Sanders' Exhibition Begins Fine Arts Week

"Coastal Sand Dunes"

By SANDRA DYCHES
Editor

An exhibition of paintings and drawings entitled "The Constructive Views" by Mrs. Betty Foy Sanders will begin a series of events for Foy Fine Arts Week, Nov. 17-26. Mrs. Sanders will be guest of honor at a reception in the Gallery Sunday, Nov. 17, from 2:30-4:30 p.m. The artist will present an acrylic painting entitled "Coastal Sand Dunes" to the college in memory of her father, J. P. Foy, for whom the fine arts building is named.

Mrs. Sanders, wife of former Georgia governor Carl E. Sanders, presently studies with the noted Atlanta artist, Quida Canaday. Mrs. Sanders' sketchbooks are filled with her constructions of old landmarks and new skylines—deep quarries and lonely islands—colorful flowers in sweeping fields and the stark outlines of boats at dock.

Broucek Recital

Dr. Jack Broucek, professor of music, will present an organ recital Monday, Nov. 18, in the recital hall at 8:15 p.m. The program will feature "Concerto No. 3 in G Major" by Antonio Soler; "Chorale Prelude: Drop, Drop Slow Tears Op. 104" by Vincent Persichetti; "Sonata I in D" by C. P. E. Bach; "Toccata" by Charles Marie Widor; "Elegie Op. 38" by Flar Peeters; and "Sonata Op. 65, No. 6" by Felix Mendelssohn. The main work will be J. S. Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in E flat Major".

Panel Discussion

A panel discussion on "Creativity and the Arts:

Function and Relationship" will be moderated by Don Northrip, assistant professor of music, on Tuesday, Nov. 19, from 1:30-3 p.m. in the recital hall. The panel will include: Dr. Sterling Adams, assistant professor of music; Robert Gerken, assistant professor of music; Lance Henderson, instructor in art; and Frank McCoy, instructor in fine arts.

Slide Lecture

Tuesday evening Harry Hendren will present a slide lecture entitled "Buddhist and Hindu Art of India." Hendren heads the art department at Lindenwood College, St. Charles Missouri.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Murray State College, Murray, Kentucky; his Master of Arts degree from Ohio State University; and he had done post-graduate work at Ohio State University, Washington State University and Utrecht University of the Netherlands. Hendren has also completed studies throughout Europe.

The lecturer will meet with students at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 20, in the recital hall for a discussion session.

Remaining Activities

Remaining activities for Fine Arts Week include: the showing of three art films, Wednesday, Nov. 20; Southern Singers in concert, Thursday, Nov. 21; Philharmonic Choir concert, Friday, Nov. 22; Masquers' production of "Barefoot in the Park", Wednesday, Nov. 20-Saturday, Nov. 23; and a band concert, Tuesday, Nov. 26.

WSGA Dress Code Gets Okay; Three Stipulations Are Added

The Women's Student Government Association's proposal concerning women's dress was approved Wednesday, Nov. 6, with three minor stipulations, to be effective immediately, according to Sally Harvard, WSGA president.

The stipulations are as follows: (1) "Shorts will be interpreted as bermuda shorts. (2) Bermuda shorts and slacks will not be worn at the mid-day meal in the dining halls on Sunday. (3) Bermuda shorts and slacks may not be worn at any time in administrative offices.

The proposal was jointly

Tickets for Play Now Available

Tickets for Masquers' fall production, "Barefoot in the Park," will go on sale next week in the lobby of both student centers. The tickets are $1 each. The play will open Wednesday, Nov. 20, and will run through Saturday, Nov. 23, in McCroan Auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Because of the popularity of the comedy, Masquers' will sell reserved tickets for the Friday and Saturday night performances. The Wednesday and Thursday night performances have no reserved tickets.

solution to the problem of facilities for dances and parties. The Landrum Center could be used for scheduled dances under certain conditions, according to Shelton Evans. On any given dance night the cafeteria would be closed for the evening meal to allow time for cleaning and decorating. All the students would be asked to eat at the Williams Center on that night and also at breakfast on the following day, Evans added.

