Already Preparing for European Tour

Dr. Tyson Selected to Participate In Educational Study Seminar

Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, will participate in an educational seminar next summer, taking him into five European countries to study firsthand the educational systems employed there. The five countries he will visit are England, Germany, France, Italy, and the Soviet Union.

The seminar is sponsored by Phi Delta Kappa, national honor education society and has a twofold purpose, according to Dr. Tyson. The primary objective, he said, is to study educational innovations in other countries, with particular emphasis on the problem of college enrollment growth. The seminar's second purpose is to compare the educational systems of totalitarian countries with those of the free world.

"Approximately 60 educators from all parts of the country will participate in the seminar," added Dr. Tyson. The program, which culminates with the 30-day study in Europe, actually began several days ago, he commented. "I just got my first book," he said, explaining that he will spend the next year reading about European education as a prelude to his firsthand study.

Dr. Tyson's selection to the seminar group was based on his activities in the University of Georgia's Gamma Mu chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, of which he was the charter president in 1954.

IN MEMORIUM

Approximately 30 books about golfing have been donated to the library by friends and family of Joseph Haynes Waters Sr. of Statesboro. The books are being displayed in the library lobby.

Miss Mikell Resigns Position As College's Housing Director

Miss Helen J. Mikell, director of housing, has announced her resignation, effective July 1.

She is leaving her position to become a counselor for the Youth Opportunity Center in Savannah, a department of the Georgia State Employment Service. In her new position she will work with 16-to 22-year-olds, giving aptitude and vocational preference tests as well as general counseling.

Miss Mikell became director of housing two years ago having come to the college in July 1963 as secretary to the dean of women and dean of men, whose offices at that time handled housing procedures.

A native of Statesboro, she received her B.S. in physical education and her Master of Counseling degrees at Georgia Southern.

Miss Mikell's successor has not been named, according to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students.

Mrs. Boger Selected to Fill Slot as New Dean of Women

MRS. BOGER
New Dean of Women

Mrs. Virginia Boger, presently serving as guidance counselor at Miller High School in Macon, will assume her duties as dean of women on August 15, according to President Zach S. Henderson.

Having served as a stewardess and executive accounts agent with Delta Airlines and office manager, travel agent and tour conductor for Tower Travel Service, has been in her present position for the past two years.

Carried Away

The new dean visited the college for the first time last March and interviewed several students while on campus. "I was carried away with the college. I wish I was there right now," commented Mrs. Boger in a recent exclusive interview.

"My daughter is as excited as I am," she added, telling of her 13-year-old daughter who has been attending an "all-girls" school in Macon.

Registrar Gives Enrollment Stats

The college's summer enrollment stood officially at 1957, Wednesday, according to Lloyd Joyner, registrar. Breakdown of the students by classification:

CLASS	MEN	WOMEN
Freshmen	135	196
Sophomores	113	184
Juniors	236	220
Seniors	108	103
Graduates	221	195
Unclassified	3	2
Post. Bac.	30	73
Transient	8	13
Summer trail	84	33

These figures are subject to clerical changes and last minute positions, the registrar added. The final total is expected to slightly exceed the 2000 mark.

Roemans Slated Saturday Night

The Roemans will appear in The Alumni Gymnasium tomorrow night at 7:30 for a dance and concert.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of Sigma Epsilon Chi, fraternity, the sponsoring organization. They are $1.25 per person in advance and $1.50 at the door.

The Roemans' last visit here was April 27-when they were featured on a program with the James Gang and the Tams. This first visit was also sponsored by the Sig Eps.

PBX CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY

The construction presently underway at the rear of the Administration Building is the first step toward a PBX (Private Business Exchange) for the college. The newly added room will house electronic relays and other mechanical components of the PBX, which will route nearly all college telephone calls through a central switchboard. Completion of this project is anticipated by fall quarter, according to President Zach S. Henderson.

Stephens to Lead Viet Nam Forum

Dr. Otis Stephens, professor of political science, will speak to the Wesley Foundation Wednesday night at 7:30 on "Issues and Nature of the United States' involvement in Viet Nam."

The meeting is in room 112 of the Williams Center. Rev. Willis Moore, sponsor of the Wesley Foundation said the group would meet each week at this same time.

CHECK-OUT SYSTEM AT LAST

Appearing in a last fall issue of the "George-Anne" was an editorial suggesting the implementation of a check system for the college library. Though it took some nine months for the suggestion to be taken, we are nevertheless delighted to see such a system presently being used.

In the past it was all too easy for a student to walk in, remove a book from a shelf, and be gone—all without the slightest glance from library personnel.

