and will cover a floor area of 92x54 feet. The women's showers will be equipped with 234 lockers.

Fans will purchase tickets from two ticket offices on the

P.E. Department To Add Courses

Courses in swimming and wrestling will be offered on a large scale upon completion of the new athletic building in 1968, according to J. B. Scarce, chairman of the division of health, recreation and physical education.

Scarce said that every student who participates in the physical education program must be able to swim.

He added that a course in wrestling will be offered next fall although wrestling on a large scale will not be added until the completion of the new gym.

STUDENTS FIND REGISTRATION TIRESOME

Long lines and sore feet were common to all Tuesday as GSC Students suffered their way through another registration session. Many flocked to the division of languages section, only to find out, as those in other divisions, that the classes they wanted were closed out.

English Major Gets Honorable Mention from National Foundation

Herbert P. Shippey, a senior English major from Albany, has been named to the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation honorable mention list for 1966-67.

Shippey has received excellent scholarship awards, and is a member of the French and English clubs and Baptist Student Union. He is also a member of Alpha Gamma Pi, honorary fraternity for men.

Woodrow Wilson Fellows get one academic year of graduate education with tuition and fees paid by the Foundation, a living stipend of $2,000, and allowances for their dependent children. The graduate school they choose to attend receives an additional grant from the Foundation. Using funds provided by the Ford Foundation, the fellowship foundation will spend $5.7 million in 1966-67 to encourage and support these potential college teachers.

The foundation named 1,408 fellows and accorded honorable mention to 1,599 semi-finalists.

College professors across the continent nominated over 11,000 students last fall. Panels of college teachers and administrators in the Foundation's 15 regions screened the applicants and called one-third of them to interviews in January. Nearly one-half of those interviewed won their fellowships following the recent week-long deliberations of the university presidents, graduate deans and professors who comprise the foundation's National Selection Committee.

The unique feature of the complex will be the fact that it will tie in with the facilities of the Hanner Gymnasium, said Henderson. The Hanner Building will be used for some of the physical education classes as well as many of the intramural sports, he concluded.

Burnsed Chosen For Lead Role

Rae Burnsed, senior English major from Savannah, will lead a cast of seven as she portrays Sally Bowles, the leading lady in I Am A Camera, the current Masquers production.

The play will be presented April 26-28.

Other cast members that have been selected and their roles are Rosalyn Perkins, freshman history major from Stillmore, as Fraulein Schneider; Donnie Evans, freshman political science major from Wadley, as Natalia; Sherry Bradner, freshman sociology major from Athens, as Mrs. Watson-Courtneidge, and Wyman Hunt, junior from Augusta as Clive.

Two male roles have not been cast, according to Robert Over-

Whittemore and Lowe Provide Entertaining Evening of Music

By DR. STERLING ADAMS

(Editor's note: Dr. Sterling Adams is Assistant Professor of Music on campus. He received his bachelor and masters degrees from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and his doctorate from Indiana University. He has made numerous appearances as a piano soloist. Adams is a member of Phi Mu Alpha and Pi Kappa Lambda.)

Whittemore and Lowe, veteran duo-pianists, traversed a program of two-piano compositions Wednesday evening in McCroan Auditorium which offered a little something for everybody.

In compositions ranging from a Sonata in D Minor, described by Whittemore in his generous informal side remarks as the first composition written for two keyboard instruments, by the 17th century Italian composer, Bernardo Pasquini, to some novelties by that venerable contemporary, Igor Stravinsky, the authority over their instruments that one would expect from these seasoned performers whose popularity has spanned the past two decades.

That they are two artists of refinement and taste is indisputable. Their skilled handling of the aforementioned Pasquino Sonata and articulate manipulation of the Bach Sonata in E flat major were a delight to hear. Generally, their choice of program avoided some of the inanities often included in programs of their fellow performers.

If any criticism can be leveled at them, it is in the realm of stylistic authority. To this reviewer, it seemed that their playing was often overpunctuated with abrupt accents, hastened phrase endings and harsh tonal masses, especially in the Handel Arrival of the Queen of Sheba. Their Mendelssohn Andante and Variations seemed lacking in poetic projection and a little too pedestrian for this reviewer's taste.

DR. HENDERSON
Former GEA Prexy

To round out the first half of their program, a Busoni transcription of Mozart's Fantasia for a Mechanical Organ was offered. This, too, suffered from the same harshness of tone as the Handel.

