District band clinic held on Feb. 7 and 8 says Warren Fields

The First District high school and junior high band clinic will be held here today and tomorrow, Feb. 7 and 8, according to Warren C. Fields, assistant professor of music and director of the Golden Eagle Band.

The clinic, sponsored annually by the Georgia Music Educator's Association, will get underway with registration at 8:30 a.m. Friday; the first rehearsal is scheduled for 9 a.m. Rehearsals will continue through the day, climaxed by a Golden Eagle Band concert.

The Golden Eagle Band will serve as host and coordinator for the entire clinic.

The four composite bands participating in this year's clinic are composed of the most outstanding musicians from high schools and junior high schools in the First Congressional District; the groups from which these musicians were selected will be competing against each other at the annual Band Festival to be held in March.

The participating bands have been classified as Junior High "B" and "A" and High School "B" and "A" and will appear in this order in 20 minute concerts Saturday.

New Uniforms

The Golden Eagle Band will appear in their new uniforms, purchased recently for use in the 1969 Homecoming parade at a cost of more than $5000, according to Fields.

Eidson accepts appointment

Dr. John O. Eidson, president, has accepted a two year appointment to the Committee on Graduate Studies of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, an organization comprised of 238 institutions of higher learning throughout the country. The purpose of the association is to develop a program that will be of direct benefit to all state colleges and universities. Also, the AASCU is responsive to the specific needs and interests of state supported schools.

Eidson is a member of various national education organizations and serves on a number of committees within these groups.

Versatility accents South Georgia choir

Rock, folk, avant-garde, and even opera music is included in the program of the South Georgia College Choir who will perform at the Foy Recital Hall on Monday, Feb. 10, at 8:15 p.m.

The choir concludes its evening program with several stagings of popular and Broadway hits. "The movement of the choir and the interesting instrumental accompaniment make this section of the program resemble a television spectacular," said one of their critics.

First Section

The spiritual "Soon ah will be Done" begins this section followed by the folksy "Lonesome Traveler." Then comes the popular "Cindy," and "What the World Needs Now is Love." After a social duet sung by Martha Lloyd and Bill Mottershead, the full choir is ready with the "Hippie" chorus from the musical "Sweet Charity." This final number, in appropriate costumes, gives a Bachian-Swing Singers feeling to a rousing finale.

Religious hymns

The first section of the program is the religious section, followed by a Scena Cantata, "Carmina Burana" by the contemporary German composer, Carl Orff. Written in 1937, first performed in the United States in 1954, and first introduced in the South by the South Georgia Choir it contains a group of Goliard songs. The Goliards, intellectual vagabond troubadours of the middle ages, hid their secular poems in the monasteries. These that Orff has chosen were found near Munich in 1803 in the Benedicteuren Abbey.

Many languages

Presumably written in the twelfth century, these poems deal with hymns of the Crusades, quatrains that good naturedly lampooned the clergy and are historically important since we find in them the earliest attempt at musical notation of secular songs. They are sung in their original Latin, medieval German, and Provencal French and are songs of Fortune, Springtime, Love, and the Tavern.

Section three of the program will be a staging of the prison scene from Gounod's "Faust" with Kenneth Bennett as Faust, Annie Cross as Marguerite, and Gary Boyd as Mephistopheles.

Tickets for play are now on sale in McCroan Aud.

Tickets for the Masquer's Winter quarter musical, "Finian's Rainbow", are now available. The tickets may be purchased in the newly constructed box office located in the foyer of McCroan Auditorium. Mr. Carleton Humphrey, instructor in the English dept., and his wife, are in charge of ticket sales.

The schedule of ticket sales is: Mon. through Fri.-9:30 through 5:30, Saturday-2:30 through 4:00.

Miss Hall

Miss Hazel Hall, director of the musical, stated that students who call and make reservations must come by the box office within 24 hours and pick up the tickets. Miss Hall stated that if the students did not follow this procedure, the tickets would have to be placed back to sell. Miss Hall encourages everyone to come by the box office and pick up the tickets immediately. The Change of furnishing is a welcome sight

By KATHY JESSUP

Shades of lavender, red, yellow, and orange now greet the eyes of students walking through the lobby of the Williams Center. The new furnishings, from the school budget, are a welcome change from the old worn furnishings previously seen in the lobby.

This replacement is the largest one that has been made since the Williams Center was opened in 1959.

The furnishings include replacements for the lobby, the private dining room adjoining the student dining room for banquet type meals, the TV room, drapes and wall hangings.

