Mayhew Heads Winter Quarter Editorial Board

Ron Mayhew, a junior political science major from Atlanta, has been named to the position of editor-in-chief of the George-Anne, according to Ric Mandes faculty advisor for the college's newspaper. Mayhew has previously served in the positions of sports editor, news editor, managing editor, and co-editor of the George-Anne.

Appointed to the post of managing editor is Cindy Carson, a senior psychology major from Savannah, and previous co-news editor.

Also serving on the editorial board will be Elaine Thomas, a sophomore English major from Waycross as news editor; Bjorn Kjerfve senior math major from Skovde, Sweden will continue in his present position as sports editor. Robert Sessions, freshman English major from Waycross will serve as organizations editor; and Karen Flesch, freshman home economics major from North Augusta, S. C., will hold the position of feature editor. The new business manager will be appointed in the near future.

Among the plans for the winter quarter paper are a total departmentalization of school news, with stories broken down categorically into several main divisions. An expanded sports section is also planned.

Mayhew commented that he planned for the best George-Anne yet, and revealed plans for a special homecoming edition.

Kappa Mu Alpha, national honorary mathematics society, invited 20 math majors to become members for the coming year.

Gamma Sigs Send Christmas To Gracewood

One of the projects of the Fall Pledge Class of Gamma Sigma Upsilon was to collect clothes for Gracewood School and Hospital for the mentally retarded.

Susie Blount and Sandra Henderson, accompanied by pledges Kay Yarbrough, Brenda Collins, and Diana Thornton presented the clothes to Mrs. Blanford, representing Dr. Sam Pursley, assistant director of Gracewood.

While there, the girls toured the campus and received valuable insight into what is being done for the mentally retarded.

Dr. Pursley, in commenting on the project said that the clothes were greatly needed and appreciated and summed up by saying, "God Bless you all."

Those invited are: Barbara Bevilacqua, John Wesley Bowen, Cynthia Corr, Albert Cudemis, Jacqueline Davis, Maria Carol Goodrum, Patricia Groover, Harriet Griffen, Susan Halligan, George Oliver Halsted, Helen Keefer, Clayton Mims, Margaret Neal, John Preston Oliver, Marjorie Reprine, Carol Rowan, James Shivers, Janet Taylor and Jane Willis.

To be eligible a student must have a C-plus overall average and a B-plus average in the first 3 math courses, through analytic geometry.

Business Group Takes Field Trip

Dr. Cecil Howard's advertising classes visited a radio and television studio, a paper company and a newspaper office all in Savannah Wednesday.

Touring the WSAV studio, the students witnessed the live presentation of "3 For the Show," a local program originating from the studio. Dr. Howard and some of the students were interviewed on the show by the program director, Curt Avery.

Mr. Avery talked briefly to the students while the group toured the control room. He explained the functions of the video and audio men, stressing cooperation. Video tape cameras, gas and electric kitchens used in advertising, election boards and the patio for outside scenes were observed.

At Union Bag Corporation Mr. Philip W. Beckwith, public relations director, showed "Paper Forest," a film previewing the tour. The process of developing wooden logs into paper was demonstrated. Students also visited the printing department to see how designs were printed on bags.

Slides of the production and distribution of newspapers were seen at the Savannah Morning News and Evening Press.

Statesboro Citizens Respond Generously To G.S.C. Carolers

Georgia Southern students went caroling Wednesday at 7 p.m. to collect toys for the retarded children at Milledgeville State Hospital.

Caroling lasted for two hours with 200 students participating. Over $100 was collected plus boxes of clothing, food and toys.

Items that cannot be used by the institution will be given to the Jaycee's Empty Stocking Drive.

Students were divided into groups to scout different areas of town which were assigned by Student Congress.

Transportation was furnished by Wesley Foundation, Baptist Student Union and the First Methodist Church with buses and several automobiles.

Carolers walked through Statesboro singing familiar carols, stopping at each house to ask for donations. Old and young stopped their work or got out of bed to listen. Children were especially interested in the songs. Many were seen in pajamas peaking from windows or standing in doorways.

Many of the carolers were touched by their reception by townspeople. Robin Olmstead reminisced, "To see little children listening to 'Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer,' to see the tears of an elderly lady who will always remember this part of Christmas, to see so many contented faces made the caroling worthwhile."