"This is just a suggestion and has not become policy," Evans stated. The student government and administration are interested in the student's reactions to this idea. They want to know if the students would be willing to make this sacrifice in order to make use of the Landrum Center facilities.

Any one who does not think this a workable solution or who has other suggestions is asked to make his views known in the student government office, according to Evans.

Trinity Church Sponsors Dance

The "Intangible Result" will play for a street dance in front of Trinity Episcopal Church at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 8, according to the Reverend James Tiller, vicar of Trinity Episcopal Church.

"The street dance has become a tradition for the church and this is the second year we have sponsored a dance. Last year we had over 600 people attend the first dance," said Tiller. "This is a gesture on our part to say that we are part of the college community," he added.

"EAT YOUR HEART OUT HUBERT"

As the political scene was completed this week with the national elections, many citizens had to acknowledge defeat of their candidates. Frank McCoy, instructor in fine arts, good naturedly sports an humble-pie tie to admit the swan-song of his candidate, Hubert Humphrey. McCoy and Warren, Nixon supporter, had wagered on the elections outcome.

Campus Unrest Seen In Student Gripes

By KAREN FLESCH
Staff Writer

There seems to be a feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction on the campus. Students are congregating in the student centers, class buildings, and in dormitory rooms discussing "what's wrong with Georgia Southern College." Students in several of Robert Jackson's political science classes decided to take a poll of student grievances and made them known to the student body and campus authorities.

The following student grievances are listed in the order in which they most often appeared.

Fewer restrictions on women's dress, more student activities and more lenient women's hours rated equally at the top of the compiled student lists.

Second, an improved campus telephone system was suggested. One campus operator is not sufficient to handle the number of student calls.

Third, the polled students felt that fraternities and sororities should be allowed to hold dances for profit.

An unlimited cut system, more student governing power, and more parking space rated fourth.

Many students also suggested that there should be a traffic court of appeals and that the cafeteria should provide enough food to serve all students, even those arriving late in the evening due to their untimely eleventh period class.

This campus, like all others, has its share of problems; but it also has capable students in responsible positions who are willing to try and deal with them. The students in the political science classes have compiled the grievances and published them; the outcome depends on the attitude of the student body.

Six Profs Attend Historical Assn.

Six members from the social science division are attending the annual convention of the Southern Historical Association, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 7-8, in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The six include Dr. Jack N. Averitt, chairman of the Division of Social Sciences; Dr. John Perry Cochran, professor of history; Dr. Julia F. Smith, associate professor of history; Dr. Robert M. Barrow, assistant professor of history; Dr. George A. Rogers, professor of history; and Dr. Willie Todd, associate professor of history.

decided upon by the personnel deans and the director of student activities. The proposal with the three stipulations was then reviewed and passed on by Dr. John O. Eidson, president, and Dr. Pope A. Duncan, vice-president.

Dr. Duncan, in a memo to Dean Virginia Boger said, "GSC students enjoy an enviable reputation for dressing neatly and attractively. On many occasions visitors to the campus have remarked favorably on the appropriate dress of our students. It would be helpful if the WSGA could call this to the attention of our students, encouraging appropriate dress on all occasions, as they announce this policy change."

Inquiring Reporter

By BILL BLANKINSHIP
News Editor

The Woman's Student Government Association made a proposal to allow a coed to choose her type of dress for every occasion instead of being required to wear certain items, as is the present policy. At the present time, a definite double standard in dress exists between men and women. This poll was conducted before the administration ruled on the proposal to change women's dress code.

Question: Do you think that the double standard in dress regulation is fair or is it a violation of women's rights?

Linda Calhoun, junior social science major, Savannah, Ga. "It is true that many times women do not judge the correct or appropriate attire; however, it is my belief that if the men on this campus are allowed to choose their dress, in all fairness, women should be given the same prerogative."