Doubtless the new arrangement will consume extensive time and money. It is also an inconvenience for students to have briefcases and books checked as they leave the building. The check system, however, is time, money, and trouble well spent. Any student who has searched the entire library for a desperately needed volume only to discover "sorry, it's been stolen" will certainly agree.

Miss McElveen and her staff are to be commended for their foresight and determination that no more books be stolen. We hope, therefore, that students will be patient and tolerant while adjusting to the new system.

FREE HEAT RELIEF

A bright, sunny, 92-degree day greeted students as they registered for summer quarter last week. Tempers flared as desperate students discovered courses closed out, adding coal to the fire.

As a welcome relief to it all, a refreshment tent was pitched near the gymnasium entrance. Under this welcome island of shade free Cokes were being distributed. The project was jointly sponsored by Wesley Foundation and the Baptist Student Union.

Such a project is far more beneficial to the school than the many dances and social activities held each quarter. First it was a service to ALL students, visitors, and faculty, not to a select few; and second, no money was made.

Certainly it could have easily turned into a profitable moneymaking venture, since ice was cold and students were hot. Yet the cokes were free.

'PRE-REGISTRATION'

This quarter, for the first time, the registrar's office employed a new registration procedure which, in effect, "pre-registered" students for their courses.

During the weeks prior to Registration Day each applicant's cards were pulled, placed in an envelope, and given to him as he entered the gym, both cutting down lines and saving students time by eliminating the necessity to pick up the cards separately.

According to Registrar Lloyd Joyner, there have been no complaints about the system itself, only about getting "pre-closed-out" of courses.

True, mistakes were made, many of them. We cannot, however, expect a new system to work flawlessly on the first try. Tolerance, therefore, must be the byword—while the registrar and his staff "iron the bugs out."

Summer Session Seeks Support In Spite of Staunch Disbelievers

By RON MAYHEW

Summer quarter—or maybe we should call it summer session. At least a term less dignified than "quarter" should be used.

Immediate response to this statement would probably be a tersely worded notice from an administrative office to the effect that summer school is now a quarter just like the other three. Officially this is true.

In a practical sense it is not. A local firm now begins its radio advertisements by announcing, "just because you are a student in the summer session at Georgia Southern College, you needn't be deprived of enjoying..." and so on.

Even local advertisers who regularly purchase space in this paper are suspending advertisements altogether or decreasing the amount of each ad. Superficially this would seem to be a good business measure since the school enrollment has dropped 30 per cent and there are fewer people in Statesboro attending college during summer months.

Closer scrutiny would reveal some startling facts. First, this summer's enrollment, the largest in the school's summer history, is right at the 2000 mark. Second, this figure is approximately at the level of regular enrollment just three years ago.

Thus the college is growing, not only in size but also in status, now that there are no longer two separate summer sessions which disrupt a student's entire summer, preventing his either getting a 3-month job or attending school for more than several weeks.

Students who attended four-hour classes just two summers ago are especially glad to see the new quarter system take effect.

Another factor showing the growth is this year's necessity for the registrar's office to open approximately nine more courses than were listed in the class bulletin.

With the new trial system inaugurated and Uncle Sam at the heels of every eligible male, we may well expect the trend in summer growth to continue. In anticipation of this expansion it is valid to argue in favor of a more extensive class schedule. Many of this year's summer crop learned a sad fact when they filled out Dean-Adviser cards—there were not sufficient courses during the quarter for them to take a complete 15-hour schedule.

This is certainly no secret in the registrar's office and plans are already underway for a more extensive course offering next summer. Local merchants would also do well to begin considering GSC's new summer status.

Late Permits? Guys Grin But Gals Got Gripes

By ANN VAUGHAN

This summer, as has been the custom, women students are allowed no late permits on week nights Monday through Thursday.

Students complained before, just as they complain now. Administration persisted in its beliefs before, just as it is persisting now. Each for its own reasons.

Upper-classmen argue that

they have had them during the year so why should summer be any different. A more logical argument presented by the students is the inability to attend the last show at the theatre without a late permit.

There are several reasons why women students are not allowed to have late permits.

In summer, classes begin 30 minutes earlier than during the other quarters. If the closing hour of the dorm was 11:30 on week nights, the first classes would begin only eight hours after the doors were locked. The halls do not become quiet until everyone is in.

Within two dormitories are living five, or even six, different classifications of students. There are freshmen, who receive no late permits; sophomores who receive one late permit; juniors who receive two late permits; seniors who receive three late permits; graduate students who have even asked to have the dorms closed as early as 9:00 and students on probation who aren't even allowed week night dates.