These furnishings cost the college more than $19,000.

Bentley calls for commission

ATLANTA, GA. (PRN)—In a speech Friday to the Georgia State College Young Republican Club, Comptroller General James L. Bentley said that state government should solicit the advice of young people, and called on the governor to organize a "youth advisory commission" for this purpose.

Mr. Bentley started a student intern program in the comptroller general's department when he took office in 1963. He said the program has been of mutual benefit to the students, and his office. "The energy and creativeness of these young Georgians," Bentley added, "is phenomenal. We have been able to use quite a few of the ideas generated by these students each summer."

The comptroller general said a youth commission, made up of young people from various state organizations could offer advice to state government not only concerning youth programs, but also in other areas. He said there is a definite need for a youth council since many of the voters in Georgia are under 25, and are interested in helping in government.

Bentley said that the commission would also stir the interest of young people throughout the state, and in many cases would inspire them to pursue careers in state government.

Since they belong to us, the students, we should take the responsibility of helping take care of the furnishings.

Reflector editor sets new deadline

Friday, Feb. 7 is the deadline for organizations, fraternities, and sororities to submit pictures of their contestant for the title of "Miss Reflector" to the REFLECTOR office.

"Judging will be totally from the photos turned in and not on the basis of personality," said Diedre Cowne, REFLECTOR editor. A "Miss Reflector" and runner-up will be chosen.

Organizations are asked to turn in the girl's name and the organization she represents along with the pictures. This information is to be turned in to the REFLECTOR office. If the photos are identified they will be returned after the contest.

Student teacher applications due

The date for filing applications for student teaching fall quarter 1969 through spring quarter 1970 has been set for Friday, Feb. 7, 1969, according to Dr. Donald Hawk, director of student teaching.

All students intending to do student teaching should apply regardless of whether they are currently admitted to teacher education. Failure to properly apply Feb. 7 could result in at least a one quarter delay in admission to student teaching.

One of the "10 Best" American movies of 1961, "The Hustler," will be shown in McCroan at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 7.

The 20th Century Fox presentation stars Paul Newman, Piper Laurie, and George C. Scott.

Nat'l officers meet to discuss complex

National officers and national representatives of the six sororities on campus met with administrative officials and Early Bradshaw, vice president of Allied Mortgage and Development Company, Inc., Jan. 21 to discuss plans for the construction of sorority townhouses.

Early Bradshaw, owner of Windsor Village, is the builder in charge of plans for the proposed complex.

New additions open in plaza

Three new additions to the University Plaza Shopping Center will open in April to provide students with better and newer services.

J & J Fabrics, dealers in fashion fabrics and sewing needs, will move into a new building located between Wood's Barber Shop and the Georgia Southern College Branch Post Office. The new building will provide an extra 60 square feet of space according to store officials.

The new Wilcar Carpet and Draperies will move into the building now occupied by J & J Fabrics. Owned by Josh Cartee and Terry Williams, the company formerly located on the Portal highway will carry a complete line of carpets and draperies as well as offering installation and other services. Both businesses expect to occupy their new locations in April.

Also, a new self-service convenience grocery store, the Timesaver Minit Market will open in a new building next to Deal's Bakery. The market will offer a full line of groceries as well as other non-grocery items, according to owners, Morris Lupton and Charles Shedd.

"We will offer items at lower prices than the other convenience markets in the area," stated Morris Lupton. "We hope students will find a favorite place to shop and they will feel free to tell us the products they need and want."

construction is March 15. The campus sororities may submit any recommendations for change by this date.

The townhouse complex will be constructed between the Village Apartments and Oxford Hall in Windsor Village. Each sorority will have its individual lodge, which will accommodate seven women and provide space for sorority meetings and parties.

A Panhellenic Building will be constructed in the middle of the complex with living accommodations for a sorority supervisor.

2,700 grants provide colleges with equipment

More than 2,700 grants have been made to date under a three-year-old Federal program that helps provide colleges and universities with special undergraduate instructional equipment, according to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

State allotments totaled $14.5 million for the program during the fiscal year ending next June 30. The grants, authorized under Title VI-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965, provide $13 million for laboratory and other special equipment and $1.5 million for closed-circuit television equipment for direct instruction. The grants also cover the cost of materials and minor remodeling necessary to install equipment.

Awards to individual colleges and universities will be made by the U.S. Commissioner of Education as recommended by a commission in each State. Grants ordinarily may be up to 50 percent of the cost of a project, but in exceptional cases may be as high as 80 percent. The program is administered by the Bureau of Higher Education of the U.S. Office of Education.