Deidre Cowne, junior English major, Thomasville, Ga. "I feel it is a violation of women's rights, but if these restrictions were not imposed, women would often carry their dress to the extremes."

Steve Joiner, junior business major, Macon, Ga. "I believe we should have a free dress rule, but there should be some moderation left up to the individual. I think the administration should consider the student's integrity in policy-making procedures."

Marion Breedlove, junior social science major, Macon, Ga. "I believe that the double standard is typical of the college. I think a woman should be allowed to wear the clothes she chooses and not be bound by regulation."

Johnie Lynes, Savannah, Ga. "I do not think the double standard is fair; also, I do not think that classroom attire should be standardized. I think that women should be allowed to choose their own attire out of class."

Ronnie Strickland, senior industrial technology major, Dublin, Ga. "I feel that it (the double standard) is a direct violation of women's rights; but their rights are violated in many other ways on this campus."

Ken Carson, junior industrial technology major, Athens, Ga. "The double standard is a direct violation of women's rights, but, in certain instances a double standard must exist to maintain the 'institutional image.'"

Joe Griffin, junior chemistry-physics major, Statesboro, Ga. "As far as dress is concerned, I think women or men should be allowed to wear what they want to when they want to, but, I also see the need for standard classroom attire for all students."

Murphy Sconyers, senior English major, Daytona, Beach, Fla. "I think the double standard is ridiculous. Women should be allowed to wear what they wish."

Lyn Gregory, senior early elementary education major, Atlanta, Ga. "I think women should be allowed to choose their out-of-class attire, but this should be done with discretion and good taste. If we are to be treated as adults, we must act like adults."

Phi Mu Sisters Host Pledges

The sisters of Phi Mu sorority entertained their pledges with a "Halloween" cookout, Thursday, Oct. 31, at the Deloach cabin on the Brooklet highway.

Decorations carried out the Halloween theme, and sister Miles Durant read an original poem dedicated to the pledges. Each little sister was presented an original poem from her big sister.

RUMORS AND PANIC

This weekend the rumor was that three girls from Brumby Hall and three from Creswell Hall at the University of Georgia would be stabbed or strangled by a man disguised as a woman. This was "supposedly" a prediction by Jean Dixon, famous clairvoyant.

In Statesboro the rumor spread that the horrible murders would take place on a southeastern college campus. By Monday night the scene of the crime had moved to a south Georgia college.

Conversation in women's residence halls has been centered around this wild rumor. Frantic women have gone so far as to sleep with their beds in front of their doors, require passwords before entrance, and congregating nearly all night in study rooms. In one dorm, mass hysteria was created by a joking scream.

This rumor has created a ridiculous uproar on campus. It is unfortunate that sensible college students have to be exposed to such a "mania."

LET YOU ENTERTAIN ME

Students, especially freshmen, are repeatedly asking: What is there to do on weekends? Why doesn't someone provide some form of entertainment such as dances or concerts? But who should provide entertainment for students? The administration or the students?

Any student who was here during fall quarter 1967 will remember that there was no lack of weekend social entertainment. A quick glance at last fall's calendar of events reveals at least eight social events involving the entire student body.

The underlying reason for the activity-filled weekends seemed to be the keen sense of competition. The competition was between groups known as fraternities. Campus Greeks, as individual groups, did more to promote an active social atmosphere than they ever have since they were required to sponsor events as a collective group.

The weekend activities disrupted when the administration ruled that individual groups could no longer sponsor schoolwide activities; all such activities must be sponsored in the name of the collective organization of which the group is a member. Entertainment could be sponsored by the PIC, IFC, NPC, Student Government or the administration.

The "good ole days" of weekend entertainment are over. We are destined to remain a suitcase campus. And whose fault is it? The administration could charge the Greeks with negligence and irresponsibility; the Greeks could retaliate with charges of institutional interference and imposing unnecessary restrictions on social functions. Both groups would undoubtedly have legitimate complaints.

But the fact remains that we do not have enough entertainment. The administration forced the change from activities every weekend to sometimes twice-a-quarter functions. In the past, entertainment and social functions involving the student body was provided by student organization, not by an organization composed of other organizations, but of individuals.