Coffee and donuts, served in the Williams Center by the college administration and house directors, completed the event. Happenings of the night were discussed and items collected were boxed.

The caroling is planned as a Christmas project for next year in hopes that it will become a tradition.

Christmas Parties Spark Dorm Spirit

By Robert Sessions
Staff Writer

The Yuletide spirit is spreading rapidly at the college with the holding of various Christmas parties at the men's residence halls.

Cone Hall held its party last Tuesday from 8 to 9 p.m. in the lobby of the dormitory. David Ennis, president of the freshman class, read a passage from Ecclesiastes and led the men in a prayer. Dr. and Mrs. Henderson sang a duet and then led the group in the singing of Christmas carols. Refreshments consisted of cake, cookies, punch, and coffee.

Sanford Hall celebrated an early Christmas with a party last Monday from 7 until 8:30 p.m. The traditional Christmas story was read and the singing of carols followed. Hamburgers potato chips, cookies and tea were served.

Brannen Hall will hold its annual party this Saturday from 8 to 10 a.m. The party will be very informal, according to house director, Mrs. Alethia Bates. Students will be permitted to come and go at any time, for no special program has been planned. The house mother will prepare a Christmas breakfast and will serve coffee and hot chocolate.

Dorman Hall has its Christmas party planned for this Sunday from 8:45 until 10 p.m. The Christmas Story is to be given by Dr. Ruffin, professor of English. Refreshments will be served.

The parties held at Brannen and Dorman Halls will be closed events held for residents of the dorms only.

FLAMES OF FONY FOY FINE ARTS FIRE

Nearly 200 students rushed out of the Williams Center to witness a battalion of Statesboro Volunteer Firemen arrive with a full truck of firefighting equipment to battle a blaze atop the new Foy Fine Arts Building. It was a false alarm, however, as the disgruntled students and firemen learned that it was only a fire built by construction personnel for warmth during the chilly night breezes.

Officials Plan PBX Seminar To Correct Technical Problems

By RON MAYHEW

The biggest problem with the college's new P.B.X. telephone system is that the students and faculty don't really know how to use it, according to Eddie Bibisi, head technician for the Statesboro Telephone Co.

P. B.X., Bibisi continued, has tremendous potential but is naturally off to a slow start, due also to the newness of the system itself, inexperienced operators, minor technical failures, and callers not knowing various extension numbers.

Plans are presently underway to hold a brief seminar for all division chairmen, office heads, etc. to give them detailed verbal instructions on P. B.X. capabilities. Time and date are to be announced later.

There are, at present, 150 lines installed on campus with 50 more planned for the near future. All these, with the exception of pay phones, are channelled through the main switchboard.

In answer to an inquiry about placing calls after the campus operators are off duty, Bibisi enumerated several related factors:

(1) Pay phones are in no way connected with the P. B.X. exchange and may be used, as always, at any time.

(2) Intercampus calls may be made at any time merely by dialing the appropriate extension number.

(3) Outside calls are also made in the usual manner, on non-restricted phones, by first dialing "9" for an outside line.

(4) After operators are off duty (from midnight till 8 a.m. weekdays, any time after noon on Saturdays, and all day Sun.) calls may not enter the campus except to pay. stations and emergency calls, which will be automatically directed to the Campus Security office.

(5) If an emergency call is made, the security office then transfers it in the usual manner to any extension on campus.

The one real fallacy of the system, according to Bibisi, is the limited allocation of extension numbers to various phones within various campus offices. As an example, several different offices within the division of social science have identical extension numbers and when that number is dialed, all other phones ring.

Such a problem, he continued, could be only solved by the additional cost of providing a separate extension number for each individual phone.

According to President Zach S. Henderson, having operators go off duty at midnight on week nights, 12 on Saturday and on Sunday, presents no major handicap.

"We feel that once callers learn to adjust their schedules to this, there won't be any problem whatsoever." He added that a survey is being taken to determine the need for having operators from 10 p.m. until midnight.

In addition to other reasons for the shorter switchboard hours on weekends, Dr. Henderson also mentioned that the number of students on campus during a given weekend is vastly smaller than during the regular week.

EXEUNT

The conductor raised his hands. The orchestra and choir were tensed and ready. The song began.

