★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Stapleton Elected President of Congress

Fifty Per Cent Of Student Body Patronize Polls

James Stapleton, a junior physical education major from Wrightsville, was named president of the 1966-67 Student Congress at elections held this week.

Larry Duncan, a sophomore German major from Macon captured the first vice presidency, while Robin Olmstead, a sophomore math major from Brunswick, was elected second vice president.

Connie Dodgen and Bjorn (B.J.) Kjerfve took the offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively. Connie is a sophomore medical technology major from Albany and B.J. is a junior math major from Sweden.

In the president's race, James Stapleton defeated Roger Alderman 1088 to 686, while Larry Duncan defeated Jim King 930 to 829 for the office of first vice president.

Robin Olmstead carried 1155 votes to Danny Hagan's 599 to win the second vice presidency. Kjerfve beat Johnson 986-780.

The largest winning margin went to Connie Dodgen who defeated Betsy Moss 1300-439.

Approximately 50 per cent of the student body voted in the elections.

When asked to comment on his victory, Stapleton said: "I'm glad I won and I appreciate all the 80-odd people who helped me campaign. I realize it's a tremendous responsibility and I'll try my best to do a real good job."

SUMMER REGISTRATION

The first, and probably the most important step to student registration procedure for Summer quarter can start immediately, according to Lloyd Joyner, Registrar.

Joyner said soon as students make appointments to see their advisor, they can begin registration. The next step, drawing a time-card indicating when the student will be admitted to the Hanner Building, can only be accomplished if the Summer quarter student has a Dean-Advisor card filled out by himself and signed by his advisor.

This card is to be presented at the Registrar's window in the basement of the Administration Building.

This Dean-Advisor card is a prerequisite to all registration procedure, he said.

Concerts, Picnic Scheduled

Spring Swing Week Events To Hit High Gear Monday

The sophomore class will present Simon and Garfunkel in concert next Saturday night to climax the week of Spring Swing festivities beginning Monday.

Spring Swing Week, which is set up on an annual basis, will include activities in varying fields, from academic competition through concerts and dances to a track meet and tug-of-war. Points will be awarded to each class for places in the academic and athletic competition, and the class with the highest point total will be awarded the President's Trophy. Individual trophies will also be awarded in these areas.

Information and entry forms can be obtained in division offices, and entries will be accepted until Monday afternoon.

CALAPAI PRINT "DUSK" TO REMAIN

After all the votes were counted, it was decided that the college would purchase the Calapai print "Dusk." The winning print received 941 affirmative votes. "Mediterranean Memory" was voted the second most popular print, receiving 803 votes. The hotel tycoon, Conrad Hilton, bought one of each print in the show and along with others placed them in each hotel office around the world.

Top Leaders, Scholars To Get School Tribute

Eighteen seniors have been selected to receive awards for outstanding leadership and service to Georgia Southern at the annual Honors Day Convocation ceremonies, Monday at 10 a.m. in McCroan Auditorium.

DEDICATION SET

The 1966 Reflector will be dedicated Honors Day, according to Doug Gieger, editor.

The Reflectors are due to be shipped from Dallas, Tex. May 20, and should arrive here by May 24, said Gieger. The annuals will be distributed to the students through the Reflector office window.

Seniors who will receive leadership and service awards are: Danny Broucek, Jeri Prince, Gloria Lane, Joy Walden, Brenda Taylor, Martha Lamb, Jean

The Honors Committee will also recognize 19 students who

Summer Housing Is Announced

Students who haven't made any housing arrangements for the summer quarter must make an application as soon as possible, according to Helen Mikell, Director of Housing.

Miss Mikell reminds students that, "all housing applications for summer quarter are separate from those made during fall, spring and winter."

She added that instead of summer housing assignments being made on a yearly basis, as it is done during the regular school year, the assignments would be valid for one quarter. This would necessitate re-applying for housing in the fall.

Summer on-campus facilities will consist of Olliff and Veazey Halls for girls and Sanford for the men.

