Nat'l. Science Foundation Awards Grants To GSC

The National Science Foundation recently awarded $47,000 in grants to the science and mathematics division of this college. The funds will be coordinated by Dr. Thomas A. Bond and Dr. Hiram S. Hanson, geology professors.

Bond will appropriate $10,000 of the allotment for additional equipment and materials for a research grant already underway; $28,636, the largest portion, will be used for a "Georgia Science Teacher Project," a state-wide program being developed throughout the University System. Hanson will coordinate his work with the college education division on this project.

Nine thousand two hundred and thirty dollars was awarded the college for the continuation of a nine month in-service institute of science, chemistry or physics. Stipends will be given each participant for books and travel. Non tuition will be charged.

Dr. Lane Appointed To AHEA Committee

Dr. Betty Lane, home economics division chairman has been named to serve on the College Chapter's Advisory Committee of the American Home Economics Association. The appointment came during the recent annual meeting of the AHEA held in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The committee will recommend policies and procedures to the national office with regard to the membership status of the approximately 22,000 undergraduate students studying home economics in over four hundred educational institutions throughout the nation.

The advisory committee meets periodically at the national headquarters of the American Home Economics Association in Washington, D.C. Dr. Lane represents the southern region.

PRESIDENT EIDSON CUTS INTO FIRST OF MANY MELONS

Dr. John O. Eidson, president, attended the Sigma Pi sponsored watermelon cutting July 16 and 23. The traditional summer event will be held July 30 and August 6 from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. at the Lake. Looking on are Sonny Bartlett, Paul Leslie and Vice-President Pope A. Duncan.

Miss Hall Sets Masquers' Plays For 1968-69

Masquers' drama organization recently announced plans for 1968-69 productions. The three plays selected are: "Barefoot in the Park," "Death of a Salesman," and "Roshhalman."

"Barefoot in the Park," a Neil Simon comedy, "will provide the audience with all the elements of good theatre," according to Miss Hazel Hall, Masquers' director. The fall quarter production calls for four major speaking roles.

Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" will be presented winter quarter.

The spring production of "Roshhalman" will host a larger cast.

A musical is not planned due to insufficient funds.

Miss Hall invites anyone interested in working with Masquers' to see her or any member. One hour credit is given any student taking an active part in the productions.

Mrs. Mae Olliff Attends Institute

Mrs. Mae C. Olliff, associate librarian, will attend a three-week Institute on Government Publications, July 29-August 16, at Emory University.

The institute, supported by a U.S. Office of Education grant, is being sponsored by the Emory University Division of Librarianship. Mrs. Olliff will receive approximately 45 hours of formalized instruction on government publications. Additionally, participants will be provided with field trips to publications collections in the Atlanta area.

The institute's objectives are to provide guidelines for acquisition of government publications, to develop an understanding of the reference uses of government publications and to examine services of these references in the library.

NEW PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATORS

George Lynch, assistant dean of men; Miss Betty Mabe, assistant dean of women; and Mrs. Dorothy Youngblood, counselor.

Dr. Tyson Announces Personnel Positions

Three Student Personnel Services positions were filled as of July 1, according to Dean of Students Ralph K. Tyson. The new administrators are: Miss Betty Mabe, assistant dean of women; Mrs. Dorothy Youngblood, counselor; and George Lynch, assistant dean of men.

Miss Mabe is from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where she attended Salem College. She received her Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from that institution. She also attended the University of Michigan graduate school at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Miss Mabe worked in television commercials and sang professionally in California before entering college administrative field. Prior to joining the Georgia Southern staff, she served as registrar and director of admissions at Ursuline College.

Mrs. Youngblood, a native Georgian, attended Georgia Southwestern College for two years and received her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics from the University of Georgia. She attended graduate school at East Carolina in Greenville, South Carolina and completed her master studies at Georgia Southern. She received her six-year certificate in counselor education from this college.

Mrs. Youngblood has taught in Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina high schools. She served as counselor at Southeast Bulloch High School from 1965-68.

Lynch hails from East Texas. He graduated from

Dr. Cecil Howard To Participate In International Business Study

By SARA FOUNTAIN
News Editor

Dr. Cecil G. Howard, associate professor of marketing, is one of twenty business professors chosen throughout the nation to participate in a workshop in international business in New York City September 2-13.

The workshop is sponsored by New York University in conjunction with several multinational firms in New York City. The workshop will divide the participants into five teams to study facets of international executive positions.

The teams will visit different corporations in New York City and they will conduct interviews with key executives of those firms. Dr. Howard's team will discuss qualifications of American executives selected for overseas assignments.

Dr. Donald Hackett presents a copy of "Modern Wood Technology" to Librarian Hassie McElveen.

Dr. D. Hackett Co-Edits Text

Dr. Donald Hackett, chairman of the division of industrial technology, is co-editor of MODERN WOOD TECHNOLOGY, a recently released industrial arts textbook.

Also co-editing the text is Patrick E. Spielman, department head at Gibraltar Area Schools, Fish Creek, Wisconsin.

The text is a new direction for the study of technology in school, according to Dr. Hackett. Wood is used as the medium to introduce students to industry and the technology of converting raw materials into a useful product.

The book is divided into three topics: (1) industry, (2) history and development of machines and processes of wood fabrication, and (3) specific applications contemporary industry.