We would certainly not advocate retrogressive change, but the current entertainment program is far from being progressive. A responsible plan for periodic weekend entertainment would be beneficial to students and the administration. And would certainly be enjoyed. . .

WSGA PROPOSAL APPROVED

The GEORGE-ANNE applauds the administration for its approval of the Women's Student Government Association's proposal concerning women's dress. The proposal and the approval were long overdue, but the main reason for this lies in the fact that students are not concerned enough about their regulations to change them. Women have flagrantly violated the EAGLE EYE rules concerning dress, but less than sixty women attended the WSGA meeting to change the policy.

Women are granted more freedom in dress with the new proposal, even though three stipulations were added. The stipulations were evidently added to maintain the institutional image.

The new ruling will now allow women to wear bermuda shorts, or slacks anywhere except in administrative offices, classrooms, and in the dining halls at the midday meal on Sundays.

Dissatisfaction Causes Review of Letter Policy

By SANDRA DYCHES
Editor

In last week's issue of the "George-Anne" there appeared a letter to the editor from a class representative. Unsatisfied with our treatment of his letter, the writer posted his original creation and our printed copy of it in various campus buildings under the caption headline of "Don't let the George-Anne do this to You."

Exactly of what the "George-Anne" is guilty is still uncertain to the staff. This writer talked with the representative about his grievances with our letter policy. He contends that we have no right to delete any word, phrase, sentence or even typographical error which we feel to be against our newspaper's style, policy or taste. He stated that anything a letter writer says should be printed as it was written, regardless of errors. He further added that his was not the only complaint, but that "five or six others" had told him of similar changes.

The entire first graph of the letter in question was omitted due to the fact that no one on our entire staff could understand it. If we failed to catch the subtle satire, then we must apologize. We certainly did not intend to take the letter out of context or change the meaning in any way. It is our hope to always print accurate accounts of any and all situations.

However, our policy of letters to the editor cannot and will not change. As printed in at least two issues this quarter it remains the same: letters will be "edited" according to good taste, style, repetition and length. This does not mean that we will refuse to print letters with which we disagree.

Perhaps more than any other organization on campus we believe in freedom of speech. We welcome letters as a vital sign that this freedom is being upheld. But, as with any freedom, there also falls responsibility. And it is our responsibility and obligation to readers to correct errors when we find them, try to maintain an air of good taste when possible and, above all, to make the material understandable to the reader. It seems that there is a fine line's difference between freedom of speech and freedom of the press and it is our obligation to maintain that difference.

Germs Create Health Battle

By Alan Bond
Managing Editor

Who will help fight the cold war? No, the enemy is not Russia or China, but germs everywhere.

Having a cold is bad enough, but many students suffer coldlike illnesses year-round or for extended months during the winter. Yet no one has an answer to the cold war. Each year in the United States about 230 million persons suffer acute coldlike illnesses.

There are several things that can be done to minimize this problem. First, keep your quarters evenly heated and as dry as possible. Second, avoid close contact with large groups of people. Third, try to maintain your health at top level. Fourth, take a flu vaccine to cut down the odds of flu or colds.

Dr. A. B. Daniel, director of health services, encourages all students to take the free flu shots offered at the Health Cottage. One hundred percent participation is needed because of the Asian flu epidemic predicted for 1969, Dr. Daniel added.

A cold vaccine is not yet available, but one will be developed someday. This is because a cold is not based on just one thing—it is a combination of factors. Doctors say the essential element is the presence of one or more cold viruses in the respiratory tract. Additional factors are the breakdown of our defenses: individual susceptibility, contagious exposure, and climatic stresses.

Once a cold has developed there are means of lessening the misery. Aspirin will decrease the aches and pains and antihistamines will minimize the running noses or the watery eyes.

So, when you're standing in a chilling draught talking to a chronic cold sufferer and he is complaining about his poor living conditions, for your health's sake, excuse yourself.