All seats are reserved. The show opens Feb. 19 and runs through Feb. 22. Tickets are priced according to seat choice. The prices are: $2.50, 2.00, 1.50.

Miss Hall emphasized the point that no tickets will be sold in the student centers. This practice has been done in the past, but due to the new box office, it is believed that this will be a central location for all students and faculty to obtain tickets. If anyone would like to write for tickets, they may get them by writing: Masquers, Box 3952 GSC, Statesboro, Georgia.

THE EXIT LIVES

The EXIT, student coffeehouse, celebrates its first year of existence Feb. 9. One year ago, the idea of a handful of interested students, faculty members, and local residents became a reality, when the EXIT opened to a full house.

The founders of the EXIT transformed the dingy basement of the Georgian Hotel into a coffeehouse. At this time they set aside one section of wall labeled "Performing Artists." This would give the various persons appearing at the coffeehouse a place to sign their names. It would also provide the founders with a "visual yardstick," with which they could measure the success of their venture. And successful it was.

Today, on that wall appear the signatures of campus entertainers such as "Amelia Earhart Memorial Bluegrass Band" and those of such nationally prominent figures as Jim Haggerty, Bishop James A. Pike, and the late Ralph McGill.

The appearance of these personalities at the coffeehouse has established the EXIT'S reputation as a haven for the open-minded, with the accent on variety.

Two very successful plays, Jean-Paul Sartre's "No Exit," and Christopher Fry's "A Sleep of Prisoners," were produced during the past year at the coffeehouse, adding a new dimension to the EXIT'S swollen list of accomplishments.

The EXIT has had an extremely active and successful first year, and has set an even more accelerated pace for the ensuing year (five more plays are scheduled for the next few months).

The GEORGE-ANNE would like to congratulate both the founders and student supporters for helping the EXIT reach its first "birthday". The EXIT will be open for business as usual (which in the best tradition of the EXIT has always meant the unusual) each Friday and Saturday night this quarter.

MISSING DISCS

No record albums will be sold at the Georgia Southern College Bookstore in the Landrum Center is a new, yet vague, ruling enacted late last week.

Thursday, Jan. 30, all records in the bookstore were put in storage and they were not replaced. These items that were a drawing card for the bookstore and a service to students will no longer be available for sale.

Last year $9,500 worth of records were purchased by the bookstore and in return sold to students at a discount price. The gross profit of these records was $12,150. Surely this is not a bad investment for the bookstore.

There is a Georgie Board of Regents ruling which states that items sold in the campus bookstore must be educational. Music is educational. Dr. Neal, chairman of the division of fine arts, purchased $125 worth of classical records last quarter for use in the Foy Building listening rooms. Rhythm and blues may not be used in the listening rooms, but it is the recorded history of music in our times.

This student service, which is moderately profitable to the bookstore, is appreciated by the students here. The students would like for the records to be put back on sale. Without the records on sale in the Landrum Center, many students will either not buy records or wait until they go home to purchase them. The Georgia Southern College Bookstore will lose sales and the students will be inconvenienced.

Records may only be the beginning of the end. More items, such as jewelry, magazines, and toiletries, may be missing next week.

CHILD'S PLAY

Excellent examples of property destruction can be found in the William's Student Center where certain individuals have assumed the responsibility of "breaking-in" the new furniture.

More than $19,000 has been spent purchasing new furniture and fixtures for your student center; three items of this furniture were damaged and marred by students before it could be uncrated.

The student center belongs to us, the students. We can allow it to become a pig sty and reflect on no one but ourselves. Or we can treat it with pride and give a better reflection of ourselves. The decision is ours to make.

'Constitution' publisher dies at 70 in Atlanta

BY BILL BLANKINSHIP
and
RANDY HARBER

Monday night Feb. 3, Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution, died of an apparent heart attack in Atlanta, Ga.

MCGILL

As a leader in liberal journalism, McGill was unparalleled by his colleagues. He was an anomaly in the midst of staunch southern conservative editorial traditions. His vehement editorials made him despised by the region which he served. He fought for civil rights long before names like Martin Luther King or John Kennedy became identified with the cause. He was always a defender of individual rights.

His journalistic career spanned nearly five decades; he began as a reporter and sports editor for the Nashville, Tennessee Banner. He joined the Atlanta Constitution staff in 1929, first serving on the sports desk and then moving to the editorial staff. In 1938 he was appointed the Executive Editor of the Constitution and became publisher in 1960.