Four girls rose, ready to make their exit. Quietly and unobtrusively, or so they thought, they made their way for the side door.

A finger snapped and McCroan Auditorium was as silent as Statesboro between college quarters. All eyes turned to the four departees and followed them out the door, bringing to mind the familiar "if looks could kill." The grand exit having been made, the musicians again resumed Handel's "Messiah."

Certainly these four coeds could have shown some small measure of tact and good taste in planning their departure. Unfortunately they did not.

One might surmise that such crudeness is best befitting animals . . . not college students. Maybe these four children were in the mob that stormed the Registrar's window last week. Maybe they were in the group that sang "Silent Night" the same night. Maybe they were part of a growing number of students who constantly complain about being treated like children.

DECEMBER 25

"Silent night, Holy night,"

"May I help you sir. I'm sorry that's in another department. No, we don't have your size."

"All is calm,
All is bright,"

"Will that be cash or charge? Yes, sir, it's on the third floor. Ask for Mrs. Simmons. No, these aren't the ones on sale."

"Round you virgin mother and child, Holy infant so tender and mild"

"Madame, would you please move back . . . others need to get here too. This elevator is express to the fifth floor, I'm sorry. So sorry, we're all sold out of those. Could I interest you in one of these with a different collar?"

"Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace."

"Do you have some identification please? No, you can find that in one of our branch stores. Please sir, the line forms back there. Yes, we stock that item but it's back in another department, so sorry. And you sir, May I help you please ? ? ?

Remember It's His birthday, not yours

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

(St. Luke - Chapter 2, Versus 1-20)

G-A Editorship Builds Patience, Ulcers and Faith

By ANN VAUGHAN
Editor

It is time now to bind volume 45 of the "George-Anne", put it on the shelf and look forward to the next volume. Likewise, another quarter will soon be gift wrapped along with all the other goodies and mailed home in wrapping from the Registrar's office.

As is usual when things come to an end, we pause to reflect and evaluate our experiences and file the memories.

Each quarter we are subjected to many teacher-administered evaluations. These are important; but, just as necessary to growth and learning are the evaluations which we administer to ourselves. We ask ourselves, "Have we changed because of this experience?" "Is this change good?" "What would we change if we could do it over again?" "Have we achieved a goal?" "What have we learned?"

One good change was wrought during my period of servitude. I found I couldn't procrastinate. Deadlines for the paper, just like term paper deadlines were set for a purpose. At least I had less time in which to procrastinate.

If I had it to do over again... I'd develop patience a little sooner. The patience that is required would have made Job take notice. When stories don't break, advertisers won't buy, the only car tears up, when the presses break down, when column rules are in the wrong place, when negatives are reversed, when unsigned letters to the editor are challenged, and when unintended Garfs slip into the paper, one learns to retreat into a quiet corner and begin counting off...Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy....

The constant pressure can lead to gastric ulcers. There is never a morning to wake up when something isn't expected of you that day. One can know the sinking feeling that comes when "things pile up" or "when words won't come". One can also realize the satisfaction that comes from completing an assignment.

The editorship of the "George-Anne" helps a person to develop an intense faith... a faith in himself and his own ability and worth as an individual... faith in his staff, helping him to delegate responsibility and appreciate a job well done... and faith in his Creator who gives ideas, ability and intelligence.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, George Anne .....

I hesitate to write this because I am new at Georgia Southern and in college teaching for that matter, and I probably know less about the social life at Georgia Southern College than anyone does. However, I did have an opportunity to observe one of these activities last Friday night.

I want to commend the Iota Alpha Tau Fraternity for the extreme effort they made to see that the dance which they sponsored would be orderly. They did everything humanly possible to prevent some of the things which have happened at other dances from becoming part of this one.

But even with maximum effort, they were not able to completely control the activity. There seems always to be certain individuals who completely disregard the rights and feelings of other people. There are always parasites who break out windows in order to keep from having to pay the price of admission. Even on a College Campus there are those "children" who destroy property for apparently no reason, and there will always be those who become belligerent when they have had one or two alcoholic drinks.

It seems significant also to mention that out of all those people in the Alumni Gym, only one or two percent were potential trouble makers. The two incidents which needed to be "handled" involved persons that were not even students at Georgia Southern. The other ninety-eight percent were there to have a good time and to carry away memories of an enjoyable evening.