Letters To

The Editor

Dear Editor,

The cartoon in last week's George-Anne is the sharpest thing that has ever been printed in our campus newspaper. At last, our paper took a stand on a very important national issue.

It seems as though biting, critical satire is the only method by which this campus can be stirred to action. This being true, I would enjoy more of the same type of stinging cartoons by Mr. Neville.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the George-Anne staff on reaching an all-time low. It is very evident that in each issue you print, you can't seem to find any decent material that befits a supposedly intellectual college student.

I wish to complain about a recent cartoon you printed that I consider in completely bad taste. Your cartoon depicting Governor George Wallace reached an all-time low for derogatory publications. It is my belief that you hurt yourself more than you helped, for I have heard many people display their dislike for that type of slander. I feel that a well-written editorial would have helped your cause much more.

It is my wish that you will refrain from any further clever?? cartoons. Let "Southern Scribbles" focus on campus problems, because we have enough of them, and leave national affairs to others who know far more about it than you do.

Name withheld by request.

Dear Nameless:

The "objectionable" cartoon represented the bad taste of the entire editorial board and staff. We felt that it was far more effective than a well-written editorial would have been since the majority of students look at pictures before they read.

Thank you,
The Editor

Dear Editor,

On Thursday of last week, I put up a poster in the Williams Center. The poster was an advertisement for a student activity. By Thursday evening the poster was gone. The thief had left no clues; no traces of tape or fingerprints.

The thievery of posters seems to be a favorite pastime at GSC. If a student sees a poster that he likes, he just snatches it off the wall and rehanges it in his room. This behavior is typical of a child who wants something he sees. This child knows he can't have what he sees, so he just takes it.

I was flattered, after my anger passed, that the thief had chosen my poster. I commend him on his excellent taste. Although I had planned to put the poster up in my room, I would have given it away had the thief asked.

There is no way to stop this thievery unless the posters are cemented to the wall. Even after such a drastic measure I am sure that the posters would still be stolen. Students at GSC obviously don't regard stealing as a real crime. In my opinion, stealing is a crime, on a small or large scale. Question yourself on this matter; the time is overripe.

Thank you,
Sue Sanders

Sandra Hartness, SAGC president, reported that the Bloodmobile will be on campus Nov. 21. WSGA is in charge of the project.

Jane Thompson, treasurer, reported an SAGC budget of $7,248. The present balance is $6,763.62.

The following committees were established: Homecoming, Spring Swing, Miss GSC, Traffic, Academic, Honors, Student Personnel Advisory Committee, Publicity, Lecture Series, CLEC, Scholarship and Loans, and Athletics. Members of these committees have been selected and grade point averages are being checked.

A Welfare Committee was formed with Rod Meadows as chairman. Presently, members are being screened by Meadows and the Executive Committee.

Student Government sent a letter to the administration asking that parking be allowed around the lake and why are students not allowed to walk in Sweetheart Circle after dark.

Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, answered this request for parking around the lake with a memo stating: "Do we need to discuss this further? It appears that this situation is covered by our recent agreement that automobiles parking in marked spaces will not be questioned."

The question concerning Sweetheart Circle is still being investigated.

Notes from SAGC in general

More than 70 students attended a meeting Wednesday, Oct. 31, to volunteer for committees. This shows great student interest in making this year's social activities the best yet. We invite these students and all others to attend any session of your student government. The sessions are held every other Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in rooms 111-113 of the Williams Center.

Stewart Stars In 'Shenandoah'

One of the finest and most sensitive movies to come out of Hollywood, "Shenandoah," will be shown in McCroan at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 8.

"Shenandoah" stars James Stewart in one of his highest ranking roles of 1967. Co-stars are Doug McClure, Glenn Corbett and Rosemary Forsyth.

"Shenandoah" is a film of the epic struggle of the Civil War and has never been told with greater faith and fury.

Southern Belle

Miss Juan Saye Christmas finds the library a quiet place to study for mid-term exams. The 5'3" senior with the holiday sounding name enjoys Robert Frost poetry and of all things, football. Juan Saye, a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, was unable to participate in the powder puff games due to a broken arm. She is an English major from Warner Robins.