During his tenure, the Constitution won a Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service; in 1958 he personally won the Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing.

In 1954 he published his first book, THE FLEAS COME WITH THE DOG, a discussion of progress, urbanization, and the problems involved. THE SOUTH AND THE SOUTHERNER, published in 1963, won the Atlantic non-fiction prize and $5,000.

Ralph Emerson McGill was a native of Tennessee. He attended McCallie Prep School in Chattanooga and Vanderbilt University. He received an honorary LL.B. from Atlanta Law School in 1938.

He was vehemently disliked for his views but widely respected for his integrity. Ralph McGill like many other great American leaders was chronologically out of place. We believe that McGill, like his predecessor Henry W. Grady, also hated during his lifetime, will assume his place of prominence in the history of the south.

Auditorium gets face lifted-needs more renovation

By SARA FOUNTAIN

Dr. Jack Broucek, professor of music, spoke at the SAGC meeting last week on the need for a larger budget for cultural entertainment and for better facilities for the performances scheduled in McCroan Auditorium.

The Campus Life Enrichment Committee has a budget of only $12,000 which FOUNTAIN compares unfavorably with budgets of other institutions. Dr. Broucek has proposed a budget of $27,000 for next year, a large increase, but not enough for a college of this size.

Students make up 84 percent of the attendance at cultural events. This indication of student interest in cultural activities is sufficient reason for an increase in the CLEC budget.

The increase is encouraging, but it does nothing for the biggest problem of all—the lack of decent facilities. McCroan's stage is so small that a dancer can hardly find enough room to take a flying leap (as demonstrated in last week's ballet).

The dressing rooms, or so they are purported to be, are not equipped with mirrors, proper partitions, or sufficient restrooms. This unpleasant fact was brought under close scrutiny last quarter when the cast of THE APPLE TREE complained to the Player's Guild. The college received a sharp letter from the Guild criticizing the unsanitary and hazardous conditions of the auditorium.

Partly as a result of this action, the auditorium is presently undergoing a minor face lifting. Some pleasant changes include a new paint job, carpeting, draperies, and a new lighting board. Happily the stage will be either replaced or refinished.

The persons responsible for these decorative changes should be congratulated, but the need for stage expansion and dressing room equipment is equally great if we are to expect good entertainment to return. The construction presently underway will dress up the eyesore, but no plans have been made for enlarging the stage or renovating the dressing rooms. Most of the changes effect the front of the auditorium, leaving the back rooms as they were described by the Player's Guild.

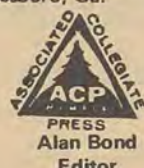

It is a disgrace for entertainers to be forced into using the makeshift arrangements which we provide. How much longer can we expect them to?

The only way for GSC to get its name off the black list of the Player's Guild is to make further changes in the dressing rooms and to expand the stage.

A new social and cultural complex should be the next building on the drawing boards for this college. This complex should provide space for an auditorium, a little theater, and large social activities. Hopefully, plans for this complex will be considered soon.

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights, short services were held in the Classroom Building. The girls were not informed of their initiation until Friday night when they received corsages and notes telling them what time they were to be initiated.

Saturday, Feb. 1, eleven new members were initiated. They were Becky Brannen, Judy Edenfield, Nan Edenfield, Sheila Garvin, Lynn Godbee, Cathy McCall, Marcia Rushing, Sue Sikes, Kay Stroud, Barbara Woodall, and Connie Young.

Saturday night the new initiates were honored at a formal banquet at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen. After dinner the Best Pledge Award and Scholarship Award were awarded to Barbara Woodall. After the awards Dr. Betty Lane, an honor initiate of Zeta Tau Alpha, spoke on the future of the college group today.

Sunday morning the fraternity attended First Presbyterian Church as a group and ate lunch together afterwards. That afternoon the new winter quarter pledges were included in a Big Sister-Little Sister party at which the pledges received potted white violet plants. After refreshments in the Landrum Center the party moved to the lake, and finally in the lake.

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda held its planning meeting for winter quarter on Jan. 15, 1969. The organization's participation in the state contests, which will be held in May at the state convention, was the main topic of discussion. The chapter will be competing in the Annual Chapter Report, Most Original Project, Best Chapter Exhibit, Poster Contest, Spelling, Vocabulary, Mr. and Miss Future Business Executive, Mr. and Miss Future Business Teacher, Parliamentary Procedure, National Project, and Promotion of Phi Beta Lambda Week. The contestants and chapter will put forth a lot of work before entering these contests, but they will reap untold rewards and experiences for their launch into the business world.