With this heterogeneous collection it would take an IBM machine to calculate the number of residents, which ones had late permits each night, which ones still have one more late permit, and which ones have already taken too many late permits.

Summer school enrollment is made up predominantly of four groups of people. Good grades are very important to each of these groups.

Transient students, who are back in school to accredit themselves in certain fields, often need a passing grade in order to have a job the following year. They need every possible aid for their studying environment.

Trial students, who are normally not accepted for college, have been given the summer in which to prove themselves capable of college work. They also need no distractions.

Students on academic probation are usually trying to make up courses they previously failed. It usually takes all of a student's studying time to make up courses.

The fourth group is the one that is trying to finish college ahead of time. Needless to say, good grades are important to them also.

This is not to say that students should not have leisure time and should not date during the summer, but for the majority of students in summer school, the first four nights of the week should be used for study.

INQUIRING REPORTER

By PATSY JOHNSON
Staff Writer

The chief complaints during registration were due to long lines. This week's Inquiring Reporter question: "What was the most annoying line you stood if for registration, and why?"

Jeannie Loughridge, Frosh, Chatsworth, "The line where they check your cards. It was bad because there was something wrong with my card and I had to go back."

Jimmy Anderson, Sr., Savannah, "The line where I had to stand behind a big, fat woman who hadn't used her Right Guard."

Joanne Simpson, Jr., Hapeville, "The line outside the gym. It was annoying because it was hot and we had to stand so long. Having the free cokes was big help though."

Mrs. Maimie Brewer, Graduate Student, Savannah, "Well, it's been a long time since I've been to college and I had to get use to these new ideas. They should have more signs up in the lines so that you know just where to go next."

Charlie Marshall, Sr., Moultrie, "The line for paying fees where I had to pay a three dollar late fee on the second day of classes. I'm broke anyway and that fee really set me back."

Buddy Purser, Graduate Student, Cochran, "The most annoying line at registration—Really the only line I had to stand in was one waiting for my adviser to get back from his coffee break so he could sign my Dean-Adviser card. I think it's ridiculous for a graduate student to have to have his adviser's signature before he can register."

Susan Holt, Frosh, Hapeville, "What annoyed me the most was the boy at the check out desk."

Leon Ellerbee, Sr., Ashburn, "The first one where you had to stand in the heat of the sun baking your brain and wait for your time to come up. Like I was suppose to register at 10:20 and it was 11:00 before my group went in."

Maturity, Judgement

"Mrs. Boger brings maturity, judgement and diverse experience to this campus," commented Dean of Students Dr. Ralph K. Tyson about the new administrator. "Her depth of experience will be vital in her dealings with young women as they prepare themselves for careers."

Dean Boger attended Georgia Southwestern College and received her A.B. degree in English and foreign language from Valdosta State College in Humanities. She later obtained her masters degree in education from the University of Georgia and her certification in guidance from Mercer University.

Overstreet To Cut TV Tapes

By ANN VAUGHAN

Robert Overstreet, assistant professor of speech will begin work this summer on 12 15-minute instructional video tapes that will be used on educational television, according to Richard J. Mandes, director of public relations.

Overstreet is compiling the 12 programs on Georgia authors with the close cooperation and sponsorship of Mandes and the office of public relations.

Georgia authors to be covered in the series are Carson McCullers, Conrad Aiken, Flannery O'Connor, Joel Chandler Harris, Augustus Baldwin Longstreet, Byron Herbert Reece, Margaret Mitchell and Harry Stillwell Edwards.

The format for the programs includes 3 minutes of biographical material on the author, an introduction, 10 minutes of readings from the author's works and a 2 minute conclusion.

As much appropriate visual material as can be gathered is being used with the series.

The tapes will be shown on educational television for daytime classroom use, for night time educational television and on commercial television by request. The tapes will then be kept for future use and reference.

Another program on Sidney Lanier, with a similar format has already been taped and made available to commercial television. It will be shown Monday at 1 p.m. on WMAZ, Macon.

According to Overstreet, educational television calls for a different approach and attitude from previous dramatic reading programs he has done. In this type of presentation instructional figures equally with entertainment.

He said, "I was flattered when I was asked to do the series. I hope it will be good for the image of the college."

Summer Sports Program Slated

The 1966 summer intramural sports program will include basketball, softball, tennis, swimming, and golf, according to Frank Radovich, co-director of the intramural program.