Spotlight on Sports

By MIKE CLARK Sports Editor

There is a difference of opinion over whether or not colleges should place heavy emphasis on athletic programs. There are those who feel that most sports, other than intramurals, should be decreased in scope and that athletics is very costly for colleges and that athletics detracts from academics. In addition, they say that there is too high a proportion of athletic to academic scholarships.

These reasons for complaints about athletic programs may be true but the beneficial aspects, of a strong athletic program, are not recognized. Athletic games serve three very important purposes.

First people must recognize the value of the physical activity to the individual athlete.

For some, college is a lot more than just reading, writing and doing research work. To the athlete, college also provides the experiences of working with a team. An athlete gets a sense of personal achievement and athletics also give him a way of letting off steam.

Next, we should recognize the value of an athletic program to the fans.

Watching any game gives the fans a chance to let off steam also. The fans know that the team is fighting to please them. Also, the fan can associate himself with an individual athlete.

Finally, we must recognize the value of an athletic program to the school.

As everyone knows, it takes a lot of money to finance, train, quarter, equip and transport a team. Take one individual sport for an example. The school just about breaks even each year for one sport. Yet, if a team has a fine season and gets invited to a post-season event it can bring a lot of coins to the school.

Sisk to See

Lot of Action

Phil Sisk, 6'4" sophomore forward, from Atlanta, will be highly counted on, by Coach Frank Radovich, when the 1968-69 basketball season begins.

Sisk comes to Southern with very impressive statistics. Phil, who attended Henry Grady High, was a very busy young man in the sports world, during his prep days. He lettered in three sports (baseball, basketball and football) while serving as captain of the basketball and baseball teams his senior year.

Phil, who could have gone to college on a football grant, chose to continue playing basketball instead. He burned the nets for 24 points per contest while averaging 16 rebounds a game his senior year. This earned him an Honorable Mention All-State plus numerous scholarship offers.

When Phil finally decided on the school of his choice, he chose Georgia Southern. He had this to say about coming to Southern. "I wanted to teach industrial arts as GSC is known to have one of the best industrial arts departments in the South. I am very happy to be here and if I had it to do over again I would come back."

Phil turned in a respectable

Sisk in action against South Georgia job last season as a freshman. Last year, in helping the frosh to an 11-4 record, he averaged 15 points and 12 rebounds a game. His best night was against Norman College when he scored 25 points and grabbed 26 rebounds. Incidentally, his mother and father were on hand for this game which gave Phil a little more incentive to do better.

His biggest thrill, to date, while playing basketball at GSC, was when the Baby Eagles came from 29 points down at the half to beat ABAC. Phil was not around at the finish as he fouled out of the contest.

Coach Radovich has switched Sisk from center, the spot he played last year, to forward. When asked about this he said, "I have to think a lot more at the forward position than at center."

Going from the freshman team to the varsity is a big jump. "Playing varsity ball is a lot different as it is like jumping from high school ball to freshman ball. You have to be a more complete ballplayer. Everyone is a lot tougher on a varsity unit, therefore you have to get tough yourself," Phil said.

Like the rest of the Eagle players, Phil is looking forward to playing in a post-season tournament. He said, "We have a real good team which should make it to a national tournament. Everyone has set this as a personal goal and we are working extra hard as a result."

With the attitude that Phil and the rest of the squad has, Southern might just be in a tournament come next March.

Harriers Lose Meet

Friday was a day of monumental frustration for the GSC cross-country team when it travelled to West Georgia (Carrollton) for a triangular meet with that college and with Georgia Southwestern.

The GSC men ran the fastest times of their lives for the back-breaking four-mile course, smashing the existing course record by more than half a minute and generally turned on a fine performance but still finished third in the contest, one single point behind Southwestern.

The team event was won by West Georgia with 23 points with Southwestern (50 points) second and Georgia Southern (51 points) third.