The second half of the program featured works by French and Russian composers. A Poulenc Sonata for two pianos, prepared under the composer's personal direction, was performed with a tongue in cheek, thumb to the nose dash that one can conclude is most authentic. Who can argue when it comes straight from the horse's mouth?

Rachmaninoff's Tears, a March, Waltz and Galop by Stravinsky and Ravel's La Valse, all effectively played to suit the appropriate mood rounded out the scheduled portion of the program.

A sizeable audience warmly applauded the pair of pianists who generously provided three encores: Bach's Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring, Kreisler's Liebesfreud and the ever-popular Ravel Bolero.

Dr. Henderson Leaves GEA President Post

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, who is concluding his 43rd year in Georgia Education, made his farewell address as president of the Georgia Education Association to 1,220 assembled delegates at the organization's 99th annual convention in Atlanta recently.

The address was delivered to the first representative assembly of the 29,000 member organization. Governor Carl E. Sanders addressed the convention's first general assembly.

Dr. Henderson relinquished his presidential position to Atlanta educator Clyde Kimball at the delegates' second representative assembly.

According to Dr. Henderson, the GEA is controlled by a board of directors, each director representing one of the ten congressional districts.

The main accomplishment of the Georgia Education Association, while under the leadership of Dr. Henderson, was the removal of the "restrictive labor" clause of the GEA Constitution.

The clause, as it previously stood, stated that "Any white teacher could be a member of the GEA," reported Henderson. The revision omits the word "white". This change affected not only the GEA, but the Future Teacher's Association and the Student GEA as well.

The GEA's 1966 convention theme was "Improved Education — Georgia's Trust."

Next year the Georgia Education Association will be 100 years old. Dr. Henderson said that there will be much pagentry to celebrate the GEA's centennial year.

DUO-PIANO TEAM PERFORMS IN McCROAN AUDITORIUM

The nationally renowned piano team of Whittemore and Lowe presented a concert for students in McCroan Auditorium Wednesday night. The program was sponsored by the Campus Life Enrichment Committee.

GSC To Offer Masters Degree For Studying Mentally Retarded

A Masters Degree in Education, with specialized study for the mentally retarded, is the newest addition to the course curriculum in the division of Education, according to President Zach Henderson.

The program, which was recently approved by the Board of Regents and the State Department of Education, is the result of five years of urging by superintendents and principals in the GSC service area. It will be activated in June.

The major faculty resource for the new program will, in the beginning, be experienced teachers who hold bachelors degrees in elementary education and want to add special preparation for this work to their degree program.

The division of education plans internships, observations and practical experiences in Savannah, Augusta, Waycross and Brunswick. After at least one summer of preparation, each teacher in the program will accept a job as a teacher of the mentally retarded in a system that has an adequate supervisor in this field.

The teacher will be visited periodically by a college supervisor of internships for MR teachers. The internship will consist of one year in the teaching capacity.

Information about courses, admission requirements and faculty may be secured from the division of education at the college.

Ottinger To Get Leave During Spring Quarter

Dr. Richard Ottinger, Assistant Professor of Education at the college, will be on leave this quarter to serve as the director of the Glynn County School's Project under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Dr. Ottinger will be the leader in planning and intensive learning at the center in Brunswick.

Miss Lulane McBride, Dean of Women, announced this week that the phone number listed in the student directory for Hendricks Hall is incorrect.

The correct number is 764-9715 rather than 764-3773, which is the house director's number, she said.

Broucek Serving As Adjudicator

Dr. Jack W. Broucek, professor of music at the college, is serving as adjudicator at the annual piano festivals sponsored by the South Carolina Music Educators Association.

The festival began yesterday and will continue through tomorrow. The festivals are held at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.; University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C.; and Charleston, S. C.

SPRING WELCOMED

Spring has come to the campus, despite weather reports for this weekend. No one needs an almanac to know it is here. Everything on campus has the fresh clean look of spring and will survive the traditional Easter cold snap.

Young trees are giving the first glimpse of the season. Green leaves are sprouting from the bare branches and the first tender pink and white dogwood blossoms are adding exciting color to the campus. The blooming azaleas are adding their brilliance to the color scheme.