Interested business majors are encouraged to join at the next meeting. Meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. in Hollis 205.

Students form Bioscience club

A constitution for the new Bioscience Club was presented to and approved by a group of interested students last Wednesday night, Feb. 29. The constitution and a petition are now before the Special Interests Council of SAGC for official club recognition.

The club hopes to develop a more academic interest in the biosciences here. The constitution calls for the establishment of project and program committees which will plan field trips, special research endeavors, and enable students to pursue independent, group studies.

Membership is open to all. Notices of upcoming meetings will be posted.

Geology Department will hold lectures by FSU professor

Dr. William F. Tanner, professor of geology at Florida State University, will visit the college Feb. 17 and 18 under the sponsorship of the American Geological Institute Visiting Geological Scientist Program.

Dr. Tanner will lecture on the following topics: the origin of the gulf of Mexico, Feb. 17, 9:30 a.m., Music 202; ripple-mark studies, Feb. 17, 2:30 p.m., Herty 108; coasts of Latin America, Feb. 17, 7:30 p.m., Herty 105; Cenozoic history of sea level, Feb. 18, 7:30 p.m., Herty 211.

Dr. Tanner's lecture on the coasts of Latin America will be accompanied by a color slide geological travelog. His lecture on the Cenozoic history of sea level will explain some of the factors which affected the formation of the Georgia Coastal Plain.

An invitation to attend the lectures is extended to all students, faculty and interested persons.

Field Trip

A field trip to Graves Mountain was made Feb. 1 by the Geology Club. Specimens of several different minerals were collected and can be seen in the display case in the lobby of the Herty Building.

On Feb. 17, the club will hear Dr. William F. Tanner speak on sedimentary features of the ocean floor. After his talk refreshments will be served.

Science Club holds meeting

Tuesday, Jan. 28, the Science Club held its first meeting of the winter quarter. Dr. William F. Geber of the department of pharmacology of the Medical College of Georgia spoke on "Drugs and Monsters."

Dr. Geber earned his B.S. from Dartmouth College and did his graduate work at Indiana University. He did post-doctoral work at the University of Minnesota and has served on the faculties of University of Minnesota, the University of Missouri, the University of South Dakota, and most recently, the Medical College of Georgia at Augusta.

Dr. Geber spoke on the effects of drugs on a fetus. "Monsters," limbless and deformed children, are results of varthalamide, LSD, etc. Dr. Geber told of the penalties paid for using various drugs. For instance, it has been proven that for every two ounces of alcohol consumed, a certain number of brain cells are destroyed. Dr. Geber said these drugs work on the RNA and DNA coding systems and produce abnormalities. Because of incomplete development in his RNA and DNA systems, a child should be given no chocolate or caffeine before the age of about 6, Dr. Geber said. Otherwise, the body's physiology can be upset in countless ways.

Eagles win 12th

BY MIKE CLARK
Sports Editor

The Eagles kept their unbeaten record at home intact with a 127-118 win over a strong Atlantic Christian quintet on Thursday, January 30. The victory kept Southern on a homecourt winning streak that has seen the cagers chalk up nine straight wins at "Eagleland". GSC's record rose to 12-3 while Atlantic Christian's record is 10-10.

Georgia Southern jumped into a 5-0 lead, at the start, as Steve Buckler scored all five points. The Bulldogs came back to knot the score at 5-all, but then Southern came right back to score on a field goal by Roger Moore and was never headed.

Southern led at the half 68-49 behind Moore's 23 points.

The final score would have been much larger if Southern had not gone scoreless in several spurts and Coach Radovich had not pulled his starting unit with about six minutes remaining.

When the Eagles scored their 83 point, of the night, they went five minutes without scoring before John Norman ended the drought by scoring a field goal. Then, when they scored point number 99 the Eagles went stale for two more minutes before Gene Brown hit two charity tosses to push the home team over the 100 mark.

With 6:45 left, GSC was ahead 108-83 and it seemed Southern had the game tucked safely away. However, Atlantic Christian refused to give up and came battling back, which caused Coach Radovich to insert his starters back into the game.

It looked as though it was going to be another Carson-Newman finish (the wrong way), but the Eagles had too big a margin for the Bulldogs to overcome, even though the Eagles scored only one point in the last two minutes.

Leading all scorers was 6-7 Roger Moore. Moore, in playing his best game of his college career, burned the nets for 41 points. Roger hit on 16 field goals and nine gratis shots in his scoring outburst.