Olliff Hall has been filled with summer quarter students and the Housing Office is in the process of assigning remaining accommodations.

Miss Mikell emphasized the fact that all on-campus dorms must be filled before any off-campus applications will be accepted.

MONDAY
Competition will begin on Monday at 4 p.m. with events in modeling, flower arranging, and menu planning in the Home Economics Division.

Delta Pi Alpha is sponsoring a concert featuring the Platters on Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Hanner Building. Tickets are now on sale at $2, and will be $2.50 at the door.

TUESDAY
Students representing each class will present science projects in the Math and Science division competition at 3 p.m. along with the mathematics quiz. There will be vocal and instrumental competition in the music division activities at 5 p.m.

Tuesday at 7 p.m. the Lamar Harris Talent Show will be held in McCroan Auditorium. Admission for students will be 50 cents, and all proceeds will go to the Lamar Harris Memorial Fund.

Degrees Added To Curricula

The Master of Education degree in Mental Retardation, together with additional major programs of study and three degree programs, was added to the academic curricula at the college, according to Academic Dean Paul F. Carroll.

The three degree changes will create a Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Science in Chemistry and Master of Science for Teachers.

The seven new programs of study are: Within the A. B. degree economics; within the B. B. A. degree, accounting, general business, finance, marketing and management; and within the M. Ed. degree, mental retardation.

The changes will be effective for study starting with the academic year 1966-67, reported Dean Carroll.

This continues the academic development led by Dean Carroll over the past eleven years. In 1954 the college offered only the B. S. in Education degree and 10 major areas of study. Since that time 14 degrees have been added and 26 majors on the undergraduate and graduate level.

STUBBS ELECTED VICE-CHAIRMAN
Young Republican Named To High Office at State Convention

Leader Chosen Vice-Chairman

Stubbs Elected To State Office

Frances Stubbs, economics major from Glennville, was elected Vice-Chairman of the State Young Republicans at the Young Republicans convention recently in Macon.

The convention, attended by some 400 delegates, elected Stubbs, who is the vice president of the Georgia Southern Young Republicans, to the highest position ever held by a college student.

Three other students were also elected to high offices. Bobby Cowden was elected College Director for the southern region of Georgia, Bill Pelham was chosen as director of Young Republican Clubs in the Second Congressional District and John Eckenroth, president of the Young Republicans on campus, was elected Young Republican director for the First Congressional District.

The convention passed resolutions supporting the promotion of political training for young people and civil rights.

Featured speakers at the convention were G. Paul Jones, Chairman of the Georgia Re-Congressional District, and a National Committeewoman for Young Republicans.

Stubbs stated that the purpose of the convention was to promote the organization of Young Republicans so as to insure the election of a Republican governor this fall.

He added that the Young Republicans feel that the time has come for young people to show and exercise their influence in politics.

Stubbs said that Rep. Callaway will speak again here during fall quarter as will Porter

Carswell, Waynesboro businessman and possible candidate for the First Congressional seat.

Hitchcock Completes Booklet

"The Orientation Service" booklet, the twelfth in the series "Guidance for Georgia Schools," was recently completed by Dr. William L. Hitchcock, professor of education and director of counselor education.

Dr. Hitchcock stated that schools must accept the responsibility of helping students to get started on the right foot in school and continue these efforts throughout their school experience.

In this booklet some basic principles underlying the orientation program in the school were discussed.

A number of adjustment concerns that students normally experience which should be cared for by the school in an organized way were treated. The last major section of the booklet dealt with methods, techniques, and practices schools may employ in the orientation program.

This booklet should prove very helpful as a guide for schools in the organization and administration of this important guidance service, he said.

Speaker of the Georgia House of Representatives, George T. Smith said yesterday that the vital need for Georgia today is education and the most pressing problem is financing it.

Smith was introduced by Jerry Lifsey, vice president of the Young Democrats, following a

Bill Passed

A resolution urging prison reforms was passed by the State College Young Democrats Platform Convention last week in Athens.