I cannot help but think that the principle of democracy, "majority rule," needs to be applied to social activities on campus, and I am convinced that the large majority of our young people would like to attend these events without the dread of a fight breaking out or an intoxicated juvenile stumbling all over the dance floor. I am also sure that administrative procedure cannot eliminate the problem entirely and as fairly as some other procedure might. Neither can the students involved in sponsoring these events stop all of the foolishness.

Self-discipline is the best kind, and it is the responsibility of every person on this campus to see that they, and their dates, conduct themselves in the proper socially acceptable manner. Conduct which destroys the dignity of the individual student and gives Georgia Southern a bad social reputation is, I believe, unacceptable.

Donald, Whaley

To the Editor:

I have just returned from the bedlam in the Administration building called "pulling for time cards". This was tiring, infuriating, and uncalled for. There must be a better method to assign registration times.

Other schools of comparable size, and larger, do a much more orderly job of assigning these times. The University of Georgia has a better system than we do at Southern, even if it is four times as large.

Instead of having the bedlam, chaos, etc. which has occurred, and most likely is still occurring at the writing of this letter, why can't we register according to the last digit of our ID number? Each time a new student enters GSC, Freshman or transfer, assign him a permanent ID number. He will have this number from the moment he is accepted to this school to the day of his graduation. This would speed things up tremendously.

Also, why can't we pay our fees in the gym? There could be placed in the gym a padlocked box which is weighted so that no unauthorized person could "lift" them. There could be provided fee envelopes in which the student would place the required cards and his check.

Perhaps these suggestions are not the best methods in the world, however, nothing could be much worse than the situation as it is now.

Selmar Goudelock

Editor:

Students have been given the opportunity to help registration problems by being allowed to draw time cards for registration. Instead of following a proposed plan by the registrar that was supposed to be carried out quickly and efficiently, the students at this college have refused to cooperate. The students, through degenerated animal actions, created such a havoc in the administration building that it became necessary for officials to call upon the police department to curb line-breaking, pushing, shouting, etc. Students by this action, and the administration in calling in the police, did not act on a level in keeping with high standards in an educational institution.

Steps need to be taken by the students, AND devices need to be used by the registration department to rid this institution of a recurring problem. Students and officials have not made registration an organized process, but rather, it has become a definite farce in this institution.

Eagles Fall to Demons

The Northwestern Louisiana State College Demons gave the Eagles their second loss of the season winning last Saturday's game, 95-70, at Natchitoches, La.

Although Demon Coach Tynes Hildebrand earlier had referred to his team as mediocre, Northwestern now crushed Southern with a 25-point margin tying the Southern season record at 2-2.

Jimmy Rose played an excellent game scoring 26 points to head the Eagles. Rose who still has troubles with his strained ankle was disappointed though. "I think we should have beaten them. We just weren't playing any ball. We didn't do the things we were taught to do. That's all," he said.

Frank Radovich, who served as coach, complained about too many personal fouls. Prichard, Jordan and Szotkiewicz had three fouls each during the first eight minutes of the contest.

"Northwestern threw up a 1-2-2 zone. We tried to penetrate it. We tried to take the percentage shots. But when the opportunity prevailed we didn't take it," explained Radovich.

Radovich also was displeased with the Eagles' rebounding. "Their front-line doubled the rebounding of our front-line," he said. "The boys simply weren't aggressive enough."

Radovich approved of Freshman Darrell Wise's performance. "Considering he is a freshman, I thought he did a real good job," Radovich said.

They followed it leading, 33-27, at half time.

Robert Jordan came out hot after the rest hitting three straight baskets on jump shots. The Bulldogs stayed ahead though, and did so until three minutes remained of the battle.

Szotkiewicz put the Eagles ahead, 65-64, with a foul shot. James Bryant, Samford guard, tied the game with another one, before "Soc" scored on a 20-foot jump shot. The last point of the game was Szotkiewicz' with 42 seconds remaining.

It was a close ball game. Southern shot 29 field goals for a .446 percentage, while Samford got a .440 percentage.

Baby Eagles Are Grounded

The Southern junior varsity cagers evened their season record at 1-1 with a 78-55 loss to South Georgia Junior College at Douglas Saturday night.