The big thing which counted so heavily against GSC on Friday was the big hill at the end of each lap of the two-lap course. This hill was almost a quarter-mile long and in places had a three-in-one gradient.

For West Georgia and Georgia Southwestern, much of whose training is done on hills, this presented no problems but not so for the GSC men who have no hills to train on.

Hugh de Lacy led from the start until the bottom of this hill on the last lap and was then passed by two West Georgians going up the hill.

Glenn Jones did not find the hill too difficult going up the first time but when he straightened up on the top he found he had a stomach cramp and this cost him several places.

All the GSC men lost places on the hill the second time around—any one of which places meant the difference between beating and being beaten by Southwestern.

Despite this, all the GSC men ran personal best times in this race which was only their second ever. (Both Southwestern and West Georgia have been training through the summer and had already had eight or nine races this season. de Lacy finished 3rd overall and first for the Eagles.

The GSC team of Jones and de Lacy, Bob Phillips, Byron Pearce and Joey Williams, will get its chance for revenge next Wednesday, however, when the Georgia State championships are held in Atlanta.

West Georgia is rated one of the four best teams in the state and Georgia Southwestern one of the six best. It will be interesting to see how Georgia Southern matches against these two on more even terms on the Waterworks course (5½ miles) at Atlanta next week.

INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

..... Top games this week.

SOUTH

Tennessee at Auburn: In last two games, Tigers have knocked one team out of Top Ten and another out of Top Twenty. This time Auburn falls. 'Vols knock Tigers out of conference lead. Tenn. (28) Auburn (10)

LSU at Ala.: A possible bowl bid hangs on the outcome of this one. 'Bama had trouble with Miss. St. while LSU was upset by Miss. Will be close but Bengals are in "Bear" country. Ala. 17-14

Navy at Ga. Tech: Tech was clobbered by Duke last week and Coach Bud Carson declared Jackets would never look that bad again. Tech 27-14.

Houston at Memphis St.: Offense! Offense! Paul Gipson and Carlos Bell. Houston 35-14

Fla. St. at Miss. St.: Seminoles were upset by VPI 40-20. Miss. St. has yet to win and may be tough at home but FSU has Ron Sellers. FSU 28-7

Ga. vs Fla. at Jacksonville: In this traditional game you can throw away the record books. 'Dogs have too much bite while Fla. only has "Gator Ade". No bowl for the Gators this season. Ga. 21-10

N. C. State at Duke: Devils will be tough at home, especially after brilliant win over Ga. Tech. State will be down after loss to Clemson. Blue Devils to upset Wolfpack 28-21.

EAST

Miami, Fla. at Penn St.: Up and down Hurricanes take on high flying Nittany Lions in top game in East. May be close but Penn St. remains unbeaten. State 21-14

Wm. & Mary at Syracuse: Syracuse seeking to climb back into Top 20. No hope for the Southern Conference team. Syracuse 31-7

Boston College at Army: Cadets threw a scare into 4th ranked Penn St. last week. Boston always up for Army but the Cadets have too much power.

MIDWEST

Okla. at Kansas: Sooners like

Fla. have flopped after fine opening half of season. Jayhawks make it eight wins in a row, with an eye on the Orange Bowl. Kansas 21-7

Pitt at Notre Dame: Panthers jump from "frying pan into the fire" after last weeks' 48-0 loss to Miami, Fla. No let up in sight as Terry Hanrattey and Jim Seymore continue to rewrite Irish record books. Notre Dame 42-0

Ohio St. at Wis.: Buckeyes continue on way to Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. Ohio State 35-7

Purdue at Miss.: Leroy Keyes. Enough said. Boilermakers 28-10

Iowa St. at Missouri: Mighty "Mo" stays in tie with Kansas in Big Eight race. Missouri 27-14.

Ill. at Mich.: Wolverines stay in hot pursuit of Ohio St. in Big Ten. Helpless Illinois loses again. Buckeyes 32-14

SOUTHWEST

Texas at Baylor: Longhorns take up where they left off against SMU. Bears cannot contain All-American candidate Chris Gilbert. Texas 28-14.