The NAIA District 25 leaders placed four others in double figures besides Moore. Dave Westerfield scored 21, John Helm added 19, Norman contributed 16 and Buckler chipped in with 15.

Clyde Smith led Atlantic Christian with 25 points. Three other Bulldogs scored 20 or more points. Clifton Black, Robert Gilmore and Robert Covington scored 22, 21, and 20 respectively.

Southern won in the rebounding department, capturing 43 stray shots to 37 for the Bulldogs.

Moore and Norman each picked off 13 caroms for the winning GSC cagers.

The Eagles had their best night from the floor as they shot a 59 per cent. The Eagles connected on 52 of 88 shots.

Atlantic Christian also enjoyed a fine night from the floor hitting on 48 of 83 shots for 58 percent.

GSC (127)—Moore 41, Westerfield 21, Helm 19,

Norman 16, Buckler 15, Brown 9, Sisk 4, Miller 2.

AC (118)—Smith 25, Black 22, Gilmore 21, Covington 20, Jeffcoat 14, Jones 14, Gallagher 6.

Eagles host Mercer Sat.

BY MIKE CLARK
Sports Editor

The Eagles will return to "Eagleland" this Saturday night, February 8th, when they play host to the Mercer Bears. Game time for this interstate contest is 8:00 p.m.

At 6:00 p.m., the junior varsity will meet South Georgia Technical School in the preliminary game.

The Eagles will have two things in their favor for Saturday night's encounter with the Bears. One is, they will be playing in friendly "Eagleland" where they have reeled off nine consecutive wins starting with the last home game of the 1967-68 cage season. Second, the Eagles will be out to avenge an earlier season loss to Mercer. The Eagles took a 73-59 lashing from the Bears in the finals of the Mercer Invitational Tournament and the loss still lingers in the minds of the Eagle players.

Also, Georgia Southern will be trying to break a two game losing streak at the hands of Mercer. After the Eagles defeated Mercer 90-86 last season in "Eagleland", the Bears pulled out a 69-67 overtime win in their "cracker-box" gym. Then too, the Eagles have lost three out of the last four games that they have played with Mercer.

Southern will be trying to start another win streak as they fell 95-74 to Carson-Newman on Monday night. The loss snapped a seven game winning streak that Southern was enjoying.

In that humiliating loss to the Bears, the Eagles hit on 27 of 84 shots for a sorry 33 per cent. Mercer connected on 28 of 64 field goals for 45 per cent.

Since that game Southern has been shooting better and in the last three games has been averaging 95 points per game.

Mercer has been an up and down team all year. The Bears seem to come up with a good game against tough teams and play poorly against so-called weak opponents. Georgia Tech had a rough time against the Bears before winning and so did Jacksonville University. On the other hand, Mercer has lost to Georgia State and Columbus College two teams they were suppose to have beaten.

The Bears are led by Little All-American candidate Jud Roberts. Roberts is averaging over 20 points per contest. Joining Roberts in the starting line-up will be Robert Bellaire, Bruce Gordy, Jim Graham, and Marvin Bailey.

Bailey at 6-5, tallest on the Mercer Squad, held Roger Moore to only four points in that game. Southern will send Moore, half. Tony Mills had 14 points as All-American Tommy Everette and Lee Spitzer each scored 13 points.

Southern outscored Carson-Newman 6-2 at the start of the final half to cut the margin to five at 50-45. But, Carson-Newman then ran off six straight points and it was just a matter of how many points the Eagles from Tennessee would end up scoring.

Georgia Southern placed three players in double digits, but it was not enough to overcome Carson-Newman. Buckler was high scorer with 25 points. John Norman had 18 while Moore added 114.

Carson-Newman's Everette led all scorers with 33 points. Mills and Spitzer tallied 20 and 19 points respectively.

Southern lost the game on the boards as Carson-Newman, in getting 46 rebounds to 23 for Southern, time and time again allowed Southern only one offensive shot.

GSC (74)—Buckler 25, Moore 14, Westerfield 8, Brown 6, Helm 3. C-N (95)—Everette 33, Mills 20, Spitzer 19, Sivills 8, Bowling 5, Wyatt 4, Clement 2, Cole 2.

John Norman, Dave Westerfield, Steve Buckler, and either John Helm or Gene Brown on the court when the game begins.

According to the Mercer paper Southern has a "playground" offense. This was true in that game but since then, the Eagles have gotten their offense into high gear and Mercer may just be in for a long, long night.

