3496 Register for Spring Quarter GEORGIA SOUTHERN COLLEGE Statesboro, Ga. 30459

Total Expected To Top 3500

A total of 3496 students have registered so far for spring quarter, according to Lloyd Joiner, registrar. He added that there are a few more students who have not registered yet, so the final total will exceed 3500.

Breaking down by classifica-tion, there are 1138 freshmen, 908 sophomores, 783 juniors, 478 seniors, 145 graduate students, and 44 unclassified.

This represents a drop from last quarter's enrollment of 3745 but is explained by students completing their requirements and others who are academically ineligible to return.

The number of students registered this quarter represents the largest number ever attending GSC during spring quarter. The previous high was last year's total of 3291.

Concerning registration, Joiner said, "I think it went quite well, though naturally we didn't have the problem of closed classes because we had fewer students register."

Choir to Present German Reguiem Here Thursday

The College Philharmonic Choir, composed of 50 voices, and a 36-member orchestra made up of college students, faculty, and local professional musicians, will present Brahms' "German Requiem" April 6, at 8:15 p.m. in McCroan Audito-

Brahms' "German Requiem" profound pholosophical texts which can be found; it has none of the morbid characteristics of Latin Mass. Emphasis is not on judgment, but on Christian victory; the tone is exultant. It is a protestant requiem in the sense that it is not in Latin; it is composed of selected scriptures concerning death and life after death.

Soloists for the presentation will be Mrs. Don Northrip and Joe Long, from Stetson University. Don Northrip, assistant professor of music, will conduct. To cover the expense of the orchestra, there will be a $1 admission charge.

Augusta Doctor To Show Slides From Viet Nam

By RICHARD PFUND Production Manager

Student Congress is sponsoring a bood drive for Viet Nam Tuesday and Wednesday, according to James Stapleton, president. The goal is to get as many books as possible to send to South Vietnamese civilians.

Dr. George McInnes, who first mentioned the idea during a previous visit to GSC, will arrive Monday afternoon to officially start the drive. From 8 to 9 p.m., he will be in Mc-Croan Auditorium to show slides and speak on the need for books in Viet Nam. Afterwards, Theta Pi Omega will sponsor a re-ception in the recreation room of the Williams Center.

Depositories for the books will be set up in each dorm and also in the Williams Center. Any type of book is acceptable, including fiction, textbooks, comic books, etc.

Student Congress will award a trophy to the dormitory which receives the largest number of books. They will also give trophies to the organizations with the largest response and points to be tabulated for the outstanding organization award given on Honors Day. The organizations with the most people sitting in their section of McCroan Monday night will also receive points.

If the book drive is a success, Congress will recommend the project to other colleges at the next SUSGA (Southern Universities Student Govern-ment Association) convention to be held in April. Stapleton added, "We have

The days for signs like this one in dormitory rooms may well be numbered. Administrative sources say that a positive policy covering such articles, plus bottles, questionable pictures, etc, is forthcoming. For editorial comment on the question, see Page 4.

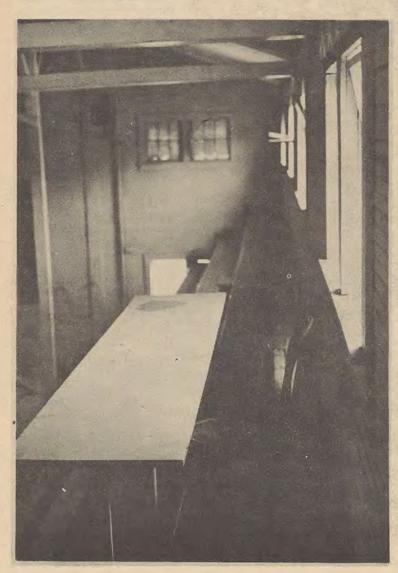

Alumni Gym Condemned

The Alumni Gymnasium, used by physical education classes, the gymnastics team, Marvin Pittman High School, campus organizations, and individual sports participants, has been officially condemned by the State Board of Regents, according to President Zach S. Henderson.

Dr. Henderson said that the condemnation was based on the results of a regents-sponsored inspection March 14. According to the official report, several of the reasons were a sagging floor which is about to collapse, sagging roof, trusses which have buckled, and girders which are over 100 per cent undersized.

Such a condition, the report concluded, made the building "unsafe for use as a gym" and repair would by necessity consist of a total replacement of all unsafe points.