Rice at Arkansas: Razorbacks stay in thick of Southwest Conference title chase and a Cotton Bowl Berth. Ark. 28-17

FAR WEST

Arizona at Air Force: Falcons are enjoying best season since Terry Isaccson guided them to Gator Bowl in 1964. Air Force 21-14

Calif. at So. Calif.: Trojans have been pulling games out all year in last minutes. Bears are tough enough to stop O.J. Simpson and pull one of the big upsets of the year. Calif. 24-21.

JR. VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Georgia Southern junior varsity basketball team takes over Hanner Gym at 6:00 p.m. every evening. For the next two hours (6-8), twelve young men work hard at learning the fundamentals of basketball. According to Coach Allan Johnson, "Most of the boys come from high school basketball without a thorough knowledge of the "basics"—many can shoot with some accuracy but few excel in the arts of defense, ball handling, and rebounding."

The team, hoping to improve on last year's fine 11-5 record, has quite a ways to go according to Coach Johnson. "We'll be bigger this year with Charlie Gibbons, 6'6", and Steve Melton 6'4½", but overall we're slower and right now we don't have the good ball handlers we had last year. Also, the schedule is much tougher with South Carolina and the University of Georgia freshmen probably the two toughest opponents."

"So far, the attitude and hustle has been good. All the boys like to play basketball and are willing to work. I think this is very important," says Johnson.

The style of play will be similar to the varsity, except for more full court zone pressing. This is an exciting brand of basketball and hopefully it will attract more spectators to the 6:00 p.m. games.

GYM SHORTS

by HUTCH DVORAK
Assistant Gymnastic Coach

Coach Ron Oertley attended a weekend conference of the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics. The main topic of consideration was international competition and how the United States could improve team selection, the coaching staff and the national training camp. Some excellent ideas were proposed, such as, have a national coach with a staff under him of five or six coaches from the different regions. Another suggestion was to have a longer training camp before international meets (Olympics and World Games) with at least 20 all-around men remaining in the camp until the final selections are made. This would build a team rapport and pride which has been individualized in past years, partially because of the elimination process which has been the method of selection. I think these ideas will greatly stimulate the progress of gymnastics in this country once they are put into practice.

Our workouts, beginning at 8:00 in Hanner Gym, have been getting progressively tougher in order to determine who will go to the Midwest Open in Chicago during Thanksgiving weekend. Last week we began routines and thus far as a team we have been somewhat inconsistent. But this was not unexpected since it is still very early in the season. The gymnasts are making rapid progress and should be in fairly good shape for the Midwest Open and the Fort Lauderdale Clinic coming up after Christmas. If you are interested in seeing what gymnastics is all about, drop by the gym and be inconspicuous, I think you will enjoy what you see.

On Tuesday, Nov. 25, we are planning an intersquad meet as a final tune-up for the competitive season. The students are invited to come out and watch the meet.

TEP Defeats ATO by 6-0

Alpha Tau Omega, reigning fraternity league football champions, was given their first defeat by a fired-up TEP team. The score was 6-0, this being the second touchdown given up by the tough ATO defense. Tau Epsilon Phi is unscored on in six games. In other Greek league games Phi Delta Theta sidetracked Sigma Nu 19-13; Sigma Phi Epsilon handed Sigma Pi their eighth loss by a score of 7-6 and KA walked over Pi Kappa Phi 13-0. The key game of the week saw TEP and KA battle to a 0-0 deadlock.

At this point, KA is leading by half a game, but will have to face Kappa Sigma in a one play rematch. The situation is the result of a protest made and won by Kappa Sigma about a referee's call in the closing seconds of the game. KA will be allowed one play on the Kappa Sig one yard line. If they score they win, if not, the game will be ruled a tie.

In independent league action this week KOG revenged an earlier loss to PHI E K by defeating them 26-6. The Jersey Cows won their second game by defeating BSU 9-6.