Even the people in the deepest of winter doldrums cannot ignore these harbingers of spring. They suddenly feel good and yet don't know why: smiles and laughter come easily. Bare-armed students walk with their faces held high. No longer are they huddled down in the folds of heavy winter coats. In the late afternoon, couples again head toward Sweetheart Circle for leisurely walks.

Spring inevitably gives spring fever. Students' minds wander to the tennis courts, the baseball diamond, the swimming pool and the beach. But, in reality there are the same books, the same teachers and the same grind with which to cope.

The ingenious students seem always to find the time to incorporate the innumerable campus activities and the never-ending need for study so that neither will suffer.

SCHOOL SPIRIT NEEDED

No school spirit. That's a phrase each GSC student hears at least once a day.

The real reason there's a lack of school spirit lies with each individual. They are afraid to get involved. This attitude is very prevalent in matters of student government. In last year's Student Congress elections only 33 per cent of our student body voted.

Everyone has the attitude: "Joe is a leader!; he'll vote; I won't bother." It is time the apathetic students at our institution woke up and became interested in something.

The concerts, lecture series, baseball games, tennis matches and Student Congress elections are in desperate need of student support. One of these needs immediate attention.

On April, an amendment referendum is going to be placed before the student body for a vote. It is every student's privilege and responsibility to read the paper, talk to Student Congress members and discuss this issue with friends.

Find out what your student government is; find out what its function is on campus; find out what the proposed amendments would mean to student government. Attend some Student Congress meetings. They are open to visitors, but only five visitors have attended these open meetings since last fall.

Wake up GSC students; become interested and involved. You'll then have school spirit.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"ALL MY SECTIONS ARE CLOSED BUT I BELIEVE PROF. SNARF HAS OPENINGS LEFT IN SOME OF HIS SECTIONS."

Results of Expansion Program Can Be Seen in 1976 Forecast

By TOMMY DREW
Managing Editor

A three and one-half million dollar science building and an athletic complex featuring a 6,500 capacity gymnasium and an L-shaped, olympic-size swimming pool for year-round swimming will be the highlights of the new campus facilities to be in operation by 1976, according to Dr. Zach S. Henderson, GSC President.

Within the next ten years the college will also boast new dormitories, a Fine Arts Building, student center, school infirmary, and additional classroom buildings to serve the needs of the anticipated 7,000 enrollment.

Dr. Henderson also cited the expansion of major programs as an important step towards achieving university status in the years to come. "Major programs come as you complete one thing and you need another," remarked Henderson. He added that the college must improve its Masters and undergraduate schools before embarking on a program for Doctorate Degrees for teachers.

The current building program, is constantly threatened by inadequacy. This is exemplified in the initial project of the program, the one-million dollar Hollis classroom building. "Hollis," President Henderson reported, "was inadequate before it left the drawing board." In referring to the complaints leveled at the construction of the Hollis building, Henderson says, "A good bit of the criticism is justified." Small classrooms, insufficient office space, poor acoustics, inadequate lab facilities, and poor construction are some of the faults which must be corrected in future college structures.

When Dr. Henderson was asked whether the construction emphasis would be on classrooms or dorms, the reply was, "both". The next question was posed by Henderson himself. "Should we build on-campus, state-constructed dormitories or let private businesses erect off-campus dorms." It was apparent that he already had an answer for the problem.

The college owns 390 acres of land, said Henderson, more than enough to expand the school into a large university without having to rely on privately built dorms.

He added that the state can build bigger and better housing facilities than any private business could at the same price. This is mainly because of the land factor reported Henderson. The most important thing, Henderson said, is that the state can offer the student an on-campus accommodation for $100 a year less than the off-campus dorm.

The erection of the new student center-dining hall will enable every student at the college to enjoy a hearty meal at an inexpensive price. Henderson said that construction on this $839,700 facility would begin within a month. Completion date was set in one year.

Classroom buildings of the future will feature large auditorium-type lecture rooms that will seat between 200 and 300 students. "We will choose the best speaker to lecture all the classes taking a particular course," said Dr. Henderson. "There will be about 30 students to a teacher in lab."

Henderson estimated enrollment figures next fall would be between 4300 and 4400. This will be approximately 600 students above the 3676 enrollment for this year.

Lack of Timing, Poor Planning Hamper Growth

By FRANK TILTON
Editor

It seems that through all the praise and compliments bestowed upon the college for its progress recently, one prevalent inadequacy has been overlooked

— the lack of timeliness and proper planning.