Mike McDuffie of the Eagles grabbed scoring honors with 14 closely followed by Don Roberts and Don Abel with 12 and 10 respectively. Mark Gladsen had 9. Bob Berghom 8 and John Fountain rounded out the scoring with 2 points.

The Baby Eagles were unable to cash in on their field goal attempts and managed only

Eagles Oppose Stetson In Home Cage Opener

The Southern Eagles return home to tangle with the Stetson Hatters of Deland, Fla., here tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m. Southern has a 3-2 record after the first five games away.

Tomorrow's varsity action marks one of the many meetings between these teams. Last year, Southern won handily 87-66. The all time record is 23-17 in favor of the Eagles.

The Hatter squad under Head Coach Glenn Wilkes boasts seven returning lettermen and four returning starters from last year's team, which posted a 13-12 record.

Heading the list of lettermen is junior Bobby Jenkins, a 6-1, 175 lb. forward from LaGrange, Ky. He led the Hatters in scoring last year with a 16-point average; topping with a 45-point outburst against Frederick College. Wilkes has tabbed him as "Stetson's leading candidate for national honors".

Starting at the other forward slot along with Jenkins is Steve Buchanan, 6-2 senior from Savannah. At guards will be co-captain Walter Kilcullen, 6-3 junior from Kearney, N. J., and Mike Vacher, 5-10 freshman from Tampa, Fla. As far as height is concerned, the starting lineup averages 6-3 with Chris Ralston the sophomore center from Columbus, Ohio, topping their list at 6-7.

The Eagles have a sophomore center of their own in Larry Prichard who is given the starting nod. Other cagers who will start are Jimmy Rose, who might still see only limited action at guard, and at the other guard, Ken Szotkiewicz. At forwards will be Robert Jordan and Jim Seeley.

Southern Tech Visits Campus

The Baby Eagles host Southern Tech of Atlanta Saturday night in a preliminary game beginning at 6 p.m. prior to the varsity's contest with Stetson.

One of the most impressive victories for the fledglings last year was their outlasting Southern Tech here 99-81.

Mark Gladson paced the Junior varsity scoring attack with a 14.5 average in two outings. Closely following is Don Abel and Mike McDuffie with 13 and 12 respectively.

The Saturday game is the last one before the holiday. Their first opponent after the holidays on January 4, will be the Citadel Freshmen.

Szotkiewicz Leads Rally Eagles Take Victory Over Samford Cagers

Ken Szotkiewicz sparked the basketball Eagles to a close 68-65 win against the Bulldogs of Samford University at Birmingham, Ala., last Monday night.

Samford was leading most of the time, but Szotkiewicz' four points during the last three minutes swung the contest in favor of the visitors.

Southern's season record now is 3-2. Last year after the first five games it was 2-3.

Already after five minutes of the game the Bulldogs had taken an impressive 12-6 lead.

Coach Searce was happy about the win, although he pointed out that the Eagles did a lot of mistakes. "We played fairly well defensively," he said.

Last season the Bulldogs averaged 88 points per game, and earlier this season they defeated Tulane University, Searce pointed out to illustrate the Eagles' defensive strength.

Spirits Run High

A pep rally was held in the Alumni gym Thursday night and a free dance followed. They were sponsored by Circle K in hopes of boosting the spirit for tomorrow night's encounter with the Hatters.

B. J. ON SPORTS

By BJÖRN KJERFVE
Sports Editor

Another quarter is just about over. It is over for most of the students, but for some the holidays are nothing but had work, long travel, and little rest.

Yes I am referring to those students attending Southern on basketball scholarships. For them the holidays will mean several games. On December 17, they take on Lenoir Rhyne at Hickory, N. C., and two days later they play in the Atlantic Christian Tournament at Wilson, N. C. The "holidays" for the cagers end with the Lenoir Rhyne Tournament, December 30-31, at Hickory, N. C.

The basketball season is two weeks old, and the Eagles now boast a 3-2 record. Yes, they "boast" it. Last year the record after the first five games was 2-3, and still Southern ended the season with an impressive 26-6 mark. Would that imply that this season's record might be even more outstanding? I am sorry to say that I would be surprised if that happens.

Eagles Surprise Samford

The five day trip to Kentucky, Louisiana and Alabama proved many things. First it showed that Southern has a long way to go to reach the caliber of the 1965-66 squad. The team can't rebound as in the good old days.

