The Provost also holds administrative jurisdiction over academic matters and academic personnel and provides leadership in the development of proper academic goals of the institution and its colleges through college and faculty entities. In the absence of the President, the Provost is the presiding officer of all bodies over which the President normally presides (Statutes, Article III, § 2).

The associate dean of Graduate Studies reports to the dean and provides academic and administrative support for the college and assists graduate students with matriculation and progression.

Department chairs, school chairs, and school directors are terms used to describe the heads of units who have direct supervision over faculty. The chair or director is appointed by the President after consultation with the appropriate faculty, the dean of the college, and the Provost. The chair or director represents the department or school in all official communications and is responsible for the general direction of the work of the department or school; the quality of instruction; the coordination of instruction; the preparation of a budget; the advisement of students who are majoring in the department; and the recommendation for appointment, promotion, tenure, dismissal, and salary increases (Statutes, Article VI, § 2).

Planning at Georgia Southern

Institutional planning facilitates and coordinates the development of ideas and programs, provides a process for determining institutional priorities that are mission-driven, and focuses the energies and resources of the institution on the accomplishment of agreed upon goals. At Georgia Southern, the planning process is characterized by transparency and inclusiveness.

The University’s strategic vision is to “be recognized as one of the best public doctoral-research universities in the country within the next ten years.” To achieve this vision, planning focuses on four strategic themes: promote academic excellence; enhance student success; increase research, scholarship and creative achievement; and maintain fiscal sustainability. The President sets the University’s vision and themes based upon input from numerous advisory groups, including, but not limited to, the University’s leadership (vice presidents, deans, directors, and department chairs), Faculty Senate, the Staff Council, the Student Government Association, and the Graduate Student Organization.

Periodically, the University’s leadership convenes to discuss and develop action items that advance the University’s vision and goals. These discussions are shared by deans and department chairs with faculty, staff, and students as well as recorded in print and broadly disseminated for review and comments. Action steps are distilled from these discussions, and study teams formed and charged with moving the action step forward. These teams consist of faculty, staff, and where appropriate students. All constituencies are welcome and encouraged to participate in the University’s planning process.

Attributes of the Planning Process

Planning must facilitate the ongoing management of this institution. The process must provide the focus and structure necessary to encompass the entire spectrum of management from strategic planning, to operational planning, annual budget building, and monitoring and evaluation. The process must recognize and accommodate both external and internal environmental forces.

- Emphasis is on a management process, not a written plan. Schedules and documentation exist, but planning is considered to be more of a management mentality rather than a paper product.
- There is a deliberate consideration of the campus culture in the decision-making process.
- The strategic process is designed to respond to issues both current and future in a timely fashion, to be pragmatic and flexible. It does not exist as an entity unto itself.
- Other major institutional management activities are accommodated and integrated: enrollment management, assessment of institutional effectiveness, composition of the student body, acquisition and utilization of facilities, and implementation of technology in learning and administration.
- The planning process itself is regularly evaluated for effectiveness and need of revision.

Planning Process

Institutional planning at Georgia Southern involves relationships between goals, plans, programs, budgets, and evaluation on a continuous basis.

Several basic assumptions and principles form the basis of this process:

- The success of a planning process depends on the active support of the President and the vice presidents, who must demonstrate support for the planning process by working with and within that process.
- The budget cycle at Georgia Southern is presently based on a University System of Georgia 12-month fiscal year. Key steps in the planning process must be designed to coincide with a System calendar. Development time...
The ability to generate worthwhile projects and activities will always exceed the ability to fund them; therefore, selection and development of priorities are integral parts of planning.

Rational decisions concerning choices between alternative projects cannot be made without clearly defined institutional goals. Universal agreement on actual priorities is not as important as a clear understanding of what the priorities are.

Establishing institutional priorities is ultimately the responsibility of the President, who should, however, seek input from other sectors of the campus. The responsibility for implementing the priorities rests with administrators, the faculty, the staff, and the entire campus community.

A successful planning process ensures that budget allocations are responsive to plans and programs and that departments and colleges are accountable for the implementation of plans.

The Board of Regents requires that a number of reports and documents, such as the annual report, be submitted on specific calendar dates. The planning process must recognize, take advantage of, and be coordinated with these requirements to be most useful.

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) serves as the general institutional accrediting agency. SACS has a 10-year cycle of accreditation involving a quality enhancement plan which is validated by a visiting committee. The methodology involves the assessment of institutional effectiveness. Procedures to evaluate the planning process should take this methodology into account.

111.01 Institutional Planning Groups

Planning at Georgia Southern is integrated into the usual campus structures and the decision process. The intent is a public, widely known process of total university planning, based on data, having explicit objectives, and utilizing rational strategies. The process is structured and iterative while at the same time flexible and continuous. Written documentation of the structure and scheme of planning serves primarily as a benchmark and reference point for the process. The essence of planning at Georgia Southern is encompassed in the cumulative management activities of individuals and groups and is further described by the roles and responsibilities of the following individuals and groups.

The Strategic Planning Council (SPC) is charged with facilitating the strategic planning process by serving as advisor and articulator. The principle thrust of the SPC shall be to engage in collective strategic deliberation concerning the institution, generally, for the benefit of the institution and specifically to advise the President. The SPC shall collect and gather information, identify and evaluate strategic issues, recommend and reexamine priorities, and devise and review alternatives all within the scope of the strategic planning process. Specific responsibilities shall include the following:

- function as a two-way conduit for information, relating the general campus community to the strategic planning process, especially addressing the Faculty Senate through its elected representative to the SPC;
- upon request of the President, collect information, clarify and articulate strategic issues, consider alternatives, and suggest strategies for dealing with those issues;
- through its own initiative, identify and provide advice to the President on strategic issues;
- review and revise the University’s mission statement as necessary, but not less than once every five years;
- The President and each vice president will regularly brief the SPC regarding their respective current programs and planned programs.
SPC may request briefings from other campus representatives as considered necessary.