Two new on-campus dorms are being built — another dorm, Olliff, is already completed — to house an increased enrollment before there is enough cafeteria space to accommodate the new students.

TILTON

Olliff Hall was opened this quarter without having ample parking space allotted for the students.

Furthermore, enrollment is allowed to increase each quarter when classrooms and instructors can't be added in time to handle it.

Why do situations like this prevail? The answer is simple — poor planning and timing.

Well, when does it all end? When do the pieces start falling together at the same time? — No time soon it seems.

When Winburn and Dorman Halls are completed next fall, the inadequacy of the present cafeteria facilities to handle the increased enrollment will stand out like a sore thumb. The problem will exist until at least spring quarter and if things progress in typical fashion, it may be the fall of 1967 before a new cafeteria facility is completed.

Plans are underway for the construction of a parking lot in the near future that will serve both Olliff and Winburn Halls, but the inconvenience will still exist for some time.

Recently the college announced it will initiate a trial program this summer for high school students who apply to the college for fall quarter admission and fail to meet the necessary requirements.

It seems here that the idea is to push everybody inside the college gates and "then" worry about where they will eat and where they will be put in the classrooms. The result, of course, is unhappiness and frustration on the part of the student and embarrassment and degradation on the part of the college.

Ask anyone who has been around the college a long time if progress has been made and he will probably reply in the affirmative before you can "bat an eye". And he's right, the college has made progress—10 or 15 years ago the place was obsolete compared to the way it is now.

But, is this "real" progress, or is it just trying to catch up? Is the college really ahead, or is it still years behind?

Ask an "old head" how things are and he will probably say "better than ever." Open your own eyes and you will see that the college is growing alright, but in a discordant, incongruous way.

When the college builds dorms in the future, it should make a point to have adequate meal facilities, ample parking areas and plenty of space in the classrooms before accepting applications.

Famous Pine Tree Stump Stashed Away in Basement

By LOUISE McCORD
Staff Writer

Participants in last year's Spring Swing scavenger hunt were baffled when they saw "locate the Herty Stump" on their lists. Most of the students relinquished the points for finding this item to the more inquisitive students.

However, several students approached Dr. Fielding Russell in disbelief that such a personally-named stump existed. Dr. Russell not only reassured them of its existence, but he guided them to its obscure location beneath the Administration Building.

Presently the stump is still stuck away in this basement storage area under three large wagon wheels and a piece of broken furniture.

Actually the Herty Stump is a section of one of the pine trees on which Dr. Charles Holmes Herty made one of the most outstanding contributions to chemical research.

Dr. Herty did much of his research on the GSC campus, which at that time was the First District A&M School. His laboratory was located in a little house in the general vicinity of the current president's home on Georgia Avenue. The trees with which he worked were in the approximate area of the newly-paved faculty parking lot behind the Music Building.

Herty perfected a method of collecting the turpentine drippings from these Southern pines in a small cup attached to the side. This revolutionary method replaced the former method of chopping a large section out of the lower part of the tree and placing a box in the space for collection.

Before this accomplishment, Herty had acquired fame in the academic world. Listed in his biographical background are degrees awarded him by Johns Hopkins University, Colgate University, Oglethorpe University, and the Universities of Georgia, Florida and North Carolina.

While employed as an instructor at the University of Georgia in 1902-1904, Herty was also a sports enthusiast. His interests and accomplishments in the athletic department resulted in the administration's naming the first athletic playing field for him.

Dr. Fielding Russell recalled that the playing field was used for drill instruction for the military students when he was a student at the University and that the new Sanford Field was in use.

During the early 30's Herty perfected the rosin cup and then began research in his Savannah laboratory on woodpulp and other naval products. His experimentation in this area scientifically proved one fact of vast importance to the timber industry of the Georgia Coastal Empire.

This discovery that standard newsprint could be made from Southern pine was a revolution-

Students Find Olliff Hall Full of Pleasing Features

Olliff Hall, located on Georgia Avenue, houses a capacity of 300 junior and senior women students, who were previously housed off-campus or in freshman and sophomore dormitories.

Linda Holton, a senior art major from Manassas, said "This new dorm is fabulous; the decor is exciting; the rooms are great—what more could the girls ask for in a dormitory?"