The resolution, introduced by the Georgia Southern Young Democrats, urged that the state prisons system "be appropriated sufficient funds to provide persons confined in Georgia prisons with maximum opportunities for responsible and productive citizenship upon their return to society."

The convention passed other resolutions recommending a state investigation of the Ku Klux Klan and the subsequent revocation of its charter, the adoption of the Peabody-McClurkin Report, Democratic Party registration, adoption of a new state constitution and approval of pari-mutual betting in the state.

In the keynote address Governor Carl E. Sanders noted the arrival of the two-party system in Georgia and urged the delegates to meet this challenge with a united front.

Other speakers on the program were probable gubernatorial candidates Lester Maddox, Fulton Superior Court Judge Jephtha C. Tankersley, former Lieutenant Governor Garland Bryd and former Governors Ellis Arnall and Ernest Vandiver.

The delegates to the convention also heard talks by Georgia House Speaker George T. Smith and Lieutenant Governor Peter Zack Geer. They will probably vie for the Lieutenant Governor's seat in the Democratic primary in September.

coffee held in Olliff Hall.

Addressing a group of students, faculty and local leaders in Marvin Pittman Auditorium,

GEER TO SPEAK

Lieutenant Governor Peter Zack Geer speaks in McCroan Auditorium Wednesday, at 1 p.m. in a series of addresses by state Democratic candidates sponsored by the Young Democrats.

Geer, a candidate for re-election, will be introduced by Don Vik, president of the club.

Smith said that Georgia can finance education with education. He said that educated people are generally higher paid; if a higher percentage of Georgia's people can be educated, the income and, consequently, more tax money will result.

Smith told the groups that 60 cents of every tax dollar is spent for education. He said there is a great need for more funds for technical and vocational schools. He rephrased that these technical and vocational schools are making it possible for more people to receive higher education. Salaries of graduates compare favorably with those of college and university graduates.

Smith expressed a desire that graduates of any school in Georgia be able to compete favorably with those of any school in the nation. He also wanted every child in Georgia to have the opportunity to receive the degree of education that he desired.

He asked the group to help him convince people of the need for higher education. He said, "You can't get tomorrow's jobs with yesterday's skills."

Teacher's salaries have been raised $1,200 during the past four years, but because of the constantly rising standards, Georgia is in relatively the same position as it was three years ago.

He concluded, "An educated child is an asset, not a liability."

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

The traffic problems at the entrance of the Brannen, Sanford and Cone Hall parking area have reached such proportions that minor traffic accidents are becoming commonplace.

For those who travel Herty Drive the intersection has become a hazard.

This parking area, which is possibly one of the busiest on campus, suffers from a gross inadequacy of entrance-exit lanes.

It is simple to negotiate one's entering the parking area, but leaving is another matter entirely. The steady flow on Herty Drive plus the matter of not being able to observe on-coming traffic makes exiting almost impossible. Needless to say an additional lane into the area would be like a gift from Heaven but the answer isn't that far away. As seen here, the most logical solution to the problem would be to open the road that already exists between Brannen and Sanford Halls to relieve the problem of confusion during exit and entrance procedures. The suggested lane connection at Southern Drive would give additional benefit to safety as well as ease the exit problem.

SIDEWALK MISUSE

The recent rainy season has created many mud puddles about the campus. Wet feet and ruined shoes have been the result of Mother Nature's gift to the farmer.

This isn't always necessary. Sidewalks were made to keep feet from getting muddy. Some sidewalks are not being used for the pedestrians.

Walkers on the sidewalk in front of Olliff Hall have reason to be perturbed. Visitors to the dormitory persist in parking with the front half of the automobile across the sidewalk. Pedestrians have no choice but to detour and trod through the slimy, slippery mud.

The students not lucky enough to motivate by auto would think it thoughtful and courteous if drivers would park their cars parallel to the sidewalk in the rainy season. Some cars could park across the street.