MODERN WOOD TECHNOLOGY, written for college and high school use, will be used in the industrial arts department fall quarter for two courses.

The students supporting the GSC Free Press will meet in room 119 of Hollis, Tuesday, July 30 at 6:30 p.m. This organization is supported by the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans.

Letters

Editor

Dear Editor:

I've been located in Vietnam, with the 4th Inf. Division, for some four months now, and have learned some of the agonies, as well as the good, that has come through this war. I have written a poem about the agonies and this land and how they affect a lot of the personnel here in this area. This poem has already been printed in several papers throughout the U.S. and I thought maybe you would like to place it in your paper.

Pfc. Robert F. Smith

"THE AGONY AND THE NAM"

We came to this land for freedom they say

And if we could leave, we'd leave it today

For this land offers no peace or calm

There is only agony, In the land of the Nam

Dust, dirt, heat, and rain
Leeches, bugs, sweat, and pain

The death of a friend, the bite of hurt

The agony of the Nam, the cursing of its dirt

The constant thoughts of being away

The loneliness that grips from day to day

The letters we receive of events back home

The agony that tears from being alone

The pressure of the wait, the thought of the fight

Our ease by day, our tenseness by night

The constant call, that lurks within

To stop where you are, and let it all end

But the thought of leaving, so pleasant and calm

The ending of our war and THE AGONY OF THE NAM.

Editors Note:

Bob is a former GSC student and a past president of Delta Pi Alpha service fraternity. He has been in Vietnam for the past four months and has received the Combat Infantry Badge while serving there. A native of Bainbridge, Georgia, Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Smith. This selection is reprinted from the Bainbridge paper.

"NOW THE FACULTY SENATE WILL HEAR A WORD FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE STUDENTS RIGHTS COMMITTEE."

"Quo Vadis" Set For July 26; Stewart Stars In Aug. 2 Flim

"QUO VADIS," the July 26 free movie, is one of the most lavish and expensive spectacles ever made. Robert Taylor, as aristocratic Roman Legion commander Marcus Vinicius, falls in love with a beautiful Christian girl, Lygia (Deborah Kerr), and drops into disfavor.

The color film focuses on the condemnation of Christians to the lion-filled circus arena, triumphal marches of the Roman Legions through the streets of a pagan capital, and the final chaos of the destruction of Rome.

Leo Glenn, Peter Ustinov and Patricia Laffan are the supporting cast.

"The Flight of the Phoenix," starring James Stewart, will be shown August 2. A small plane piloted by Stewart crashes in an passengers react in different ways while awaiting rescue. As the days pass, the water shortage, sand storms and murdering Arabs add to the company's discomfort. The realistic details and desert shots lend authenticity to this suspenseful story of adventure and courage under extreme physical and mental strain.

This motion picture was recommended by the Protestant Motion Picture Council as "outstanding."

All free movies are shown in McCroan at 8:30 p.m.

GSC To Serve As Testing Site

The College will serve as a testing center for General Education Development Testing Service (GED) and the American College Testing Program (ACT) for the school year 1968-69.

The GED test is given to persons who do not have a high school diploma but are interested in attending college. Any person who passes the GED test is considered ready to take the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (CEE SAT), an entrance requirement of all Georgia institutions of higher learning.

Seek and you will find. Look under those dirty clothes piled in the closet. Search behind the boxes on the shelf. There, if you remember correctly, is a tennis racket that you have neglected all this time. It wants you to hold it tightly once again. It wants a chance to swing with you. It promises to serve well if you will let it. . .

If this sounds like a mushy love game, that's just what it is. It's called TENNIS. And starting the 29th of July, you will have an opportunity to see whether or not you left your racket on the shelf too long, or whether or not you have let ole Brother Out-of-Condition take your breath away.

The Intramural Tennis Tournament is for all people interested. It is especially for the "rinky-dink." (since that word has caused some attention to those individuals who are willing to defend their athletic prowess, I thought I'd use it again) A person does not have to have won three gold metals in the state championship to participate. The tourney is designed for those sporters who have more success hitting it over the fence than over the net. It's all in fun, so lenda hand, cock your aims high and participate.

The tourney is a double-elimination affair, giving every player at least two matches. There are three divisions: singles (men & women), doubles (men & women) and mixed doubles.

The faculty is invited to participate, and as I remember, the showings of spry Dr. Russell have been extremely successful in the past summers; I expect other faculty members to follow his enthusiasm. The deadline for registration is Friday. Get in touch with me or other members of The George-Anne.

I thought I would carry you back to the world of Hanner and bounce around some more conclusions on the basketball scene. It seems that the Old Timers are definitely out front with the Unknowns running a close second. A few of the other teams have shown a great deal of togetherness and organization and have scared these two teams with some close games. Joe McDaniel and his crew actually play as though they know what the game is about. Ain't that something? With only a couple of games left, we sport fans are still hoping that a miracle will happen and Coach Johnson's crew will topple from the top. Better watch out, Coach.

Coach Clements Receives Honor

J.I. Clements, GSC baseball coach for 20 years, was inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame in June while he and the Eagles were in St. Joseph, Missouri. Clements' appointment to this position was in recognition for his outstanding leadership in coaching and in the field of baseball.

This is the last year Clements will coach the Eagles. He has announced the appointment of Bill Spieth as acting head coach beginning in 1969.