Gloria Bridges, junior music major from Moultrie, said, "It is such a relief to have only two girls in a room. Now we have space to hang clothes without everything being crammed together."

Special features of Olliff Hall are an extra large lobby, large activity room and kitchen, six shower rooms and laundry rooms on each floor. The dorm is completely air-conditioned and each room has an individual temperature control.

A central courtyard for the dorm is designed in geometric shapes. It contains a circular flowing fountain and pool. It is built on different levels with planters dividing the levels. The courtyard is lighted by lamp posts that have spherical globes.

Mrs. Jane Morgan, house mother for Olliff Hall, is the former house director of Deal Hall and has been floating house director for the past year.

Mrs. Morgan said, "I am going to enjoy working with these girls. I worked with many of the same girls in Deal Hall when they were freshmen."

Do you think the spring break should be longer? Any suggestions?

Sue Hudson, soph., Eatonton: No, I don't think it should be any longer. Three days is all anyone can stand in Daytona.

Billy Griffis, soph., Waycross: Yes, I have more time to be "high" at the beach.

Jack Jones Jr., Waycross: Definitely! I think there should be at least a week between winter and spring quarters. People who live a great distance from here don't have enough time to go home during the holidays, especially if they have an exam on Thursday. And, anyway I think I could stand at least a week at Daytona. Three days just isn't much.

Sammy Price, soph., Kite: Yes, I believe it should be longer. Winter quarter is just dreary and everyone gets tired of school. I think a longer time off will put people into a better frame of mind which will help studies.

John Pope Jr., Wrightsville: Yes, because it gives you the opportunity to get a little more stable before coming back to school.

William Kennedy, soph., Barnesville: Yes, let us come to school four days a week.

Jay Hodges, frosh, Norcross:

Yes, with only the long weekend the tension of winter quarter finals did not really dissipate. I think we should have at least a week or ten days.

Bob Johnson, frosh, Indianapolis, Ind.: Yes. Since I live a considerable distance from school, an extended vacation would help immensely. If it's impossible to give a longer vacation between quarters, then a week at Easter should be allowed.

Nancy Mock, frosh, Savannah: It's sort of a ridiculous question to ask if a vacation should be made longer—of course. It could be longer and you should be given a sufficient amount of time to travel, and then a period for recovery.

B. J. Kjerfve, Jr., Sweden: Yes, the few days we have are not enough. We don't get enough time to rest and get ready for the next quarter. Many times we return more tired than we were when we left after the finals; as we have to rush during the vacation to have time for everything.

Henry Bussey, frosh, Waycross: Spring break in my opinion, should be almost doubled. After going through fall and winter quarter you need a little time to "blow off steam." Also if you go to any of the beaches, you really don't have too much time to spend there.

COMMITTEE SET UP

Two Students Appointed As New Congress Officers

Roger Alderman and Connie Dodgen have been appointed to fill the offices of first vice president and secretary of Student Congress for the spring quarter, according to Danny Broucek, president.

They are filling the unexpired terms of Charlie Johnson, first vice president and Ruth Gassett, secretary, who are student teaching this quarter.

Alderman, a junior political science major from Moultrie, was selected Outstanding Member of Circle K service fraternity for 1965-66. He was a member of the state convention committee of Circle K International. As treasurer of his club, he was chairman of 1965 and 1966 homecoming parade.

Miss Dodgen, a sophomore psychology major from Albany, has achieved the Dean's list two times. For maintaining an average of B plus or above during her freshman year, Connie was selected to Alpha Gamma Omicron. She is secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class and secretary of the German club.

As vice president of the Student Congress, Alderman is chairman of the social committee, which includes the social chairman from all the housing units and five appointed committee members.

The appointed members, according to Alderman are Ann

Vaughan, Judy Bedgood, John Boje, Wally Welch and Robley Rigdon.

Alderman said, "One of our major problems this quarter will be formulating a set of rules to govern social and financial projects that will be in agreement with regents' rulings on campus profit-making activities."

College Young Democrats Set Campaign Kick-Off Activities

More than 2,000 members of 60 Georgia Young Democratic Clubs will take an active part in this summer's election campaigning, a state Young Democratic Club official predicted this week.

The kick-off event for such campaign activities will be a College Young Democratic Platform Convention to be held at the University of Georgia, April 29-30, according to Will Wallace of Gainesville, State Y. D. Vice President.