The program will be directed by Coach Radovich and Coach Ron Oertley. Radovich added that team rosters for basketball and softball should be turned in by June 23.

Tennis competition will consist of a tournament under the direction of Mrs. Sue Copeland. The tennis courts will be open, with an attendant on duty, for student use during the quarter.

A swimming meet and diving competition will highlight the aquatic program. Al Blackburn is in charge of the pool. Hours are from 1:30-6 p.m., Monday through Friday; 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturdays; and 2-6 p.m., Sundays.

The college's golf course will be available for student use each day. Plans have been made for a driving contest and a short-iron accuracy competition.

Anyone having questions concerning the program is urged to contact Coach Radovich or Coach Oertley.

Library Initiates Check-Out Desk To Control Theft

A control check-out desk in the library has been initiated for summer quarter, according to Miss Hassie McElveen, head librarian.

In a published statement Miss McElveen said, "The control desk at the main entrance of the library insures that the needs of the majority will not be jeopardized by a selfish few. The attendant is there to check books, briefcases, and parcels as you leave the building. All the library books that you wish to take from the building must be charged at the circulation desk or the reserve desk, and the attendant at the control desk to insure that it is properly charged."

When asked the reason for the desk, Miss McElveen said that valuable reference books and other expensive books which would be difficult to replace have been lost. "It is more than just stolen books, some persons accidentally take books."

The control desk is presently staffed by Charles King, Psyc. '67, Denton, and Doy Beck, graduate student, Guyton. Miss Mc-

Southern Belle

"My Daddy's had a boat since I was about four," says freshman Kris Bailey, whose leisure time is spent around the waterfront. She loves to ski, sail, and surf. Kris learned to surf two years ago and added, "When I'm really good, I'd like to go to Hawaii and surf." The Southern Belle of the week is five feet three inches tall, 17 years old, and has brown hair, brown eyes and a generous sprinkling of freckles. A lifeguard in Brunswick for the past three years, Kris plans to eventually major in physical education.

Library Science Teacher Named

Mrs. Virginia Satterfield, former head librarian and professor of library science at Women's College of Georgia in Milledgeville, is teaching two courses in library science here this summer.

The visiting professor is teaching courses in cataloging and Administration formerly taught by Mrs. Mary B. Ginter, who recently resigned to become library co-ordinator for the Crisp County School System.

Having been at Women's College for 36 years, Mrs. Satterfield will join the faculty of the Emory University Division of Librarianship this fall.

"I like this new library," said Mrs. Satterfield when she spoke of the Rosenwald Library. "At the Women's College we were in a state of progress; you've completed yours."

Eleven said, "It is my idea that eventually the desk will be covered by three qualified adults."

The librarian added, "The desk has been received well. The students have understood the necessity and cooperated beautifully."

MRS. SATTERFIELD
Will Teach Library Science

Summer Masquers Group Plans Readings, Revue, One-Act Plays

The Masquers have scheduled four summer presentations, according to Robert Overstreet, director.

A program of Conrad Aiken Readings is planned June 29, 30, backstage at 8:15 p.m. Kenn Robins, Margaret Hendrix, and Overstreet will be featured.

Tickets cost $1 and Overstreet suggested that tickets be purchased in advance from members of the Masquers because only 60 seats are available each night.

Miss Hendrix and Robins are both senior speech majors and from Douglasville and Savannah respectively.

Paintings by Miss Roxie Remley, assistant professor of art, are going to be on display and coffee will be served during intermission.

A revue entitled "A 'Comparatively' High-Brow Revue" has been slated Wednesday and Thursday, July 13-14, in McCroan auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be purchased from Masquers members or at the door for $1.

Some features from this revue are Mike Maguire and the Chimney Corner Singers; Linda Welden and Wendell Ramage doing selections from Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River"; Mrs. O'Hara Toler reading from Emily Dickinson; Mary Ann Overstreet, mezzo-soprano; Carl Hendrix, employee of the college, baritone singing "Old Man River" and Mike Martsolf, musical diversion.

Other tentative arrangements include a woodwind ensemble, modern dance sequence, classical ballet performance and a solo piano performance.

Three one-act plays are scheduled for Thursday and Friday, July 28-29 in McCroan Auditorium. The directors are Kenn Robins, Wendell Ramage and Overstreet.

Interested persons can try out for the plays Monday, June 27, backstage at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased from Masquers members or at the door for 50 cents.

Overstreet will present a program of readings on Georgia August 6, backstage at 8:15. The poetry will all be about Georgia or by Georgia writers.

Overstreet repeated an earlier statement saying, "This is going to be a busy and creative summer."
