MLA vs APA Activity

PREPARING THE APA REFERENCE LIST
The reference list (References) is a list of sources that you used in your research paper. These sources specifically support your paper and provide the information needed to identify and locate each source. The reference list appears at the end of the paper, is double-spaced within and between sources, and is arranged alphabetically by the surname of the first author. Sources without authors are arranged alphabetically by title within the same list. The entries should also have a hanging indent.

REFERENCES TO PERIODICALS
These should include article author(s), date of publication, article title (Only the first word of title, subtitle and any proper nouns should be capitalized.), and periodical title, volume number (italicized), and page numbers.

Preparing the List of MLA "Works Cited"
The list of "Works Cited" is your bibliography---a list of sources used in writing your research paper. It appears at the end of the paper, is double-spaced within and between sources (unlike the examples in this brochure), and is usually arranged alphabetically by the author's last name. Sources without authors are arranged alphabetically by title within the same list (ignoring initial "A," "An," or "The" in titles). The first line of each entry is flush with the left margin; second and succeeding lines of entries are indented five spaces.

Works Cited

BOOK: SINGLE AUTHOR (5.6.1)
Barzun, Jacques. Education and Philosophical Thought. 2nd ed. Boston: Allyn and Bacon, 1967. Do not specify the edition (abbreviated 'ed.') if it is a first edition. If it is a second edition or later, or if it is some special kind of edition, such as a revised edition (abbreviated 'Rev. ed.'), then specify it.

PERIODICAL ARTICLE IN A CONTINUOUSLY PAGED SCHOLARLY JOURNAL (5.7.1)

In-class Assignment: Write down at least three differences you notice between APA style and MLA style for creating a bibliography.