Membership and Activities

- Two faculty members shall be elected by and from the faculty at large.
- The Faculty Senate shall elect a representative to serve on the SPC, provided, however, that the Faculty Senate may have two representatives to the SPC in attendance in alternating years.
- Three faculty members shall be nominated by the Provost and appointed by the President.
- Two staff members from Business and Finance, two staff members from Student Affairs and Enrollment Management, one staff member from Information Technology, and one staff member from Academic Affairs shall be nominated by their respective vice presidents and appointed by the President.
- One staff person from among those units reporting directly to the President’s Office or from Development shall be appointed by the President.
- Each member shall serve for three years. A member may be reappointed or reelected. The member succeeding the representative of the Faculty Senate shall begin his/her term when the preceding representative’s term is one year from expiration. It is acknowledged that the Faculty Senate will have two representatives in attendance in alternating years.
- The chair of the SPC shall be elected annually by the council from among its members who are faculty other than representatives of the Faculty Senate. The Provost will review the teaching and administrative load of the chair for possible adjustments.
- A representative from the Office of Strategic Research and Analysis shall attend the meetings as staff support to the council, and that office shall provide administrative support to the council.
- The SPC will publish its minutes to the University.
- The member representing the Faculty Senate regularly shall inform that body of the SPC’s activities.
- The term of each member will expire at the end of the academic year as follows:

  2010

President. It is essential to the concept of planning at Georgia Southern that the President not only be an active participant, but also be recognized as the champion of the planning process. The President provides the vision and leadership that symbolizes the institution, coordinates strategic planning, informs the campus community of strategic plans, seeks the advice of the Strategic Planning Council and the Faculty Senate, and serves as chief advocate for Georgia Southern’s strategic plan in the external environment.
All Administrators — Georgia Southern’s policy is that planning is an integral part of each administrator’s job. Each vice president, dean, director, and department chair is responsible for the development, documentation, implementation, and measurement of the plans necessary to achieve the mission and objectives of their area of responsibility.

Each administrator is responsible for planning the work activities of the unit and for making certain that all affected employees understand and are committed to those plans. Communication of plans must also extend to all those departments that are affected by the plan or must provide support for their implementation. Documentation is an essential element of plan preparation. Each vice president is responsible for making certain that appropriate planning work has taken place in each college or department within his/her division.

In addition to these groups, the Faculty Senate, while not directly responsible for planning activities, is an important advisory and decision-making group interacting with the various planning bodies. The Faculty Senate is the representative and legislative agency of the faculty and is advisory to the President. As the forum of faculty governance, it advises the President and promotes input from faculty for academic and support planning. Several standing committees exist within the Senate’s structure.

111.04 Other Advisory Groups

Staff Council meets monthly to give staff members a chance to present issues or concerns to the President or chief Human Resources officer. Staff Council membership is based on the best possible representation of staff by vice presidential area, college, division, geographic location, race, gender, and job classification. Representation reflects a balance of both the number and type of classified staff. Employees are invited to visit the web site at http://services.georgiasouthern.edu/ppac/.

The University Wellness Program is housed within Campus Recreation & Intramurals, being supervised by a full-time director and supported by an eight-person Advisory Board. It is focused upon promoting strategies for enhancing the environmental, emotional, intellectual, occupational, physical, social, and spiritual wellness of students, staff, and faculty. To this goal, the University Wellness Program will work toward integrating wellness into the culture and curricula of the University by:

- working collaboratively with current university programming to integrate and emphasize wellness within those programs;
- promoting wellness activities both on and off campus;
- developing wellness programming, both collaboratively and independently, that complements and meets the wellness needs of students, staff, and faculty;
- supporting current wellness programs, activities, and resources on campus; and
- maintaining a wellness web page of resources and programming.

University Athletics Committee Purpose: The responsibilities of the Athletics Committee include the following: (a) ensure continuing oversight of all athletic programs in four major areas: academic, health/medical, financial operations, and gender equity; (b) provide a copy of the minutes of all University Athletics Committee meetings to the Faculty Senate, including summaries of all reported infractions of NCAA and Southern Conference rules and regulations; (c) recommend to the President policy and procedures for all aspects of intercollegiate athletics; (d) respond to specific questions about intercollegiate athletics submitted in writing to the Chair of the Athletics Committee by the Chair of the Senate Executive Committee; and (e) report to the President of the University regarding any significant issues.

Membership: Voting membership of the Athletics Committee will be composed of the Athletics Director, Vice President for Business and Finance, one faculty senator, one faculty member elected by and representing each college and the library, one undergraduate and one graduate student appointed by the Student Government Association (SGA), NCAA Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR), and the director of University Housing. Both the Chair and the President of the Athletic Foundation are non-voting members. The chair of the Athletics Committee will be recommended by the Athletics Committee to the President, and the President will appoint the chair. The chair of the Athletics Committee reports to the President of the University. The term of the elected representatives shall be two years, beginning and ending on August 1st. Student members shall be appointed by the SGA annually with the term beginning and ending on August 1st.

The University’s Campus Life Enrichment Committee (CLEC) serves to implement policy and procedures for bringing to the campus programs of a cultural nature as well as lectures, both general and academic, on a campus-wide basis and for individual departments, divisions, and colleges. The Committee manages the entire budget allocated for these activities as well as coordinates all contracts, facilities, scheduling, and promotion for these activities. Any significant issues are reported to the President of the University.
