Discussion

• What are potential obstacles or sources of support for SoTL at your institution?

• Would the Juniata SoTL model work at your institution?

• How else could we evaluate the impact of SoTL on our campus?
Development of the SoTL Center

• “I believe that although small liberal arts colleges claim to care about teaching, the majority only give lip service to the idea.” Michael Reder, Connecticut College

• We submitted a grant to establish a SoTL center.
  • 4 faculty members (3 psychologists, 1 biologist) and supported by the administration
  • $150,000 for a 3 year grant
    • Year 1: planning and developing our center mission
    • Year 2: establishing the center location and activities to support the mission
    • Year 3: continue SoTL programming and share our SoTL model
Structure of the SoTL Board

- Rotating 3 person SoTL board
  - 3 year commitment

- Director Designate- 1 course release
- Director- 1/2 time teaching release for the year
  - Duties: Programming, Consulting, SoTL Project
- Past Director- 1 course release

- Over time, this model should help distribute SoTL expertise across campus as different members of the campus community rotate on and off of the SoTL board
- Members of the board have been from biology (2), psychology (3), and mathematics & computer science (1)
Development of the SoTL Center

- SoTL Center Mission

- The goals of the center are to increase:
  - open and honest discussion of issues related to teaching effectiveness at Juniata
  - awareness of the literature on evidence-based practices in education at Juniata
  - scholarly teaching at Juniata
  - the scholarship of teaching and learning (SoTL) at Juniata