The visitors who plan to stay any length of time could park in the Olliff Hall parking lot down the street.

STUDENTS ON THE BALL

The Student Congress is to be commended for the new system of voting they have used in the last two campus-wide elections. More students were contacted by having one place for the off-campus students to vote and by having all on-campus students vote in the dormitories.

The figure that voted in the Student Congress elections proved that with a little planning, students can be induced to vote.

Another example of interested participation are the political clubs on campus. The Young Republicans and the Young Democrats are doing a great job of stirring up the dust in this election year. Having Howard (Bo) Callaway, prospective gubernatorial candidate and Speaker of the House George T. Smith, prospective candidate for Lieutenant Governor speak on the campus was a good way to introduce students to the candidates and the current political issues.

Much has been said about student apathy and much has been done in recent weeks to prove that students are not as apathetic as they have seemed.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WATCH IT WITH THOSE BRUSH HANDLES WILL YAMAC!"

Big Buildings Go Up At GSC; Health Cottage Still Stands Tall

By TOMMY DREW
Managing Editor

The tall, lanky boy was standing there grinning and looking down at his hand as the white-suited nurse wrapped the strips of gauze and tape around his burned fingers and palm.

"How much is this thing going to cost me," he mournfully asked. The nurse didn't even glance up. "It won't cost you anything. Why do you think you pay a $4 health fee every quarter?"

After a pause the fellow remarked in a low voice, "I'll bet I've got $4 worth of gauze on here, not including anything else."

Another nurse, Muriel Bryant, walked in the treatment room and chuckled, "you won't even need a glove to play baseball, now!"

These two honestly outspoken ladies watched the young boy walk out of the room and down the front stairs of the red brick health building (suitable called the "health cottage") and out into the parking lot, his slightly burned limb hanging by his side.

Eva Bryant, Dorothy Wiggins and Muriel Bryant treat numerous accident cases like this almost every day. They treat the whooping cough and the flu ("hundreds of cases"). They tape cuts, give advice, nurse students with sore throats and colds and are quite good at contemporary philosophy.

These dedicated ladies can grab a boy's dirty, smelly foot in their lap and remove a splinter and, with the grace and gentleness of an angel, wipe the perspiration from a student's forehead.

Do you remember when your mother would blow her soft breath over a cut which she had just drenched in merthiolate? They'll do that, too, if you ask them.

The under-staffed nurses are concerned, sure, when they have to stand on their feet for 12 hours a day and nap in small, poorly furnished quarters every night for only short intervals.

You couldn't tell it, though, by the kind smile on their face when they come to unlock the front door at 3 A.M. to care for a young coed who can't sleep because of a high fever or a cough.

When they built the students' Health Building it was large enough and extensively equipped to take care of 1,000 students. Today its size is inadequate, to say the least, but it is probably stocked and cared for as well as the pharmacy in any big-city hospital.

The nurses' record keeping would put any private secretary to shame.

"Sure we give penicillin! We give lots of it," remarked Miss Wiggins.

Above the gripes of sore-armed students remains the fact that penicillin is the most reliable drug in existence that kills almost any kind of infection.

"Let them gripe about us giving so many shots, we don't care, just as long as its making them well."

We would much rather give a sick student a shot of tetanus toxoid or penicillin or anything else for that matter, than to let him leave here with $3 or $4 worth of sulfa pills that he will throw in his drawer after he has taken a few," they all seemed to agree.

"If you give it to them in their arm or fanny then you know they've got it."

All too quickly students take for granted what a valuable asset they have in the nurses, Bryant, Wiggins and Bryant, or in the capable assistance and guidance of Dr. Robert Swint and Dr. Bird Daniel.

Dorothy, (her regular patients call her that) said that she thought that the most important thing that she and the others on

Students Need More Guarantee of Entertainment

The next time you hear that some big name performer is going to appear at the college - - watch out! !

Following the general run of things, you might be disappointed. In fact, the best thing to do is not to count on it.