There is no use looking back though. It's the future that counts. And the Eagles are far from weak. They must have surprised the Bulldogs of Samford University. Here comes Southern, having lost by 56 points to Murray State and by 25 points to Northwestern Louisiana, and beats the home team, 68-65. I bet the Bulldogs were disappointed.

But Coach J. B. Searce paid Samford a compliment. "They had a better ball club than Northwestern Louisiana," he said. But still "I wasn't satisfied." With a twinkle in his eyes he added, "you wouldn't want me to be, would you." Searce concluded, "We just lack some togetherness and we did too many stupid mistakes."

Jordan Fights Quietly

Searce and Radovich were pleased with the performance of Freshman Darrel Wise, and they agreed that David Christiansen seems to be entering "a second spring". David lettered during his freshman year, but for the next two seasons he only saw limited action. Now he is back in the game again; especially his rebounding in the Samford game looks promising.

He is quiet. You don't hear him. You seldom notice him. But if he is not there, you can tell something is missing. I am talking about Robert Jordan. Our 6-2, 185-pound Senior Forward is doing a good job. He was not only high scorer on last week's trip, but also leading rebounder. Robert is a player to look out for. He can win many ball games for us.

Wild Rumor Lies

By the way, do you remember that night when Southern lost to Murray State? Many people tried in vain to find out the final score. At Dorman Hall a confiding guy was told by "friends" that Southern won the game, 97-92, Sotkiewicz scoring 46 points. And still we all knew that Murray led at half-time by 27 points.

The rumor spread rapidly in the dorm. The confiding guy was happy as a lark singing in the sky. So was I. At four o'clock that morning I stood downtown waiting to read in the Savannah Morning News about the "tremendous second half. It was cold that night. The Morning News didn't carry the story or the result. I was disappointed, but not as disappointed as when I spoke to Coach Radovich over the telephone a couple of hours later and learned about the defeat. Dad gum . . .

Well anyway, have a merry Christmas . . . including you who started the rumor.

Wiggins Touchdown Paces P.E.

By ALLAN KELLY
Sports Writer

The physical education majors edged out the recreation majors, 6-0 in a football game played last night on Womack field.

The recreation team won the toss and elected to receive. On the first play from scrimmage Jimmy Kirkland intercepted a recreation pass and the P. E. majors maintained the ball for most of the first period.

The P. E. majors moved down field with well executed ball control. After three downs of short gains, Wayne Wiggins or Jack Johnson would get the call and plow through the defensive wall for the first down.

The P. E. drive however was stopped short on the Recreation 20 yard line. Before the quarter ended the P. E. majors again had penetrated deep into recreation territory, but the recreation defense seemed to tick whenever the P. E. majors ventured inside the twenty.

Both quarterbacks seemed to be running their teams capably, but the name of the game was defense. Neither team moved the ball in the second or third quarters.

In the opening moments of the fourth quarter the P. E. majors put together a drive that carried them to the recreation 20 yard line. Jack Johnson on a ten yard scamper and Charles Latimer on a run of six moved the P. E. majors to the recreation six yard line.

Two plays later the P. E. majors hit the scoreboard as Wayne Wiggins went off tackle for the score. The PAT was blocked, and the score stood 6-0 the rest of the way.

Dr. Doug Leavitt, coaching for the P. E. team, said that the proceeds of the game went towards buying all the boys a post-game dinner.

Flag Football Praised

By JOE CRINE
Sports Writer

Fall quarter flag football action has begun what could be the best intramural program ever at Georgia Southern, according to Charles Exley, director of intramurals.

"The enthusiasm is higher than I can ever remember," said Exley.

"I am real pleased about sportsmanship," he continued. "I am concerned, however; about a few individuals who do not think any more of themselves than to use profane and dirty language," he said.

"I'm thankful that they are in the minority," he concluded.

Both Exley and student assistant James Stapleton agreed that the flag football program was very successful. Athletic director J. B. Searce joined them saying, "Flag football has made our intramural program."

The Rhodents captured the flag football championship by downing Sigma Epsilon Chi 18-0 on Nov. 30. The Rebels were forced to forfeit all their games early in the season.