Wallace said the Young Democrats will "strive for campaign effectiveness above all else. We will not endorse as an organization one Democrat over another. But there will be many Young Democrats working actively as individual volunteers in several campaigns this summer for the Democratic Party's various nominations."

He added, "There are indications that almost all members of the Y. D. Clubs will work actively to elect the Democratic nominees, regardless of who they are, if faced with Republican opposition in November."

Speakers who will address the College Young Democratic Platform Convention in April include Governor Carl E. Sanders, House Speaker George T. Smith, former Governor Ernest Vandiver, former Governor Ellis Arnall, Fulton Judge Jeptha Tanksley, Lt. Governor Peter Zack Geer, and Lester Maddox.

Students from at least 24 Georgia universities and colleges are expected to send delegations.

Each school club will submit resolutions for consideration by their own resolutions committee. Every school will have delegates on the committee.

The Young Democrats have set up headquarters for the convention in Demosthenian Hall next to the Old Chapel where the convention will be held. A luncheon at which Vandiver will speak will be in the Georgia Center for Continuing Education. Arnall will speak at the convention's afternoon session.

After the convention a barbecue will be held at Charlie Williams' Lodge outside Athens.

A program brochure put out by the Young Democrats includes a campaign volunteer form. Young Democrats are asked to indicate in whose campaign they would like to work during the summer months.

Eagles Take Second in N.A.I.A.

Rose Makes All-American Team; Places on First Squad Once More

Jimmy Rose was named to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) All-America basketball squad for the second straight year.

Rose, who was the only sophomore on the 10-man squad last year, joined Ken Wilburn of Central State of Ohio and Gene Summers of Northern Michigan as repeaters on this year's selections.

Other members of the first team were Curt Gammell (Pacific Lutheran), Jim Shuler (Carson-Newman), Earl Beechum (Midwestern Texas), Al Tucker, (Oklahoma Baptist), Pat Caldwell (Rockhurst), Henry Logan (Western Carolina), and Gary Liberatore (New Haven).

Other Georgia athletes to receive recognition were Ron Jackson of Clark (second team All-America) and Bobby Ritch of Valdosta State (third team). GSC's Don Adler, Jim Seeley, and Bill Pickens received honorable mention.

Rose scored 465 points this season for a 15.5 average, both marks ranking third on the Eagles. However, the native of Hi Hat, Ky., excelled as a ball handler, rebounded well, played defense, and led the Eagles' offensive game. Rose scored 490 points last year for an 18.1 average to lead Georgia Southern.

Rose, Pickens Shine; Selected For All-Tournament Honors

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Georgia Southern, making its fifth appearance in the NAIA basketball tournament in 11 years, presented its best showing ever in the week-long spectacle with four victories before bowing in the championship game.

Coach J. B. Searce's Eagles were fourth-seeded among the 32 teams that showed up for competition Monday and Tuesday in Kansas City's spacious Municipal Auditorium. After four basketball games in five days in the grueling single-elimination affair, Georgia Southern was one of two teams remaining when the final game was played.

The other remaining team was Oklahoma Baptist, which defeated the Eagles, 88-59, for the championship.

The highlight of the tournament for the Eagles came after bowing to Oklahoma Baptist when GSC placed two members on the five-man all-tournament team. Center Bill Pickens and guard, Jimmy Rose, along with Oklahoma Baptist's Al Tucker and R. B. Lynam and Central State of Ohio's Ken Wilburn were named the tournament's best out of 320 players who competed.

The Eagles defeated Howard Payne (Tex.) 85-80, in the opening round on Monday, and followed with an 80-62 verdict over Southern State (Ark.) in Wednesday's second round. The Eagles then beat Illinois Wesleyan 96-72, in Thursday's quarterfinals and Norfolk State (Va.) 89-88, in the semifinals on Friday to advance into Saturday's championship game with Oklahoma Baptist.

PICKENS
All-Tourney Choice

Tucker, a 6-8 center, scored 41 points and grabbed 17 rebounds to lead Oklahoma Baptist past the Eagles. In addition, the junior played superb defense and blocked numerous Eagle shooting attempts.

Last year Central State clubbed Oklahoma Baptist, 85-51, in the title game.