The regents' position was later a member of the Chancellor's staff, Frank C. Dunham. According to his report the building may be used for limited class activity in the front classroom, for campus security which occupies a separate section, and for locker and rest rooms. Under these limited conditions the building may be used until Dec. 31, 1967 at which time other action must be taken.

Dr. Henderson added that engineers are presently investigating the feasibility of replacing supports and roofing and that the report would be revealed in the near future.

"George - Anne" Photographer Mike Ayres, with cooperation of Campus Security, spent several minutes in the building this week and made the photographs which appear on this page. Whether a repair attempt is made or not, this will be the last time the building is seen in this condition.

WAIT, GIMME THAT

No one likes to be embarassed. At least that's what one luckless visiting baseball player said last week after eating a guest meal in the college din-

It seems this unfortunate lad made the dreadful mistake of going through the serving line and talking both milk and tea, a cardinal sin. For a moment it looked as if he would unknowingly make his getaway. Alas, however, the legendary lady in white swooped down upon him, snatched the contraband glass of tea from his tray and returned it to the sanctity of the serving area.

The rule is not an unfair one. It is easy for students to pour themselves a glass of tea from the outside urn if they want both milk and tea. It is, however, unfair to assume that all visitors to the campus know this rule.

"The George-Anne" strongly urges that signs defining various dining hall regulations be placed in clear view of the serving lines. If nothing else, it would at least spare a visitor the embarassment of having a dining hall official hunt him down and lecture him on local customs.

THE CALENDAR

At spring quarter registration all students were given a copy of the new catalogue compiled by the director of student activities. Such a drastic improvement is long overdue.

Not only is the day by day breakdown of the quarter helpful to anyone seeking meeting times or activity dates, but the cover is also a delightful photographic cross section of campus life. Thanks, Mrs. Hudgins, for ending a lot of inconvenience and

HAUNTED HOUSE.. AGAIN

Several freshmen were apprehended by the Bulloch County Sherriff and several deputies one night last week following their visit to the so-called "haunted house" several miles south of Statesboro on a rural dirt road.

The group, it seemed, had heard of the house from other students and decided to satisfy their curiosity and view the residence personally. Little did they know that all previous visitors had not shared their innocent intentions and had, on occasion, broken windows, discharged fireworks, etc. on or near the premises.

A middle aged man was waiting for them this time. After leaving the house, having observed it for several moments, the students left, drove several hundred yards, decided to return by a different route, turned around, and proceeded for Statesboro. The watchman followed, unseen by the boys, without lights. About a mile down the road he forced the cars to stop and held the students at shotgun point until a deputy sherriff arrived. The lads were then subjected to rude, profane accusations, before the arrival of the sherriff who is reported to have used more civil tactics.

The students, who undoubtedly exercised poor judgement, are presently awaiting decisions from county and school officials regarding what action will subsequently be taken. We place great faith in the integrity of these officials, with confidence that a fair position will be formulated.

We are deeply concerned, however with the actions of a man who obviously is overzealous in his "protection" of private property. It is difficult to conceive of protection in any but a defensive aspect, if indeed it is to be merely protection. We maintain that an act of agression consisting of illegal driving without lights, and threats to shoot the next curious visitors, should not go unchecked. Such an individual poses a much greater danger to public safety than curious students who merely look

It happened last Sunday morning, approximately 12:30 a.m. The driver of this auto, identified as Rick Stevens of Athens, was clocked at 80 m.p.h. by a Bulloch County Deputy on Pembroke Highway and at 60 m.p.h. through the campus by Campus Security. After turning right on Chandler Road from Georgia Avenue he proceeded past Knight Hall, left the dirt road, and turned over. Neither the driver nor the other passenger in the auto was injured in the accident. This photo is published, despite retalliatory threats, with the hope that it will be a reminder for others to "watch out for the other guy," even within the sanctity of the college campus.

Bottles, Bottles Everywhere...

Consistency - Ah, There's the Rub

By RON MAYHEW

It seems that certain house directors are again engaging in that time - honored pasttime of drawing undrawable lines.