"I'm real sorry that the Rebels had to forfeit because I feel that the league would have been a lot closer if they had been able to continue," said Exley.

Southern Wins Soccer Match

The GSC women's soccer team defeated Wesleyan College last Saturday in Macon with Captain Sandra Ray's goal in the second quarter proving to be the winning margin.

According to Janie Nixon, serving as coach, the team played a solid game, both offensively and defensively. "Our halfbacks played a good game in keeping Wesleyan's offense from controlling the ball," said Miss Nixon.

Sandra Ray shot her winning goal from about ten yards out to give the Southern lassies the victory.

All Stars Take Victory

The all stars used second and fourth quarter touchdown passes to down the intramural champion, Rhodents, 12-0 in the intramural all star game Thursday afternoon.

The all stars opened the scoring in the second period on a touchdown pass from Quarterback Bob Kelley. Long tried to hit End Bobby Clark for the extra point, but it was no good.

The third quarter to be a defensive standoff. The Rhodents were forced to punt to the all stars as the third quarter drew to a close. Long returned Scotty Carpenter's punt into Rhodent territory just as the third quarter came to an end.

Quarterback Richard Steele hit Clark with a pass that carried inside the Rhodent ten yard line to open the fourth quarter. On the next play, Steele hit Clark again for the touchdown. Steele tried an end sweep for the extra point, but it was no good.

Raincoats Camouflage Much, Help Rulebreakers Survive

By Karen Flesch

LATE AGAIN
Slide Rule in Hand

Rain ?? Shine??? Attires the same! The raincoat can be worn anywhere and over anything.

Women's regulations concerning appropriate dress state that "women may wear slacks, jeans, pedal pushers, slim jims or Bermuda shorts on campus from 5 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. on Friday and all day Saturday until 7:30 p.m."

Because of these regulations, coeds are willing to pay as much as $40 for a good raincoat and say it is well worth the money. Yet, few girls would pay so much just to remain dry so there must be another reason for the great popularity of the raincoat.

If women were subjected to gular room checks, many girls would receive major call downs for the improper attire regulation. But what is to be done when the alarm does not go off until 7:15 a.m. and the coed has a 7:30 class?

Rollers are hurriedly snatched out and make-up is splashed over a sleepy face. By then it is 7:23 a.m.. The only thing left to do is throw a raincoat over a night shirt, button up, grab books and run.

Women's attire regulations also state that shorts may not be worn off campus, but many a hungry coed will testify that this rule is often broken by necessity.

It usually happens around 10 p.m. The coed begins to feel restless and notice a dull, empty feeling in her stomach. She is already in her night shirt and ready for bed. She sits at her desk, a discarded text before her hunger-filled eyes, trying to convince herself that she is on a rigid diet. Then she gets up, throws her ever-dependable raincoat over her pajamas, and heads for the nearest hamburger.

In the past three years, the raincoat also has become a status symbol. The navy fog has almost become a way of life. They are so popular that many people use them as wind breakers or overcoats.

The raincoat also gives students the opportunity to exhibit their originality. Monograms in many complimentary shades may be found on collars, down the center fold, on one shoulder or on the pocket flap. The various monograms keep students from looking stereotyped and give them a feeling of individually.

Rules, a necessary evil, will always be found on a college campus. The last minute rush and the midnight snack will always be around, too. But a girl's salvation is her raincoat.

Dorm Coeds Denied Career Girls' Rights

(ACP) -- Coeds living in dormitories have long been victims of an hours policy which treats them as immature children who cannot be expected to use their time responsibly, comments the University of Minnesota Daily.

They are denied the rights of coeds living off campus and working girls in this age group to do whatever they wish with their time. The Daily continued:

In all fairness to the administration and to Dean of Students E. G. Williamson it must be pointed out that women's hours at the University of Minnesota are more liberal than at most large universities and certainly more liberal than at most smaller private colleges.

And the trend at the university is toward even less restrictive rules. Since 1960 there have been no restrictions on women over 21 and recently Williamson approved a policy granting junior and senior women in three dormitories permission to regulate their own hours.

But the "stifling paternalism" (a phrase coined by Williamson) of the university toward women dormitory residents will not cease until all women's hours are abolished.

There is no evidence indicating that coeds will suddenly become irresponsible if they are granted freedom. At Comstock Hall, for example, junior and senior women use the no-hours policy an average of only twice a month.