TILTON

They say you win some and lose some: Wow! If we lose any more we'll be scrambling for the next few years to gain an even average.

The college is making great strides to present the students with top performers but more times than not the entertainers either fail to show up or prove to be fiascos.

Well, what sort of guarantee do the organizations have to offer that entertainers will show up? The organizations can't make any promises about the quality of the performance but it seems that something can be done to curtail last-minute cancellations.

The college has had more than its share of cancellations in the last year. Heading the list are "Righteous Brothers," the "Shirelles," and "Sam the Sham and the Pharaohs."

The all time leader in fiascos on campus are, of course, the "Rolling stones."

Something needs to be done before the students lose all faith in organizations that bring the various groups to the campus. The organizations will eventually suffer as the students lose faith because a drop in ticket sales will be inevitable.

The organizations need to protect themselves more as well as the students. The failure of entertainers to show up several times can put an organization in a touchy financial fix.

How long will students continue to be disappointed? How long will the organizations tolerate cancellation after cancellation? There is no end if action is not taken - - and soon! !

the staff want the students to know is that, "We are here if they need help of any kind."

Georgia Southern is a growing school. Improvements and new conditions are evident in the new building facilities and in the academic structure of the college.

The dedication and service of these three angels of mercy performing miracles in their little brick health cottage places them head and shoulders over a whole campus of shining new buildings.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the editor:

We, the Brothers of Alpha Phi Omega, would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the Brothers of Sigma Epsilon Chi for the show and dance they sponsored Thursday night.

Not only was it an outstanding dance but also was handled as well as possible.

We would also like to offer our regrets and sympathy regarding the outcome of Friday night's performance. However, again we have to commend Sigma Epsilon Chi for the manner in which they handled this unfortunate incident.

Speaking from experience, we know that it requires a great deal of work to plan and organize a show that the students of Georgia Southern will enjoy. We also know that these ventures to bring big name shows to our campus are very expensive for the fraternity sponsoring them; when the show proves to be a failure it can easily wreck a good fraternity.

Alpha Phi Omega would like to thank them for their many months of hard work and will stand behind them in any future events they might undertake.

Sincerely,
Brothers of Alpha Phi Omega

Post Office Moved

Old Facilities Bow to New Ones

By RACHAEL ROUNDTREE
Staff Writer

Just as the Pony Express had to bow to Wells Fargo, so must the Williams Center post office bow to the University Plaza post office.

More space enables this branch to serve people who live in that vicinity other than the college students.

There are 3318 boxes available for rent as well as provision for expansion in five blank panels designed to hold 135 boxes each.