Pickens scored 100 points in the tourney. He was the only player to hit double figures for the Eagles.

Georgia Southern hit only 32 per cent in the final game, compared to a yearly average of nearly 50 per cent.

The most exciting game in the tournament had to be GSC's come from behind 89-88 victory over high-scoring Norfolk State in the semifinals. The score was tied or changed hands 39 times during the 40 minutes of action.

Georgia Southern had to scramble to survive the Monday night overtime victory against Howard Payne. The Eagles led 72-70, but the Texans' Danny Faubion hit a 55-foot, desperation shot at the buzzer to send the game into overtime. The Eagles outscored the Yellow Jackets, 13-8, in the extra period.

The scoring summaries:

PIGSKIN PICKENS

KANSAS CITY—Oklahoma Baptist's Al Tucker may have attracted most of the basketball limelight in the recent National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament, but Georgia Southern's Bill Pickens walked off with the football honors.

Pickens, a 6-10 250-pounder, was approached by the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League about playing professional football. Pickens reportedly had several meetings with Chief officials. He is dead serious about playing pro football and is hoping to sign a contract this week.

"Pickens has good agility in addition to his great size," said Hank Stram, head coach of the Chiefs. "That's what we look for in a defensive end or tackle. We consider him a prospect."

Pickens, a Marine Corps veteran, said, "I think I'm strong enough to do it, and I would like to give it a try."

He, no doubt, could become Georgia Southern's first professional footballer, at least in the AFL.

Several Chief players were present throughout the weeklong basketball spectacle at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium. Quarterback Len Dawson served as a host for one of the basketball teams, and huge Earnie Ladd and Buck Buchanan were spectators regularly.

Jimmy Rose, in addition to being selected to the first team All-Tournament team as was Pickens, had one other notable achievement. He led the tournament in technical fouls by a player. Early in the second half after a GSC floor mistake, Rose slammed the ball onto floor and it bounced about 10 feet high. It's an automatic technical foul.

The scene was reminiscent of the old baseball tale about the guy throwing the bat into the air after striking out. The ump said, "Son, if that bat comes down you're out of the game" . . .

Norfolk State undoubtedly had to be the most colorful team in the 32-team field. The Spartans, led by Lewis Graham who wore sunglasses while playing, always put on an entertaining show. The most thrilling spectacle was Norfolk's dunk line, and spectators crowded to the edge of the playing court to watch the Spartans stuff the ball through the basket during warmup drills.

Graham wasn't really a showboat. He normally wears glasses while playing but broke two pair prior to the tournament. His prescription dark glasses were all he had left.

In the dressing room prior the the GSC-Norfolk game, Coach J. B. Searce was making his pre-game assignments. It went something like this: "Pickens you guard Pitts, Adler you take Grant, and Seeley you've got 'Shades' " . . .

Searce Pleased

"We never played as well during the season as we felt we could play," said J. B. Searce who has just finished his 19th year as Georgia Southern's basketball coach. "We just played well enough to win regardless of whom we were playing."

Searce turned out one of the better campaigns, leading the Eagles to a 26-6 record and second place in last week's NAIA tournament in Kansas City.

"We just felt like we were a little bit better than folks had given us credit for because we were able to beat a lot of people. We didn't beat anybody too badly, but we were able to win consistently, at home and on the road."

"This was the best team we've ever taken to the national tournament," continued Searce.

Scotkiewicz's Homer Sparks Eagles to Baseball Victory

The Georgia Southern baseballers downed the Wildcats of Kentucky, 8-0, in the season opener, March 12, then split two games with Tennessee, dropping the first one, Monday, 6-4, and taking a 6-1 decision in Tuesday's game.

Outstanding for the Eagles were pitchers Jerry Stephens and Larry Groce, first sacker Leahman Stanley, and freshman shortstop Ken Scotkiewicz.

GSC 8, Kentucky 0

Scotkiewicz combined four hits, including three singles and a two run homer, and five RBI's with Jerry Stephens' five hit shutout as the Eagles white-washed Kentucky in the season opener.

Stephens scattered the Wildcats' five hits over four innings, fanning 10 and walking 7 for his first win.

Intramurals Starting; Meeting on Monday

There will be intramural activities this quarter.

An organizational meeting for softball and volleyball is scheduled for Monday at 7 p.m. in the Hanner Gymnasium, said Charles Exley, intramural director. Students must bring entry sheets to this meeting or prior to the meeting leave them in Exley's office (No. 3 Hollis).