And current policies, ironically enough, do not prevent a girl from staying out late if she really wants to. Instead of returning late and risking a penalty, she simply stays out all night.

University officials are worried about public reaction to a no-hours policy, especially if it is granted to freshmen. The public is "not quite ready for the shock" of giving total freedom to freshmen, Williamson said last year. "There's still a little protectiveness in our culture."

Yes, there might be some adverse public reaction if all women's hours are eliminated, but hardly as much as administrators fear. The public has shown itself to be remarkably tolerant in other controversial matters. Besides, the university should take the lead in correcting society's weaknesses -- overprotectiveness certainly is a weakness -- and educate the public on them. We hope the administration will seriously consider the abolition of women's hours this year.

- Consultation
  - If you wish to consult with another campus extension while talking with an outside party, ask the party to hold, dial "1", get dial tone and dial the desired directory number. When campus extension answers and you have received the desired information, you return to your outside party by depressing the receiver cradle switch from one to three seconds, long enough for the consulted party to hang up. You will then be back in contact with your outside party.
  - If during consultation, you wish to include the outside party for three-way conference, dial "1". If you wish to leave the conference before the other two parties have finished, hang up your receiver.
- Contacting Campus Operator
  - To contact campus operator, get dial tone, dial "0".
  - To contact campus operator during outside call, ask party to hold, dial "1", get dial tone, then dial "0". If operator does not answer, return to your party by depressing the receiver cradle switch from one to three seconds.
- General Information
  - The campus number is 764-6211.
  - You may call a campus directory number at any time, whether the operator is on duty or not.
  - You may call an outside number at any time by following the prescribed procedure.
  - Incoming calls from outside will be received at designated locations when the operator is on duty.
  - Existing office systems will be operated in the same manner as in the past. The numbers will be extensions of the campus system and the above procedures will be used.

Teabeaut Leads Discussion, Shows Specimens and Slides

Approximately 50 science club members and guests attended the last quarterly meeting of the Science Club Tuesday, Nov. 29, at 7:30 p. m. Carrol Ellison, past president of the Science Club and a GSC graduate presently a junior at the Medical College of Ga., introduced the speaker, Dr. J. R. Teabeaut.

Dr. Teabeaut, a native of North Carolina, received his M. D. degree from Duke University and is presently a professor of pathology at Medical College of Ga. He presented a discussion on coronary thrombosis, arteriosclerosis and the significance of age and diet on heart attacks. He said younger people tend to have more fatal heart attacks than do older individuals due to less time for developing a collateral circulatory system.

Man's desire for harmful polyunsaturated foods such as milk and eggs was contrasted with other animals' shunning embryonic foods. Illustrating heart scars and replacement of valves, Dr. Teabeaut showed actual heart specimens and color slides.

Surprisingly enough, the British Victorians were the folks who introduced the custom of kissing under the mistletoe at Christmastime. Who says they were strait-laced?

Inquiring Reporter

By BECKY SWINDELL

Christmas will soon be here and Santa will be bringing everyone presents. In view of this, we must not forget GSC.

This week's inquiring reporter asked "What do you think Santa should bring G C this year?"

Bob Warren, Jr., Mt. Vernon, More parking space.

Samir Taji, Special Student, Cairo, Egypt, He should bring the Biology department an electron microscope.

Fred Stiles 2S, Sen., Cartersville, I don't believe in Santa Claus!

Fran Jones, Soph., Jax., Fla., Five hundred good-looking, unattached boys.

Gail Brazell, Soph. Warner Robins, I hope he brings us a winning basketball season.

Al Bazemore, 4C, Sen. Savannah, A perfect system of time-card pulling and registration.

Donna Smith, Jr., Coolidge, Shorter lunch lines

Walker Montgomery, Jr. Warner Robins, A new housemother for Winburn Hall.

Wayne Knight, Sen., Albany, I want him to bring Dr. Cochran a sound platform for the Populist Party.

Dot Bennett, Soph., Douglasville, Santa should bring GSC a place to have a dance so we won't have to beg Coach Scarce for the gym every time.

Allen Brown S, Fresh., Vidalia, A campus branch of the Star.

Joe Lumpkin, Sen., Warner Robins, A new gymnasium so we can use the old one for dances.