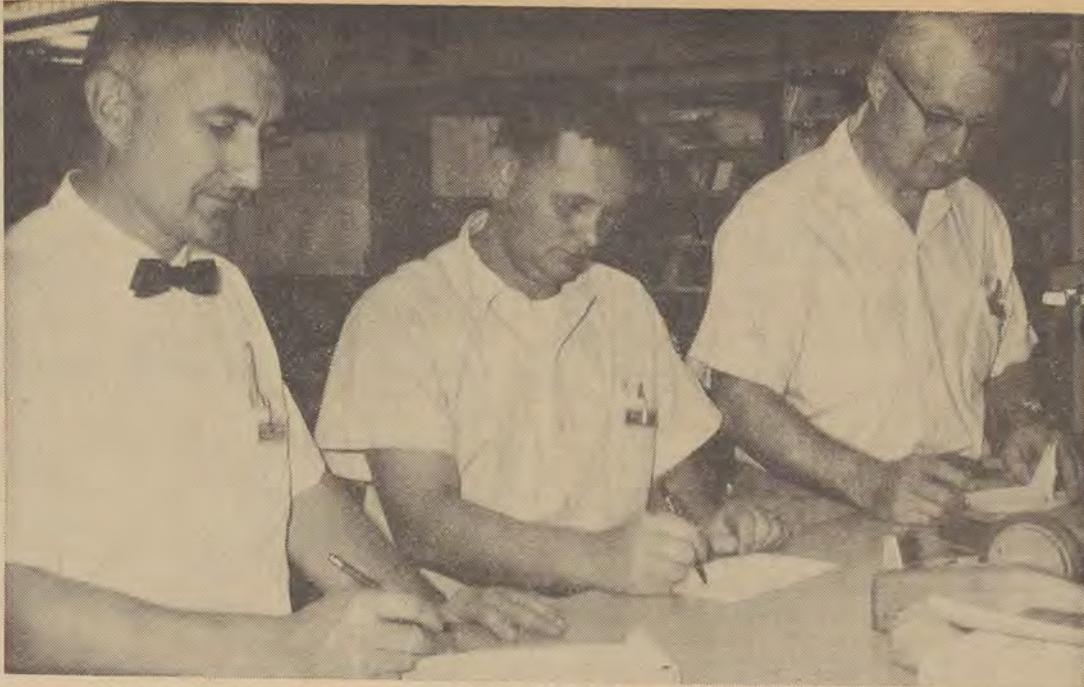

The new building is better lighted and ventilated and there are more accessible parking spaces than there are around the Williams Center.

Student opinion about the new post office has ranged from high praise to dire criticism. The loudest complaint being voiced concerns that distance separating the on-campus student from his P.O. box. His position can readily be understood if we recall that he is accustomed to running down a few steps to pick up his mail while waiting for his number to go through in the lunch line.

Suddenly, his whole schedule is in chaos. Here is one more thing he must find time to do. "Why did they have to go and mess everything up?" he asks in consternation. "I thought it was fine just like it was." He was one of the lucky ones who had a box. He didn't have to go to the post office at a certain time or stand in a line in order to get his mail. He didn't realize that the personnel in the post office spent as much time in handling general delivery as they did in sorting the mail for regular boxes.

"So, everybody's got a box now. It's still mighty inconvenient to hike all the way out to the University Plaza." For right now, what he says is true. But what about next fall when Winburn and Dorman Halls will be completed?

The college is definitely growing in that direction as witnessed not only by the new dorms, but also the fine arts building and the student center under construction. Before long, the majority of the students will live nearer the new post office than they did the old one.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Since Sweetheart Circle is a popular night spot on Georgia Southern College's campus, naturally, like the rest of our projects, it must progress.

So what, in your opinion, would be the most constructive improvement that could be made in Sweetheart Circle?

Charlotte Taylor, frosh, Macon: Put mosquito nets up or Gale Williams, frosh, Albany: Put refreshment stands up.

Janie Nixon, sr., Carrollton: I think they should erect a mountain.

Brenda McPhail, frosh, Macon: Bigger trees and bigger bushes.

Robin Olmstead, soph., Brunswick: More benches with padded, all-weather coverings.

Dick Steele, frosh, Toccoa: I think they should put benches by the flag pole and trim those bushes.

Mel Middlebrooks, frosh, Macon: I think they should construct a three-ringed circus with a high-wire act, a candied-apple stand, a quick-draw shooting gallery, and four burlesque shows.

Jerri O'Neal, frosh, Eastman: I think they should put more benches with an available boy on each one.

Roy McWilliams, Macon; Jackie Colter, Caldwell: Well we are not quite sure what would improve Sweetheart Circle, for we have not really done anything there, however, maybe B. W. Knight could pipe in some stereo music and fix some air conditioners.

Jane Spivey, frosh, Savannah: As an improvement there should be more benches. It would be nice if there were more sidewalks to aid the students who walk across it every day. The shrubbery should be well kept and the lawns need to be mowed regularly.

Bangs AGoGo, Hendricks Hall: To improve Sweetheart Circle, we think that first the students should be permitted to walk or sit in the circle after dark; the campus cops and other school personnel should not be allowed on the premises after dark. In order for there to be darkness and privacy the lights should be taken away. There should be piped in music so that the campus will have somewhere with atmosphere. More should be placed in the circle. After all of these improvements, we will of course need more benches for the students to take full advantage.