One enterprising dormitory matron took the last days of winter quarter as a golden opportunity to initiate espionage and reconnaisexpedisance tions into the individual offending cells of her residence hall. Proceeding on her mission of mercy she removed all recepticles from rooms which gave any evidence of ever having contained a solution with any percentage of alcohol. Perhaps the most alarming aspect of this mass removal of liquor bottles is the inconsistency with which regulatory standards are applied. Both Dean of Women Virginia Boger and Dean of Men Harold Maguire are presently examining the issue and plan to individually release their respective policies sometime in the near future. Whatever is finally decided, the official policy should, according to Dean Maguire, reflect a general consistency throughout the cam- tion?

One problem which is bound to arise is drawing the abovementioned lines. If we say liquor bottles are legal, does it mean all bottles? What if there is a small drop left in them? If this is permissable, how large can the drop be before it is a breach of regulations? On the other hand, if bottles are declared illegal, what about flourescent signs and clocks? And how about the beach towels with beer emblems on them? And if we make all such advertising illegal, do we then set my back. up watch stations at dormitory doors, armed with scissors, to clip liquor and beer advertising from all magazines and newspapers as subscribers bring them in.

No matter what the decision of the deans, absurd situations will arise requiring anew the age-old problem of drawing still

From this writer's point of view, only one solution appears to raise fewer questions than others. Why not merely permit such containers without any oth- ers brought to me by the wind. er definition of terms other than the fact that they must be dry. A test of dryness should prove much simpler to administer than those which would have to be applied if others positions were taken. Granted, a room full of empty beer or liquor bottles might not be attractive to some. If, however, it pleases the occupants, why intervene and force yourself to draw new lines for every individual situa-

Probably the best solution to the situation was voiced by another bright soul who came up with the following surefire method for making a liquor bottle acceptable, even if it is still full: Just wrap it in a church

I am far away from reality. I revive happy and sad memories. I sigh at the thought of my childhood, I smile at my years in school, but I can also see myself during my declining years; when my remaining days on earth are few. I can see myself as an old man with bent back, bald headed, and still wondering why I was born.

I am lost in my thoughts far away from everybody at my favorite hideaway in the Northern forests. Nobody can see me in my lonesome meditation under the star-adorned universe. The faint shimmer from my fire can be seen between the large trunks of the straight fir trees and their thick branches only by the moose, the badger and the other inhabitants of the forest, and they do not disturb my peace. They live a happy life without problems of tomorrow or yesterday. They appreciate the beauty and peace of nature. They are not buried in a human community without individualism.

Slowly the fire dies. The night breeze occasionally makes the hot ash glow for a second. Then everything is dark, and I wake up from my dreams, but still I do not know why I am here. Neither do the people in their towns and cities, but they are too busy to worry about it. To them life is work, sleep, love and church, a daily routine without meaning. Phillips has been a radio announcer at four or five stations during the past eight years and has produced and directed two state-wide net-work shows. He is presently vice-president of Music-Ad company, which screens music for use in industrial backgrounds, marketing research, etc.

In the College Opera Workshop's production of "South Pacific," Phillips sang the lead male role of Emile de Beque.

Phillips also produces "Sounds from Southern," the college ra-dio program, which is heard throughout the state. He said that he likes the program and tries to give the listener an "entertaining, enjoyable look at Georgia Southern." He added, "This is just my little way of giving something back to the college."

From whence it came, nobody knows. An anonymous phone call to the "George-Anne" office during the last week of winter quarter brought a photographer to this scene, the Cedar in front of the Music Building. It is estimated that the figure was hung shortly after midnight. The tipster phoned at 1 a.m. Campus Security saw it later and it was down by 3 a.m.

Can a shoe originally designed for men make it in a woman's world?

Ask any man.

Sure, the craftsmanship's the same as our two-fisted men's Bostonians. The hand stitching's the same. And the man-tailored look. But soft and subtle Lady B's are strictly for kicky legs and groovy hemlines. Made with Bostonian's tenderized leathers. Kneaded and shaped till the fit is perfect. Cradle your feet in a pair of Lady B's for the man-tailored look that's utterly feminine... and the comfort that's better than barefoot. As far as men are concerned (and they generally are), you'll find Lady B's a modern day glass slipper. They must be, with all the Prince Charmings you'll have at your feet.

(Look for the Bee on the back of the shoe.)

Sinatra Stars

Following the March 30, showing of "Becket," the April 6 free movie will be "Von Ryan's Express.' The action packed story stars Frank Sinatra, Trevor Howard, and Edward Mulhare.