Later in the quarter there will be intramural competition on individual basis in tennis, badminton, track and field, and swimming, Exley added.

Baby Baseballers Win

The junior varsity baseball Eagles last Wednesday visited Milledgeville and beat Georgia Military College, 8-0, in the opening game of the season for the newly started GSC team.

Southern got eight runs on five hits with three fielding errors. GMC got no runs but had two hits and three fielding errors.

Tim O'Leary pitched a two-hitter and struck out 12 batters in sparking the Baby Eagles to their victory.

Paul Smith led the winners at the plate, collecting a pair of safeties.

BURTON FLIES HIGH

The Eagle Gymnast is number six in the nation all around.

Gymnasts Finish Seventh in Finals

By BJORN KJERFVE
Sports Editor

The Georgia Southern gymnasts captured seventh place in the NAIA competition last week at Western Illinois University in Macomb, Illinois among 32 starting schools. Individually Southern Gymnast Kip Burton finished sixth in the All-Around competition.

Four gymnasts: Kip Burton, Charles Eunice, Rick Ward, and Joe Lumpkin, represented Georgia Southern in the tournament. Together with Ron Oertley, gymnastics coach, they left Statesboro Wednesday, March 16, and returned last Tuesday.

"I am satisfied," said Oertley. "The competition was better than ever: schools from all over the nation participated."

Burton started in all events. Totally he scored 41.475 points in the six events (floor exercise, side horse, high bar, long horse vault, parallel bars, and still rings) counting in the All-Around competition, where he got sixth place. Besides he competed in tumbling and trampoline. Burton reached the finals in floor exercise, parallel bars, and tumbling, where he finished 5, 5, 3 respectively.

None of the other Southern gymnasts managed to qualify for any final, but according to Oertley they did very well.

Lumpkin started in still rings and trampoline. He did his best performance in the rings ever, Oertley said.

Eunice started in floor exercise, parallel bars, and long horse vault.

Rick Ward was very close to becoming one of the finalist on the high bar, Oertley thought but missed it. Ward also competed on the parallel bars and on the still rings.

Netters Down Charleston

By BJORN KJERFVE
Sports Editor

The Eagle netters opened the season with one win and two losses.

On a trip to Charleston, S. C. during spring holidays they beat College of Charleston 6-2 in the opening game. The Citadel was, as always before, too strong and beat the guests 8-1. Last Wednesday Springfield College, Mass., visited Statesboro and captured a 7-2 victory against the Eagles.

The win against College of Charleston is historical, as a Southern team has never before beaten a South Carolina team during the four years tennis has officially been played at GSC.

Coach Bob Weber was satisfied with the road trip. He was far from satisfied, though, with the home game against Springfield.

"I am unhappy today," he said. "My players didn't hustle. Still I am optimistic about the three matches this weekend."

"HE HUSTLES WELL"

Tennis Coach Bob Weber pleased with Eagle Netter Mack Poss.

THIS WEEK:

During the next week, there will be several baseball games and tennis matches here. Following is a round-up of these contests . . .

BASEBALL, Varsity: The Georgia Southern team will meet Wake Forest and Davidson College in a doubleheader here tomorrow, beginning at 1 p.m. The Eagles will play Amherst College on Wednesday and Thursday, and on Friday will play Amherst and Hampden-Sydney in a doubleheader.

BASEBALL, Junior varsity:

On Friday, the junior varsity will play their second game of the season with Armstrong State College, in Savannah. They will meet Abraham Baldwin here on Monday, and on Tuesday, they will play Armstrong again here.

TENNIS: The Eagle netters will meet the citadel and Georgia State here in Statesboro tomorrow at 10 p.m. On Monday they will have a match with Augusta College here, and they will meet Erskine College here on Tuesday.

Baseball Junior Varsity Organized; Plays Today

A baseball junior varsity team has been organized at Georgia Southern. This is the first such team in the school's history.

Bob Backus, graduate assistant, is assistant coach.

"We are still working on the schedule and hope to play approximately fifteen games," Backus said.

Several games have already been scheduled. These include a game today in Savannah against Armstrong. Monday the team plays Abraham Baldwin from Tifton here, and Tuesday it meets Armstrong here.