Brenda Holton, frosh, Alma: First of all a little man should come around with a mosquito sprayer every night. Next, it should be okay for couples to sit out there at night and talk, because some people don't have cars. There should also be flowers and a fountain with colored lights shining on it. Last, they should have comfortable benches and more of them.

Maudie Walker Captures Miss Tifton Crown

— Now Third Coed after Miss Georgia Title

Maudie Walker, junior elementary education major, became the third Miss Georgia contestant now attending the college, when she was named Miss Tifton last Saturday night.

The twelve contestants were judged on their appearances in bathing suits, evening gowns and talents. Maudie presented a Greek dance to "Never on Sunday."

"I felt like so many people were behind me. It was a wonderful feeling," explained Maudie, who received a standing ovation from the audience after her crowning.

Maudie has been dancing, ballet and tap, since the sixth grade. The daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. J. Walker, Maudie has lived in Japan, Okinawa and Washington, D. C.

A member of Theta Pi Omega sorority, Southern Belle fall quarter and runnerup in the Miss GSC Contest, Maudie plays the organ, sings and likes to dance.

Maudie was asked several questions during the contest. To the question, "Do you think it is wise to be dependent on your parents financially after you are married?" she answered that it would be "unwise, unhealthy, and very unsafe."

The Miss Georgia contest will be held in June in Columbus.

The sponsor of the Tifton pageant was the Tifton Jaycees.

Veni, Vidi, Vici...

That is exactly what happened last Saturday. The Southern tennis team was supposed to play Georgia State in Atlanta. The Eagles came; they saw; and they won... won 9-0 without playing one match.

No Georgia State Panthers were waiting at the courts when the visiting Statesboro team arrived at match time. After a while their coach, Dick Weir, arrived.

No match could be played because of the bad rain the preceding days, he said. The courts were in a very bad condition, he meant. And by the way some of his players were out of town. The rest would be difficult to get in touch with. At least that was what Dick Weir said.

The Southern netters travelled 200 miles for the match. Anybody can understand that they were disappointed not getting to play. Of course they were given the victory, but that does not mean everything.

This awkward situation also has to be viewed from another side. The financial one. The trip cost GSC between $250 and $300, which is a lot of money considering that the sport involved is tennis. As a matter of fact the tennis team has never before got that much money for one road trip. The tennis team had a nice vacation in Atlanta for two night. Nothing to bother about except remembering to which professional baseball game the tickets were, and when the invitational tennis tournament (with Chuck McKinley as final winner) was to begin.

The day before the Phanters visited Birmingham, Alabama, and got wiped off the courts winning no more than four games altogether. This probably was the reason they did not want to play Southern. But why did not Weir make a phone call. That could have saved both time and money.

In spite of the canceled match the weekend was enjoyable. It was especially pleasing to see the Eagles nip the Bears of Mercer, 5-4, on a stop-over in Macon.

She Reaches Semifinals

Eagle Tennis Girls Reach Semi-Finals

By BJORN KJERFVE

Sandra Ray and Judy Brock reached the semifinals in doubles, when the first Georgia Collegiate Invitational Tennis Tournament for Women was held last weekend at Women's College in Milledgeville.

The Milledgeville netters dominated both the singles and doubles tournaments. Georgia Southern participated with four girls, who according to Coach Sue Colquitt did real well.

Phyllis Grimes managed best of the four in singles winning two matches before falling to the final winner, Ethel Robertson (Women's College) in the quarter finals, 6-0, 6-1. She beat Shaffer (Columbus) 6-0, 6-1, and Carter (Women's College) 6-4, 6-3.

In the first round Sandra Ray lost to Murray (Mercer) 6-1, 6-4, and Frances Kea forfeited to Tyler (Women's College). Hanna Teague defeated Jackson (Columbus) 6-1, 6-4, and Judy Brock secured the win against Dillon (Columbus) 6-4, 6-4. In the second round Teague had no chance against Burgdorf (Women's College): 6-1, 6-0. Brock lost to Johnson (Women's College) 6-1, 6-2.