Sinatra plays the part of Air Force Colonel Ryan who is interned in an Italian prisoner of war camp which includes a handful of GI's and a remnant of a British regiment, under a fiery major, played by Howard. As a senior officer, Sinatra is expected to lead the escape attempt.

Instead, he makes a precafor sick, starving men. For this, tional che obtains the nickname "Von May 5. Ryan." Upon Italy's surrender The front was designed by Jen to the Allies, Ryan directs an which the Nazis were using to transport prisoners.

Wesley Players Present Drama

"Needed As Never Before," at the First Methodist Church March 30. The drama was presented for the South Georgia Convention of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

"Needed As Never Before" was originally a religious drama used by state "Y" clubs. The play, adapted by Wesley Players, is a worship allego-ry in which each character symbolizes an attitude toward Christianity. Catherine, played by Nancy Waldrop, represents the ideal spirit toward Christianity. Al Roesel played Tad, an "utterly revolting" character with sarcastic attitudes regarding humanity. A feeling of happiness was given to the play in the part of Greta, a 12 year-old German girl; Sara Beth McLaughlin portrayed this role. Indifferent attitudes are depicted by the roles played by Pam Irwin (Marie), Carol Johns (Ellen), and Joe Brannen (Fred).

the audience sad, will be presented by Masquers for their spring quarter production April 27, 28, 29 in McCroan Audi-torium. "Pantagleize" will introduce a new phase of theatre to Georgia Southern students. Characteristic of the production will be stylization and a period of time with exaggerated architecture. The sets will combine stylization and constructivism, or showing the way in which a building is constructed. Ralph Jones, a senior speech major from Griffin, Georgia, is in charge of technical work.

Miss Marjorie Thomas, director of Masquers said, " 'Pantagleize' is a way out show." Costuming, makeup, and acting will be stylized.
"Pantagleize," a philosophertype man, who makes up a new saying daily, will be played by Ernest Ewing, a senior speech major. The play concerns the humorous and catastrophic results which are involved by an innocent little saying, "What a lovely day." The revolutionaries are Bamboola, a Negro man, played by Ulysses Mosley, so-phomore biology major from Albany; Rachel Silberchatz, a "very tough cookie," played by Dot Bennett. Innocenti, a professor-turned waiter, will be played by Joe Knox, a senior psychology major, and Banger, a malcontent, will be played by a malcontent, will be played by Sidney Jackson, a junior psychology major from Augusta. Netters Open Strong; Upset Carson-Newman

The Eagles' tennis team is off to a better start than ever before. The netters post a 5-2 record after the opening matches, all played at home.

The tennis team has never had a winning record, but "this is going to be the year," says Coach David Hall, who together with the players "is sure" to collect another five or more victories in the remaining 13 matches of the sea-

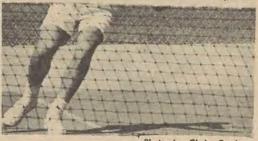

The Eagles played their best match as they upset last year's Tennessee VSAC champion, Carson-Newman, Wednesday 6-3. It did not matter that Larry Ware, a quarterfinalist last year in the national N.A.I.A. tournament, played the number one spot for the visitors.

Carson-Newman got revenge yesterday though by nipping the Southern Netters, 5-4, in a hot and nervous show.

Southern's victories came against Appalachian State, Springfield, Georgia Southwestern, Armstrong and Carson-Newman. The only defeat except the Carson-Newman one was against Emory

Co-Captain Mack Poss, a senior playing at the number four spot, is the only Eagle still with a perfect record. He has won all of his seven singles matches.

Golfers Pull Three U

By ROBIN RITTER Sports Writer

The Eagle golf team pulled a surprising upset Tuesday beating Mercer, Valdosta and William & Mary in a triple match at Macon after a slow start against Georgia State College here on March 15. Georgia State beat Southern, 18-9, and the Eagles now exhibit a 3-1 season record.

Take a golf course your team has never seen, add rain, cool weather and twenty MPH tory wind, plus opponents that Southern has not beaten in three years, and you have March 28, 1967, Macon, Ga.

Valdosta State, power in the NAIA, defeated GSC last year twice and returned four of its six team members. Enter Skip Mason, first year Eagle, his 72 for the match, and scratch Valdosta State 7.5 - 4.5.

William & Mary came south last year and defeated GSC quite handily on the Eagle course. Enter team captain Bob Gastley, two time letterman, his 71 for the match, and scratch William & Mary 12-6. Gastley won all nine of his possible points 7; include here Eddie Register, 75, and Dennis Raith, 77.