Hanner Gym or if you would rather call it "Eagleland" should see a lot of "fireworks" this Saturday night and when the game ends Southern will have made Mercer's Bears victim number 14 and the 10th straight opponent to leave "Eagleland" with a defeat.

However, the team will need the students' full support for this encounter. It is evident that the Eagles play better before a crowd that is behind them from the opening whistle until the end.

Give'em hell birds!!

Eagles whip T-W 78-73

The Eagles defeated Tennessee-Wesleyan 78-73 on Saturday night, February 1. The win pushed Southern's record to 13-3 and marked the first time that they had won two straight games on the road. Also, it upped Southern's chances of getting a post-season berth greatly as the Eagles are ranked number one in the NAIA District 25.

Southern trailed much of the game but came from behind in the closing minutes to win

Gymnastics team scores upset over Northeast Louisiana

Georgia Southern's powerful gymnastics team established itself as the number one team in the South, and the team to beat in the NAIA Tournament in March, as it won over strong Northeast Louisiana State by the narrow score of 143.00 to 141.90, on Friday, January 31. Southern's record is now 4-0 with its first three wins coming over Georgia Tech, Florida and LSU.

In pulling off a major upset, Southern defeated the team that finished second in the nation last year and was favored to win the NAIA Championship this season.

Going into the meet without Bill Godwin, Southern's ace free-exercise man who was suspended for disciplinary reasons, GSC faced a difficult task especially since Northeast had last year's all-around champion, Toshio Otoshi, and others who had finished high in the nationals. Otoshi lived up to his reputation and won the all-around with a 51.05 total. Dan Warbuton was second with 48.80 and Tony Blasko was third with 48.35.

The standout of the meet was Blasko who was the most consistent performer for the Eagles. With the pressure constantly on, Tony went up early in every event and hit his routines, placing third in free-exercise and vaulting and second in parallel bars.

Southern's response to pressure was shown especially on the side horse where they were three points behind going into the event. All four men hit their routines and moved ahead of the visitors to stay. Terry Nelson won the event with a 9.15 score.

Warbuton also responded to the pressure as he needed a 7.4 on the high bar, for GSC, to win the meet. Dan scored an 8.55 to clinch one of the year's major victories.

It was really the Eagles depth which beat Northeast. Because Otoshi won four events, and the Eagles won only two, it was due to Ron Hauser, Bill Tollefson, Blasko, Bobby Woodall and especially George Hubbard who picked up the slack.

Hubbard did an excellent job filling in for Godwin and deserves much praise for his "instant free-exercise" and an 8.1 score on the long horse vault.

Warbuton again did an outstanding job, winning long horse with a 9.45 score, highest of the meet.

By their performances, the young Eagle squad has shown themselves once and for all as a contender for national recognition.

The next home meet will be on Thursday, February 6th, when the Eagles will host LSU of New Orleans and The Citadel. The meet will start at 7:30 p.m.

The team will then travel to Atlanta on Saturday, February 8th, for the Confederate Nationals.

JV's play here Friday night

Georgia Southern's Baby Eagles will entertain Southern Tech of Marietta, Georgia, Friday, February 7. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Southern Tech currently is leading the Northern Division of the Georgia Junior College Association and has a fine 17-4 over-all record.

Saturday night the JV's will play another team with a fine record—South Georgia Tech from Americus with a 16-3 record against state junior colleges. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

Wednesday, February 12, the Baby Eagles will try for revenge against The Citadel. Earlier in the year The Citadel defeated Southern 75-65.

GSC tennis team shows improvement

BY KEN PURCELL

The outlook for the Eagle tennis team is bright for 1969 with a host of new talent coming its way through new scholarships, according to Dr. Frank Ramsey, coach of the team for the second straight season.

Only Eddie Russell is returning from last year's squad which won five of its matches while losing six. Russell, a senior, played in the number two singles slot in 1968 and teamed with number one Bjorn Kjerfve of Sweden to make up the top Eagle doubles duo. Kjerfve, along with Tom King and Jerry Poppell, graduated last year and therefore will not be returning.

Despite the loss of several key players off last year's team, the Eagles will field a much improved squad. Seven new players have joined the team via scholarships, while other hopefuls also came out for fall practice last quarter.

Heading the list of new players are Jim and Bob Risi, brothers from Springfield, Ill. who transferred to Southern from Illinois State. According to Coach Ramsey, "At this point it looks as if Bob and Jim Risi will play number one and number two. These boys will give us real strength at these positions and should be able to compete successfully with anyone we play." Jim is a sophomore and Bob a freshmen. Together they comprise a potent doubles team.