Ray and Brock beat Stowell-Mulherin (Women's College), 9-7, 6-4 in the first round of the doubles tournament. In the second round they rolled past Boudreau-Tyler (Women's College) 6-0, 10-8, before losing to Johnson-Burgdorf (Women's College) 6-3, 6-1 in the semifinals.

"With a little more experience Sandra and Judy could have won the doubles," said Coach Colquitt. "They looked real good; like pros."

"I am certainly satisfied," concluded Miss Colquitt.

Eagles Shade Bears

Dan Stiles Wins His 10th Victory

By BJORN KJERFVE
Sports Editor

The Eagle Netters raise cane upsetting the Bears of Mercer University, 5-4, in their den in Macon to win the third consecutive meet last Friday.

Once more the Eagles delivered a surprise. Mercer was said to have a strong team this year. Still the determined Southern players could add another victory to their record. It needs to be mentioned though that the ordinary number one Mercer netter was prohibited from playing.

"For the first time of the year I am completely satisfied with every player on the team," said Coach Bob Weber. "I am confident this will be the best season the Southern team has ever had."

Weber was especially happy with the play of Mack Poss, Harry Carter, and Danny Stiles. "They played extremely well," he said.

When Danny Stiles beat Pat Patton, 6-0, 6-4, he managed to pull through his fifth straight victory. Stiles personal record in singles now is 10-3 making him the most successful Eagle netter. His only losses came against Springfield, Appalachian and Emory. Stiles is playing number five on the team.

Normally Eddie Russell should have beaten Mercer's number four player, Steve Nathanson, who had knee troubles. Russell could not use this advantage to secure the match win, although he tried hard to run his opponent. Mainly it was Russell's net play that did not work as usual.

After the excellent match against Valdosta two weeks ago Jack Harvey was not to be recognized. He played stiffly and especially missed many easy shots at the net. Still his opponent played far from well.

Mack Poss won a dashing victory losing only two games to Dennis Sanders. Poss has proved to be a dependable match winner.

In doubles Carter and Russell

Due to a mistake the games in the baseball contest last week were incorrect.

With apologies, we must invalidate all entries in last week's contest, and urge you to enter this week.

7-8 Is Netters' Season Record

By BJORN KJERFVE

The Southern tennis players won their fourth consecutive meet, when Georgia State forfeited in Atlanta last Saturday. The match counts as a 9-0 victory in favor of GSC making the Eagles' season record 7-8.

When the Statesboro players arrived at the courts in Atlanta no Georgia State team waited. The home team coach, Dick Weir, was the only one to turn up after a while. He shook his head regretting that Georgia State was not able to play. He said it was because of bad rain the previous days and difficulties in getting courts to play on.

When Georgia State visited Statesboro a couple of weeks ago the Eagles won 8-1.

Golfers Upset EC Tie with Rebels

By BJORN KJERFVE

The Southern golf team tied against Valdosta, 13½ to 13½, yesterday, when Jimmy Flanders hit the lowest score of the year for the Eagles, 69. Last Monday the high flying Eagles gave Erskine College its first defeat in eleven matches, 9½ to 8½, at Due West, S. C.

After the weak beginning of the season the linksters have found the form. This is proved by the victory over Erskine and also by the tie against Valdosta Rebels. The Rebels were undefeated before the Statesboro meet.

GSC was supposed to play Wofford College, but was given a forfeit victory to make the present Eagle record 5½-6½.

Jimmy Flanders' outstanding score against Valdosta is three under par. Of course it is the best individual Eagle round for the year. In fact it is the best score any Southern golfer has had during the last three years.

Coach Frank Radovich was extremely happy with his boys, although he thought they should have beaten Valdosta. "They played very well and with some luck they would have won that match too," he said. "Some of the boys have gone a long way