Mercer, with its "golden bear" Eddie Garrett, whom in his collegiate career has never shot over 75, scored 72 for the match; but enter Ray Gregory for 76, and Randy Hill for 75 (the hard way; 41 out and 34 in) and scratch Mer-

The rain fell heavily as the last foursome approached the 18th green. Southern was tied with Mercer, down to Valdosta and ahead of William & Mary with all finished but Skip Ma-

If Mason parred the 18th the Eagles would win all three matches; if he bogyed the hole they would only half one and lose two.

Rose Honored

Southern's Jimmy Rose, a senior basketball guard, was named to the NAIA ALL AMERICA squad for the third straight year. This year Rose was awarded a berth on the second dream team. The first two years Rose was placed on the first team. He is the first basketball player in Georgia ever to make All America three years.

PETREL BUDDHA Everybody Loves Ogee

Staff Photo

Petrel Buddha Found on Dump

Three pictures of a Buddah, without any explanitory text, in the last issue of The 'George-Anne' puzzled many, but to many others the pictures themselves were explanation enough.

Of course, it is about the mascot of the Oglethorpe Petrels, the new black Buddha. Ogee it is called. And sorry to say, the captions were omitted due to a typographical error.

The Buddha has grown to be a traditional symbol at Oglethorpe College in Atlanta. Supposedly it brings good luck to the Petrel basketball team. Should this not be true, at least the Buddha ritual helps to heighten the spirit among the home fans.

Before each contest six fraternity brothers carry Ogee on a pedestal into the field house, march it around the gym, and finally place it just outside the court overlooking the game. When the Buddha is carried in the spectators stand up, and the cheerleaders fall down on their knees, as in a prayer, greeting their symbol of vic-

During each battle Ogee is present, but the six brothers watch it carefully. When a game is over they hurriedly march off with the blackpainted 'monster'. They act exactly as if they were afraid that somebody wanted to steal their beloved Buddha.

But who would like to steal it? The students at Oglethorpe are not sure, but they still remember when their original Buddha was stolen a little over two years ago. Therefore they guard their new mascot closely and suspiciously.

"The Buddha tradition started many years ago," said Petrel Coach Harry Carter, "but I'm not quite sure exactly when. Some boys found a Buddha on a garbage dump. They picked it up and made it the team mascot. I believe that is how it started."

And two years ago some-body stole the Buddha right during a game. The thevies were never caught and nobody knows who stole it. Who

"I've no idea," Carter said, "Perhaps somebody at Georgia Southern knows," he added with a hinting twinkle in his eyes.

The Oglethorpe students just love their new Buddha, but few love and remember the old one, the real one, the one that was stolen. But Buddha number one still remembers Oglethorpe although the Ogeechee River is muddy and took eleventh team place among 34 schools at the nation- points in his two vaults. al N.A.I.A. gymnastics championships at Nachitoches, La., March 10-11 compared to a seventh place last year.

Although none of the Eagles managed well individually Coach Ron Oertley was not disappointed. "The competition was great," he said, "at least twice as good as last year."

He continued, "Compared to the other schools our men were inexperienced. Never before have they competed at that level of competition."

Gary Barnett managed best of the five Eagles. He qualified for the finals in two events, long horse vault and tumbling. On the long horse he finish-

Barnett was tenth in tumbling receiving 6.13 points.

The only Eagle to reach the finals except for Barnett was Jimmy Kirkland. He took twelfth place on long horse with a combined score of 6.39 points.

The remaining three Eagle gymnasts, Danny Harrison, Joe

Lumpkin and Rodney Chandler, did not make it to a finals, but

Lumpkin almost made it to final competition on the trampoline after finishing 13th. Only the twelve best were allowed to compete in the finals.

Most successful for Southern last year was Kip Burton, who finished sixth in the all-around competition.

The championships were held on the campus of Northwestern Louisiana State College and dominated by the same school.

JOE LUMPKIN He Graduates, Leaves Squad

R. Loyd of NLSC was the outstanding gymnast winning first honors in free exercise, side horse event and parallel bars event. He finished second on the high bar and third on the long horse.

Joyce Woodard likes the "Monkees," Paul Newman, "Gone With the Wind," friendly people, fast dancing and the color yellow. But with the advent of warm weather, these have given way to swimming, golf, and sunbathing.