Phil Sapp, a junior transfer from Brunswick Junior College, and Tommy McDougald, a junior transfer from ABAC, should add depth to the Eagle net club. Sapp was the winner of the 1968 State Junior College Tennis Tournament and McDougald was runner-up.

Two other junior college transfers are receiving aid for tennis. Monty Humphrey, a junior from Williamsburg, Va., transferred to Southern from Ferrum Junior College and Charlie McCann, also a junior, transferred in from ABAC. McCann's home is in Avondale Estates.

John McDonald of Virginia Beach, Va., a freshmen, is also receiving aid.

Other players who participated in fall practice but are not on scholarship are Bob Leonard, Dennis Sawyer and Joe Harwell.

According to Coach Ramsey, "The real strength of the team lies in our depth. From number three to number six there is not much difference in ability and the hardest workers will fill these spots."

Ramsey went on to say, "Overall, I am optimistic about the coming season, although we play a very difficult schedule. The attitude of the players has been impressive so far and this will probably determine whether we have a good season or a great one."

JV's lose big John Fountain

John Fountain, 6'6" center for GSC Junior Varsity, was injured in the GSC-Georgia Frosh game and is out for the remainder of the season. Fountain injured a knee while hustling for a free ball.

JOHN FOUNTAIN

"It's a shame," said Coach Johnson. "Since Gibbons moved to the varsity, I had counted on Big John to be out starting center. He did a pretty good job against Georgia scoring 18 points in his first starting assignment."

The loss of Fountain will leave the majority of rebounding chores to 6'4" Steve Melton who becomes the tallest player on the Southern JV team.

JV's drop two more games

The junior varsity lost both contests that they played last week. The JV's were beaten by a fine ABAC quintet, which broke a four game homecourt winning streak, and then took it on the chin from the undefeated South Carolina freshmen.

The junior varsity lost to ABAC 78-72 and to South Carolina 85-68.

The Baby Eagles are 4-1 home and 2-5 on the road for an overall record of 6-6.

Against ABAC Coach Johnson stated that it was the team's best overall performance of the season.

Coach Johnson was in high praise of Danny Gordon and Charlie Gibbons. Gordon scored 23 points in playing his best game of the year. Gibbons poured in 21 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, and blocked 9 shots.

Crippled Brunswick JC defeats Jr. Varsity

If Dr. James Naismith, the inventor of basketball, had witnessed the contest Tuesday, January 28, between Brunswick Junior College and Georgia Southern's junior varsity, he undoubtedly would have asked, "What is going on out there?"

The game, as played by Georgia Southern, certainly did not resemble basketball; the result was a lethargic group of students from Georgia Southern being soundly defeated by a crippled Brunswick team 84-68.

Coach Johnson had this to say about the game: "That was without question the poorest performance by a team that I've ever seen. Not a single player from Southern deserved to have a uniform on and I don't think I helped from the bench. We probably should have switched to a zone defense during the game, but I just couldn't believe that their boys were whipping us individually like they did. We were a disgrace to Georgia Southern College and to the game of basketball."

Greg Lewis led all scoring with 29 points, Jim Turngate had 19, and Jim Hires threw in 16. Brunswick had two starters who were injured or sick and did not dress out for the game and a third starter was injured on the opening tip and did not return to action.

With three minutes left in the game, GSC trailed 74-64 and a Brunswick player fouled out. Brunswick did not have any subs (three players had already fouled out) so they played the rest of the game with four players and still Southern was ineffective in scoring and defense.

The Eagles had 26 floor mistakes, shot a miserable 34% from the field, and were outrebounded by BJC 49-48. BJC's tallest player was 6'2".

Coach Johnson could not think of a single JV player who played well; he did comment on the fine job done by Rafer Johnson and Glenn Jones. Johnson drove the bus and Jones kept the score book.

Golf outlook bright for 1969

Georgia Southern's golf team has high hopes of a winning year as it awaits the opening of the 1969 season. Last year's record was 7-7, but the outlook is much brighter this season as scholarships were given for the first time.

Four lettermen, headed by last year's number one player Jack Hartness, are back. Returning with Hartness are Eddie Register, Greg Brewer and Frank Saxon.

Newcomers Brooks Simmons, Stan Cernzo and Ray Mosesley add more depth to this year's "linksters".

The 1969 golf schedule will be much tougher than last year's. The team meets the University of Georgia, Auburn University, Georgia State and several teams in Florida.

The season begins March 19th, in Florida, with five matches scheduled during spring vacation.
